Too Tired to Smile IN HOT TROUBLE.

Weak, Weary and Worn

Dizziness, Impure Blood—Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Many weak and worn-out women know just what this means. In total unit condition for work, they force themselves through the daily routine of duties, almost too discouraged to even look for relief. But it is to be found in Hood's Sarsaparilla, which makes the blood pure, builds up the nerves, makes the weak strong and gives a cheerful spirit. Read this:

"I have suffered more than tongue can tell from dizziness and severe pains in my head. I also felt so low spirited that I often said I wished I was dead. A friend suggested that I try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I gave it a trial and was more than surprised to see what a great change came over me after I had taken the first bottle. I felt better right away. I have now taken nearly five bottles and am happy to say I am entirely cured. I would advise all suffering on account of impure blood to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will cure." Mrs. Wm. Smith, 319 E. 8th St., N. Y. City.

Hood's Pills become the favorite cathartic with everyone who tries them. 25c. per box.

Notice of Application to Disincorporate.

In the matter of the application of the Nephi Savings Bank and Trust Company, a corporation, to dissolve and disincorporate.

Notice is hereby given, that The Nephi Savings Bank and Trust Company, a corporation formed under and by virtue of the laws of the territory of Utah, has presented to the District court of the First Judicial district of the territory of Utah, a petition praying to be allowed to disincorporate and dissolve; and that Monday the eleventh day of November A. D. 1895 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, has been appointed as the time and the courtroom of said district court in the city of Provo, county and territory of Utah, as the place at which the said application is to be heard.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the District court of the Territory of Utah, at Provo city, 25th day of September A. D. 1895.

Enquirer Has Engendered Enmity of Teachers.

RINGING RESOLUTIONS

Demanding Retraction and Setting Forth Their Grievances Adopted by the Executive Committee of the U. C. T. A. to be Adopted by all the Teachers Next Saturday.

THE DISPATCH on Saturday promised its readers a copy of the resolutions presented before the U. C. T. A. which was in session in Provo on that day. They were adopted by the executive committee of the association and without doubt will be adopted by the whole association on Saturday next. They certainly would have been adopted last Saturday but certain members called for the reading of the objectionable articles which had appeared in the Enquirer and are referred to in the resolutions. Copies of the paper containing the articles could not be obtained that day, and the committee of the U. C. T. A. appointed to go to the Enquirer office to get them or to get the use of the file copies of that paper reported that the management had refused the association such use of its regular file copies. The worst supporters of the resolutions are teachers of the same political faith as the Enquirer and those of them who are subscribers to the Enquirer have clipped the objectionable articles and are circulating them with them to the Enquirer office to get them or to get the use of the file copies of that paper reported that the management had refused the association such use of its regular file copies. county superintendent is ex-officio president. 5th.—The executive committee and county superintendent have ever been a unit in their deliberations, as the chosen directors of the works of their association, hence we emphatically deny any and all statements and imputations to the contrary. They have ever aimed to secure the services of the ablest instructors. Any and all charges of discrimination against home talent are without foundation in fact. 6th.—We are of the firm opinion that political influences should be kept aloof from our educational interests; that political trickery, chicanery and fraud should not be allowed to approach the sanctuary of education; that all attempts to plant suspicion and discord between the teacher and the pupil should be totally thwarted; that it is the duty of every citizen to protect the character and reputation of our educational institutions; that whenever any person, paper, or politician becomes a parasite drawing nourishment from the life blood of our public institutions—the pride of the commonwealth, it becomes the duty of one and all to demand retraction and redress.

ON THE RIVIERA.

Democracy of Distinguished People as it Appears to a Plain American.

Ballard Smith writes to the New York World from Biarritz:—This narrow little strip of France—40 miles or so from Cannes to Mentone and not above four or five miles wide anywhere between the blue sea and the practically impassable mountain chain beyond—might be called during any winter season the Republic of the Great From All Lands.

The democratic fashion of it is a little startling to the newcomer. You may sit at the next table in a restaurant or an expatriate of the republic. You may come suddenly in a public pathway upon an emperor and empress walking arm in arm together; you sit in the next chair in a hotel meeting room to the great ex-premier of England. Politicians from all countries, learned highnesses from every monarchy in the world, great artists—their faces become as familiar to you as those of the convention people whom most of us have the fortune only to be brought in daily contact with.

It has happened to me, a very plain American citizen, to have had the three experiences mentioned above within the space of 24 hours, together with some others as interesting, and the fortune of it all, the reader being the judge of what measure of fortune it is, may come to any other plain citizen of any land who forms a part of this little republic within a republic.

In a former letter I described how absolutely democratic is the daily life here of Casimir-Périer, until only the other day president of France. In the rotunda of the Hotel Cape Martin we are to see a greater man than any hereditary king or emperor or potentate of today, of yesterday, or of the century. Lunches is just over when Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone come down from their rooms and take seats among the other guests before the fire, awaiting their carriage. The venerable statesman looks much older and more worn than when I saw him in London as he started for the Riviera.

