Beware of Pneumonia.

Health Commissioner of New York
Tells How to Ward It Off.

Although more or less prevalent throughout the year, pneumonia is peculiarly dangerous during the closing months of winter. With the first frosts a very marked increase takes place in the number of cases, and during this cold, damp weather extra precautions should be taken. Pneumonia is probably produced by an earth microbe, and when frost prevails the soil beneath the house is the only ground which is not frozen. The germ gradually works toward the warm, moist earth, and the house really acts as a sort of stove, which forms a ready mode of egress for them. The proper ventilation of rooms is therefore an important factor in guarding against pneumonia, one, however, which is often overlooked.

Lack of personal hygiene is the chief predisposing cause of the disease. Irregular hours, insufficient nourishment, dyspepsia, excessive fatigue or some disease which has lowered the general tone of the system all weaken the power of resisting the pneumonia germ. When the system is run down, a sudden exposure to cold may prove fatal, while in a normal condition of body it would be thrown off.

There are three periods during which the susceptibility to pneumonia is greatest. They are early childhood—that is, up to 7 years of age, between the ages of 20 and 40 and after 60. The power of resistance against pneumonia grows much feebler after 60 years of age, and nine-tenths of the cases prove fatal.

Cold, damp weather is favorable to the contraction of "colds" and the subsequent development of pneumonia, and it still exists to some extent in a modified form. This is the disease with which pneumonia most readily combines, but it is found in combination with diphtheria, typhoid fever, measles, scarlet fever and many others.

When a severe or sudden chill has been contracted, the main thing is to act quickly, and many a serious illness can be averted and valuable life saved by a little intelligence coupled with promptitude. If possible, send for a doctor immediately and take ten grains of quinine and five drops of spirits of camphor in a little water or on a lump of sugar. These doses are for an adult. Then soak the feet in hot water and jump into bed. Simple as these remedies are, they have nipped in the bud many prospective cases of pneumonia.

While soaking the feet the body should be warmly wrapped in a blanket, which should be kept on until some time after the person has entered the bed in order that free perspiration be continued and not checked.

A good thing to prevent "colds" is to wear wool next the skin. When this is not possible on account of the irritation sometimes caused, a mixture of wool and silk will generally be found satisfactory. I would not recommend cotton in any form for underwear, as it is frequently the cause of a dangerous cold by becoming wet and keeping the temperature of the skin below the normal. Care should be taken that the feet do not get wet, or if so that prompt measures are taken to dry them and a change of hose made.

The care taken of the outside of the body must be supplemented by the same care of the inside. A moderate diet, wholesome food, plenty of rest, regular hours, will keep the whole system in good order and enable it to throw off the germs of disease, which can only obtain a footing when debilitation affords an entrance for the disease and a fruitful soil for its development.—Cyrus Edison in St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

ARCHITECTURAL COMPETITION.

Medals to Be Awarded at the Tenth Exhibition of the League.

The tenth annual exhibition of the Architectural league will open in the galleries of the Fine Arts society building in West Fifty-seventh street, New York city, on Feb. 15 next, and all works submitted must be delivered not later than Feb. 5. The annual dinner of the Architectural league will be held in the galleries on the evening of Feb. 18. The exhibition will consist, as usual, of architectural drawings, drawings of decorative works, cartoons for stained glass, models, carvings in stone, wood and bronze, examples of designs in mosaic, glass, fabrics and furniture and sketches and paintings of architectural and decorative subjects. The jury and hanging committee will consist of the officers of the league, together with the members of the subcommittees on architecture and decoration and the chairman of the catalogue committee.

The subject for the eighth annual competition for the gold and silver medals given by the league is "The Main Stairway of a National Library." The competition is open to all residents of the United States under the age of 25 years. The first and second prize drawings are to become the property of the league. Thomas Hastings, Will H. Low and George L. Heins constitute the committee on competitions.

A Chance For Cameraists.

Prizes are offered by The Revue Suisse de Photographie, Geneva, for the best photograph of a falling drop of water. The drops are to be of distilled water, issuing from a tube, the internal and external diameters of which are measured, with no special conditions as to the size of the picture, but with preference for something near the natural size. Three prizes of medals will be given and three honorable mentions.

A Male Model For Diana.

One of the funniest things that have come to light for a long time is the confession by a male model that he posed for St. Gaudens' statue of Diana now flourishing from the top of the Madison Square Garden. The model is a young Englishman who possesses a remarkably symmetrical form, but among all Olympians it is hard to reconcile a man as representing Diana.—San Francisco Examiner.

Meyerbeer was so nervous and "fidgety" about his works that when they were in course of preparation or rehearsal or performance he never gave himself or any one else concerned a moment's peace of mind. He was constantly making changes or alterations in the score and would sometimes write a passage in three or four different colored inks in order to try the different effects, and then could not make up his mind which was the best. He worried over his opera, "L'Africaine," so long, delaying, retouching and polishing, even while it was in rehearsal, that the self imposed labor made him ill, and he died before the first public performance.

