PROVO CITY. -- DEC. 27, 1894

THE EASTERN STRUGGLE.

The great struggle now apparently drawing to a close in China between that enormous power and her neighbor, Japan, may yet be fraught with or attended by consequences not without their effects upon the civilization, finances and welfare generally of the western nations, western Europe, the United States, Mexico, Central America and the states of Brazil and the western coast of South America as well as the islands of the Pacific. China is an enormous nation in extent, in production, and most of all in her immense population. Four hundred millions of people ruled by one central government. Even if this vast number of people are only half civilized, if properly directed, it would soon become formidable to the world. It is said that if the horse could be made to understand his power he would become independent of man. Here is a parallel: If the Chinese understood the significance of those 400,000,000 of people, or what could be accomplished by this horde of humanity, she would soon become the absolute master of the east, and be able to extend her sway westward, give the law to India, and to threaten from that direction eastern Europe, Turkey, Egypt and the whole Mediterranean country. The present war with which she is struggling will inevitably teach her the worth of civilization, especially in the art of war, over the modes prevailing in the east. Japan with far less than one-fourth of her numerical strength—owing to her greater advance in civilization, especially in war—has been able to knock her about like old shoes. China is imitative if she is anything. When she learns to manufacture long range and powerful ordnance, the new and fearful floating batteries, her army fitted with all the best improved engines of destruction, led by scientific officers, and that army amounting to a gross of fifteen millions of men, she will become practically the master of the world. This war has a significance for civilization of which few people have thought and none have as yet spoken. It may yet prove to be the school-master of China, and she may learn her own strength. We to the west if she learns it well.

The other day a brief telegram announced that her agents were negotiating with Brazil for the purchase of the Niechero and the Aquadaban, the very formidable war ships which cut so large a figure in the late rebellion there. To the thoughtful that brief telegram must have a terrible significance. Suppose she succeeds in purchasing them. She will have no difficulty in hiring officers to command and fight them scientifically. They, in themselves would prove formidable, but as models for the construction of an hundred more of the same kind, would suggest a force to the Mongolians which would place the seas and the sea coasts of the world at the mercy of the almond-eyed pig-tailed Chinamen of whom Europe and America know so little and understand so much less, who laugh daily at the crude indolence of the rat-eaters.

Some months since in a brief article this paper suggested that as China and Japan were silver-using nations, perhaps the solution of their troubles would play an important part in the settlement of our financial troubles, perhaps to the extent of forcing the re-monetization of silver. Certainly this suggestion, brief and imperfect as it is, as to the physical power of the east, is yet the suggestion of a moral force nonetheless powerful, because, with the better understanding of her own physical power sure to come by this war, will also come a better understanding of her moral power also. This will be made effective by the rough lessons she is now taking from her little neighbor and together they may resolve to sit down on Rothschild and his goldbugger, and the "bugger" will be squeezed beyond a doubt, surely so, when the betrayed and sold-out people of the United States join in to wreak a little revenge in helping the Mongolians out by lending them a few hundreds of thousands of the hardest hitting soldiers of the age.

One of the leading dry goods merchants of Provo declared yesterday that business has improved wonderfully within the last few months. He further stated that all the indications for a prosperous business year, were now present. This gentleman, who is a prosperous and successful man and withal a conservative one, says he will buy more liberally for the trade of the coming spring and summer than he has for a number of years. This is joyous news for us, nor do we believe this gentleman is much out in his calculations.

SPEAKING of mining revivals revives in our mind the fact that just now there is a good deal of stir in Tintic mining circles. Here in Provo many are quietly becoming interested in properties in that now famous camp. There is yet much favorably located property there which is open to the prospector and the locator. The continued success of Messrs. Loose, Dave Evans, Holbrook and others serves to keep alive this interest. We hazard little when we declare our belief that the opening spring will see a big boom in that camp. Silver is low but the ores over at Tintic are so rich that a fair return is secured, notwithstanding the low price of silver.

The Denver News' Christmas edition was gotten up and out entirely by the ladies of that lovely city. It is the unique and most perfectly lovely paper we have ever seen. It delights us to the boot-heels to glance through the rich collation. Quaint and queer were the thoughts and some of the headings also, especially in the news department. We think it would be a most excellent thing for the great populist organ if this temporary organization could be made permanent as they say in men's conventions. We would not object to have Christmas come every Sunday if only as pleasant a result would follow in every case. Well done for the Denver ladies and the Denver News.

The Tribune is still howling about the wonderful steals of the commission. The Tribune is rather hard to please we fear, and demands too much from the honest democratic commission. All it can consistently demand is an honest count. That honest count, so far, has been rather against the Tribune's client, we grant, but so long as the results are honestly obtained, we fail to see the force of the Trib's kick. If the situations were reversed and the commission were engaged in ousting illegally elected democrats, in this same sweet tempered and immaculate republican organ would be well satisfied. It makes too much fuss, its motive being too infernally transparent.

If "Bill Glassman" is the rogue his republican confederates are endeavoring to make him out to be, he is a most remarkable fellow and can write an exceedingly orthodox Christmas article. The facts "Bill" is no worse, and probably not much better, than his fellows; but he is certainly no ninny with it all. Horrah for "Bill."

They are to have a bit of an insurrection in Hawaii of their own. All right. That is now an independent country and if she wants that sort of fun let her have it. What business is it of ours? We do not want any protectorate by this country. Let the Kanakas be their own way.

We rejoice to hear good reports from the placers on the Colorado, in the vicinity of Dandy Crossing and below. Utah ought not to suffer. Leadville to get off with all the gold honors of the winter. She must up and at 'em in good spirit if she would save her reputation.

The Grand Junction Sentinel has an advertisement which reads, "See Ramsey & Ramsey for silverware in Ramsey & Ramsey's building." We give the firm the benefit of a free ad, for the singularity of the wording of the above.

DAVE DAY'S report to the Indian Bureau is one of those excessively truthful documents which convince us, more than ever that the great apostle of truth in the Indian service, still loves it with a deathless regard.

It is nearly certain now that the Brigham Young Academy will have more students for the remaining half year than it had last year. There is no keeping down this great school.

WHILE Mrs. Mulvaney has had all the fun, Mulvaney has had all to himself the satisfaction of paying the bills. No one is entirely happy or entirely miserable in this life.

Why are there so many bachelors and old maids nowadays? Perhaps one reason lies in the education of our modern young girls, and the blame must rest with their mothers. Consider the life of a girl belonging to the upper middle class from the age of 18 to 28. It is a careless, selfish, irresponsible epoch, in which the daughter studies her own convenience and pleasure solely, and the mother, by foolish indulgence, aids and abets her.

Once a girl is free from the trammels of the schoolroom and is fully fledged in society, nothing is denied her. She may lie late in bed, perchance take her breakfast there, while she skims a novel belonging to the "new" order of fiction. Her day is compassed with no single duty save to look her best and enjoy her life. There is time in such an existence for the ugly weeds of jealousy, thoughtless and unkind chatter to take root and flourish.

Then perhaps some young man of STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, ss. FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & CO., doing business in the City of Toledo, Ohio, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATHARTIC CURE.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 8th day of December, A. D. 1894.
