MONTANA SQUIBS.

Two large forest fires are burning fiercely west of Salt Lake and a force of about 50 men has been engaged in fighting the fire. It is believed that a large area of fine timber will be destroyed before the fires can be subdued.

Supervisor Koch of the forest service has telegraphed to Washington asking for an increase in the forestry force during the summer so that an adequate force will be on hand to combat the fires that are sure to visit the forests during this time of year.

The wool sales made in Billings show conclusively the wisdom of the growers who refused to accept the price offered during the beginning of the season, and by holding their clips they have profited accordingly. Prices ranged from 16½¢ to 18½¢. The price last mentioned is said to be the highest paid for wool this season in Billings.

The big clips, those of Herman Lehfeldt and ohn H. Schroeder, are not yet disposed of.

The assessed valuation of Fergus county, as reported by the assessor, is over $10,000,000, a gain of $1,000,000 over last year. Cattle show a falling off and it is expected that, with the rapid settlement, due chiefly to the coming of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Billings & Northern, the gain in this class of property will be even more marked this year.

Six woolbuyers, representing big Boston houses, are at Lewistown looking for wool; buyers and sellers can not agree as to prices. The woolgrowers insist that the best of the Judith basin clip should bring 18 cents a pound. # SUICIDE TRIED BY 11

CHINAMEN TIRE OF THE CAPTAIN'S TRYANNY.

THEIR LIFE DESCRIBED AS A LIVING HELL FOR LAST EIGHT MONTHS

Death followed mutiny Saturday on the ship Straphyre of Glasgow, when 11 of her Chinese crew, driven to desperation by the brutalities of Captain John Gunn, attempted suicide by drowning in the Erie basin, near New York, where the ship lies. Two people perished.

The Chinese's story of maltreatment is like a yarn of the olden days when the bosun's "cat" and the captain's marlinspike were more used than now to keep order before the mast. Shipped at Shanghai 11 months ago, the crew say they have not had a dollar of pay—nothing but blows and abuse since that day, their eight months' contract having expired, and they sought to leave the ship they describe as a living hell.

When the Straphyre arrived in New York and was laid up in Erie basin the trouble began. One and all of the Chinese demanded their wages and they were refused. Then they deserted. They leaped the bulwarks and, trembling with fear, ran down the wharf amid a hail of bullets from the watchman. Then the police clubs came into play and the Chinese were driven back to the vessel. Then came the Chinese consular envoys in the port. They heard their countrymen's story and they could do nothing beyond advising them to remain aboard until the courts could settle their claims.

But the 11 months of no pay and the alleged vengeance of the captain on their return drove the already desperate Chinese to madness.

As evening fell the Straphyre, with a cargo of coal for the United States warship fleet in the Pacific, started to pull out of the Erie basin for Samoa, the crisis came and from a dozen places on the lower decks the madmen leaped into the sea.

Within a minute police patrol boats and life savers were at the work of rescue. Struggling and moaning, nine of the Chinese were dragged out of the water, all trying desperately to hold their heads beneath the surface and obtain the relief they sought in death.

Two of the crew fought the police like wildcats and, though twice nearly rescued, rose loose from their captors and perished.

Of the Chinese saved, some were nearly exhausted, and as they were dragged aboard the police launch were laid out in a row, while the water was worked out of their bodies by the bluecoats. One and all declared they would sooner die than take the same trip aboard the Straphyre, and that were they forced to do so every one of the crew would destroy himself before the vessel was 24 hours at sea.

Chairman Hitchcock Giving Attention to Location.

Chairman Hitchcock is in New York city to make arrangements for the location in that city of the republican national headquarters.

After he has decided the matter of headquarters Mr. Hitchcock will go to Utica, N. Y., to visit the republican vice presidential candidate, Representative James S. Sherman. Chairman Hitchcock thus far has reached no decision regarding the personnel of the republican national executive committee.

Great Northern Must Pay.

Judge Lewis has filed in the district court his decision in the case of the state of Minnesota against the Great Northern Railroad company, in which the state sought to compel the company to pay the 4 per cent gross earnings tax under the state law of 1903.

The railway company had paid the 3 per cent gross earnings tax, but claimed it was exempt from the 4 per cent tax under an agreement with the territorial legislature of date of May 22, 1857, by which it was to pay a 2 per cent tax in lieu of all other taxes of the kind by the state. The railroad, in territorial days, was known as the Minnesota & Pacific. Since then the road has built many lines and acquired others.

Changes His Mind.

London.—Dr. William Osler, who, while professor at Johns Hopkins university had fame thrust upon him by his reported declaration that 60 years was the limit of a man's usefulness, will himself enter upon his sixtieth year Saturday. It is evident, however, that the eminent physician and instructor has no immediate intention of resorting to the chloroform bottle.
