

AN OPEN LETTER.

To the Men, Women and Children of Caldwell and Surrounding Country.

If you wish to purchase a shoe for your boy or girl that will stand the wear and tear of every day use...

Try the Henderson Little Red School House shoe. They are made of solid leather throughout, and every pair warranted.

If you want a pair of Ladies' Goat Button shoes that will stand the wear and tear of every day use...

Buy a pair of Henderson's $2.50 shoes. Every pair warranted to be nothing but solid leather. No paper soles or counters, but solid sole leather, warranted.

If you want a good, solid, heavy, every day Ladies' shoe...

If you want a good, sensible and stylish Cow Boy Boot...

If you want anything in the boot and shoe line...

BUCKLE'S ARNICA SALVE. The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, etc.

Take Notice.

We will again be ready for business Monday morning, in our new stand opposite Gwinn's and first door east of Lucas' harness shop.

Ball Dresses and Wedding Outfits, a specialty. Will open with a line of millinery between the first and middle of March.

Exchange Saloon! J. M. MARTIN, Prop. A fine line of WINES, LIQUORS & CIGARS.

Fahy Bros' Saloon, CALDWELL, IDAHO.

Popular Place of Resort. Opposite Pacific Hotel.

Wines, Liquors & Cigars. Always on Hand.

Good Billiard and Pool Table in the room. Try some of our eleven year.

Old Kentucky Bourbon. Whiskey. The best in the Market.

FINE JERSEY BULL. "Lucky Boy" a thoroughbred, registered Jersey bull, will be open for services at my ranch, near Caldwell, this season.

THE TRIBUNE. CALDWELL, IDAHO, MARCH 31, 1888.

THE TRIBUNE.

CALDWELL, IDAHO, MARCH 31, 1888.

-To-morrow is Easter Sunday.

-Mrs. H. D. Blatchley is quite sick again.

-Miss Lillie Dorman is visiting in Boise City.

-Wm. Dorman sports a handsome meat wagon.

-W. L. Fuller, of Emmett, was in town Thursday.

-Wm. Isaac, of Sucker, was in town Thursday.

-J. O. Baker returned from San Francisco last Sunday.

-The largest assortment of parascals in town at Gwinn's.

-The county commissioners will meet at Boise City April 9th.

-Wall paper, largest stock in Idaho, at Little & Blatchley's.

-Mrs. R. E. Strahorn visited Mountain Home last Tuesday.

-Mrs. M. B. Gwinn has been visiting at Weiser the past week.

-A gang of drummers made night hideous last Thursday night.

-Miss Josie Sullivan, of Portland, is visiting Mrs. M. B. Gwinn.

-Settings of fine Plymouth Rock eggs for sale at the Strahorn ranch.

-Judge Beatty and Chas. H. Reed were Boise visitors this week.

-Mrs. Ira Taylor and sister, of Nampa, were in town on Thursday.

-Mrs. G. H. Flowers, of Shoshone, is visiting Mrs. F. L. Olmstead.

-Frank Gilbert and wife, of Parma, were Caldwell visitors this week.

-Isham & Co. are making improvements in the rear of their drug store.

-Gwinn has just received a full line of queensware, glassware, lamps, etc.

-Both Mrs. Helen E. Scott and Mrs. C. S. Scott have been quite sick the past week.

-Nampa's much blown about $5,000 hotel seems to have taken a tumble, as it were.

-Frank R. Coffin, the hardware prince of Boise, came down to Caldwell this week.

-Bargains in ladies', misses' and children's shoes at Gwinn's for the next thirty days.

-J. F. Lackey, foreman of the Oregon Horse & Land Company, was in town this week.

-A dance at the Pacific hotel last Thursday night was much enjoyed by those present.

-Frank Moore, our enterprising photographer, is erecting a neat cottage near D. L. Badley's.

-Ladies' hats at Gwinn's, trimmed and untrimmed. Misses' and children's hats in many shapes.

-Gwinn has just received a large assortment of ladies' and misses' spring and summer hats.

-There are 130 farms in the blue grass region of Kentucky devoted to breeding thoroughbreds and trotters.

-Preaching at the school house by the Rev. Gwinn Sabbath morning. Sunday school in the afternoon as usual.

-The Republican county convention will be held April 11th for the purpose of electing four delegates to the territorial convention to be held in Boise City, May 2nd.

