PRICE AND NEARBY

Harry Campbell, the Helper contractor, was a Price visitor Monday.

Matt Gilmour was a Salt Lake City visitor the first of the week, returning Wednesday.

Guthrie-Brooker Auto company sold a Ford touring car this week to Sam Singleton of Ferron.

The postoffice has been discontinued at Harper and special service dropped at that place since October 20th.

Earl King is carrying a handaged hand around these days, the result of a felon which is quite some company, says Earl.

O. M. Richardson, the new store-keeper for the Denver and Rio Grande at Helper, has moved his family to that city from Grand Junction.

Carl H. Maroussen of the Price Commercial and Savings bank spent Saturday at Zion on educational matters, he being a member of the state board of education.

Frank Averill accidentally slid off the lounge at his home last Tuesday and dislocated his shoulder. Frank blames the accident on his father's playful disposition.

Ben P. Moss, the next mayor of Helper, was at the county seat on Saturday last and made The Sun an appreciated call. He had nothing to say politically for publication.

Miss Athia Harris has resigned her position with the Helper State bank and has gone to her home at Grand Junction. She is succeeded by James Pland of Castle Gate, says the Helper Times.

A BRITTY-BO-FOUND and carnival struck town the first of the week and are located on Main street on the Wester ground. The weather has been such that there is rather a slim patronage.

Since the rain of this week the roads to the south of Price have been in bad condition and the mail auto has been running late on that account. However, things are getting in better shape for travel at this writing.

A. D. Pierson, general sales agent of the Utah Fuel company, had an automobile stolen from in front of the Judge building at Zion Thursday evening of last week. It was his private property and not that of the company.

The camp fire girls met Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Margaret Hobbs. The evening was spent in talking over plans for the betterment of the organization and other matters, after which the hostess served light refreshments.

Low railroad rates for the Pacific Coast expositions will undoubtedly prevail well into the coming summer. The statement, which comes from railroad sources, is based on the efforts of San Diego people to have the exposition open another year.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKune entertained a few friends at 5 o'clock dinner last Sunday. Covers were laid for N. S. Nelson of Mt. Pleasant, Nell M. Madden of Scofield, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Lauber, Mrs. Anna Ward, Ervin Ward and the host and hostess.

Snow, the first of the season, fell in the hills west of Price this week, and from the looks of it will remain for the winter. A heavy rain fell here during the latter part of last week and the first of this, which will be of lasting benefit to the farmers and sheepmen of this section of the state.

What might have been a very serious fire occurred early yesterday morning at the residence of W. W. Goodman. No alarm was given, but passersby and neighbors noticed it in time to lend assistance. After tearing off a few shingles and pouring water on the blaze the danger was soon averted. A defective fuse was the cause.

Utah county officials, who want to submit additional information in the Utah-Duchesne county boundary dispute, let it submit it at once, says C. J. Ulich, assistant state engineer. State Engineer W. D. E. is desirous of making a decision in the matter at once and notice to hurry any additional information has been sent to Charles DeM. v. county attorney of Utah county.

Madame McGuire, Little and Snyder were Price visitors Thursday, attending the wedding reception of Miss Clara Oman, now Mrs. George Milner, Jr. The wedding took place October 27th at the Salt Lake temple. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Oman. The young couple will make their home at Wellington—Helper Times, 4th.

An announcement which will be received with satisfaction by the beet growing farmers of Utah has just been made by the Utah-Idaho Sugar company. This announcement is that for the next beet crop, to be planted in 1916, the farmers will be paid a flat price of five dollars a ton, unconditionally, wherever the beets are delivered, and an advanced price based on the sugar content of the beets.

The Free Press is in receipt of a letter from Hubert McKune of Price with reference to the building of the Price-Mylon road. The letter calls attention to the fact that Carbon county has expended nine thousand dollars on her end of the road and is now expending more. He wants to know if Mylon people are going to do their part of the work as was promised last summer. The state officials cannot declare this a state road until it has become a county road and the county commissioners cannot very well declare it a county road until there is a through right of way. It is now reported that some of the land owners refuse to grant rights of way.—Mylon Free Press, 4th.

Last Sunday evening a large and appreciative audience gathered at the tabernacle to listen to the entertainment given by the local high school students. The program of which was printed in last week's issue, consisted of songs, plays, and orchestra. The orchestra were delightfully and much credit is due Prof. A. Hargrener for the splendid efficiency shown. Miss Agnes MacLean's reading was indeed good and Miss Anna Frost's paper, "The Value of Domestic Art and Science in the Home," was, to say the least, extremely comprehensive, entertaining and instructive. Those who missed this intellectual treat should see to it that they attend the next entertainment of this kind, as they will be repaid for so doing.

Coming from Huntington last Saturday evening, carrying mail and four passengers, Doc Guthrie as well as his passengers had a narrow escape from serious injury if not death. As he was approaching the Sand Wash, about five miles north of Huntington, he did not see that the rain had washed the bridge out of line and he drove right into it. By some miracle three passengers and Guthrie got out unscathed before the machine turned over and hung on the edge of the washed bridge. The crash itself, however, in getting clear missed his footing and fell down into the wash, a drop of eight feet. The entire party walked back to Huntington, and next day the machine was hoisted up and limped home in the mud.

ENTHUSIASM SHOWN FOR ROUNDUP AT HUNTINGTON

The program at the tabernacle last Wednesday evening for the purpose of creating enthusiasm for the farmers' roundup and housekeepers' conference to be held at Huntington November 17th to 22d was a well attended affair and much enjoyed by those who were fortunate enough to be present. Miss Ada Newhouse sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. L. A. Jones on the violin and Mrs. J. A. Crockett on the piano.