The arduous journey in the bitter cold weather which met him in France and his extraordinary continuance here in the Riviera has evidently been most prejudicial to him; he walked very feebly to his carriage, escorted on the one side by his faithful wife and on the other by the hardly less faithful Mr. George Armstrong—many times millionaire, who seems to have no objection to life beyond this friendship and almost constant attendance—and now for the first time in his adult life looks all his age.

I had come to the hotel hoping that Mr. Gladstone might wish to say something more to the American public on the prospects of home rule in Ireland, but Mr. Armstrong pleads that the statesman is in too feeble condition to talk upon politics, and that his restoration to health demands absolute rest from all political concerns for the present.

The ex-empress Eugenie is another guest at the hotel, except that she occupies a cottage in the grounds, and she, too, takes her daily walk abroad with a single attendant, or more often alone. She also seems very feeble and looks very old, supporting herself with a strong crutch stick. She has lost every trace of her former beauty and graceful carriage.

ENCOURAGING SIGNS.

They Relate to the Business Outlook and Are Seen by the Coal Barons.

At the Fifth Avenue hotel yesterday and at the Hamburg-American dock in Hoboken there was a large gathering of Leisenbergs, Kammerers, Wentzes, Richters and other "coal barons" of the Lehigh valley to say goodbye to Mr. E. B. Leisenberg, president of the Lehigh Coal Navigation company, whose failing health has at length caused him to lay down the immediate supervision of his vast business interests and go to Europe for recuperation and recreation. Talking with these coal barons, I was much interested to find that they are taking a very hopeful view of the business situation and that quite apart from the fact that the great anthracite coal industry in which they are more specially interested has had more than the share of prosperity during the long season when the bituminous coal regions all over the country were blighted by a strike of most comprehensive proportions.

Mr. M. A. Kemmerer said that the most encouraging sign to his mind was the improvement in the iron industry, a branch of business closely allied to coal mining, and the two together having much to do with the general prosperity of the country. A day or two ago came an order from Brazil for the manufacture of 60 locomotives, a big thing in itself, since the building of locomotives has been practically suspended for a long while. At the Schenectady works orders from American railroads are coming in for railroads from At Bethle-hem, where little beyond the manufacture of armor plate for the government has been going on, there is perceptible activity, and one of the great iron companies has booked more orders within the last six weeks than in the preceding six months.—M. P. Handy.

In consequence of M. Dreyfus' treason in supplying Germany with the secrets of the French plans of mobilization says a Paris correspondent, the government has just spent more than $500,000 in changing all the essential features of the schemes for placing troops in case of war. It has been found that fully 15 per cent of the men drafted for the Madagascar expedition are physically unfit for the arduous service, and their places are being filled. Already it is apparent that the campaign will cost $25,000,000 instead of $15,000,000.

A NARROW ESCAPE

U. P. Freight Train Crashes Into a Wagon.

TWO HORSES ARE KILLED

The Occupants of the Wagon, Two Men, a Woman and Three Children Miraculously Escape Death—The Loss is Particularly Heavy, the Owner Being Very Poor.

Shortly after noon today a most deplorable accident occurred on the U. P. crossing on Centre street in the west part of town. Sam Robert and wife and three little children and a Mr. Kopp, all Germans, were in a wagon driving up into town. Coming upon the crossing a southbound freight derailed into the team killing them instantly and carrying one of the animals fully 160 yards on south before the train was stopped. If it had not been for the fact that the timber of the tongue of the wagon was old and poor every occupant of the wagon would have been killed. As it was the tongue broke and let the wagon and its precious load run back down the grade.

At this particular crossing there are many trees and much brush that obstruct the view of both the parties driving on the road coming east and the engine coming south until both are right on the crossing. Again, a wagon cannot hear the rumbling of the train. Parties who witnessed this accident say that the signal whistle was not blown as the train approached the crossing and that the train, which was late, running at the rate of fully ten miles an hour.

Now Robert is a poor man who depended upon his team and his own labor for a livelihood for himself and a large family. The team and the wagon now demolished, is all he had on earth outside of a few household goods. With the team and wagon he hauled wood and peddled fruit and dah. He had been down to the bankrupt's paying for his last lot and making arrangements for another. He has been in Provo only about three years and during that time he has had a hard time to make two ends meet. In fact at times part of the support of himself and family have been contributed by the hand of charity. The loss is a very heavy one indeed under all the circumstances, and it is, indeed, marvelous that human life was not lost.

Worthy Your Confidence.

The success of Hood's Sarsaparilla in conquering scrofula in whatever way it may manifest itself is evidenced by thousands who were severely afflicted by this prevalent disease, but who now rejoice over a permanent cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Scrofula may appear as a humor, or it may attack the glands of the neck, or break out in dreadful running sores on the body and limbs. Attacking the mucous membrane, it may develop into catarrh or lodging in the lining lead to consumption. Come as it may, a faithful course of treatment with Hood's Sarsaparilla will overcome it, for working upon the foundation of all diseases, impure blood, the system is clarified and vitalized, and vigor, strength and health restored to the body.
