

—Christmas was quiet in Caldwell.

—Ab. Packard, Jr., is again on the road to recovery.

—C. H. Schree is confined to the house by sickness.

—Wm. Rose, of Succor Creek, was in town this week.

—Earnest Adams, of Rockville, was in town Thursday.

—The first snow of the season last Wednesday night.

—Jas. S. Negley, Jr., is reported to be improving slowly.

—We are on the track of a brand new scandal. Watch and wait.

—The W. C. T. U. will meet at Mrs. Dr. Lee's, Saturday, December 29, at 2:30.

—H. J. Shorb is in from Noble's sheep ranch, to spend the holidays with his family.

—R. B. Young, of Reynolds' Creek, spent Christmas with his family in Caldwell.

—Isham is still at the old stand, and is selling drugs cheaper than ever. Call on him.

—Anthony Anderson, of Parma, is to be married to-morrow. Congratulations, Anthony.

—Miss Ada Miner, of Boise is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Blatchley during the holidays.

—Miss Charlie Lucas, of Pendleton, Oregon, is spending the holidays with her parents in this city.

—Diphtheria is quite prevalent in Boise City at present, several new cases being reported in the last few days.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Blatchley entertained a number of their friends at progressive angling last evening.

—For cash, Isham will sell more goods than you can get elsewhere for the same amount of money. Go and see for yourself.

—THE TRIBUNE has duly sobered up all around and the old job press has resumed its merry song. And new music arriving daily.

—The boys in Montie Gwinn's store presented him with a fine gold headed cane Christmas. An elegant gift worthily bestowed.

—Moe has some elegant small diamonds, ranging in price from $35 to $90, at his jewelry store. If you want a genuine diamond of the first water call on Moe. He will sell them cheap.

—P. A. Devers, M. A. Roberts, Mike Devers and A. K. Steunenberg were honored by an excellent Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Judge Beatty. Even the righteous bachelor is remembered in Caldwell.

—There will be a total eclipse of the sun New Year's day in the afternoon. It will be total through a strip sixty-five miles wide in Idaho, and we are just out of the western boundary of the line, so that at this point the eclipse will only be partial. It will be total, we presume, on Wood river.

—With this issue 1888 closes. THE TRIBUNE has not dunned its patrons this year, but makes bold to ask everybody in its debt to call and settle before beginning the new year. Owing to the large number in arrears on our books we take the liberty of sending everybody a statement of their standing through the mails. If you get one please give it your attention.

—Sonna's new opera house at Boise City will be opened and formally dedicated to the amusement loving public Thursday evening, January 3, with a "home talent" aggregation programme, and concluding with a dance. The Union Pacific will sell excursion tickets at one fare for the round trip, from all principal points on the Idaho division. Tickets will be on sale January 2d and 3d, good returning to and including the 5th.

—A couple of fellows by the name of Stanley and one by the name of Burnes created a disturbance at the Franklin school house last Monday evening, during the Christmas eve festivities, by acting the rowdy generally, and trying to be "bad men." Chas. Hartley swore out a warrant for their arrest and Frank Huntington was deputized to go and get the funny men. He could only find one—A. H. Stanley—who plead guilty, and was fined $10 and costs by Judge Beatty.

—The Christmas tree at the Presbyterian church, Christmas eve, was very enjoyable affair. An excellent programme was carried, and the little folks doing themselves proud. After the exercises the appearance of old Santa Claus was hailed with delight by the expectant children. He was completely loaded down with beautiful presents, and the distribution was the occasion of much merriment on the part of the happy children. Jim H. ... well the part of the ... Saint. "I KNEW YOU."

BUT OF COURSE I WOULD NOT TELL ANYBODY.

The K. of P. Masquerade Ball Christmas Night a Success.

