

GLEANINGS

Ralph Fenton was home a few days on a furlough from Mare Island, California, where he has been studying radio work in the Electrical school. He expects to be stationed on a warship when he returns and will hold the position of wireless operator. He is looking well and is enthusiastic about his work.

Don Douglas returned from the Salmon River country Saturday, where he has been on the fire patrol this summer. He has entered school here.

Mrs. Sam Callison went to Moscow Saturday morning where she will take hospital treatment. She has been putting in every spare moment with Red Cross work and much of the success of the splendid progress made here is due to her consistent efforts.

Dr. Smith and L. G. Peterson left Thursday for Sunset, Wash., where Presbytery meets the 26. Dr. Smith preaches the opening sermon, he being moderator of Presbytery.

Maud and Mable Eichner, who are spending the school term at Moscow, spent the week end with their parents on American ridge.

G. M. Lewis went to Spokane Tuesday to spend a few days transacting business.

Perry Black of Moscow was in Kendrick the first of the week looking after business interests.

W. E. Hurd, candidate on the democratic ticket for auditor of Latah county, was in Kendrick Monday meeting friends.

Dr. Rothwell had a narrow escape with his car Tuesday morning when he and Dr. Van Wert were driving up Sperry grade. One of the steering wheel connections broke which made the steering wheel useless. The car happened to be headed toward the bank and was stopped without injury to it or to the passengers.

Wallace McKeever was in Kendrick this week spending a few days' furlough with his parents. He is stationed at Bremerton Navy Yards.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Oldfield sold their residence near the school house this week to Ira Gentry. Mrs. Gentry and the children will move to Kendrick this winter so that the children will have the advantage of the school facilities here.

A. W. Wilson of the Madison Lumber Co., Lewiston, was in Kendrick the first of the week on business.

Walter Benscoter of American ridge was in Moscow the first of the week on business.

Mrs. Wm. Cain and her daughter, Phyllis, were Moscow visitors Tuesday.

It is a pretty well established fact that Ben Callison is the "spud king" of the Potlatch. He brought some Netted Gem potatoes to town this week that would do to exhibit at any fair. They were simply dug at random from the field. Constant seed selection is producing a very uniform grade from the entire patch. Mr. Callison believes in time he will raise nothing but a large grade of potatoes of uniform size.

Claud Craig and his brother harvested their bean crop from 150 acres of land and marketed it this week. They sold 955 sacks and had 20 sacks left for seed. For the 955 sacks they received a check for $11,958.95. This was the gross return from 150 acres of Potlatch soil for one year. Claud has 100 acres that he hasn't threshed from which he expects a good yield.

Deputy Sheriff John Hall was in Kendrick Thursday on business. Mr. Hall is running for the office of assessor on the democratic ticket. He states that there will be no activity in county politics until after the Liberty Loan has been put over the top, as that is the first consideration for everyone at this time.

Don and Ray Douglas, Fred Florence and Lester Crocker went to Moscow Thursday to try to enter the vocational department of the Students Army Training corps at the state university.

The two younger Kuykendall brothers of Leland went to Seattle Tuesday where they will endeavor to enlist in the navy.

No Liberty Loan Quota for the drive which starts tomorrow, has as yet been assigned to this precinct. It was reported that the quota for Latah county would be $800,000, but there is nothing official in the report.

Miss Lucile Grinolds, who has been visiting her sister at Northport, returned home Thursday.

Walter McCrea, who left some time ago for Washington, D. C. to enter a military training school, was transferred to a military academy, under control of the Government, at Marion, Alabama.

Frank Chamberlain returned to Tekoa Thursday after spending a week here on business. He expects to be here about the seventh of October with his watch repairing equipment and will work this territory a part of the time, with headquarters in Kendrick.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weber, Wednesday, a ten pound boy.

The KITCHEN CABINET

We shall be so kind in the afterwhile, But what have we been today? We shall bring to each lonely life a smile, But what have you brought today?

SUMMER SALADS.

There is but one meal a day and that is the first, when a salad is not served or we feel that the meal lacks balance.

There are so many kinds of fruits, fish, flesh, fowl and vegetables that lend themselves to salad making that none need be deprived of one to his taste.

Wedding Salad.—Serve half of a canned pear or a very ripe fresh one on heart leaves of lettuce, cover with cubes of pineapple, blanched almonds and the usual mayonnaise dressing. If a bit of color for garnish is desired a maraschino cherry is added.

Chopped young tender well-cooked beets, mixed with mayonnaise dressing that has been tinted a light pink, makes a beautiful salad, and is as good as it looks. Asparagus and string beans make a most satisfying combination, served with French dressing.

Thinly sliced crisp red radishes used as a garnish, unless some other color is used, makes a pretty salad out of simple foods. Too many colors should never be used in any dish, our artists tell us, and surely we would not mix colors, even in a salad, which were not agreeable to each other.

Veal and Chicken Salad.—Cut bits of tender chicken and veal which have been cooked and seasoned together, add chopped celery to taste, or, lacking enough, a little tender white cabbage. Let stand with a light dressing of French dressing to season and serve with a boiled dressing. A cupful of mayonnaise or boiled dressing is usually sufficient for a quart of salad.

The blanched leaves of tender dandelions with lettuce is a most valuable salad combination, good for a tonic.

Surprise Salad.—Cut in bits two cold cooked lamb chops, freed from skin and bone. Make a jelly by straining and seasoning a cupful of tomato pulp and adding an eighth of a box of gelatin. Fill small cups and when nearly firm stiff in the meat, cover well with the gelatin and chill. Unmold on lettuce leaves and serve with any desired salad dressing.