-Lavette Pearl, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Ronan, died at their country residence near Notus at 10 o'clock a. m., March 30th. Interment at Caldwell cemetery at 1 o'clock to day.

-Isham & Co. have received part of the apparatus for their fine new soda fountain. It will be the finest thing of the kind in the territory, and will undoubtedly be highly appreciated by the public.

-A St. Louis Company has purchased the Gold Hill and Mammoth groups of mines at Pine Grove, Alturas county. In a shaft only 25 feet deep, sunk last week, a twenty-inch vein, assaying $200 a ton was struck.

-The work of pumping out the Oro Fino mine on War Eagle mountain is progressing well and the mine will be ready for working very soon. The new tunnel being run on the lode through the Sinker property is showing good ore.

-Little & Blatchley have the finest line of garden and field seeds ever seen in Idaho. Their stock comprises a full and complete variety of both the famous E. J. Bowen and D. M. Ferry test seeds, the best brands in the world. Call and see them.

-S. N. Moe, the enterprising jeweler and practical watchmaker, is making some elegant improvements. He has recently put in a fine polishing machine, and this week added the finest show case ever yet shipped to Caldwell. Moe is enterprising and is constantly making improvements to meet the demands of his rapidly growing business.

-Mr. Howard Sebree has been quite sick the past week, but is now rapidly improving.

-R. E. Miller is about to erect a handsome cottage on Kimball street, opposite C. S. Scott's residence.

-A great many trees are received from local nurseries, and as soon as a good rain comes, will be set out.

-Gene Strohecker has put the Improvement Co's ditch in good shape, and will turn in the water next week.

-The blustering weather of the first of the week had an unfavorable effect on the ground, drying out the little moisture left.

-Mrs. Jas. A. Pinney, of Boise City, Miss Ada Rossi, of Washoe, and Miss Saman, of San Francisco, were Caldwell visitors last week.

-Wm. Lemaster, who bought out Eli Wilson's shoe shop, has opened up in the building formerly occupied by Moudy's fruit stand.

-The way freight is rolling into Caldwell just now, it would appear that our merchants are not very much afraid of the Nampa boom.

-The W. C. T. U. at Nampa gave an entertainment last Thursday evening for the purpose of starting a reading room at that place.

-The flumes on the Sebree ditch will be completed next week. Seventeen miles of that mammoth enterprise will then be completed.

-Services at the Baptist church to-morrow as follows: Preaching at 11 o'clock and Sunday school at 12 o'clock, immediately after the services. Evening meeting at 8 o'clock.

-The district court at Boise City granted a divorce to Dan Levan from Jennie Levan last week. Dan has already sent in his application to the Bachelor's Club for membership.

-Montie B. Gwinn, Robt. E. Strahorn, Sherman M. Coffin and Frank Steunenberg, of THE TRIBUNE, started for Silver City last Thursday to represent Caldwell's claims for the telegraph line.

-Arrangements are being made by the Presbyterian people for the finest musical entertainment ever yet seen in Caldwell, to take place on the 13th of April at the Presbyterian church. An excellent program has been arranged and a fine time is assured to all who attend. Particulars next week.

-There is no use talking, Little & Blatchley are the leading wall paper importers in Idaho. It does not seem possible to dispose of the immense quantities that they are receiving, but Mr. Little informs us that their immense trade justifies it. All those who intend to wallpaper this spring should call and examine the immense stock of Little & Blatchley. All styles, all grades and all prices. Be sure and call.

-J. O. Baker, of this city, has moved to Boise City, and will open a stock of clothing and gents' furnishing goods at that place. Mr. Baker has for several years been in business in Caldwell, and has always been a favorite both in business and social circles. He has made hosts of friends in this community who will sadly miss him. In his departure Caldwell loses a good citizen and an enterprising business man, and we venture the assertion that he will soon take a front rank in the business of the capital city. A man like J. O. Baker is an acquisition to any community, and we congratulate Boise on her good fortune.

-Hundreds of emigrants pass through on the railway every day to seek homes on the coast. We hear many compliments paid our town, but they are always accompanied by the question: "Where is your farming country to support such a growing and lively town?" It is the hardest thing in the world to convince an eastern man that irrigation is an advantage rather than a drawback to a country. They cannot comprehend that irrigation is the true science of farming. Let them go into California, Oregon and Washington and see for themselves how irrigation has changed those countries from the desert to the blooming garden, and after a while they will be glad to come back and take our fertile lands at Uncle Sam's price.

