Two hundred and fifteen names have been added to the subscription list of THE DISPATCH since Wednesday. Advertisers will please make a note of this.

AS A RULE, at this season of the year, people are too busy to fight, too good-natured to kill and too well fed to steal, and consequently news is scarce.

MR. A. P. OLSEN, representing the DAILY DISPATCH, made us a friendly call on Tuesday. THE DISPATCH is taking like wild fire in this end of the county.—Payson Enterprise.

We do not know which is the most difficult to manage—a man who has acquired the habit of kicking, or a mule so gitted—but we believe we would take our chances with the mule.

HOS. WILLIAM CREEK had a little soiree at his residence in Spanish Fork last evening. Among his friends present were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Kinison and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wilson of our city.

A SOCIAL party was held at the residence of George Hartley, the watchman, on J street, last night. An orchestra, consisting of a violin, banjo, several guitars and an accordion, furnished the music. A grand time was had by those who participated.

Geo. HANES, the author of the kidnapping trick, called at THE DISPATCH office last night, and stated that he objected to any more free advertising on our part. He denounced the intention of the chapter devoted to him in Thursday's paper as a second edition of Ananias.

The Odd Fellows will have a grand time at the lake to-day. Delegates from Salt Lake and other places are expected, and no doubt the people who attend will have a day's pleasure which will long be remembered. The committee are working like beavers to make the affair a success.

MR. JAMES W. GATHERUM of this city, started on a mission to Scotland yesterday. The gentleman will visit in Salt Lake for a few days prior to his departure for New York, whence he will sail for the field of his missionary labors. He will be gone about two years, and carries with him the well wishes of a host of friends.

Now that the glorious Fourth is approaching the small boys and the firecrackers are beginning to play a prominent part. Last night some boys on the east side of the tabernacle block raised a rattle of excitement by an excessive use of firecrackers. The boys had better be careful, as the officers threaten to run them in if the offense is repeated.

The other day a prominent gentleman of Brigham City was asked the question: "What is the difference between the Democratic and Republican parties?" This was the satisfactory answer: "Well, I'll tell you. The Democrats say that two and two make four. The Republicans come out and vehemently declare 'that's a Dem. lie; it takes three and one to make four.'"

The B. Y. A. summer school will open in the Central school house next Monday. Teachers from all parts of the Territory will be in attendance. The chief feature of the school will be the course in pedagogics and psychology by Prof. Cliff, and lessons in general principles and methods by prominent educators. The kindergarten school in the same building will be free to all who attend the Summer school. Utah county is still keeping the lead in educational matters. Welcome, pedagogues.

As the agitation of division on national party lines increases throughout the territory the organs of Democracy and Republicanism devote more and more attention to the tariff question. Some of the tariff pictures drawn by our exchanges are enough to make the average man weep, but we suppose they serve their purpose. The New York Press is selling a number of editorial signs of Republican newspapers in the territory, and the articles from this source are usually draped in mourning.

A TRAMP, evidently slightly off, was around town yesterday morning. He claimed to have traveled with the Boston Tea Party, and that as the Monitor had been friendly to him, he was going to give them the benefit of a last horse race he intended to spin off on the people. The officers were called on his track, and Officer Williams was led in finding and scaring him out of town.

THROWN FROM A HORSE.

Little Johnny Allen Suffers Serious Injury.

Dr. Shores Thinks the Boy Has a Bare Fighting Chance.

Down at the Lake Resort yesterday afternoon a sad accident occurred. Little Johnny Allen, aged 10 years, son of August H. Allen, was to go up town on an errand. He wished to make the journey on a fractious cayuse, but his mother objected, and wished him to ride a more tractable animal. He, however, persisted, and gained his point.

On his return from the city, and when within a short distance of home, the mare got her mouth loose from his grip, owing to the fact that the reins became tangled. The animal ran down the road until the bovery was reached, when it dashed in under the bogged-over structure, throwing the boy head foremost either on the sharp edge of one of the benches, or, as Dr. Shores thinks, against one of the supporting posts. Joe Thompson happened to be in the vicinity, and carried the inert boy to his home close by. The street railway motor was standing on the siding at the time, and Passenger Agent Bachman ordered that a special trip be made to the city for Dr. Shores. Upon the arrival of the doctor, he made an examination of the patient, and seeing that a delicate operation was necessary and assistance needed, he dispatched the motor for Dr. Pike and an assistant. The physicians found that a serious depression of the frontal bone existed, with a fracture at the base of the cranium. They raised the depressed bone, after which the patient seemed to rally, convulsions ceased, and most of the alarming symptoms passed away. The doctors think the boy has a bare fighting chance.

