THE EVENING DISPATCH.
PROVO CITY, DEC. 21, 1894

C. W. BREWERTON was over from Payson today and paid to the court officers in cash the judgment awarded Parrotte Andrews et al against him recently. These people could have had their money long ago, but they wanted more than was just. The suit piled up costs against them and commanded Mr. Brewerton to pay only the sum he has been willing to pay all along.

It is astonishing the great number of holiday buyers that flock into the stores these days, particularly of evenings. And it is more astonishing the great amount of money they spend.

The party of Sanpete Valley Railway company extension surveyors, fourteen men in all, have not quite reached Provo yet as announced Wednesday. Only the cook, tents and camping outfit are here. Of course the men run in each evening and sleep here. They eat supper and breakfast here, but are working near Springville where they have their dinner sent to them. The camp is located in Tanner's park grounds and will remain there until the surveyors get a two miles north of the city. They expect to reach Salt Lake city by January 20, 1895, or sooner.

Of the many attractive holiday window displays in the city, that just completed by Will Irvine in the store of Irvine & Barney is certainly abreast with those that are away in the lead. It was the centre of attraction for the great crowds of people who were out last evening, they looked around it in great groups for hours. The golden gates ajar with dolls here and there and a large mirror handsomely framed and decorated at the back, large pyramids on either side and other decorations, colors all blending beautifully makes a charming picture indeed. Go and see it. It is a poem of beauty either day or night; at night, however, with the electric lights shining brightly upon it from within while all is darkness outside, it is perhaps more striking and attractive.

ANOTHER young Provo boy has developed into a full fledged attorney. Attorneys H. C. Edwards, Sam A. King, and E. A. Wedgwood, who were appointed a committee to examine into his learning and ability, today filed with the clerk of the First District court a report of their work which states that they find Mr. Charles Barrett to be a man of good moral character and possessed of sufficient legal knowledge and ability to warrant his admission to practice at the bar of that court, and the report recommends that he be admitted.

A. SINGLETON, Superintendent. In answer to the question that has often been asked, "How does the count now stand on delegates to the constitutional convention," the following from the Salt Lake Herald is here given: "There will be 107 delegates in the meeting referred to. Up to date the strength of the parties is 48 democrats and 47 republicans, with 12 cent seats divided as follows: Box Elder, 2; Sanpete, 3; Salt Lake, 2; Weber, 5. Necessary for a majority, 54. If the democrats control the convention they will have to win in six of the contested cases in order to have a majority of one, while the republicans to achieve the number sufficient will of necessity have to succeed in seven cases. Indications point to a very narrow margin at all events, and no matter what the result may be, the presence of three or four 'mugwumps' might tend to either and different ends from those intended by the majority delegation."

Zebras broken to harness can now be seen drawing carriages in London, three animals having been sent there from the Transvaal as a proof that they can be domesticated.

BIG PAY FOR TEA TASTERS. One Expert Is Reported to Receive a Salary of $50,000 a Year.

"Since the Canadian Pacific railroad was completed and a line of steamers established from the orient," said a tea taster to a reporter, "immense cargoes of tea have been going there from China, Japan and other countries. It has been my business to examine and taste various samples from these cargoes. I have also visited Ceylon and nearly all of the tea growing countries of the orient to observe the mode of putting up the tea. It is astonishing the way they manage it adulterate it over there. The packers are so skillful that they slip in a great deal of inferior tea and work it off under good brands. This makes the merchants who afterward handle it complain. Packages of tea of a certain brand will be found all that could be desired, while other packages bearing the same brand and in the same cargo will be highly adulterated. As this tea is very costly, there is need of experts to examine it. They must be good ones, for everything depends for the time being on their judgment. A taster can only taste a few hours at a time, when he is weakened and has to take a rest. Besides this, when he begins a job of tasting, he must take special pains to get himself in shape for it. I was about six weeks getting myself ready for examining some cargoes in the warehouses here for the government. Before I began I did not taste intoxicants in any form and did not even smoke. At the same time I was careful not to eat strong peppers or spices or, in fact, anything that could disturb the taste. One must be in as perfect condition, in order to properly judge of the tea he tastes, as a horse is when prepared for the Derby. He must be at his best and must feel that he is. The best tea tasters of the country make enormous sums, considering the time employed; $10,000 a year is a low sum, and oftentimes from $20,000 to $30,000 is made, and even more. I know a man in the business who made $50,000. It all depends on his standing, the number of times he is called as a taster and what he can endure."—San Francisco Examiner.