-It is painful to hear of the great number of deaths by the careless handling of fire-arms. The last one in Idaho is the death of William P. Huff, of Long Valley, in Boise county. Mr. J. B. Huff, his father, writes that his son William, while loading his shot gun on the morning of the 15th inst., at his house in Long Valley, went out and shot geese, one of the barrels accidentally discharged, striking him in the right eye and causing instant death. William P. Huff was a very much respected citizen of this valley and lived on ly a few miles below Boise City many years and is well known in this part of Idaho. He moved to Long Valley about a year ago and commenced making a new farm. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn his sad death.—Boise Statesman.

-Ayer's Cathartic Pills are known to be the safest, surest and best purgative medicine ever offered to the public. They are mild yet certain in their effects, give tone and strength to the stomach, and keep the system in a perfectly healthy condition.

-The people of Hailey have always enjoyed a reputation for enterprise and hospitality second to none in the west. To the stranger her enterprise is apparent in her superb hotels and elegant buildings. Hailey supports two hotels—the Alturas and the Merchants—that would be creditable to a city of five times her size and importance. Both are three-story brick buildings and are first-class in every particular, having all the modern improvements, such as electric light, electric call bells, water works, and in fact everything that can be found in the more pretentious palaces in the east, but would scarcely be looked for in a mountain town in Idaho of less than three thousand people. Hailey is a continual surprise. A person scarcely begins to realize that such magnificent hotels are actually maintained, when he is staggered by the still more incredible fact that three daily newspapers are published and, to all appearances, flourish in this wonderful city of the hills. There are hundreds of larger cities in the east that don't half support one weekly paper. To our mind the newspaper business is vastly overdone in Hailey, and could the three dailies there be consolidated into one, it would be much better for both the papers and the city. The very fact of their existence, however, speaks volumes of the enterprise and public spirit of her people. And there again is her magnificent school house, her massive brick blocks, her excellent court house, her unparalleled system of water works, her electric light, all the product and wealth of man's art and science, all point to the common centre of her public spirit, but these, grand as they are, are but a mere trifle when compared with the works of Hailey's greatest architect—Nature. Her pure mountain air that gives the consumptive hope and life; her lofty hills clothed in winter in a mantle of white and in summer in nature's beautiful green; her clear, cold mountain streams, the home of the speckled trout; her wonderful hot springs, among the finest in the world; her beautiful drives, her unexcelled summer climate, her rugged mountain scenery, all tend to make Hailey the most popular summer resort in the west. The people of Hailey are public spirited, enterprising, sociable, intelligent and noted for hospitality. To the delegation from Caldwell who recently visited there every mark of respect was shown, the citizens there seeming to vie each other in doing honor to the strangers. Such are the characteristics of all citizens of Wood River. In Ketchum the same open, free-hearted hospitality, such as is only known in mining towns, was observed. While Ketchum lacks the artificial work of man to compare with Hailey's, as if to stone, nature has been more lavish with her charms of mountain scenery. It will in time be a beautiful city. To those who desire to escape the heat and dust of "the flat" for a few weeks during the summer months, we would recommend a trip to Wood River. Stop at Bellevue, Hailey and Ketchum, and you will never regret the trip.

-Ayer's Cathartic Pills are known to be the safest, surest and best purgative medicine ever offered to the public. They are mild yet certain in their effects, give tone and strength to the stomach, and keep the system in a perfectly healthy condition.

