

Table with 2 columns: Station, Time. Includes Union Pacific, Salt Lake City, Ogden, Provo, etc.

LOCAL NEWS

Here, the deer, the lynx & M... Tax East Co-op, is closed on account of stock taking.

Stammann and Co., 5 cents a yard at McEwan & Co. Summer goods for ladies at less than cost at McEwan & Co.

Remember that the fireman's excursion to Castilla is on the 19th of this month. Just behind McEwan & Co., a fine line of men's pants, shirts and summer underwear.

A SCENERY of miniature lakes have been formed on the streets by the recent rain storm.

BOARD WANTED—With private family in the First ward, by two young men. Address this office.

Twenty men and teams wanted at once. Apply to S. S. Jones & Co., Provo, Utah.

The Arcade restaurant, or at least the place which was used as such, has been turned into a millinery store.

Money to loan to persons anticipating building, at Geo. W. Rickel & Co., Provo.

Landscape and picturesque sign painting done on terms by Sam Jepperson, Provo, Utah.

GEORGE DICKINSON is having a flowing well driven in front of his new house, just east of the Altman house.

A VERY neat fence has been built around the premises of W. A. Clark in the Second ward. He is a member, "soon let."

The fireman's excursion to Castilla on the 19th will be the finest excursion since the season. Let everybody attend and have a good time.

MISS LAZARUS CLARK, daughter of D. T. Clark, after a very pleasant sojourn of five months in sunny California, has arrived back in Provo.

A NUMBER of tools and quantities of houses, were shipped last night from Provo to Erie canyon, to work on the McCulloch contract.

CAMERON banners of all descriptions, and as cheap as the cheapest, on short notice by E. K. Kenshaw, opposite Opera House, Provo.

TAPPAN'S dance at the lake last night although slightly attended was enjoyed by those who did attend. Jepperson's quartette band furnished the music.

WANTED—To complete our office file, 100 copies of THE MOUNTAIN DISPATCH, for Thursday, July 30th; also copies of July 24th and August 1st and 8th.

PAIR of the old mortar purchased by the Sun foundry recently arrived yesterday. This firm is shipping a good large amount of cast iron work to Salt Lake.

SERV. WALKER of the R. G. W., has sent word that he will have all the witnesses present required for the prosecution of the Pullman car robbers next Tuesday.

FRED KINGMAN contemplates building a new house on the corner of the Provo and the rock is on the ground, ready for the masons. His lot is on Sixth street, between B and C.

FOR SALE of rent, a large brick house located on Third street, between B and C.

Known as the property of James Dunn, for particulars apply to McEwan & Co.

WANTED—Two or three good men, at the Singer Manufacturing Co.'s office, no matter if experienced or not, can assure you good pay.

E. A. WILSON, Jr., Hardy and Geo. Reinhold have returned from their trip to the mountains. They report having had a good time and are looking well about their outing.

THIRTEEN location notices have been filed for record in the recorder's office. J. J. Knight et al located the "Star Mine" and D. Mahoney located the "Fountain Hope" in Tintic mining district. The other was a point lake located by Otto Hudson, near Lehi.

Mrs. W. J. McELWANE, of Dixon, Cal., is the guest of our fellow townsman, Mr. T. T. Clark. She is highly delighted with our country.

She intends to remain in Provo for a couple of months. We hope she will continue to enjoy her stay.

The long-looked-for consignment of children's boys' and youths' clothing and knee pants have just arrived at McEwan & Co. The goods have been marked "away down" to meet the stringency of the money market and the wants of the people.

The Union Pacific has sent circulars to the agents along the line notifying them to receive and forward all specimens intended for the mining convention at Cheyenne, from August 25th to 30th. A single rate has been granted by the company to those who wish to attend the convention.

CHARLES COOK is building an addition of seven rooms to his residence in the Second ward, which is nearing completion. This will make his house in the shape of a double T, which, when completed, will have all the modern improvements, such as gas, water, electric light and the water piped into the house.

MARSHALL BROWN was kept all day yesterday auctioneering of the restaurant furniture and cooking stoves of Sage Lee, the chairman who has been running the restaurant opposite the Opera House. Sales were very slow. E. F. Osterloh doing most of the buying. The auction will be resumed to-day at 10 o'clock.

