

MOB KILLS THREE IN JAIL

NORTHWESTERN WYOMING IS SCENE OF LAWLESSNESS.

A Mob of 30 Men Battered Down the Jail Doors at Basin and Shot Two Murderers and a Deputy Sheriff—Cattle and Sheep Men Are in a Range Feud Near Thermopolis.

Red Lodge, Mont., July 20.—A state of lawlessness that beggars description now prevails in northwestern Wyoming, as a result of which all law and order seems to have been abolished.

From President L. L. Moffett of the Montana & Wyoming Telephone company, who is now making a tour of inspection of his company's lines, comes the news of a bloody lynching of two men which occurred at Basin, Wyo., just across the Wyoming line. News also comes of an appeal for help from Sheriff Fenton of Big Horn county, who has arrested a number of prominent cattlemen near Thermopolis and has appealed to the governor of the state for assistance of the militia in getting his prisoners to the Basin jail.

The lynching resulted in the killing of two condemned murderers and also in the shooting of a deputy sheriff, C. E. Price, who died instantly. The murderers were Jim Gorman, who killed his brother's wife, and a prisoner named Walters, a traveling man, who killed a widow named Hoover at Thermopolis hot springs two years ago because she refused to marry him.

Sheriff Did His Duty.

It was reported to Sheriff Fenton last Wednesday morning that a mob was coming up to Basin, along the Big Horn river from Hyattsville and Tenseep, for the purpose of lynching Gorman and Walters. As a measure of precaution the sheriff took the two men and a horse thief out of the jail and secreted them in a gully near town under guard of Deputy Sheriffs Felix Alston and C. E. Price. Gorman, who has exceptionally small hands, managed to slip his handcuffs and make his escape. Deputy Price fired one shot at the fugitive as he disappeared in the brush, but the bullet went wild. Gorman swam the Big Horn river and made for the mountains. A posse of seven men quickly organized and Gorman was recaptured early yesterday on Trapper creek, about 50 miles from Basin.

Mob's Work.

Last evening a mob of about 30 men, unmasked and in perfect order, rode up the east bank of the Big Horn, dismounted, tethered their horses and compelled the ferryman to carry them across the river. They made no demonstration until they entered Basin, when five shots were fired as a warning. The mob proceeded at once to the building which is a courthouse and jail combined, and fired a volley into the jail. Deputy Price and Special Deputy George S. Meade were guarding the prisoners at the time. One bullet grazed Meade's shoulder and entered Price's heart, killing him instantly. Members of the mob then quickly procured telephone poles and battered the jail doors down.

They first came to Walters, who was crouched on his cot piteously begging for mercy. No needless torture was resorted to. Walters was shot instantly. The mob next found Gorman, whose body was pierced by five bullets and was left presumably dead. He lingered, however, until 3 o'clock in the morning, when he died.

A still more alarming state of affairs is reported from the vicinity of Thermopolis. About six weeks ago, as a result of the range feud that has been so bitterly waged, a sheepman, Ben Minnick, was killed by cattlemen. Sheriff Fenton, it is claimed, had captured the murderers, who are all prominent cattlemen and whose names have been withheld on account of threats made against him. Sheriff Fenton is unable to get his prisoners to Basin. It is claimed the same mob that lynched Gorman and Walters are sympathizers and have declared that Sheriff Fenton will never get out of the locality alive with his prisoners.

Sheriff Fenton has wired the governor of Wyoming for permission to use the state militia at Landers and also sent a telephone message to Cody, Basin, Meeteetse and other Wyoming towns asking for volunteers to assist him in upholding the law. Everywhere hardy westerners are responding to the call, arming themselves and hastening toward Thermopolis.

It is probable that the militia will be ordered to the scene and that a bloody battle will be fought. The country about Thermopolis is a wild and lawless one. A message received at Cody this morning from Sheriff Fenton stated that he still had the prisoners in his possession and that he believed he could hold out until reinforcements came.