Carl H. Maroussen made a splendid talk on why farmers and stockgrowers should attend the roundup. He drew a comparison between progressive and non-progressive farmers and laid particular stress on the education to be derived from such gatherings.

Miss Inez Scott, teacher of education at the Carbon county high school, and Miss Inez Lewis, one of Miss Scott's pupils, each gave a reading and Mrs. Olive Millum gave a talk on why housekeepers should attend the conference, her address being good and to the point.

"Why Business Men Should Attend the Roundup" was ably handled by Mayor-Elect A. W. Horsley. He showed the relationship which existed between the business man and the farmer and pointed out that without the farmer the latter could not exist.

A. J. Lee pointed out reasons why the people of Price should attend this meeting and support Emery county, saying that Price could not stand alone, but must lean on Emery for support. Price is to Eastern Utah what Salt Lake City is to the state of Utah, said he.

Miss Lora Harmon and Seymour Prows sang a duet and Robert H. Stewart made the closing address, promising all who went to Huntington the time of their lives. A fare of a dollar and a quarter will be made to those attending, said Stewart, with the lowest possible hotel rates obtainable.

MRS. FRISBY PASSES

Mother of Mrs. A. Burgener of Price Victim of Paralysis.

Mrs. Dicy Ann Frisby, wife of Joseph H. Frisby, died Sunday night at the family home in Provo from paralysis. She was born at Ogden, February 22, 1869. Her parents were Merritt Staley and Martha Rebecca Barley Staley. When a child she moved with her parents to Glenwood in Beaver county, where her father was shot and killed by the Indians in July, 1866. In 1876 she was married to Joseph H. Frisby, and with him in 1877 moved to Arizona, settling at Forest Dale. On account of the Indian troubles there the family moved to Snow-Low, where they remained until 1888, when they again moved, this time to Taylor, Ariz. In 1899 the family moved to Snowflake, Ariz., where they resided until 1905, when they came to Provo.

Mrs. Frisby is survived by her husband and six children, besides a number of grandchildren. The children are Mrs. Priscilla Shill, Mrs. Annie Ritchie, William Frisby and E. Carl Frisby of Provo; Mrs. Cora Burgener of Price, and H. LeRoy Frisby, who is now on a mission to England.

Mrs. Burgener was at the deathbed of her mother and Mr. Burgener went to Provo Sunday night to be present at the funeral, which was held there Tuesday at 1 o'clock.

ESTIMATES ON THE FLOW OF GRAND AND GREEN RIVERS

Preliminary estimates based on a report that is being prepared by E. C. LaRue, hydraulic engineer of the geological survey, according to E. A. Porter, district engineer of the survey for Utah, give the flow of water in the Grand and Green rivers, tributaries of the Colorado, for the past year up until November 1st. These estimates give the runoff of the Green river as 5,946,000 acre-feet. That of the Grand river has been estimated at 488,000 acre-feet. These figures include the tributaries of both streams. On the Grand river it is estimated that 47,100 acres could be reclaimed in Utah through the construction of the proposed Colorado river project. On the Green river the acreage that would be reclaimed is estimated at 465,000 acres and the project would also serve 104,500 acres in Utah along the Colorado, below the junction of the Grand and Green.

The reclamation service, according to Porter, is now making surveys to determine what construction work would be required. The plans contemplate the construction of a reservoir at Bridgeport on the Green river, northeast of Vernal, which would store three million acre-feet of water.

CONDEMNED POTATOES.

F. B. Raynor, United States food inspector, and Heber C. Smith, state food and dairy commissioner, have returned to Salt Lake City from Sunnyside, where they inspected a carload of potatoes shipped there from Denver. They found the potatoes in a state of decomposition and took action that will prevent their sale. Raynor says he will make a report to the department of agriculture at Washington, D. C., and any further action that may be taken will be under the direction of the United States marshal.

DIES IN SALT LAKE CITY

Accident Is Fatal to John Lowry, Sr., After Nearly a Year.

John Lowry, Sr., 86 years of age, a pioneer of 1847, a member of the constitutional convention of the state of Utah and a resident of Mantle for more than fifty years, died Sunday at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Reynolds, at Salt Lake City. Mr. Lowry suffered a fracture of his right collar bone last December when getting on a street car in that city, the act of lifting as he held to the handhold of the car proving too severe a strain for the strength of the bone. He had been in poor health since that time and had remained in Salt Lake City under medical care. Previous to this time, after leaving Mantle, Mr. and Mrs. Lowry lived in Springville. Mrs. Lowry, who survives her husband, was at his bedside when he died.

Deceased was born in Lewis county, Missouri, January 31, 1829. Arriving in Salt Lake Valley with the pioneers of John Taylor's company in 1847, he was called on a colonizing mission to Mantle in 1858, where he lived for more than half a century. Though his chances for education were meager, he achieved an acquaintance with history that gave him a wide reputation and made him a valuable member of the state constitutional convention and legislature, in both of which he served. In addition to his widow he is survived by the following sons and daughters: John Lowry, Jr., and Mrs. William Reid of Mantle; William H. Lowry and Mrs. M. W. Molen of Arco, Ida.; Daniel A. Lowry, Mrs. Nathaniel Crawford and Mrs. Samuel Singleton of Ferron; Mrs. G. E. Anderson of Springville; Mrs. Ed Olson of Provo and Mrs. B. H. Allen and Mrs. J. C. Reynolds of Salt Lake City.

The body was taken to Mantle Tuesday and funeral services held in the Latter-day Saints tabernacle there Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment was in the Mantle cemetery. Mr. Lowry was an uncle of Wallace Lowry of this city and was well known here, having at one time conducted the old Clarke Hotel in Price.