-The people of Hailey have always enjoyed a reputation for enterprise and hospitality second to none in the west. To the stranger her enterprise is apparent in her superb hotels and elegant buildings. Hailey supports two hotels—the Alturas and the Merchants—that would be creditable to a city of five times her size and importance. Both are three-story brick buildings and are first-class in every particular, having all the modern improvements, such as electric light, electric call bells, water works, and in fact everything that can be found in the more pretentious palaces in the east, but would scarcely be looked for in a mountain town in Idaho of less than three thousand people. Hailey is a continual surprise. A person scarcely begins to realize that such magnificent hotels are actually maintained, when he is staggered by the still more incredible fact that three daily newspapers are published and, to all appearances, flourish in this wonderful city of the hills. There are hundreds of larger cities in the east that don't half support one weekly paper. To our mind the newspaper business is vastly overdone in Hailey, and could the three dailies there be consolidated into one, it would be much better for both the papers and the city. The very fact of their existence, however, speaks volumes of the enterprise and public spirit of her people. And there again is her magnificent school house, her massive brick blocks, her excellent court house, her unparalleled system of water works, her electric light, all the product and wealth of man's art and science, all point to the common centre of her public spirit, but these, grand as they are, are but a mere trifle when compared with the works of Hailey's greatest architect—Nature. Her pure mountain air that gives the consumptive hope and life; her lofty hills clothed in winter in a mantle of white and in summer in nature's beautiful green; her clear, cold mountain streams, the home of the speckled trout; her wonderful hot springs, among the finest in the world; her beautiful drives, her unexcelled summer climate, her rugged mountain scenery, all tend to make Hailey the most popular summer resort in the west. The people of Hailey are public spirited, enterprising, sociable, intelligent and noted for hospitality. To the delegation from Caldwell who recently visited there every mark of respect was shown, the citizens there seeming to vie each other in doing honor to the strangers. Such are the characteristics of all citizens of Wood River. In Ketchum the same open, free-hearted hospitality, such as is only known in mining towns, was observed. While Ketchum lacks the artificial work of man to compare with Hailey's, as if to stone, nature has been more lavish with her charms of mountain scenery. It will in time be a beautiful city. To those who desire to escape the heat and dust of "the flat" for a few weeks during the summer months, we would recommend a trip to Wood River. Stop at Bellevue, Hailey and Ketchum, and you will never regret the trip.

-Ayer's Cathartic Pills are known to be the safest, surest and best purgative medicine ever offered to the public. They are mild yet certain in their effects, give tone and strength to the stomach, and keep the system in a perfectly healthy condition.

-The people of Hailey have always enjoyed a reputation for enterprise and hospitality second to none in the west. To the stranger her enterprise is apparent in her superb hotels and elegant buildings. Hailey supports two hotels—the Alturas and the Merchants—that would be creditable to a city of five times her size and importance. Both are three-story brick buildings and are first-class in every particular, having all the modern improvements, such as electric light, electric call bells, water works, and in fact everything that can be found in the more pretentious palaces in the east, but would scarcely be looked for in a mountain town in Idaho of less than three thousand people. Hailey is a continual surprise. A person scarcely begins to realize that such magnificent hotels are actually maintained, when he is staggered by the still more incredible fact that three daily newspapers are published and, to all appearances, flourish in this wonderful city of the hills. There are hundreds of larger cities in the east that don't half support one weekly paper. To our mind the newspaper business is vastly overdone in Hailey, and could the three dailies there be consolidated into one, it would be much better for both the papers and the city. The very fact of their existence, however, speaks volumes of the enterprise and public spirit of her people. And there again is her magnificent school house, her massive brick blocks, her excellent court house, her unparalleled system of water works, her electric light, all the product and wealth of man's art and science, all point to the common centre of her public spirit, but these, grand as they are, are but a mere trifle when compared with the works of Hailey's greatest architect—Nature. Her pure mountain air that gives the consumptive hope and life; her lofty hills clothed in winter in a mantle of white and in summer in nature's beautiful green; her clear, cold mountain streams, the home of the speckled trout; her wonderful hot springs, among the finest in the world; her beautiful drives, her unexcelled summer climate, her rugged mountain scenery, all tend to make Hailey the most popular summer resort in the west. The people of Hailey are public spirited, enterprising, sociable, intelligent and noted for hospitality. To the delegation from Caldwell who recently visited there every mark of respect was shown, the citizens there seeming to vie each other in doing honor to the strangers. Such are the characteristics of all citizens of Wood River. In Ketchum the same open, free-hearted hospitality, such as is only known in mining towns, was observed. While Ketchum lacks the artificial work of man to compare with Hailey's, as if to stone, nature has been more lavish with her charms of mountain scenery. It will in time be a beautiful city. To those who desire to escape the heat and dust of "the flat" for a few weeks during the summer months, we would recommend a trip to Wood River. Stop at Bellevue, Hailey and Ketchum, and you will never regret the trip.

-Ayer's Cathartic Pills are known to be the safest, surest and best purgative medicine ever offered to the public. They are mild yet certain in their effects, give tone and strength to the stomach, and keep the system in a perfectly healthy condition.