The masquerade ball, given by Mountain Gem Lodge, K. of P., of Caldwell, Christmas evening, was a success in every respect—even financially—as the boys were able to pay all expenses, and that was all that was expected. The dining room of the Commercial hotel was very tastefully decorated, and the various committees had everything in excellent order. At about 8:30 the maskers began to silently drop into the hall, but owing to the lateness of the special train from Boise, the grand march was not called until after 9 o'clock. In the mean time about seventy-five spectators had entered the hall, who amused themselves by watching the queer antics of the grotesque figures, and trying to distinguish persons by their actions and demeanor. The maskers were not as numerous as was expected—there being about twenty-five in all—but the costumes were well gotten up and the characters assumed so finely carried out, that the bewildered spectator was forced to pinch himself to make sure that it was real and not the effects of Christmas Tom and Jerry or mince pie. There up and down the hall with lordly mien and majestic bearing, strode the bold, fearless Knight of the Feudal age, who "would live for love or die," but the war-like mask hid the smiling face of Adrain Oakes. And the Irish Dude, with his shillalah, eye-glass and Emerald green, completely captivated the hearts of the ladies with his most "illegant shape" and captivating manner. Of course it was Scott, everybody knew that—after he unmasked. Then came Charlie Picard in full uniform and a big plume, with K. P. on his breast in big gilt letters. If Charlie really intended to represent a model K. P. he should have been thrown out, for he looked like he had been on a big drunk since the year one—but he hasn't. "Avast you lubber, throw out your grappling irons and lower your jib poop, pipe all hands to the deck and—m me. No name is Sweet William, but shiver my timbers if I wouldn't rather coast among sea gulls than land sharks. Bring on another bucket of grog, you swab," was what an elegant Jack Tar ought to have said, but Ralph Cowden is modest, you know, and said nothing. Hubert Clark made an elegant clown. Hubert is a bright boy and will make his mark if he escapes the clutches of Barnum. Then came a loving trio labeled Susan B. A., Belva L. and Anna D., who were dressed alike, with the exception that Belva and Susan had a preponderance of bustle, while Anna, poor girl, evidently lost hers on the road. The old girls were extremely modest, and blushed rosily when they accidentally displayed their spotless white hose. It is safe to say that should Belva run for President again, she will receive the entire Caldwell vote. There is a difference of opinion as to whether the renowned exponents of Woman's Rights will be flattered or commit suicide when they learn that Mike Devers, Ed. Harness and Mike Roberts were the gay and festive bloods that borrowed their sacred robes. Dan Brown was disguised as a lady, and took off the part admirably. Dan's costume was a study, and was "most fearfully and wonderfully made." After his mask was removed she has made his fortune by hiring herself or himself to a dime museum as the Bearded Lady. Miss Dinah Snowball again consented to associate "wid de white trash" and appeared in a most elegant costume that would have to be seen to be appreciated. It was one of the hits of the evening. P. A. Devers is an artist and no mistake. His version of the highly indignant wench would do credit to Billy Sands. Mrs. C. S. Scott elicited much admiration as a bewitching little flower girl. It was a neat and tasty costume. Mrs. Helen E. Scott was becomingly attired with her usual good taste, and was well disguised. Two little school girls with jumping ropes, rubber balls, etc., were the subject of many highly complimentary remarks by those who love and appreciate the truly beautiful things of this world. Misses Stasia Kelleher and Junie Dorman were more charming, if possible, than ever in their short school girl costumes. Mrs. Beatty, Mrs. B. F. Hartkopf and Miss Delia Giligan were dressed alike and had the most novel and unique costumes in the hall. They were dressed in white from head to foot by an ingenious arrangement of cotton batton, and represented, we suppose, the beautiful snow. They were the beautiful part, at least, of the evening. The success of the evening was largely due to the ... little Dorman were a pl...

STAR BEAMS.

A merry, merry Christmas, a grand and glorious success with our tree at the Christian church. The house was crowded to overflowing, and every heart was made glad we trust.

Mr. Frank Fouch and wife of Parma were visiting their parents and friends here last week, but returned before Xmas.

Our local merchants, Fouch & Sons, are having a good trade, and appear happy. Their fine stock of holiday goods was a great success.

Mr. Ellis has sold his ranch to one Mr. Lavake, from Camas Prairie, who at present is making his home in Boise City, being an enrolling clerk of the legislature. Mr. Ellis goes to his old home in Montana.

And still our valley grows! As the traveler passes down and casts his eye over on the northern bench two miles from the main road, he sees a new dwelling being erected. He wonders from whence the moisture is to come, and passes on.

The heart of Mr. Stewart was made glad by the reception of a large potato, which some friend had put on the Christmas tree. He proposes to make it the principal dish in a free dinner to be given to his many friends about the 4th of July next.

The young people will give us another exhibition Monday night, the proceeds of which will go to the church or school. Admission 25c.

School opens again the first Monday in January. The past term under the direction of Prof. McCendon has been a success, with eighty pupils in attendance.

Prof. Martin, of the Caldwell school, is spending the holidays here with friends and relatives.

PARMA NOTES.

A great many on the sick list at present in this locality. John Atkins has been quite sick, but at present is convalescent. Rosa Ross is at this writing very low with pneumonia. Mr. Martin and others of his family are very low. Mr. Hamilton has two children sick and a Mr. Coffie has sickness in his family.

Fred J. Kiesel and Mr. Cary drove down from Caldwell with a lively team, for the purpose of inspecting the Kiesel Ranch, and while doing so the team started on a tour of inspection on their own hook, which resulted in a complete smashup of the buggy, the remains of which are awaiting shipment by train to Caldwell. One of the horses escaped with but little injury.

We hear that one night last week Col. Hand and Col. Dan Brown were perambulating by moonlight alone, their business they kept to themselves. Col. Hand for some time has been locating people on government land, but whether he succeeded in locating Col. Dan or whether Col. Dan located Col. Hand in his little house in Caldwell, we did not learn. It may be they were locating hen-roosts or goose-pens, preparing for a grand batchelor's dinner on Xmas. We are a little anxious, and would like to have their movements watched for a few days.

PARMA, Dec. 26.

A Woman's Discovery

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this country. Disease had fastened its clutches upon her for several years and she had exhausted all the resources of the medical profession without success. Her health was so low that she could not stand. She thought of the merits of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle was pronounced cured. Her name is Mrs. Lillian Lee. This was written by Dr. H. C. H. of Shelby, N. C. Get a trial bottle free, at Little & Blatchley's.
