Carbon county is represented by seven persons on the Utah branch of the League to Enforce Peace. Carl R. Marrezen, chairman; R. W. Crockett, A. D. Sutton, A. W. Horsley, Robert McKune and Miss Margaret Horsley of Price and Frank T. Bennett of Storr.

Information from the state capital is that the fight that was to have been made in this legislature by Utah county for the greater portion of Soldier Summit townsite and the yards of the Denver and Rio Grande has been practically abandoned, conceding to Wasatch county all the territory embraced in the White River watershed.

Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Sutherland were given a farewell party at Storr last Tuesday evening previous to their departure this week for Roosevelt. As yet a physician to take his place at that camp has not been secured. Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland have been very popular with all the people there and many are the regrets at their going.

James P. Curtin, former resident of Winter Quarters and Steelfield and at one time representative in the legislature from Carbon county, was the motorist of a street car held up by two highwaymen at Zion a few days ago. He and the conductor were covered with guns. Curtin furnished a good description of the holdups who were later captured and since convicted.

Five deaths occurred last week from influenza at Altonah. Two were father and daughter, Wesley Bells and his daughter, Sarah, 16 years old. The others were Abe Colby, Mrs. Martin Alrod and Vesper Burgess, age 21 years. Colby was the father of Edgar Colby, the soldier boy who died last summer at Fort Logan and was taken home for burial. He is the only soldier buried in the Altonah cemetery. Mrs. Alrod leaves a family of little children. The Burgess were former residents of Price.

George A. Wooten, mayor, and the members of the city council have asked the taxpayers of Price to meet with them next Monday evening to have a free and frank discussion of the water proposition locally, and at which time these officials are to impart any information they have concerning the bonding of the city or other matters in connection with the proposed system. They ask that everyone who possibly can be at the meeting which is for 8 o'clock of the evening.

Levi B. Pass dropped in on The Sun Tuesday last and renewed his subscription for a couple of years. He is feeding about a hundred head of stock on his ranch west of Price, including horses, and says his soon will have to buy hay for them at eighteen dollars the ton. His cattle have all done well so far this winter and will get through until spring in fine shape. His greatest kick against The Sun, he says, is that it is so newsworthy of his neighbors here in Price who ought to be subscribers, insist on borrowing it from him each week. Thus over this.

Upon their own request all naval reserve men and those enlisted for the period of the war only, and who are now undergoing training at the navy training stations and trade schools, are to be released. Release of twenty thousand men of the naval reserve enlisted for the war and those performing shore duty also is ordered. Admiral Blue, who is chief of the bureau of navigation, states that his department is at present dealing with the problem of manning thirty to forty large vessels to be placed in commission as transports to bring home soldiers from Europe.

Construction of schoolhouses involving an expenditure of $100,000, 000 is said to be necessary to afford facilities for coping with the literacy problem of the nation, according to information received by Arch M. Thurston, secretary of the state court of defense, from Emily Newell Blair of the field section of the national council of defense. The department of the interior has collected statistics to show that 8,500,000 Americans are unable to read or write.

Alcohol purchased by the druggists and manufacturers of Utah during January amounted to 71,184 gallons, according to the report submitted by the state prohibition bureau by Oscar Lehmann, manager of the alcohol distributing and warehouse station in Salt Lake City.

Dr. J. J. Durwell, ophthalmic specialist of Salt Lake City, will be at Savoy Hotel Monday at 2 o'clock and Tuesday, February 17th and 18th. No charge for testing eyes. References: Glasses are worn to benefit health as well as vision.—Adv.

Mind may or may not control matter, but if you think it does and you die for your belief it means that something was the matter with the matter.

Quarantine is now lifted at all the Spring Canyon camps and at Kollin north. The Utah Fuel company and United States Fuel company camps are still closed.

COMING AND GOING

—Mrs. L. J. Walters of Sunnyside was registered at the Tavern last Saturday.

—Miss Maurine Pettit was in Price Monday last fixing up her home as the postmistress at Houser.

—Mrs. Elizabeth Sanford is at home from a visit of several weeks with relatives at Amerman Fork.

—Mrs. Isabella Murphy and Miss Jessie Fitzgerald have returned to Salt Lake City from Long Beach, Cal.

—Miss Bessie Kennedy has been in Salt Lake City this week, selecting some of her spring millinery stock.

—Thomas W. Tinsdale of Castle Gate and Frank E. Gleason of Hatcher were guests of the Savoy this week.

—Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Nelson and two daughters of Mr. Pleasant are invited at Long Beach, Cal., for the winter.

—J. C. Beeghly left Saturday for Long Beach, Cal., to join Mrs. Beeghly and daughter for a time. He goes by automobile.

—J. H. Leavitt, the sheepman, is spending the winter months in Long Beach, Cal., and other points in that state. He has been away two weeks.