-The people of Hailey have always enjoyed a reputation for enterprise and hospitality second to none in the west. To the stranger her enterprise is apparent in her superb hotels and elegant buildings. Hailey supports two hotels—the Alturas and the Merchants—that would be creditable to a city of five times her size and importance. Both are three-story brick buildings and are first-class in every particular, having all the modern improvements, such as electric light, electric call bells, water works, and in fact everything that can be found in the more pretentious palaces in the east, but would scarcely be looked for in a mountain town in Idaho of less than three thousand people. Hailey is a continual surprise. A person scarcely begins to realize that such magnificent hotels are actually maintained, when he is staggered by the still more incredible fact that three daily newspapers are published and, to all appearances, flourish in this wonderful city of the hills. There are hundreds of larger cities in the east that don't half support one weekly paper. To our mind the newspaper business is vastly overdone in Hailey, and could the three dailies there be consolidated into one, it would be much better for both the papers and the city. The very fact of their existence, however, speaks volumes of the enterprise and public spirit of her people. And there again is her magnificent school house, her massive brick blocks, her excellent court house, her unparalleled system of water works, her electric light, all the product and wealth of man's art and science, all point to the common centre of her public spirit, but these, grand as they are, are but a mere trifle when compared with the works of Hailey's greatest architect—Nature. Her pure mountain air that gives the consumptive hope and life; her lofty hills clothed in winter in a mantle of white and in summer in nature's beautiful green; her clear, cold mountain streams, the home of the speckled trout; her wonderful hot springs, among the finest in the world; her beautiful drives, her unexcelled summer climate, her rugged mountain scenery, all tend to make Hailey the most popular summer resort in the west. The people of Hailey are public spirited, enterprising, sociable, intelligent and noted for hospitality. To the delegation from Caldwell who recently visited there every mark of respect was shown, the citizens there seeming to vie each other in doing honor to the strangers. Such are the characteristics of all citizens of Wood River. In Ketchum the same open, free-hearted hospitality, such as is only known in mining towns, was observed. While Ketchum lacks the artificial work of man to compare with Hailey's, as if to stone, nature has been more lavish with her charms of mountain scenery. It will in time be a beautiful city. To those who desire to escape the heat and dust of "the flat" for a few weeks during the summer months, we would recommend a trip to Wood River. Stop at Bellevue, Hailey and Ketchum, and you will never regret the trip.

-Ayer's Cathartic Pills are known to be the safest, surest and best purgative medicine ever offered to the public. They are mild yet certain in their effects, give tone and strength to the stomach, and keep the system in a perfectly healthy condition.

-The people of Hailey have always enjoyed a reputation for enterprise and hospitality second to none in the west. To the stranger her enterprise is apparent in her superb hotels and elegant buildings. Hailey supports two hotels—the Alturas and the Merchants—that would be creditable to a city of five times her size and importance. Both are three-story brick buildings and are first-class in every particular, having all the modern improvements, such as electric light, electric call bells, water works, and in fact everything that can be found in the more pretentious palaces in the east, but would scarcely be looked for in a mountain town in Idaho of less than three thousand people. Hailey is a continual surprise. A person scarcely begins to realize that such magnificent hotels are actually maintained, when he is staggered by the still more incredible fact that three daily newspapers are published and, to all appearances, flourish in this wonderful city of the hills. There are hundreds of larger cities in the east that don't half support one weekly paper. To our mind the newspaper business is vastly overdone in Hailey, and could the three dailies there be consolidated into one, it would be much better for both the papers and the city. The very fact of their existence, however, speaks volumes of the enterprise and public spirit of her people. And there again is her magnificent school house, her massive brick blocks, her excellent court house, her unparalleled system of water works, her electric light, all the product and wealth of man's art and science, all point to the common centre of her public spirit, but these, grand as they are, are but a mere trifle when compared with the works of Hailey's greatest architect—Nature. Her pure mountain air that gives the consumptive hope and life; her lofty hills clothed in winter in a mantle of white and in summer in nature's beautiful green; her clear, cold mountain streams, the home of the speckled trout; her wonderful hot springs, among the finest in the world; her beautiful drives, her unexcelled summer climate, her rugged mountain scenery, all tend to make Hailey the most popular summer resort in the west. The people of Hailey are public spirited, enterprising, sociable, intelligent and noted for hospitality. To the delegation from Caldwell who recently visited there every mark of respect was shown, the citizens there seeming to vie each other in doing honor to the strangers. Such are the characteristics of all citizens of Wood River. In Ketchum the same open, free-hearted hospitality, such as is only known in mining towns, was observed. While Ketchum lacks the artificial work of man to compare with Hailey's, as if to stone, nature has been more lavish with her charms of mountain scenery. It will in time be a beautiful city. To those who desire to escape the heat and dust of "the flat" for a few weeks during the summer months, we would recommend a trip to Wood River. Stop at Bellevue, Hailey and Ketchum, and you will never regret the trip.

