LARGEST PER CENT OF THEM READ THE NEWSPAPERS.

The Women's Advertising club of Los Angeles, Cal., has recently issued a little booklet setting forth the results of a questionnaire conducted by the club to determine the attitude of women generally toward advertising in its various forms of appeal. It is shown that newspaper advertising leads all other forms in its interest for women by a substantial margin. Eighty-three per cent of the women interrogated read newspaper advertising regularly; 3 per cent read it occasionally or seldom; 3 per cent are non-committal and 4 per cent do not read it at all.

Some curious facts are shown in this investigation. Seventy-five per cent of the women interrogated read street car advertisements, but only 4 per cent say that street car advertisements influence them more than other forms of advertising—while 74 per cent state that newspaper advertising interests them most. Fifty-four per cent read billboard advertisements, while about 4 per cent confess that these advertisements appeal to them more strongly than other advertising.

So the story runs as to all lines of advertising specified. Magazine advertising is read by 72 per cent of the women listed, but is preferred to other forms of advertising by 22 per cent. Seventy-three per cent express confidence in advertising generally, while 73 per cent find that sometimes merchandise is not as represented in the advertisements. Only 25 per cent express confidence in comparative prices in advertisements, while 48 per cent prefer more statements of facts and prices.

The fact which stands out in this investigation is that but six out of every hundred women admit that they do not read newspaper advertising at all. It may be safe to assume that this small proportion of women do not read the news either, with any regularity—that they are, in effect, out of touch with the world in which they live. They constitute almost a negligible factor in the plans of an advertiser to "reach all the people."

HEALTH OF SOLDIERS IS MOST CAREFULLY GUARDED.

But a few evenings ago we heard a Price woman worrying for fear the end of the war would see hundreds of thousands of our soldier boys coming back from France broken in health. She hadn't learned that the climate there doesn't differ a great deal from that in the United States, with the possible exception of a little larger annual rainfall in France. Don't worry about the boys coming back broken in health. The soldiers' huts in France, long buildings that hold from thirty to sixty beds, are spick, span, new, hygienic, well lighted and well aired. In the center is a stove with a rambling chimney and there's just enough heat to keep the boys comfortable in their sweaters and warm blankets. And those sleeping in huts are well domiciled, too, for great pains have been taken to make these big, high-roofed places comfortable and sanitary.

The American soldier is taking care of his health. There is no danger of his getting into trouble by drinking bad water, for every well or hydrant is first inspected and if it is not pure water it is placarded "Water Not Good." We need not touch upon the food served, for it is the same as the boys received back at home in the states, and it is as well cooked as if it was looked after personally by the world's highest priced chefs.

There is great danger that some of our boys will not get back and it is a dead moral certainty that many will come back crippled. But a very small percentage of them will return broken in health.

Canadian business interests are paying for full-page advertisements in United States newspapers telling of the opportunities for the investment of American capital on the northern side of the line. They hope to get citizens of the United States to build factories in Canada, employ Canadian labor, use Canadian raw materials as far as available and ship much of the product to this side of the border for sale. All of which Canada has the right to hope for if the present tariff law shall continue in force. If the United States is to buy from foreign producers, there is no country in the world in which we would rather buy than Canada. But so far as it is practicable for us to do so, we expect to buy things "made in America." When we have a surplus of capital we shall