CZAR AND THE MANIFESTO.

On His Deathbed Alexander III Declared His Love of the Peace Policy.

Pathetic stories, some true and some probably apocryphal, about the last hours of the late czar are appearing in the press of the continent. The most remarkable is one which purports to describe how the dying monarch himself revised the manifesto which announced his own death and his son's accession. This is intended as a refutation of the assertion that the manifesto was written by De Giers. As a matter of fact, there is every reason to believe that the proclamation was written, of course in accordance with instructions, by the procurator of the synod. According to the story, the late czar pressed his son to give him the manifesto. When he had perused it, he expressed his appreciation, saying that he felt perfectly resigned, as his work would be continued. He would, however, like to add some words which would reassure the Russians and Europe. He then wrote:

"We, in the presence of the Most High, record a solemn vow always to make our sole aim the peaceful development of the power and glory of our beloved Russia and the happiness of all our faithful subjects."

Reading the manifesto again, Alexander III paused at the passage, "but also far beyond the borders of Russia the memory of the czar, who was the incarnation of unswerving loyalty and of peace," and added the words, "a peace which, during his reign, was not once broken."

"It is my claim to glory," observed the emperor as he laid down his pen. "I desired peace, the greatest blessing that God can grant us in this world. May misfortune befall those who break it, but you will know how to maintain it with those who are with us and to make others respect it."

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gundertman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at River Junction she was afflicted with pneumonia, which succeeded La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Smoot Drug Co. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

BUYING PRECIOUS STONES.

Some of the Valuable Gems and What They Are Made Of.

Buying jewels is as hazardous as buying horses, and could anything possibly be more risky than the latter? White sapphires have occasionally been sold as diamonds, and as proof that white topaz may easily be confused with them one has only to recall the fact that the largest diamond in the world, the Braganza, belonging to the crown of Portugal and valued at $58,000,000, is by many considered to be only a topaz. Carbon, in a pure crystallized state, is in every color of the rainbow, red, orange, green, blue and even black, and occasionally the colored are as valuable as a brilliant of the same size.

The jewels next in hardness to the diamond are the sapphire and the ruby, called by experts corundum, or crystallized alum. Blue corundum is called sapphire, red, ruby, green, oriental emerald; orange, oriental topaz, and violet, oriental amethyst. The word oriental distinguishes these from real emerald, topaz and amethyst, which are distinct minerals.

The largest and most famous ruby in the world forms part of the imperial state crown made for Queen Victoria in 1838. It is believed that this ruby was worn in front of the helmet of Henry V at Agincourt.

The most precious sapphires and rubies, when cut and polished, show rays from the center to the sides in the form of a six-pointed star. On this account they are called star sapphires or rubies. It is difficult to produce a gem upon these stones on account of their exceeding hardness, but there are a few good intaglios and cameos extant in both—one a cameo head of Cupid, by Isler, one a sapphire; another, a front face cameo head of Diana on a ruby, by Pistrucci.

Topaz is the next jewel in degree of hardness. It consists of about half clay, one-third flint and the rest fluorine acid, greenish in tinge. Some found in Brazil are perfectly colorless and are called "novamina" diamonds. They are more brilliant when polished than any jewel. There are a few blue topazes found—these are taken by the uninitiated for sapphires.—Philadelphia Press.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative, effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers, and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Gold and Silver from Lanes.

Cut into pieces the gold and silver lanes them tightly and boil in soap lye till the scale appears diminished. Take the cloth out of the liquid, and after repeated rinsings in cold water heat it with a mallet to draw out the alkali. Open the bundle, and the free metal will be found in all its beauty.—Jewelers' Circular.

THE ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC FREE
Special Offer to Readers of This Paper.

A Great Metropolitan Paper
IS INDISPENSABLE NOW.

THE "TWICE-A-WEEK" ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC FREE FOR ONE YEAR to any person sending in, before January 31, 1895, a club of three NEW yearly subscribers, with $3 to pay for the same.

Already the clans are gathering for the fray in 1896, and 1896 will be full of interesting events. The skirmish lines will be thrown out, the maneuvering done and the plans of campaign arranged for the great contest in '96.

The remaining short session of the Democratic Congress, to be followed shortly by a Republican Congress with a democrat in the Presidential chair will be productive of events of incalculable interest.

In fact, more political history will be constructed during 1895 than in any year since the foundation of the Government, and a man without a newspaper will be like a useless lump in the movements of public opinion.

You can get three new subscribers for the Republic by a few minutes' effort. Remember in the Republic subscribers get a paper twice-a-week for the price of a weekly—only $1.00 a year. Try it, AT ONCE and see how easily it can be done. If you wish a package of sample copies, write for them. Cut out this advertisement and send with your order.
