Will Fight to the Bitter End. CHICAGO, July 2.-A special from Coquimbo, Chili, dated June 28, published here this morning, is as follows:

At last the new president of the government party has been elected. The province of South Chili, all under Balmaceda's control, voted Saturday.

Balmaceda's candidate, Vicuna, was chosen as his successor, but the vote will not be made public until July 25.

Between now and then Balmaceda will remain in office and will hesitate at nothing to stamp out the revolution.

He is in the fight to the bitter end. There will be no compromise. Either he must fall or the insurgents will have to make an unconditional surrender.

The town is alive with warlike scenes. Everything points to a fierce fight at an early date. News reaches here that all the insurgent fleet with the exception of the Esmeralda, are in rendezvous at Caldera, 200 miles to the north of the port where the Blanco Encalada sunk. The purpose is without doubt to attack Coquimbo at once.

It looks as if the insurgents and the Balmacedists would be in conflict by July 1 or 2.

The Southern Pacific Being Washed Completely Out.

Great Excitement Over This Strange Freak of Nature-The Indians Anticipate Floods and Move on Higher Grounds.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 2.-A special dispatch says the water around Salton is now within 2,000 feet of the Main street. It continues to come down as it has been doing, it will wash the Southern Pacific track out in three days.

The deepest water found is three feet and the shallowest current fourteen inches. Superintendent Darwin of the salt works is alarmed and wants the railroad company to send men to fix the break in the river.

The break is thirteen miles below El Rio and about seventy miles from Salton. The Indians are badly scared. All the desert Indians have fled to the hills, and even those as high as the Bonanza are leaving for the mountains.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.-From the reports of the engineers sent out from Yuma by the Southern Pacific railroad it appears that the flood near Salton is even more serious than at first reported.

The heat continues to be unbearable. Old residents of this city say that while the water is higher than ever known before, the desert lake is not a new thing and the phenomenon has occurred frequently, but from the fact that the desert is uninhabited and few venture across it, it has not been noticed.

A desert gale blowing from the east last night piled the water up on the west shore of the new lake, so that on this side the water shows no advance to-day. Where this immense body of water comes from is the question.

Some believe that one of the late earthquakes made a fissure in the mountains and that the water is from the ocean 100 miles distant. Others account for it by a cloudburst on the west side of an ancient ocean 285 feet below the level of the sea.

Eight miles below Yuma the Colorado river has overflowed its west bank for ten miles since February, with a rate from two to five feet per day.

This overflow runs to the northwest through the old natural canal system of the new river for 120 miles, with a current of five miles per hour, into the great Laguna region, where the water has an area of forty miles square, with a depth of from three to ten feet. This body of water is 180 feet lower than the Colorado river at the point of overflow, but 227 feet higher than Salton.

Indian Wells lake is 120 miles from the Colorado, but not more than fifty miles from Salton. All the water in this vast body of water from going into the desert basin at Salton and filling it is a ridge of sand, nine feet high at its highest point, and about one mile wide.

There is no water in the river in the Indian Wells lake has found an underground passage through this bank of sand and has broken out west of Salton. If a ditch was cut through the sand in the old river bed, one half of the water in the Colorado river would be turned into that ancient sea.

There can be no doubt that that not long ago the Colorado turned to the northwest, just below Yuma, and poured its volume of water into the Salton basin, which, if filled, would make a lake 100 miles in length, 45 miles wide and 200 feet deep. If the basin fills up, the Southern Pacific railroad will have to move 130 miles of main line. There are but few inhabitants in the desert, outside of the railroad employes, and the laborers at the salt works. If the water continues to rise every inhabitant for 100 miles will have to leave, and the railroad bed moved to higher ground.

The flow of water on the Colorado river at the present time is estimated at nearly 1,900,000 cubic feet per minute. The current at the Yuma railroad bridge is nine miles per hour.

The temperature at Salton has already reduced the temperature from 117 on Saturday to 101 degrees for the past two days.

There is no danger of loss of life, as the area of the desert to be filled is so large that if the whole Colorado was turned into it everything would have time to escape.