A DAY or two ago as Benny Walton was trying to put a bridle on his horse, the animal threw his head up quickly, catching Benny under the chin, and biting him on his arm. His tongue was caught between his teeth causing a severe bruise. Since the accident he has not been able to eat anything, and is talking Chinese severe pain.

A woman latched to a post in front of Hartman's saloon yesterday suffered great pain, caused by the bit cutting his mouth, and from which the blood flowed copiously. It had been latched by a very short chain, which slipped to the bottom of the post, and the animal, in struggling to raise his head, cut his tongue. The horse was finally relieved in the hour, but not until great deal of blood had been lost.

Two new contractors have started business here in Provo. They are from Denver, and have come to stay. Although only here three months they have completed a residence for Mrs. Polly Carter, on English street, between E and F, which for workmanship, within and without, cannot be excelled. They will start another residence on Monday next for Mr. Smith, about one block east of Mrs. Carter's. Anyone desiring to see good workmanship should call and see these residences. The names of the gentlemen are W. W. Barnett and R. R. Bishop. See their ads. in this issue.

ELECTION ECHOES.

With Significant Reverberations from Illinois.

And a Few Scattered Whispers All the Way down from Wasatch County. More of the Midway Whispers on Many Matters.

Editor MOUNTAIN DISPATCH—But safe as water for a week. With a small band of desperate fugitives. The last small party of desperadoes left the valley of the great salt lake last week.

I mean the party of desperadoes, which calls itself "liberal," while it is becoming yearly more and more illiberal, so much so that I doubt whether in its present condition it is worthy of the name of Liberal—such as they are generally understood in the United States, where a Liberal is a secularist, not a sectarian, a thinker, not a howler; a pro-gressivist, not an obstructionist.

In fact, I am certain that a vast majority of apostate Mormons, who rarely, if ever, conscientiously join another religious sect, are in the "liberal" camp, after leaving the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints—have given up in disgust all and any affiliation with the original party, and still do not know how to do anything else, which now has nothing positive, or noble to light for, and only the Mormon church and people to fight against, while forming the most heterogeneous conglomeration of fanatics, infidels, materialists, Methodists, Agnostics and Baptists that was ever put under one hat—or a fool's cap.

While referring to the "liberal" party, which has no reason to exist except its hostility to the Mormon people, I will just quote a little phrase from the Provo Record, put in its Associated Press report about the elections in Utah, under date of "Salt Lake City, Aug. 17": "Full reports of yesterday's elections show that the 'liberal' voters of Provo have elected twelve members of the Legislature, three in the Council and 'six' in the House. Of course, the 'six' is a typographical error for nine; and I do not pick the error, but I am pointing to the phrase italicized by me: 'Whatever that may mean.'"

I continue translating: "According to another report, the 'liberal' voters have conquered the city by 300 majority. And from Ogden city, the telegram reads: 'The Democrats have won the city, against the 'liberal' forces of the Liberal and Republican parties.'"

Again I did the italicizing. But my reader will do the thinking, and the more so, if he learn that the staunchly Democratic publisher of the Provo Record (B. C. Brown & Bros.) are pretty well posted on Utah affairs, having paid this territory more than one visit, the result of one of which was a report on pages 102 to 102 of Vol. 11 of my "You Like It"—a little time which, by this time, I hope, has a good many more friends among the lovers of good literature in the West.

And from Ogden city, the telegram reads: 'The Democrats have won the city, against the 'liberal' forces of the Liberal and Republican parties.'"

Now, who were the traitors? I ask one more. Who "sold out"? Who stabbed their allies in the back with Apache treachery? No wonder that the "liberal" term "liberal" appears as an undefeatable non-descript, as a questionable "whatever that may mean."

Maybe the Mormon people failed to keep posted on the recent situation by such solid Democratic-liberal (or Liberal-Democratic) as ex-Mayor F. J. Kiesel, of Ogden, and Legislator-elect, Mr. M. S. Clark, of Salt Lake, who, in the continuing course of the connection broke? Let "the small band of desperate fugitives" in the vale of Khorasan answer for themselves.