Races at the Park.

Lovers of horseflesh will have a chance to enjoy themselves this afternoon. Down at Provo Racing Park will occur several contests of speed between Utah horses.

In the first race, trotting and pacing, mile heats, best three in five, Joe Riley has entered "Baxter," while S. L. Binnett's "Leo Jr." and J. H. Carson's "Joe" will contest for honors.

The second event is to be a running race, 1/2 mile dash, between D. S. Dana's "Mollie Moore" and Jesse Knight's "Babe," for a purse.

Beside these two events there are other interesting races arranged for, and a good afternoon's sport is promised. The races will commence at 2 o'clock, and an admission of 25 cents charged, ladies free. Street cars run every hour.

Police Court.

Mike Donahue and James Nelson were treated yesterday morning by Judge Dixon at five days board and lodging at the city jail for having imbibed too freely of aqua fortis from some of the city liquor dispensaries.

Henry Meager, the wild-eyed man, who, in a sportive mood, fired several shots Thursday night, was retained to the tender mercies of the Chinaman who feeds the city prisoners for the next twenty-four days. The officers think that the man is demented, and he may be turned over to the authorities at the asylum.

Notice to Democratic Clubs.

The secretaries of all county Democratic clubs are requested to forward to THE DISPATCH a list of club officers and members belonging to their organization. The list should be mailed immediately, so that we can, if possible, secure a complete roster by this evening for publication in Sunday's DISPATCH.

JIM CRUSHING, the pugilist, is pursuing a rigid course of training, preparatory to his fight with Chas. Huston, champion of Colorado, which will place in the Opera House next Wednesday evening.

The election of school trustees throughout the county comes off July 13th—in just two weeks. What is to be done about nominations for those offices? Are the parties to try a preliminary skirmish on this question? Or will you make up citizens' tickets irrespective of party affiliations and thereby keep politics out of the schools entirely?

The horses of J. D. Brannon, who is now in the county jail on a charge of horse stealing, were sold at auction yesterday at the estray pound to satisfy two judgments, one for $175, and another for $128, and costs amounting to $72. The judgments were first issued in Colorado, where Brannon had been running a saw-mill. He stole the horses, shipped, and was arrested in Utah and lodged in jail. Sheriff Fowler found five head of the horses, and, as a judgment was issued from the District Court here, the horses were sold yesterday by Sheriff Fowler. The sale of the horses realized $214. In catching one of the horses Sheriff Fowler had his hand badly cut, causing blood to flow freely.

A CURIOUS CASE.

William Spier, of Salt Lake, Falls Into the Hands of the Law.

William Spier, of the Morgan hotel, Salt Lake, when at the depot last night, intending to take the midnight train to Salt Lake, was arrested by the officers, who claim that he was drunk, and that the railroad officials had ordered them to take him. Spier denies that he was drunk, and was very indignant over being arrested, and declares that he will fight the city for it and that he has $750 to spend in the fight. He left $4.00 as a bond for his appearance before Judge Noon this morning, and was released from custody. He stayed at the Cosmopolitan hotel during the night.

Their Ideas Want Finish.

Editor Morning Dispatch: The other day I was talking to a Republican, and incidentally we referred to the Hamilton-Jefferson affair, as it appeared in the Salt Lake Herald on Sunday last. He said that Hamilton had been but a short time acquainted with Republican principles, hence his crudeness of speech. I thought that was a very good way for men to entertain Republican ideas. Had they been read and otherwise well informed upon the principles of government, they could not be Republicans, as all their ideas of the different forms of government want the finish and the well studied ideas of a solid Democratic form of government.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Willie Halliday Falls From a Scaffold.

And Sustains Severe, Though Not Fatal, Injuries.

A very severe accident has occurred to Willie Halliday, the 14-year-old son of Y. L. Halliday, of this city. About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the young boy was at work on the Academy building wheeling brick along the scaffold, when in some unaccountable manner he fell from the scaffold, striking first on the head, and then on the chest and landing in the mortar bed, falling a distance of fifteen feet. He was picked up and taken home by some of the workmen, and Dr. Pike was sent for. The doctor was at the lake attending to August Allen's boy, but as soon as possible the doctor arrived and examined the boy to find the extent of his injuries. The patient's left hand was torn in a frightful manner between the thumb and forefinger. There is also a very severe bruise on the left side of the boy's head, and an ugly gash behind the right ear. His limbs are torn and bruised, the flesh being gouged in several places. There is another severe bruise on the right hip. In fact, he is bruised and scratched from head to foot. Dr. Pike gave it as his opinion that the bruise on the left side of the head was the most severe of all. The doctor struck his hand and all his power to make him as comfortable as possible. He was resting easily about 11 o'clock last night, but no doubt he will experience great pain when the reaction sets in. The boy is very ambitious in the trade he has selected, and he will not let Monday, consequently this accident will be a drawback to him. In the meanwhile all that loving hands can do for him is being done, and no doubt he will rapidly recover. The boy will be confined to his bed for awhile, but as Mr. and Mrs. Halliday remarked, they are thankful that it is no worse, as many cases have happened where falling a less distance has resulted in instant death.

