HAMMOND—THOMAS.

Miss Grace Hammond and Ben L. Thomas of Princeton were united in marriage Saturday, August 18th at the Presbyterian Manse in Moscow by Rev. David H. Hare. The wedding was a quiet affair, only near relatives being in attendance.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hammond of Troy, and one of Troy's most excellent and accomplished young ladies. She is widely known over the country as one of the most successful teachers, having taught for several years, and made many warm friends whose best wishes will be extended.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Thomas of Princeton. He is a forest ranger in the employ of the government. It was his intention to join the forestry expedition which left for France, but the ranks were filled by the time he made application. He is one of the drafted men from this county, and he and his bride will make their home in Princeton until he is called out. The groom is well known in Princeton and is one of the most highly esteemed young men of that community. Troy News.

Miss Hammond made a host of friends while teaching the Rimrock school here, who join in extending their best wishes.

INDISCRETION

SHE WAS A CARE-FREE GIRL—

The conventions of society never bothered her one whit. She was a sweet simple little girl, who trusted everyone, even care-free married men.

Unrestrained youth, grew into indiscreet womanhood: Thrown into a tragic compromise with a married man, with whom she plays coquette, she reaches a point in her childish ignorance, where the burning light of experience, pierces through her indiscretion.

Woven by the deft hand of a master writer, played in the chic, winsome way of dimpled Lillian Walker, this feature has a deliciously delicate appeal of a story which touches the experience of all people.

You can't help but like it.
