restitution of the vessel to its owners at Dunkirk, N. Y. It is not unlikely a suit for damages against the dominion will follow.

ROOSEVELT MAKES ADDRESS.

7000 People Listened at Missionary Meeting Sunday.

Washington, Oct. 26.—"Intelligent Service to God and to the State," was the subject of an address by President Roosevelt to the 7000 people who attended the public open air missionary meeting Sunday evening on the grounds of the cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul. The president was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Admiral Dewey and Brigadier General John M. Wilson. After a procession, led by the marine band and a choir of 500 voices, the clergy of the diocese of Washington and the bishops of the Anglican Communion of America, the opening prayers were read by Bishop Doane of Albany.

The president was introduced by Bishop Satterlee. At the close of the president's address the Most Rev. Enos Nuttall, archbishop of the West Indies, asked permission to say a word on behalf of the British people. Speaking, as he said, for them, he told of the reverence and respect which all Englishmen feel for the president of the United States and for Theodore Roosevelt, "the man and the Christian." He declared that England welcomed the expansion of the United States into a world power and if President Roosevelt should visit England he would receive the greatest welcome extended a foreign visitor.

PRINCESS LOUISE REPENTS.

Begs Her Husband to See Her Children.

Princess Louise, repentant and sorrowful, has sent a tearful letter to her husband, Crown Prince Frederick of Saxony, begging him to let her see her children just once more on Christmas. Her maternal love has proved too strong to see the children she so cruelly wronged when she eloped with her lover some months ago. The crown prince replied that he was willing to grant her appeal, but that King George would not permit it.

Accompanied by her brother and his paramour, Princess Louise and her lover, M. Giron, her French tutor, left the home of the crown prince and fled to Switzerland.

As there is no divorcing of the crowned heads of Saxony, the prince and princess live apart from each other, although she is still his legal wife.

The escapade of the Princess Louise was one of the most sensational affairs of its kind that has occurred in Europe for many years. She admitted, after going away with Giron, that Prince Frederick had been good to her, but that she was wild to get away from the humdrum of the dull court life of Saxony, and get once more into the excitement of the outer world.

In her letter to the crown prince now she does not ask for forgiveness, but says that the shame of her adventure has fallen heavily upon her, and that her heart is aching for a sight of her little ones.

SHOT AT PRESIDENT DIAZ

GREAT EXCITEMENT CAUSED BY ATTEMPT AT MURDER.

President and Party Were Passing a Street Car When a Man of the Lower Class Approached and Fired Five Shots, All Harmless—Police Put the Man in Jail.

Guanajuato, Mexico, Oct. 29.—Great excitement was caused here by what looked like an attempt on the life of President Diaz, who was a guest of the state government during the festivities here. The president, his staff and guests were passing by the Oantador garden in a streetcar, when a man of the lower class, named Elias Toscano, approached the car shouting, and fired five shots from a revolver at the car, fortunately doing no harm. Pablo Escanador of the president's staff rushed from the car and caught the man, wrenching the revolver from his grasp. The police took Toscano to prison.

Toscano is a man with a bad criminal record, and was but recently released from prison at Granditas, where he had served a term for homicide. The matter will be investigated. One theory is that Toscano was drunk and another that he deliberately planned to shoot the president. The president remained perfectly cool and acclaimed by the crowd of citizens, showing their joy at his escape.

Toscano's evil record makes the theory of a deliberate attempt at assassination more probable. The president has received the felicitations of the citizens and diplomatic corps here.

TRADE REPORT.

R. G. Dunn & Co's. Review of Trade last week says:

Numerous labor controversies have appeared and more furnaces and mills have closed, the tendency being to operate only the plants provided with the most modern equipment. Despite the curtailment of activity in many manufacturing lines, a heavy volume of business is being transacted. Western traffic facilities are proving inadequate, the distribution of merchandise being enormous at the interior, and taking the country as a whole conditions may be considered fairly satisfactory, although there are indisputable evidences that the abnormal activity has received a check.