-Ayer's Cathartic Pills are known to be the safest, surest and best purgative medicine ever offered to the public. They are mild yet certain in their effects, give tone and strength to the stomach, and keep the system in a perfectly healthy condition.

-The people of Hailey have always enjoyed a reputation for enterprise and hospitality second to none in the west. To the stranger her enterprise is apparent in her superb hotels and elegant buildings. Hailey supports two hotels—the Alturas and the Merchants—that would be creditable to a city of five times her size and importance. Both are three-story brick buildings and are first-class in every particular, having all the modern improvements, such as electric light, electric call bells, water works, and in fact everything that can be found in the more pretentious palaces in the east, but would scarcely be looked for in a mountain town in Idaho of less than three thousand people. Hailey is a continual surprise. A person scarcely begins to realize that such magnificent hotels are actually maintained, when he is staggered by the still more incredible fact that three daily newspapers are published and, to all appearances, flourish in this wonderful city of the hills. There are hundreds of larger cities in the east that don't half support one weekly paper. To our mind the newspaper business is vastly overdone in Hailey, and could the three dailies there be consolidated into one, it would be much better for both the papers and the city. The very fact of their existence, however, speaks volumes of the enterprise and public spirit of her people. And there again is her magnificent school house, her massive brick blocks, her excellent court house, her unparalleled system of water works, her electric light, all the product and wealth of man's art and science, all point to the common centre of her public spirit, but these, grand as they are, are but a mere trifle when compared with the works of Hailey's greatest architect—Nature. Her pure mountain air that gives the consumptive hope and life; her lofty hills clothed in winter in a mantle of white and in summer in nature's beautiful green; her clear, cold mountain streams, the home of the speckled trout; her wonderful hot springs, among the finest in the world; her beautiful drives, her unexcelled summer climate, her rugged mountain scenery, all tend to make Hailey the most popular summer resort in the west. The people of Hailey are public spirited, enterprising, sociable, intelligent and noted for hospitality. To the delegation from Caldwell who recently visited there every mark of respect was shown, the citizens there seeming to vie each other in doing honor to the strangers. Such are the characteristics of all citizens of Wood River. In Ketchum the same open, free-hearted hospitality, such as is only known in mining towns, was observed. While Ketchum lacks the artificial work of man to compare with Hailey's, as if to stone, nature has been more lavish with her charms of mountain scenery. It will in time be a beautiful city. To those who desire to escape the heat and dust of "the flat" for a few weeks during the summer months, we would recommend a trip to Wood River. Stop at Bellevue, Hailey and Ketchum, and you will never regret the trip.

-Ayer's Cathartic Pills are known to be the safest, surest and best purgative medicine ever offered to the public. They are mild yet certain in their effects, give tone and strength to the stomach, and keep the system in a perfectly healthy condition.

