PREFERS INDEPENDENCE TO HIGH POSITION

TWO BREEDS IN SAME FLOCK
 Crossing is Prevented by Keeping Male of One Breed One Year and Another the Next.
 (Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
 While keeping two distinct breeds of poultry in one yard without mixing the breeds seems difficult, it can be accomplished easily and with satisfactory results, as shown by the account of an experience just received from a New England poultry raiser. One of the kinds kept is a so-called egg breed, the other being a general-purpose variety of poultry. The method of preventing crossing is as follows:
 One year, roosters of the egg-laying breed are retained and used for breeding, no other males being kept. The

First Prize White Rock Cockerel.

 Following year roosters of only the general-purpose stock are kept. The difference in the color of eggs of the two breeds selected is so great that hatching eggs have always been selected with a certainty as to the breed laying them. The plan necessitates introducing new males, but the advantages of keeping the blood lines of two breeds separate outweigh the slight cost of purchasing the males. The department of agriculture points out that when this method is followed on two neighboring farms an exchange of roosters might readily be arranged.

 Cut This Out and Take It With You
 A man often forgets the exact name of the article he wishes to purchase, and as a last resort takes something else instead. That is always disappointing and unsatisfactory. The safe way is to cut this out and take it with you so as to make sure of getting Chamberlain's Tablets. You will find nothing quite so satisfactory for constipation and indigestion.—Adv.

URGE EXAMPLE OF SELF-DETERMINATION
 That friends of Irish independence in the American Congress could make a more effective impression on Great Britain by granting Philippine independence than by merely expressing sympathy with Irish aspirations is the suggestion contained in a statement issued by the Philippine Press Bureau of Washington, D. C.
 "Twice in a period of nine months," reads the statement, "the United States Senate went on record as being in sympathy with the aspirations of the Irish people for a government of their own choice."
 "Still another way for the friends of Irish independence in the American Congress to make an impressive argument would be to grant the independence that the 10,500,000 inhabitants of the Philippines have repeatedly demanded. America's own representatives in the islands have officially reported they are ready for independence and have recommended that such independence be granted."
 "We submit that the granting of Philippine independence would be likely to be accepted by Great Britain as even stronger proof of America's belief in self-determination than the passage of the Irish resolutions, because Great Britain's counselors of state could not then successfully make the point that the American Congress is asking Great Britain to do something the United States itself has been asked to do and has not done."
 "The Filipino people have confidence in the word of America and hope that now that the Senate has reiterated its sympathy with the principle of self-determination it will give Great Britain and the other powers of the world a concrete example of consistency and good faith by granting Philippine independence."
YOUNG FILIPINO WON FRENCH WAR CROSS.
 Gregorio Calles, a Filipino, recently returned to his Philippine home wearing a French uniform and a Croix de Guerre with palm. Calles in December, 1916, arrived in France and enlisted as a private. He made an excellent record as a soldier. At one time when all the officers of his company had been killed, he took command and led the men in a charge. He was decorated for this act of bravery by the French Government.

Stenographers Long Employed.
 It is not generally known that stenography as a profession was followed as long ago as the days of the Roman empire. Poets, who are sometimes ridiculed nowadays for having private stenographers, had them in the fourth century of our era.