"Should the basin continue to fill many of the buildings can be moved and most of the property saved. There is no live stock in the whole region. It is a barren waste. A new idea relative to the water is to the effect that an artesian well at Indio, twenty-four miles distant, was plugged up, and that this caused a subterranean stream to break out at Salton. One thing is certain, the Salton basin and Indian Wells region once formed a part of the gulf of California, and that both have been under water at six different periods, three at present under salt and three times under fresh water.

The shells tell this story. It would not be strange if this is to be the seventh time. The natural canal system of the new river is 830 miles in length, and that is the whole Colorado, and from 10 to 25 deep to carry the water of the Colorado river to where it is held, above the heads of those who live in the desert basin of Salton. There is waste enough at the present time in the Colorado of the river steamers of 100 tons burden.

Should the water break through the sand bank on the surface, no power could stop it, and the desert will be made into the Colorado lake, the pet dream of General Fremont nearly fifty years ago.

If the water does not find a passage from Indian Wells, but does come from other sources, an inlet can be made for it into the desert irrigated with it, when it would become the garden spot, with fruit and orange groves of the Pacific coast. The old Indians say that their forefathers told them that long ago the Salton basin was a great sea, and that when the Colorado was high it flowed into it, that when the same bank formed where it now is.

The Indians went and cut a small ditch and the water did the rest, and the latter again filled the lakes. They say that the time has come when it must be a lake again. Many of them have moved to higher ground in order to be ready for the coming change.

Boats and men have been sent from Los Angeles to Salton to go and explore the lake to ascertain where the water enters it.

True Love Never Dies. LONDON, July 1.-The wedding of two Americans at St. George church, Hanover square, to-day, has a rather romantic interest. Several years ago Mr. Granville Ellis and Miss Bosler, both of Boston, were married in America. For some season they were divorced, and Mrs. Ellis began to write for papers under the pseudonym of "Max Elliott." Last year she ran to England, met her divorced husband, and discovered that she loved him still. This year she came across again and married him over again. The wedding was very quiet.

A UTAH APPOINTMENT.

Andrew J. Sargent, Judge of the Probate Court of Utah County.

WASHINGTON, July 2.-The president to-day made the following appointments: A. Loudon Snowden, of Pennsylvania, minister to Greece, Roumania and Servia; Raulando Pacheco, of California, minister to Guatemala and Honduras; Richard Lambert, of California, consul to Mazatlan; Andrew J. Sargent, of Utah territory, judge of the probate court, Utah county, Utah territory.

The president has appointed the following postmasters at offices recently raised to the presidential class: California-O. P. Moor at Sossion, C. C. Belknap at Portersville, William J. Bignstaff at Lakesport, Montana-C. F. Little at Glendive, Mrs. Alice Shannon at Red Lodge.

She Committed Crime for Love. DENVER, July 1.-Madame Pbllo, arrested in Chicago for stealing a $6,000 check from G. G. Newkirk, the State agent of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company, and who attempted to escape by jumping from the train, arrived here to-night and made a confession implicating C. M. Newkirk, brother of the agent. She says she consented to the crime through her love for C. M. Newkirk. The latter has been arrested.

A Scene of Excitement. NEW YORK, July 1.-Judge Barnard sitting in the Supreme Court granted an injunction restraining the payment of the dividend on the stock of the sugar refineries company. When this announcement was made in Wall street it created a furore in the market. Sugar stock which had sold as high as $3, dropped to $1 and then sold up again to $2.

Had Stones as Big as Hen's Eggs. BOONE, Iowa, July 2.-Dispatches received here report a cyclone at Gray, Audubon county, last evening. A large number of houses in the track of the eye were destroyed and a number of people injured. One man is reported killed. At Holbur there was a heavy storm of hail, doing much damage to crops of all kinds. Audubon also reports a heavy hail storm with stones as large as hen's eggs. Arcella and Westdale also report great damage.

Singular Case of Spirit Rapping. LAKE CRISTAL, Minn., July 1.-The home of Hogan Nelson, eight miles west of here, is the scene of much excitement. Nelson's daughter, Annie, seems to be accompanied by invisible spirits that rap on tables, floors and closets. Articles of clothing and jewelry disappear and cannot be found; strange noises occur in the day time when Annie is at home, but cease when she goes away. The girl reports that she sees a white dove about the house with a bow in its mouth, but no one else can behold it. The Norwegian church is holding an investigation at the house.