-The people of Hailey have always enjoyed a reputation for enterprise and hospitality second to none in the west. To the stranger her enterprise is apparent in her superb hotels and elegant buildings. Hailey supports two hotels—the Alturas and the Merchants—that would be creditable to a city of five times her size and importance. Both are three-story brick buildings and are first-class in every particular, having all the modern improvements, such as electric light, electric call bells, water works, and in fact everything that can be found in the more pretentious palaces in the east, but would scarcely be looked for in a mountain town in Idaho of less than three thousand people. Hailey is a continual surprise. A person scarcely begins to realize that such magnificent hotels are actually maintained, when he is staggered by the still more incredible fact that three daily newspapers are published and, to all appearances, flourish in this wonderful city of the hills. There are hundreds of larger cities in the east that don't half support one weekly paper. To our mind the newspaper business is vastly overdone in Hailey, and could the three dailies there be consolidated into one, it would be much better for both the papers and the city. The very fact of their existence, however, speaks volumes of the enterprise and public spirit of her people. And there again is her magnificent school house, her massive brick blocks, her excellent court house, her unparalleled system of water works, her electric light, all the product and wealth of man's art and science, all point to the common centre of her public spirit, but these, grand as they are, are but a mere trifle when compared with the works of Hailey's greatest architect—Nature. Her pure mountain air that gives the consumptive hope and life; her lofty hills clothed in winter in a mantle of white and in summer in nature's beautiful green; her clear, cold mountain streams, the home of the speckled trout; her wonderful hot springs, among the finest in the world; her beautiful drives, her unexcelled summer climate, her rugged mountain scenery, all tend to make Hailey the most popular summer resort in the west. The people of Hailey are public spirited, enterprising, sociable, intelligent and noted for hospitality. To the delegation from Caldwell who recently visited there every mark of respect was shown, the citizens there seeming to vie each other in doing honor to the strangers. Such are the characteristics of all citizens of Wood River. In Ketchum the same open, free-hearted hospitality, such as is only known in mining towns, was observed. While Ketchum lacks the artificial work of man to compare with Hailey's, as if to stone, nature has been more lavish with her charms of mountain scenery. It will in time be a beautiful city. To those who desire to escape the heat and dust of "the flat" for a few weeks during the summer months, we would recommend a trip to Wood River. Stop at Bellevue, Hailey and Ketchum, and you will never regret the trip.

-Ayer's Cathartic Pills are known to be the safest, surest and best purgative medicine ever offered to the public. They are mild yet certain in their effects, give tone and strength to the stomach, and keep the system in a perfectly healthy condition.

-The people of Hailey have always enjoyed a reputation for enterprise and hospitality second to none in the west. To the stranger her enterprise is apparent in her superb hotels and elegant buildings. Hailey supports two hotels—the Alturas and the Merchants—that would be creditable to a city of five times her size and importance. Both are three-story brick buildings and are first-class in every particular, having all the modern improvements, such as electric light, electric call bells, water works, and in fact everything that can be found in the more pretentious palaces in the east, but would scarcely be looked for in a mountain town in Idaho of less than three thousand people. Hailey is a continual surprise. A person scarcely begins to realize that such magnificent hotels are actually maintained, when he is staggered by the still more incredible fact that three daily newspapers are published and, to all appearances, flourish in this wonderful city of the hills. There are hundreds of larger cities in the east that don't half support one weekly paper. To our mind the newspaper business is vastly overdone in Hailey, and could the three dailies there be consolidated into one, it would be much better for both the papers and the city. The very fact of their existence, however, speaks volumes of the enterprise and public spirit of her people. And there again is her magnificent school house, her massive brick blocks, her excellent court house, her unparalleled system of water works, her electric light, all the product and wealth of man's art and science, all point to the common centre of her public spirit, but these, grand as they are, are but a mere trifle when compared with the works of Hailey's greatest architect—Nature. Her pure mountain air that gives the consumptive hope and life; her lofty hills clothed in winter in a mantle of white and in summer in nature's beautiful green; her clear, cold mountain streams, the home of the speckled trout; her wonderful hot springs, among the finest in the world; her beautiful drives, her unexcelled summer climate, her rugged mountain scenery, all tend to make Hailey the most popular summer resort in the west. The people of Hailey are public spirited, enterprising, sociable, intelligent and noted for hospitality. To the delegation from Caldwell who recently visited there every mark of respect was shown, the citizens there seeming to vie each other in doing honor to the strangers. Such are the characteristics of all citizens of Wood River. In Ketchum the same open, free-hearted hospitality, such as is only known in mining towns, was observed. While Ketchum lacks the artificial work of man to compare with Hailey's, as if to stone, nature has been more lavish with her charms of mountain scenery. It will in time be a beautiful city. To those who desire to escape the heat and dust of "the flat" for a few weeks during the summer months, we would recommend a trip to Wood River. Stop at Bellevue, Hailey and Ketchum, and you will never regret the trip.

-Ayer's Cathartic Pills are known to be the safest, surest and best purgative medicine ever offered to the public. They are mild yet certain in their effects, give tone and strength to the stomach, and keep the system in a perfectly healthy condition.