From the Provo Record, under the Provo News (August 6th) I also glean an item that may have some reminiscent interest for a majority of THE DISPATCH readers. It tells of a recent visit of Bishop S. W. Taylor, of Kanab, Utah, where Rev. Reinhold celebrated his silver priesthood anniversary, having served the Catholic congregation of that town as spiritual director for five years. The gentleman's family immigrated from the old Rhine cathedral city Cologne about fifty years ago and settled at Nauvoo after a short sojourn in St. Louis, Mo. The gentleman, Rev. Reinhold is still alive and is living with him in the residence which the Mormon prophet, Joseph Smith, erected for the exiles, as you may recall.

And, I think, some former residents of Nauvoo may remember the family, which certainly was of some prominence even at that early date. But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the "liberal" stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

"But to come nearer home, I think it may please your fruit-raisers at Provo, Pleasant Grove and other pomological paradises to learn that our leading paper is considering, as we well know, the question of the 'liberal' stand on national politics (the editor being a Democrat, however, and the former a Republican). The paper appears to believe in free trade, as may be judged from the following extract, which meets the hearty support and loud echo of Wasatch county people.

DUST TO DUST.

James Russell Lowell Laid to His Well Earned Rest.

The Service Were Simple But Impressive.—The Funeral Brought Together a Great Number of Noted Literary Men.

Boston, August 14.—Simple but impressive funeral services over the remains of the late James Russell Lowell, were held in Appleton chapel, Cambridge, on Monday today. The chapel was crowded to overflowing and many there witnessed such a gathering of those distinguished in literary and other professions as has rarely to be seen in the city since the death of the poet.

The trustees are getting ready for a strong pull in the district schools this winter, with as good a team as they can secure, with the certainty of really competent teachers, who are willing to forego city allowances for country tranquility.

We now have a new blacksmith shop running in full blast on Monday morning till Saturday evening. The brass band boys are taking a rest from brass banding, while expressing their love for the citizens and friends, to provide for next winter's material wants.

S. J. Schmeidler's fine and spacious bakery establishment at the Hot Poles, behind the season opened here, is having a brisk run and enjoying great popularity, strangers flocking in for a quest of recreation and health in numbers that entice our thoroughbred and give the place a never known vitality and vicinity. Park city furnishes the largest contingent of visitors; but I am certain, if the swelling good Providence did not know the attractions of the Midway Hotel, there would be traversing the canyon to merry expeditions to while away a part of the heated term near the mouth of Snake Creek canyon.

Ask Mrs. R. Howard, the proprietor, who are our friendly host, pure water and tranquil air. Provo city and Provo valley are good friends and close neighbors anyway. Aren't we? Yes, yes, and remain.

Yours fraternally, LEO HARELL, MIDWAY, Wasatch Co., August 12.

HIGH ROLLERS.

The Tramps Now in the Cooler Are No Novices.

It Appears That They Have Got Away With Many Valuables But Are Now About to Receive Their Reward.

The three tramps who stole the value from the R. G. W. train on Tuesday night were arraigned on charges of burglary yesterday. The complaint was sworn to by James Vincent, conductor of the Pullman car from which the value was taken. The fellows pleaded not guilty and the case was set for next Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

A new phase in this case is just beginning to be developed. Among the goods found with the value, there were some underwear, pants, handkerchiefs, towels which did not belong to the conductor. Among the clothing, a Colorado sport coat and a pair of trousers were shown this. Mr. Vincent said that last week a value had been taken from a R. G. W. train, which belonged to a man who had traveled to the city of Midland, and it was found that the man would probably identify the goods and give a description of the rest, as he had stated in Ogden that the value and contents were worth $700. The railroad people will endeavor to find the man before the time the case comes up.

From Friday's Dispatch, MARRIAGE RETURNED yesterday, by the officiating clergyman.

Dr. KATZ, G. MARSH and wife returned from Castilla yesterday afternoon.

THERE is very little hope entertained by the physicians for the recovery of the sick man at the jail.

SUPERINTENDENT WELBY of the R. G. W. passed through Provo yesterday, on his special, going east.

The Democratic national officers of Springville have received their certificate from the State Commission.

J. H. Y. C. S., superintendent of the Utah division of the U. P., spent yesterday hours in the Garden City school.

A PRONIC party at the lake yesterday afternoon got a soaking, as they festively and justly commenced when the rain struck them.

PROVO has cause to be proud of her police officers as they are always on the alert and seldom miss a fly. Keep it up boys, the public appreciate you.