—Mrs. Harold V. Alston has come to Price to join her husband who is engaged in state road work supervising excavations. They are making their home at the Savoy.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Heck of Denver, Colo., have come to Price to make this city their home. He has taken charge of Sunshine Construction. Mrs. Heck is a sister of Mrs. O. H. Wilson.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Olson are visiting with Mrs. Olson's mother, Mrs. W. W. Cliff, at Lynwood, Cal., a suburb of Los Angeles. They write home that they are enjoying every minute of the time.

—Miss Jessie Fitzgerald and sister, Mrs. Isabella Murphy, are sojourning for the time being in Los Angeles, Cal. Their address is the Delaware apartments. Until recently they have been at Long Beach.

—Knox Patterson, district attorney from Moab, and James W. Cherry, lawyer of Mt. Pleasant were looking after legal matters in Price last Saturday and Sunday. They were guests of the Tavern while here.

—Mr. and Mrs. George M. Miller of Salt Lake City were guests of the Tavern last Monday, going to Emery county and district court at Castle Dale. They still have large property interests around Huntington.

—Dr. W. L. Sutherland is to leave Storr soon to make his home at Roosevelt. He has a valuable tract of land near that town, but will practice in his new location. He figures to build a hospital at Roosevelt.

—H. G. Williams, consulting engineer and acting general superintendent of the Utah Fuel company, came over from Sunnyside on Wednesday evening to attend the Lincoln Day banquet. He returned yesterday.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wharton of Salt Lake City are making their home at the Tavern. He is interested out Utah Basin way in the big things that are being done there in oil and expects to make Price his headquarters.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gibson of Storr were visitors in Salt Lake City this week. Commissioner Gibson came to Price Tuesday last for a meeting of the board, but Mrs. Gibson remained in the city with friends and relatives for several days yet.

—Sergeant James Galanis has received his discharge from the army and returned home from Camp McClellan, Ala., the first of the week. Sergeant Galanis saw active service in France and was later sent back to this country as an instructor in gas and heavy artillery.—Helper Times, 8th.

—Dr. S. P. Cook, pioneer oil man operator of the Utah Basin and who has spent many thousands of dollars in the development of that section, was in Price today on his way to Salt Lake City. It is quite likely he will make his headquarters in this city. He figures to do much work out that way the coming spring and summer.

—Colonel and Mrs. Eugene Santolich, both well known in Utah, have been entertaining extensively at the United States military academy at West Point, where Colonel Santolich is now stationed as an instructor. Last week they entertained Col. and Mrs. B. Younill and Col. and Mrs. G. F. N. Daley. Colonel Younill and Daley were classmates of Colonel Santolich.—Salt Lake Tribune, 12th.

—Lieut. Claude P. Baker has been back in Utah a couple of weeks from Camp Funston, Kas., after being honorably discharged from the service. Himself and a brother at Provo are to open a law office at Eureka in the very near future. They also will give special attention to Carbon county practice. Lieutenant Baker was formerly in practice at Helper and has many business and professional friends locally.

—Clyde Fullmer, one of Uncle Sam's soldier boys, has arrived at Mountain Home, aka Myron's Five Press of last Friday. He has been to France and we are very sure he can relate some interesting stories about his experiences overseas. Because of the influence some of the soldiers who have returned have been honored with a party, but the people in the community are all pleased to have them with them again. Young Fullmer was a clerk at the Savoy in Price at the time of enlistment.

ALFRED GRAMES

Wonder what ever became of all the fellows who have been introduced by speakers as "our next president?"

When you say you can't believe that some man will be sure you are not kidding the average too high.

And if it had not been somebody's desire to keep the world the crutch factories wouldn't be turning out any more now than they did a few years ago.

One Price man said yesterday that he is glad to note Uncle Sam is going to struggle for government ownership of the waterways.

Let's hope that some of our citizens will suffer with "shutlocks" when we strip down to where we can again have as many as two at a meal.

ELMO VETERAN PENSIONED UNDER SENATOR SMOOT ACT

Pension under the Senator Smoot amendment to the pension laws has been granted Mrs. Emma D. A. B. Neve of Salt Lake City, widow of Aaron P. Neve. She is said to be the eighth Utah woman rewarded under the amendment, her pension dating from March 4, 1917, and amounting to twelve dollars monthly. The husband was a fighter in the Black Hawk Indian war.

Three more veterans are also rewarded. They are Henry H. Orvint of Klum, in Emery county, a private in the company of Capt. Lewis Larson; Andrew E. Anderson of Tebi, a private in the company of Capt. William Bench; and Peter H. Madsen of Manti, a private in the company of Capt. John H. Tuttle.

ABSOVED OF HIS CRIME ALL NOW SEEKS FREEDOM

Charged of complicity in the murder of an Italian at Thistle, May 14, 1914, by a recent confession of his alleged partner, Joe Boktashi, Abdul Ali, an Albanian imprisoned for first degree murder at the state penitentiary, will apply for commutation of sentence to the board of pardons when it meets Saturday. According to Boktashi, he alone planned and executed the killing, while Ali was implicated by a chain of circumstances over which he had no control.