Jobbing trade has become quiet, with the advancing prices, and at many points the weather is not calculated to maintain buying of wearing apparel at retail.

DOWIE CONFESSES IDENTITY

BEFORE AUDIENCE OF 10,000 HE ACKNOWLEDGES TRUE BIRTH.

Is Son of British Army Officer—Name Is Not Dowie—He Heaped Abuse on the Elder Dowie—Gives the Newspapers a Roast—Tells of Letters—Sways Audience to Tears.

New York, Oct. 27.—In a broken voice, with tears streaming down his face, and his body shaking with emotion, John Alexander Dowie stood on the platform in Madison Square Garden before an audience of 10,000 persons, and announced that, in truth, he was not the son of John Murray Dowie of Essex, Iowa, from whom he takes his patronymic, but of a British army officer of high family, by a "Scotch marriage." He heaped villification and denunciation upon John Murray Dowie, who, he declared, had made his mother believe her marriage to Dowie's father was shameful, and the army officer, having been taken away by his relatives, his mother, in the first flush of her shame, had sought to give her son a name by marrying John Murray Dowie.

The revelation was made at the end of an hour's tirade against the press of this city, its treatment of his work and himself being styled a "conspiracy of falsehood," the reporters denounced as "yellow dogs, poisonous reptiles, who have wrecked thousands of homes and broken thousands of hearts."

He tied up to the publication of extracts of letters passing between himself and John Murray Dowie, indicating Dowie's renunciation of the latter as a parent, and which were responsible for the general overseer's partial exposition of the great secret of his life. Shouting one moment in a fit of violent rage at the newspapers, Dowie would the next moment speak in the most gentle voice of his mother and his wife. The great audience was moved by his emotion. Women wept, and at times bursts of applause greeted his declarations.

Dowie announced that just one year ago he had addressed a meeting in Chicago, in which he had told of an attempt at blackmail by a man writing from Boston, who claimed to have certain letters which had passed between himself and John Murray Dowie.

"That man wrote," said Mr. Dowie, "that the letters, if published, might cause me annoyance, and in the generosity of his heart said that for $1000 he would turn them over to me instead of a Chicago newspaper. Garbled extracts from these letters were published in a paper in this city this morning. I challenge that paper to produce the original letters which, as printed, are only misrepresented extracts, distortions and largely concoctions. They were obtained either from the man who tried to blackmail me a year ago, gotten from John Murray Dowie by him at Essex, Iowa, or else John Murray Dowie, poor, wicked man, was so far lost to shame as to sell the letters of him who he said was his son. These letters have become public either by robbery or in a much more wicked way."

Mr. Dowie was becoming greatly excited, and tramped the platform with nervous steps, his frame quivering with the intensity of his emotion.

"The best proof that John Murray Dowie was not my father," he shouted, "is that he has given up my letters to him, rebuking him for the most terrible sin a man could ever commit, in my judgment."

BANK ROBBERS CAUGHT.

The Bandits Surrender After a Hard Chase.

Burrton, Kan.—After a determined chase and a bloody battle, the bandits who looted the bank at this point were captured on an island in the Arkansas river and lodged in the Newton jail. The men give their names as James Bell, George Olsen, E. H. Johnston, Thomas White and Frank Harwood.

The bandits had only $18 in their possession when searched.

The money from the Burrton bank robbers has been found. Arthur Conley discovered burglar's tools, dynamite and the money in the grass on the island where the burglars were captured. The find was immediately turned over to the bank officials, who refuse to disclose the amount of money.

MOTORMAN FAINTED.

Then His Car Ran Away, Killed a Youth and Wrecked a Dwelling.

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 26.—Motorman Bouray fell in a faint and rolled from the platform of his car on the Chicago & Joliet electric line and the car plunged down a steep hill at a terrific rate. The only passenger, Miss Anna West-bourg, jumped and was painfully bruised. At the foot of the hill the car struck and killed Peter Sharp, aged 18, and jumped the track, crashed into and wrecked the dwelling of Charles Hollistin. Mrs. Hollistin escaped by jumping through a window.