The attention of the public is called to the article of Rev. Barney in this morning's issue. All who desire bargains in dress goods will do well to call on them next Monday.

The rain storm yesterday was more severe in this city, starting as it was, than it was elsewhere. It was thought by some, that about three times as much rain fell at the lake in the same time than fell here.

J. D. ISGALL was before Commissioner Hills on the charge of unlawful examination yesterday morning. He was fined $500. V. L. Holliday and J. R. Boshard went his bonds.

POSTERS are beginning to appear in the city. The report published in an evening paper in this city, stating that Mrs. Mary Taylor died, is entirely untrue. Her foundation, as the lady is well and healthy. We make this correction in justice to the numerous friends of the lady.

It is expected that arrangements for the Masonic excursion to the lake will be completed this week. The public will remember that the date of the excursion is the 25th of August. It had to be postponed on account of bad weather.

A CHAUVINIST occurred in Spanish Fork canyon yesterday afternoon, just above Castilla which washed high boulders down from the mountains. With the exception of washing the wagon road considerably, no damage was done.

RAY RICHMAN, son of Benj. Richman, of this city, who was married in Portland, Oregon, was married a few days ago to Miss E. Bleach of that city. Ray was at one time a very prominent young man of Provo, and he will be well remembered.

H. S. WALLIS, division superintendent of the Pullman car service, was in Provo yesterday on business. He expressed himself as highly pleased with the prompt and efficient service rendered by the officers in the arrest of the men who stole the value from the Pullman car on Tuesday night, and said that when the robbery was reported to him, he was in the city, and he was glad to see that the men were getting their just deserts.

This hunting party consisting of Messrs. Harvey, Dan, J. C. Hayden, and Gray, of Provo, and Mr. Grier, of Salt Lake, who left here on the 13th inst. for the mountains, returned last night. They are all burned and brown as a nut, but are enjoying excellent health. They visited Strawberry valley and Current creek, which borders on the Du Glesne country, and had a fine sport in hunting and fishing. They all express themselves delighted with the trip, but are glad to be back in Provo.

DUST TO DUST.

James Russell Lowell Laid to His Well Earned Rest.

The Service Were Simple But Impressive.—The Funeral Brought Together a Great Number of Noted Literary Men.

Boston, August 14.—Simple but impressive funeral services over the remains of the late James Russell Lowell, were held in Appleton chapel, Cambridge, on Monday today. The chapel was crowded to overflowing and many there witnessed such a gathering of those distinguished in literary and other professions as has rarely to be seen in the city since the death of the poet.

The trustees are getting ready for a strong pull in the district schools this winter, with as good a team as they can secure, with the certainty of really competent teachers, who are willing to forego city allowances for country tranquility.

We now have a new blacksmith shop running in full blast on Monday morning till Saturday evening. The brass band boys are taking a rest from brass banding, while expressing their love for the citizens and friends, to provide for next winter's material wants.

S. J. Schmeidler's fine and spacious bakery establishment at the Hot Poles, behind the season opened here, is having a brisk run and enjoying great popularity, strangers flocking in for a quest of recreation and health in numbers that entice our thoroughbred and give the place a never known vitality and vicinity. Park city furnishes the largest contingent of visitors; but I am certain, if the swelling good Providence did not know the attractions of the Midway Hotel, there would be traversing the canyon to merry expeditions to while away a part of the heated term near the mouth of Snake Creek canyon.

Ask Mrs. R. Howard, the proprietor, who are our friendly host, pure water and tranquil air. Provo city and Provo valley are good friends and close neighbors anyway. Aren't we? Yes, yes, and remain.

Yours fraternally, LEO HARELL, MIDWAY, Wasatch Co., August 12.

HIGH ROLLERS.

The Tramps Now in the Cooler Are No Novices.

It Appears That They Have Got Away With Many Valuables But Are Now About to Receive Their Reward.

The three tramps who stole the value from the R. G. W. train on Tuesday night were arraigned on charges of burglary yesterday. The complaint was sworn to by James Vincent, conductor of the Pullman car from which the value was taken. The fellows pleaded not guilty and the case was set for next Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

A new phase in this case is just beginning to be developed. Among the goods found with the value, there were some underwear, pants, handkerchiefs, towels which did not belong to the conductor. Among the clothing, a Colorado sport coat and a pair of trousers were shown