-The people of Hailey have always enjoyed a reputation for enterprise and hospitality second to none in the west. To the stranger her enterprise is apparent in her superb hotels and elegant buildings. Hailey supports two hotels—the Alturas and the Merchants—that would be creditable to a city of five times her size and importance. Both are three-story brick buildings and are first-class in every particular, having all the modern improvements, such as electric light, electric call bells, water works, and in fact everything that can be found in the more pretentious palaces in the east, but would scarcely be looked for in a mountain town in Idaho of less than three thousand people. Hailey is a continual surprise. A person scarcely begins to realize that such magnificent hotels are actually maintained, when he is staggered by the still more incredible fact that three daily newspapers are published and, to all appearances, flourish in this wonderful city of the hills. There are hundreds of larger cities in the east that don't half support one weekly paper. To our mind the newspaper business is vastly overdone in Hailey, and could the three dailies there be consolidated into one, it would be much better for both the papers and the city. The very fact of their existence, however, speaks volumes of the enterprise and public spirit of her people. And there again is her magnificent school house, her massive brick blocks, her excellent court house, her unparalleled system of water works, her electric light, all the product and wealth of man's art and science, all point to the common centre of her public spirit, but these, grand as they are, are but a mere trifle when compared with the works of Hailey's greatest architect—Nature. Her pure mountain air that gives the consumptive hope and life; her lofty hills clothed in winter in a mantle of white and in summer in nature's beautiful green; her clear, cold mountain streams, the home of the speckled trout; her wonderful hot springs, among the finest in the world; her beautiful drives, her unexcelled summer climate, her rugged mountain scenery, all tend to make Hailey the most popular summer resort in the west. The people of Hailey are public spirited, enterprising, sociable, intelligent and noted for hospitality. To the delegation from Caldwell who recently visited there every mark of respect was shown, the citizens there seeming to vie each other in doing honor to the strangers. Such are the characteristics of all citizens of Wood River. In Ketchum the same open, free-hearted hospitality, such as is only known in mining towns, was observed. While Ketchum lacks the artificial work of man to compare with Hailey's, as if to stone, nature has been more lavish with her charms of mountain scenery. It will in time be a beautiful city. To those who desire to escape the heat and dust of "the flat" for a few weeks during the summer months, we would recommend a trip to Wood River. Stop at Bellevue, Hailey and Ketchum, and you will never regret the trip.

-Ayer's Cathartic Pills are known to be the safest, surest and best purgative medicine ever offered to the public. They are mild yet certain in their effects, give tone and strength to the stomach, and keep the system in a perfectly healthy condition.

-The people of Hailey have always enjoyed a reputation for enterprise and hospitality second to none in the west. To the stranger her enterprise is apparent in her superb hotels and elegant buildings. Hailey supports two hotels—the Alturas and the Merchants—that would be creditable to a city of five times her size and importance. Both are three-story brick buildings and are first-class in every particular, having all the modern improvements, such as electric light, electric call bells, water works, and in fact everything that can be found in the more pretentious palaces in the east, but would scarcely be looked for in a mountain town in Idaho of less than three thousand people. Hailey is a continual surprise. A person scarcely begins to realize that such magnificent hotels are actually maintained, when he is staggered by the still more incredible fact that three daily newspapers are published and, to all appearances, flourish in this wonderful city of the hills. There are hundreds of larger cities in the east that don't half support one weekly paper. To our mind the newspaper business is vastly overdone in Hailey, and could the three dailies there be consolidated into one, it would be much better for both the papers and the city. The very fact of their existence, however, speaks volumes of the enterprise and public spirit of her people. And there again is her magnificent school house, her massive brick blocks, her excellent court house, her unparalleled system of water works, her electric light, all the product and wealth of man's art and science, all point to the common centre of her public spirit, but these, grand as they are, are but a mere trifle when compared with the works of Hailey's greatest architect—Nature. Her pure mountain air that gives the consumptive hope and life; her lofty hills clothed in winter in a mantle of white and in summer in nature's beautiful green; her clear, cold mountain streams, the home of the speckled trout; her wonderful hot springs, among the finest in the world; her beautiful drives, her unexcelled summer climate, her rugged mountain scenery, all tend to make Hailey the most popular summer resort in the west. The people of Hailey are public spirited, enterprising, sociable, intelligent and noted for hospitality. To the delegation from Caldwell who recently visited there every mark of respect was shown, the citizens there seeming to vie each other in doing honor to the strangers. Such are the characteristics of all citizens of Wood River. In Ketchum the same open, free-hearted hospitality, such as is only known in mining towns, was observed. While Ketchum lacks the artificial work of man to compare with Hailey's,