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY.

Good morning. Pleasant weather. Get ready for the Fourth. How do you like THE DISPATCH? BUSINESS is rushing at the Lake Resort. PICNIC parties up the canyon seem to be all the go nowadays. DENNO last evening a number of serenade parties paraded the streets. The second ward choir met for practice last night in the meeting-house. A SPARING contest will take place at the Opera House Wednesday evening next. The latest excitement is the fossil man, exhibited next door to the Bank of Commerce. THE boat races at the lake on Saturday will be well worth the attention of all lovers of sport. CORNRY COLLECTOR Wm. H. Brown and Judge Duggan went up to Salt Lake yesterday on business. MIKE DONOHUE, an old-time jail bird, was run in by the officers last night for imbibing to too much bug juice. T. E. DANIELS, JR., returned from Ogden last night, where he had been on business connected with the electric light plant. THE great attraction for the small boys of the town was the free ice cream given away by the agent who is selling the new freezer. THE Denver train was over an hour late again last evening. The usual dreary wait seems to be inevitably in store for all travelers from Provo. JIM CORBETT, the California pugilist, will arrive in Salt Lake Saturday next. It is expected that he will give an exhibition in Provo at an early date. A. F. BOSTON, the gentleman who formerly managed the Boston Lumber Co., has decided to leave Provo. He will return to his friends in the East. J. W. KILLEN, the U. P. employe who was arrested recently for embezzlement, is still in jail. Previous to his arrest he was ticket agent in this city. AMONG the habitues of Centre street there is nothing talked of but politics, sometimes in loud tones, indicating a warm discussion as to the amusement of the wisecracker. SOME parties living close to the depot, whose names we withhold, were on a spree last night, and had a friendly fight. They settled the matter without the interference of the officers. A RIO GRANDE WESTERN will arrive in this city from the north at about 7 o'clock this morning, having on board a committee of Salt Lake Mystic Shrine, who will meet and welcome a delegation of their Denver brethren.

HUMILIATING AFFAIR.

Wanted, a Republican Chairman for Payson City.

He Never Deserts a Party With Which He Affiliates.

Our Payson correspondent sends in the following, under date of June 25: "We had a heavy win'storm here the other afternoon. The air grew very chilly, and the cause remained undisturbed until the arrival of the evening train, when six Republicans stepped on to the platform. They had come for the purpose of holding a meeting, but as they could not find a Republican in town to act as chairman, a staunch Democratic citizen, upon fearful request of the missionaries, magnanimously filled the office. Considerable mud-slinging was indulged in, and the editor of a Republican newspaper made an apology for his future conduct. He stated that he would never desert the party with which he was affiliated, and a picture frame fell from the wall. John H. Smith made the statement that he was a Republican because a friend of his belonged to the party. The few spectators, not listeners, but to yawn, and the meeting adjourned."

NEWS FROM SCHOFIELD.

A Strange Disease Playing Sad Havoc with Children.

The Rowdy Element in Danger of Interference From the Police.

SCHOFIELD, Emery county, Utah June 25.—[Special to the Dispatch.]—Among your numerous readers there are many, no doubt, who would like to hear from Schofield, especially as this place has been the temporary home of many who are now settled in Utah county. It is lively at present—livelier than it has been for some months past, and were it not for the great amount of sickness prevailing here the people would be happy. There is a disease "going the rounds" among the children—not even for themselves, but with them. This disease is something akin to diphtheria, and quite a number of deaths have already occurred, while many are dangerously ill. On account of this disease the public (district) schools, Sunday schools and primaries have, by the advice of the physicians, been closed down, in consequence of which our public assemblies are only attended by a few grown people. Five missionaries have been called from this place, four of whom have already departed. The fifth leaves on the 24th. They all go to Europe. Their names are Roderick Davis, John Henry Davis, (grandfather and grandson), Jas. W. Galloway, Jas. S. Anderson, and T. Evans. While most of our people are law-abiding enough, we have in our midst a certain lawless element who have no respect for law, order, nor anything else—not even for themselves. They have exploited was on the 21st, when they broke the stillness of the peaceful Sabbath-day with profanity and abuse showered upon the heads of one of our most peaceable citizens, J. K. Parnell, because he asked them not to destroy his property. Warrants are out for their arrest. The wave of excitement caused by the national political parties being organized in Utah, has not struck us very hard up here as yet, but there is a feeling, an undercurrent, or it may be the tail end of the political storm, that has set the citizens to whispering that we shall fall into line. Last Saturday at Huntington the assembled county convention of the People's party delegates, voted to disband. As no other organization now exists, we will have to get a move on us if we intend to do anything at next election. The citizens of Schofield are whispering Democracy to each other, and Democratic principles are being quietly discussed. So don't be surprised if you hear of a solid Democratic club here before long. A little Democratic literature would be a good thing at present. On account of the immense depth of snow in the mountains, very few herds of sheep have arrived in the valley. OBSERVER.