Record of Walters.

Walters was editor and proprietor of the Lead Democrat at Lead, S. D.,

from 1891 to 1892, and was one of the prominent men of South Dakota. From Lead Walters went to Deadwood, where he was appointed United States deputy marshal. This office Walters later lost through excessive dissipation and some alleged crooked work. Coming home in an intoxicated condition one night, Walters found another man talking to his wife and would have killed him but his condition rendered his aim ineffective. For the attempted murder Walters served a jail sentence. Walters steadily went to the worse and Mrs. Walters finally secured a divorce. Walters met Mrs. Hoover at Thermopolis and after three days' acquaintance murdered her upon her refusal to marry him.

Jim McLoud in Basin Jail.

Butte, Mont., July 23.—A special from Cheyenne, Wyo., says a bloody battle was narrowly averted in the mountains, six miles north of Thermopolis, when Sheriff Fenton transferred Jim McLoud, the alleged murderer of Ben Minnock, from the city jail at Thermopolis to the county jail at Basin City. Sheriff Fenton left Thermopolis with his prisoner under escort of the Basin light artillery of 40 men and 50 picked deputies.

Scouts had been sent out at sunrise, and they reported that a large force of cattlemen and the friends of McLoud were camped on the trail near Cottonwood creek, and from preparations being made they intended to hold up the sheriff and his party and deliver the prisoner. Consequently, when Fenton left Thermopolis he went prepared and expecting a battle.

Scouts rode on ahead and also in the rear and on either flank, but when the cattlemen saw that the soldiers were alert for battle they quietly slipped away and by making a detour entered Thermopolis. With them was Tom O'Day, the notorious character, who is alleged to have been mixed up in the killing of Minnick, and for whom Sheriff Fenton has a warrant.

McLoud was at once placed in the cell formerly occupied by Walters, the condemned murderer, who was shot to death by a mob Sunday, and a strong guard placed about the jail.

Miscrants Poisons Sheep.

Butte, Mont., July 23.—A special from Billings says: Word comes from Columbus of a heavy loss sustained a few days ago by a well known sheepman named Grimes. From the report it is learned that some one scattered poison on the range about 12 miles south of Columbus, where Grimes' sheep were ranging, and the sheep ate of it. Over 1200 head are known to have died as a result and others were made so sick that their death is looked for. Another sheepman is said to have lost over 300 head. There is no clue to the miscrants.

RURAL MAIL ROUTES REMAIN.

Policy of the Postoffice Department is Announced.

The postoffice department has made public the following:

There seems to be a wide misunderstanding as to the present attitude of the department regarding rural free delivery. The statement has been published quite generally, particularly in the west, that rural routes that do not handle 3,000 pieces of mail per month and supply 100 families are to be discontinued. It is not the purpose of the department to disturb routes already established unless they are manifestly unnecessary. There are now on file in the department petitions for more routes that will supply more than 100 families than can be established with the present appropriation. This being the case, the department does not feel it right, equitable or wise to establish a route supplying less than 100 families to the exclusion of routes that will supply more than 100 families, the greatest good to the greatest number being the fundamental principle on which the service is being established. As long as all of the routes that are asked for can not be established for the lack of money the routes that will supply the greater number of families should have preference.

Stock Men to War.

Meeteetse, Wyo., July 23.—War clouds are gathering in the Big Horn country, and it does not seem possible that a bloody conflict can be avoided. The creation of forest reserves has cut down the acreage of the big pastures until now a stock owner, whether a sheep owner or a cattle raiser, must fight hard for sufficient range to keep his flocks and herds alive.

The cattlemen, being the first to settle in this section, feel that they have more right to the public range than the sheepmen, who are newcomers, and preparations have been quietly going on for some time looking to the making of a determined stand against the advance of the sheepmen.

It is alleged that the murder of Sheepman Ben Minnick was the work of hired assassins, and this has greatly enraged Minnick's friends and sheepmen generally.