A Shortage of $25,000. ST. LOUIS, July 2.-A dispatch from Arkansas City, Ark., says developments fully confirm the report of the defalcation of Sheriff Warfield. The shortage will be in the neighborhood of $25,000. It will be a total loss to his bondsmen. In addition to this a dispatch from Little Rock says the sheriff is short $30,000 on his settlement last year. It is stated that Warfield lost heavily in cotton speculation during the past few months.

Died in Exile. PARIS, July 2.-Prince Doloroukoff, recently governor of Moscow, died in this city yesterday evening. It seems he left Russia some time ago practically an exile. The prince owed the Jews large sums of money and because of this was disposed to be lenient toward them. This the czar did not like, so he appointed his brother as governor and it is believed exiled Doloroukoff.

200 LIVES LOST. Germany Visited With a Terrible Thunderstorm. Houses Demolished, Property Destroyed, People Killed, and Thoroughfares Turned Into Rivers.

BERLIN, July 2.-A terrible storm of thunder, hail and rain passed over a large part of Germany last night, causing immense damage to property and great loss of life in the villages of Suctelton, near Dusseldorf, and Sittard in Crefeld. Thirteen bodies have been taken from the ruins of houses. Two hundred is the estimated number of lives lost.

At Brunswick the storm assumed the proportions of a cyclone and this morning the streets are filled with wreckage. Many houses were demolished and others badly damaged while many thoroughfares were turned into rivers.

In the neighborhood of Spottam in Prussia the wind cut down the grain and did other damage. At Sarnet near precht near Graz, the capital of Styria, in Austria, a water spout burst over the town with fearful force and sweeping away the cabins of the peasants, drowning nine of them.

Every hour is adding to the story of disaster, and but few places in the path of the storm seem to have escaped.

EXPLOSION IN SALT LAKE. Dr. Chapman Struck in the Head and Severely Injured.

SALT LAKE, June 2.-A singular accident occurred in the dental office of Chapman & Frapp in the Opera House this afternoon. A large gas tank exploded with terrific force, scattering nearly all the glass in the building and damaging ceilings and walls. Dr. Chapman was struck in the head by pieces of flying glass and severely injured.

The New Debtless Treaty. PARIS, July 2.-Le Martin to-day declares the new treaty of the so-called rebound suppresses three clauses of the first treaty as follows:

First-The clause which compelled Italy to send three army corps to the Alpine frontier in the event of a Franco-German war.

Second-The clause compelling Austria to station troops on the Russian frontier, in the event of a Russo-German war.

Third-The clause fixing the minimum peace effective of Italy and Austria.

The three powers, however, according to Le Martin, mutually guaranteed the integrity of their respective territories.

FIFTEEN YEARS.

John Bardsley Receives Sentence for Embezzement.

Not One of the Hundreds of Friends That Bardsley Had a Year Ago are Present in His Misfortune.

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.-Ex-City Treasurer John Bardsley was sentenced this morning by Judge Wilson to fifteen years' solitary confinement in the eastern penitentiary, and to pay a fine equal to the sum to which he pleaded guilty to having absconded.

The fact that Bardsley was to be sentenced to-day was not generally known and there was not more than fifty people in the courtroom. The district attorney spoke briefly and in course of his remarks he denied that the contention was made in his statement to the court a week ago that the treasurer had not misappropriated a dollar. Mr. Graham showed that by Bardsley's sworn statement he must have at least misappropriated $220,000 as that amount was required to be made good by his securities. Although he is not able as yet to specifically state where the money has gone to, Graham said Bardsley's embezzlement would amount to between four and five hundred thousand dollars. Mr. Alexander, counsel for Bardsley, reviewed the statements made by his client and appealed to the court for mercy on the ground of guilty and his past services to the city. Mr. Alexander said Bardsley did not get one dollar of the money, he put into the Keystone bank and that within six months it would be shown who did. Alexander vehemently declared that his client received no dollar, but that he had only pleaded guilty to the statutory offense of loaning, speculating with and receiving interest on public funds. Never, with his consent, said Alexander, should Bardsley appear in court in an investigating committee of the council to testify, but if at any time the district attorney desired any information or assistance, his client was willing to aid him.