MADE HIS ESCAPE.

From the Interior of Emery County Jail.

Sheriff Fowler Will Watch at This End for the Forger.

Sheriff Fowler received a telegram yesterday afternoon from Castle Dale to the effect that one of the forgers he succeeded in capturing a few days ago had escaped. This is the same fellow that the sheriff had such a chase after at Price. Sheriff Fowler lost money in effecting his capture before, and as no inducement has been offered for his recapture, the sheriff will stay at Provo, and watch for his man.

IF HE WERE YOUNG AGAIN.

Professor L. P. Roberts is director of the college of agriculture in Cornell university. He is a gentleman of wide knowledge, full of enthusiasm, and a "self made man," as it is called. Professor Roberts has been asked what he would do if he were young again. Here are some of the things he mentions, in The Rural New Yorker, that he would do if he were young again. They are well worth the attention of those who are young still: I would visit the school committee to see if they would not hire a teacher who would conduct me through the arithmetic successfully in two years instead of seven; one who had had the art of spending fifteen years in imperfectly teaching now to form twenty-six simple characters. If I were a youth just entering my teens I would want a teacher who had both inspiration and application; one, in fact, who knew more than I did, so that I might be taught what to eat and how to eat; how to work and when to play; how to grow strong and beautiful; how to become good and true, and how and to whom to give thanks. Then I should want explained to me in the most simple language the uses, beauty and pleasures of knowledge, so that while giving thanks for the blessings enjoyed, a holy zeal, a consuming desire for knowledge would possess me. I should want a teacher who would point out the road, who knew the schools of higher training, their specialities, their character and quality. I would divide my time first into two parts, one for rest and sleep and one for activity, and these two parts should not exchange beds or bunk together. The hours of activity would be devoted to work to getting strong and beautiful, to acquiring knowledge and to meditation. As the hardest thing a young person has to do is to "keep still" and the easiest is to put forth muscular effort, I should be careful not to work too long or hard, in order that vitality might be left for the harder effort of thinking. I would try to get training and understanding to work for myself profitably; that is, I would avoid being so poorly equipped that I would be compelled to employ some one else to direct my labor, he getting the lion's share. I feel that what was left. I would get at least two strings to my bow, so that if the world had no long felt want which my theoretical knowledge could fill, I could make my washboard a show-well apple barrel. I would inspect carefully many of the open doors which are labeled "Education," having found the one best suited to my desires. I would enter and not come forth till I could do several things well enough to attract attention, and I would "kick" if anybody thrust me into the young door.

WHERE WAS THE AUDIENCE.

A Question that is Not Easily Answered.

Scattered through the columns of the Republican organ yesterday were notices inviting everyone to attend a grand Republican rally to be held in the West schoolhouse last evening. Part of the rally showed up in the person of two orators who didn't orate, and four or five would-be listeners, who did not have a chance to listen. There are either no Republicans in the Third ward, or the journal is a poor advertising medium. It was whispered lately that the Third ward was Republican—solid—sure, Fizzle No. 2. Next!

THE DISPATCH CONGRATULATED.

The Provo Dispatch has been purchased by a company of Provo Democrats who propose to commence the issue tomorrow, June 23rd, of a Democratic daily in Provo, under the title of the MORNING DISPATCH. The officers of the company are Wm. H. King, president; A. O. Smoot, vice-president; Joe E. Daniels, secretary; Geo. A. Dusenberry, treasurer; W. H. Brown, J. H. Wallis, E. A. Wilson, H. J. Maiben, and A. D. Gash. The MORNING DISPATCH has arranged for Associated Press night service of telegraphic dispatches and is to be conducted as a thoroughgoing Democratic journal. We heartily congratulate the DISPATCH and the citizens of Provo of Democratic faith, on the new venture, which under the able hand of directors named above can hardly fail being successful.—Beaver Union.
