

PREHISTORIC BONES FOUND

Skeleton Ten Feet Long Discovered in Southern Idaho Cave.
BOISE, Idaho, March 14.—Unmoved, unseen and untouched for hundreds of years and hidden in the recesses of a deep cave 25 miles north of Shoshone, Lincoln County in Southern Idaho, is the skeleton of a giant ten feet tall, evidently of prehistoric origin. It was recently discovered by a hunting party from this city.

As corroborate proof the members are now exhibiting the rusty and time-worn barrel of what appears to be an ancient gun weighing between 25 and 30 pounds, resembling a flintlock rifle. This they say was picked up beside the skeleton.

These bones will be taken out of the cave at the earliest possible date and carefully packed and forwarded to the Smithsonian Institute.

Wire Will Unite Tafts.

State Court at Lewiston.

LEWISTON.—Supreme Justices Sullivan, Stewart, Allshie and Clerk Hart of the State Supreme Court arrived in Lewiston Monday to begin a two weeks' session in the Supreme Court.

STRONG WITHOUT MEAT.

Vegetarian University Student Heads Class of Fifty-five in Strength Tests.

Edward Novak, a student at Johns Hopkins university, in Baltimore, has on a nonmeat diet won a place at the head of a class of fifty-five in the physical test, getting an average of 725 out of a possible 1,000.

Two years ago, Novak said, he became a vegetarian through reading Shelley's poems.

"I first took it up as a sort of an experiment," he said. "I was gaining flesh and did not want to become stouter. I found that by eating plenty of eggs, bread and butter, fruit and vegetables I suffered no inconvenience from hunger. I found that I was becoming more and more capable all the time, and this I attribute to my diet. Since I have been at the university I have participated in all of the sports, and I have found that I can run greater distances without feeling any ill effects than when I ate meat."

MINE VICTIMS MUMMIFIED.

Eleven Found in Cherry Works Might Have Come From Egyptian Tombs.

To the amazement of veteran mine inspectors the eleven bodies of miners since last Nov. 13 in the St. Paul mine at Cherry, Ill., and which were recently recovered from the mine were found to be almost perfectly mummified when brought to the surface.

The mummified condition was brought about by the bodies having during the three months been in a part of the mine which was dry and warm, and the bodies were going through a slow process of drying up.

"This is one of the most remarkable incidents of a disaster which has befallen a mine," declared an old mine inspector. "The mummies are in such good preservation that they might have been taken out of the ancient tombs of Egypt."

They were found with their arms stretched forward and face down.

BIG FLAG ON EAGLE ROCK.

Could Be Seen by Immigrants Before Statue of Liberty.

Patriotic organizations at Montclair, N. J., are interested in the proposition to fly a large American flag from the summit of Eagle rock, in the Eagle Rock park, adjoining Montclair. It is proposed to fly the flag from a steel pole 300 feet in height. The Essex county park commission's consent will have to be procured before the plan can be carried out.

The flag when flown from a tall pole on the lofty Eagle rock could be seen by ships entering the New York harbor and, it is asserted, would come into the view of immigrants before the statue of Liberty was sighted. It is planned to dedicate the flag with elaborate ceremony on July 4.

Appendix Six Inches Long.

A football strain is supposed to account for the fact that a vermiform appendix six inches long was recently removed in an operation on George Goss, the former Yale football guard and hammer thrower. Medical authorities at Yale believe this to be the longest appendix which was ever found. Goss received several football strains when he was at Yale and one of special severity when he tried to break the Yale strength record. He is the son of a Waterbury (Conn.) manufacturer and went recently to a sanitarium in Rochester, Minn., to have his appendix removed. The ordinary appendix is from two to two and a half inches in length.

Partridges For Rockefeller Estate.

The Hamburg-American liner Pennsylvania, which reached New York recently, brought a consignment of 1,880 partridges for John D. Rockefeller's Pocantico Hills estate, 1,000 canaries, 50 squirrels and 1,000 white mice.

In this issue will be found the first two parts of an article entitled the "Home Course in Domestic Science," containing 18 chapters, by Edith G. Charlton of the Dept. of Domestic Economy, Iowa State College.

Embracing as it does articles on the "Selection of Food," "Cuts of Meat and How to Cook Them," "the Cost of Food in Moderate Homes," etc., and coming at this time of investigation in regard to the high cost of living, this series should be interesting to every housekeeper.

Base Ball Meeting

A meeting of the base ball fans was held Tuesday evening at the City hall, about fifty being present.

The meeting was called to order by Geo. W. Hancock, as temporary chairman, with Roy Durbin as temporary secretary.

After discussion by those present in regard to the purpose of the meeting, it was decided to have a ball club at Kendrick this summer to be composed of local players exclusively and the following officers were elected: Walter McCrea, president; Roy Durbin, secretary; D. J. Rowlands, treasurer; U.S.G. Evans, manager.

The fee for membership was placed at $1.00 per month and the officers were instructed to make up an assessment list for the business men, to raise the necessary funds for the season.

We believe that if the purpose of the organization is maintained in using local players and not having any salaried men, that some good amusement can be had this coming summer and at a cost which will not be excessive.