TWENTY YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

C. H. Cook was reported seriously ill at Spring Glen.
J. W. Gentry was at Helper and sold a lot of beef there.
Alfred Grames was suing Sarah Ann Grames for divorce.
Price precinct republican nominated D. W. Holdaway for justice and Peter Anderson for constable.
"Glasgow" Maxwell was sentenced to eighteen years in the penitentiary by Judge Dusenberry at Provo for the Springville bank robbery. M. P. Dratfel was one of Maxwell's attorneys.
The Denver and Rio Grande was charged with defouling the water of Price river with sewage from its hotel at Helper. The case was in court for trial at Price, September 10th.
L. A. Scott-Elliott was suing George C. Whitmore in district court at Price over water rights at Sunnyside.
Republicans of the west end of the county went back on their proposition to reconstruct, as it were, the county ticket that would give the eastern portion of the county the representation asked for.
J. C. Westel was here from Park City looking after his lumber business.
Cool weather had driven cattle owned by Price folks from the hills down to the valleys.
Wheat was selling through Emery and Sanpete counties at thirty-seven cents a bushel.
Price woman passed up the proposed republican club, there not being a sufficient number out to a meeting called for organizing to fill the offices.
Married and single men played a ball game at Price, the single fellows making the game by a score of sixteen to twelve. George A. Pasnett, H. W. Millburn and J. G. Callaway were in the lineup. The grounds were about where McKune Forwarding company now does business.
Holiday Coal company was suing R. A. Kicker for the land where Sunnyside was afterwards built.
The response in the rear of the sixty-six at Price was being built.
G. T. Olson was running the stage line from Price to Emery.
Five dollars was the roundtrip conference rate to Rio.
L. A. Lauber, now with The Sun and a resident of Price for nearly thirteen years, was running the Sanpete Democrat at Mant. J. W. Cherry was associate editor.

CALL FOR REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION

Headquarters, Republican County Committee, Price, Utah, Aug. 29, 1918.—A republican county convention is hereby called to meet in Price, Utah, on Thursday, October 3, 1918, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing thirteen (13) delegates to the republican state convention to be held at Salt Lake City, Utah, on Friday, the 6th day of October, 1918, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of nominating three justices of the supreme court and to select a new state committee to serve for the ensuing two years. Also for the purpose of electing thirteen (13) delegates to attend the republican congressional convention, which will be held at the same place on the same date after the state convention, to nominate one (1) congressman for the First Congressional District.

The apportionment of the delegates from the several precincts of the county is made on the basis of one delegate for each twenty votes or major fraction thereof cast for the Hon. Timothy C. Hoyt for congress in the election of 1916. On this apportionment the convention will consist of seventy-five (75) delegates apportioned to the several precincts as follows:

Wintor Quarters	2
Scottfield	2
Castle Gate	2
Helper	2
Spring Glen	2
Price	2
Harper	1

CALL FOR DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION

Carbon county democratic will please take notice that a county convention consisting of a hundred and fifty-eight (158) delegates, will be held at the district court room of the county courthouse at Price, Utah, commencing at 7 o'clock of the evening of Friday, September 27, 1918, for the purpose of placing in the field a full set of county officers to be voted for at the general election on Tuesday, November 5, 1918. Also to elect eleven (11) delegates to the democratic state convention to be held at Salt Lake City on September 29, 1918, for the nomination of a state ticket and for its selection of a state committee.

The delegates to the state convention shall constitute the delegates to the First Congressional District convention, which will be held immediately after the adjournment of the state convention at Salt Lake City, Utah, and shall nominate a representative to the sixty-seventh congress.

Each of said conventions is hereby authorized to transact such other and further business as may properly come before it, and as may be determined by said convention.

It is recommended by the state democratic executive committee that of the county conventions and precinct primaries, a full and complete county organization be effected for the ensuing two years.

Apportionment of delegates to the county convention from the several precincts of the county is made on the basis of one (1) delegate for every ten (10) votes or major portion thereof cast for Hon. Simon Blumberg for governor in the election of November, 1916, which said apportionment follows:

Wintor Quarters	2
Scottfield	2
Castle Gate	2
Helper	2
Spring Glen	2

The Local Man vs. the Itinerant Who Travels From Door to Door. Who Can Render You the Best Service When Your Eyes Need Glasses?

If you have ever had your eyes examined in a hotel room by the DOCTOR (?) who goes from door to door inquiring if any member of your family has defective vision, you have noted the small number of instruments and the poorly lighted test letters he uses, you can then better appreciate our completely equipped examining room, where eyes are tested with all the latest scientific and electric illuminated instruments as used by specialists in the principal cities.

We supply you with guaranteed to fit glasses at our office here in Price without any traveling expenses added and those who have had experience with the DOCTOR (?) say traveling must be quite expensive.

By our method and the use of the best instruments—some of them too heavy to be carried from town to town by the DOCTOR (?)—we measure the defect. Absolutely no guessing. Your money refunded if the glasses we fit are not satisfactory. Inquire at the Elite Jewelry Store.
