

A Busy Administration.

The city now has the most active administration in the history. It is not often that men who are energetic and enterprising in their private business affairs are willing to devote much time to public affairs. With few exceptions they exhaust themselves before looking up matters of public concern. For this reason the business man is a poor politician. The business men who are now conducting the municipal affairs of Caldwell are an exception to this rule. Immediately upon inauguration they made a thorough investigation of municipal affairs. They then proceeded to better good conditions, improve bad ones and eradicate the worst ones. As a consequence the city of Caldwell has a good active administration. It is too soon for one to endorse the actions of our city administration. We cannot tell whether the Gowan administration will go down in history famed for enterprise, energy and great accomplishment, or whether it will be famed simply for peniculous activity. The indications are that this administration will prove the best and most successful in the history of Caldwell. The mayor and members of the city council are working with a will and determination. One thing is certain. Something is going to be done during the next two years. Caldwell will not suffer from stagnation. Dry rot will not seize this city while the present officers are in charge.

Engineers Visit Caldwell.

William Ashton, chief engineer of the Oregon Short Line, and C. F. Conden, division engineer, arrived in Caldwell Wednesday night. Thursday morning they got a conveyance and went to Homedale. The gentlemen had nothing to say, but it is generally supposed that their presence indicate that work on the south side branch will start at once.

The new college is evidently attracting builders toward that quarter of the town. The latest residence quarter to be placed on the market is the Blatchley addition which adjoins the college grounds on the south and comprises 45 acres or 280 lots and 3 fractional blocks. This addition is being handled by the A. L. Murphy Land Co., and will be placed on the market immediately. A ready sale is anticipated. Already several inquiries have been received concerning it.

At the last meeting of the city council an ordinance was introduced providing for a bond election for paving. It has since been decided that it was better to hold the election a little later in the summer as a great many people will be out of town during the month of August, and the council felt that all should have opportunity to express themselves on the question. The special bond election will be held during the fore part of September. Public sentiment is quite in favor of paving and no question arises as to the bonds carrying.

AVEN BUYS OUT LITTLE'S STORE

H. B. Aven, proprietor of the Fair store, this week purchased the T. K. Little stock of dry goods. He also leased the building and will move in immediately upon his return from the east. In the meantime he will close out the Little stock as rapidly as possible. New departments and features will be added, among them being a ladies' ready-to-wear clothing department and a ladies' rest room.

Both Mr. Little and Mr. Aven have built up good business in their respective stores. Mr. Little purchased the dry goods and clothing stock from the M. B. Gwinn Mercantile Co., some 15 years ago. He built up a fine business. Mr. Aven bought the Fair store six years ago and has doubled the business two or three times since buying the establishment. In his new quarters Mr. Aven will have one of the largest store buildings and best locations in town. The success that has attended him in the past will certainly accompany him in the future.

THE CALIFORNIA BUILDING AT A-Y-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

California's handsome building is one of the very striking structures on the grounds of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. It is in the old Spanish Mission type of architecture encountered so frequently in Southern California, and the detail of its front has attracted the attention of artists and architects from all over the country.

In the building every county of the golden state will have an exhibit. California, from Siskiyou to San Diego, has shown as much enthusiasm for the Exposition as has Washington itself.

THE HAWAIIAN BUILDING, A-Y-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

The building erected at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition for the exclusive use of the Hawaiian Islands, occupies a prominent position on the Court of Honor next the central government structure.

Hawaii has prepared a more extensive and comprehensive exhibit of its marvelous resources than for any other world's fair. It will show all of its native fruits and vegetables; will offer an aquarium of live fish, and in various other ways interest the fair visitors. Fruits will be served by native girls and native orchestras and singers will be always on hand. A tank in the center of the structure will show the islands as they rest in the Pacific Ocean.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in assembling Hawaii's display.

A VIEW OF THE COURT OF HONOR, A-Y-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

All of the principal buildings of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition are grouped in close compass around the Cascades and Geyser Basin and the flower beds which line each.

SCENE ON THE COURT OF HONOR, A-Y-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

In constructing its group of five buildings, the United States Government had regard for the type of architecture followed generally in the buildings of the Exposition proper. The Exposition structures are in the modern French renaissance and the Government in the modern Spanish. The two styles tie in nicely together and make a harmonious whole. On the right of the picture is the Alaska building, one of the Government group. In the center is the European Exhibits Palace. On the left is a facade of the Palace of Agriculture. The last two named are in the French renaissance and were completed before December 1, 1908. The Alaska building was completed April 15.