While his counsel had been speaking, Bardsley sat with lowered head, never tracing imaginary lines with the back of a pen upon the table. Not one of the hundreds of friends that Bardsley had a year ago were present. When he arose to receive the sentence of the court, Judge Wilson's severe words caused Bardsley most palpable distress. As the Judge said he could find no palliation for Bardsley's malfeasance, and that his offense was more open to censure than his abuse of an official position, the prisoner almost collapsed and seemed about ready to sink to the floor from his chair. Nevertheless, before Judge Wilson had concluded and ordered him to arise to receive sentence, Bardsley had completely regained his composure and received the words that sent him to prison for fifteen years with utter absence of emotion.

Arrest of the Principal in this Great Swindle. He is Caught at Ogden and Identified as the Man Who Succeeded in Getting Away With $10,000.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 2.-Tom Ashton, recently arrested at Ogden, has been identified as the gold brick swindler, bunco man and all around crook. He is wanted in Iowa for buncoing a wealthy farmer out of a large sum of money, and the warrant and requisition papers have been received for him. He will be turned over to an officer as soon as the Ogden authorities are through with him, and taken back to Iowa for trial.

Ladies Ejected for Applauding. CHICAGO, July 2.-The climax in the suit of Phoebe Cousins was reached this afternoon. The case has been on for hearing all day, and Col. Roe, Miss Cousins' attorney, was just closing his argument, winding up by exclaiming: "Let justice be done, though the heavens fall." This was too much for Miss Cousins' lady friends, and they commenced to applaud the attorney. Judge Blodgett instantly interrupted them, exclaiming: "Stop! This is no town meeting. Mr. Marshall, clear the Court room!" In the meantime Deputy Marshal Jones left his seat and advanced towards the ladies, and although they were now quiet, he arranged them to the door, he doing exclaiming with more force than eloquence, "Get out!" Ex-Judge Waite, whose daughter, Dr. Lucy Waite, was one of the ladies present, was on his feet in an instant. "Your honor," he said, "it was only the impulse of the moment." The ladies left, and on reaching the corridor held a meeting. The case was taken under advisement by Judge Blodgett.

FIFTEEN MILLIONS FOR SEVENTY YEARS.

WASHINGTON, July 1.-The immigration into the United States from 1820 to 1890 is the subject of a special report which has been prepared by the chief of the bureau of statistics of the treasury department, and will soon be published. The arrivals of immigrants from 1820 to 1890 have reached 15,641,588. Germany and Ireland are the countries sending the greatest number of emigrants. The only leading countries from which arrivals have fallen off during the past ten years are France and Italy. The year of the largest emigration yet reported is that ended June 30, 1891, when the arrivals were 788,992. The immigration from Italy was 15,401 for the fiscal year 1891, and has steadily increased until 1890, when it was 52,000, and the present year ending June 30, 1891, when the total for the ten months reached 51,153, as against $4,810 for corresponding months of 1890. Of the arrivals during the ten years from 1881 to 1890, 61.1 per cent. were males, 38.9 per cent. females. The greatest proportion of females came from Ireland. The smallest per cent. are females from Italy and Hungary. The classification of the character of immigration during the last decade shows that only 26,257 males were of the professional classes, 614,552 skilled laborers, 1,836,325 of miscellaneous occupations; 73,327 made no statements in regard to occupation, and 759,540 were without occupation. Of 2,040,702 females, 1,724,454 were without occupation.

Utah Day at the World's Fair. CHICAGO, July 1.-World's Fair Commissioner Lannon will shortly submit his plan to the people of Utah. During the exposition each state will have a day set apart for it. Commissioner Lannon proposes that the 24th of July shall be Utah's day, and his plan is to bring on a fine chorus from Utah to give a grand entertainment. There will be other features, but this will be the principal one. This plan has not yet been made public.
