CHILD SAVING WORK IN ARMENIA TOLD BY AN AMERICAN

Charles V. Vickrey Gives Facts of Near East Relief Program for Orphans.

Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the Near East Relief, has returned from a trip of inspection throughout Central Europe and the Near East, and made a report to the trustees of the Near East Relief in which he covers in detail the actual work of child saving now being conducted by the great American relief organization in the Near East. Mr. Vickrey believes that "a few millions of dollars wisely expended at this time in the education of the children of the Near East, in character building and in moulding these young lives, will be worth vastly more to the world

Mr. Vickrey considers the need in the Near East and especially in Armenia greater than anywhere else in the world, because, as he says, "In the countries of Central Europe there are going governments which have merely been temporarily impoverished by war. In the Near East, on the other hand, there is no such thing as stable government. The whole fabric of the state has to be created from the beginning, and the innocent and helpless children have to be trained to the responsibilities of future citizenship. Peace in the Near East, and in great measure, throughout the world, will depend very largely on the character of the citizenship of the peoples of the Near East."

Irresistible Appeal of Orphans.

Describing the orphanage work of the Near East Relief in the Armenian Republic, Mr. Vickrey said:

"We have at Alexandropol in the Caucasus, one orphanage where there are approximately 10,000 homeless children, fatherless or motherless, many of them having no known living relative. Some of them do not even know their own names, or the place of their birth. They have shown wonderful recuperative powers, and to see them play their kindergarten or other games under the direction of our American relief workers, one could never believe that they had passed through the years of suffering that most of them have experienced since they, or their parents, were driven from their homes in Central Turkey five years ago.

"For the accommodation of these orphans there are sixty splendid stone buildings, erected as barracks for the Russian army. These buildings are now given to us by the Armenian government for a period of ten years and lend themselves admirably to relief purposes.

"This orphanage at Alexandropol is but one of the 229 orphanages that the Near East Relief is now operating in various parts of the Caucasus, Anatolia, Cilicia, Syria and the Constantinople-Strait area.

"Thirty miles from Alexandropol, at Kars, there is another group of Russian army barracks, which were given us by the Armenian government for relief purposes. I was going through the dormitories of this orphanage at Kars when the young American college girl in charge turned to me and said: 'Mr. Vickrey, it sometimes makes me feel just a little older than Methuselah to be called "Mother" by 6,000 of those Armenian children.' And that is exactly what she was—the only mother that these 6,000 Armenian children have, except as she avails herself of the organized assistance of native Armenian women, in caring for this large family.

"In the hospital at Kars I found 1,150 beds, which, the day I was there, were occupied by 1,268 patients, it frequently being necessary to put two or more children in a single bed. At Alexandropol we have in one hospital, or group of hospital buildings, 1,560 trachoma patients. At Karaklis, forty miles east of Alexandropol we have an orphanage devoted exclusively to the care and training of the blind children. At Deltjan we have another orphanage, located on a mountain side, for the care of tubercular children, this segregation being as much for the welfare of the healthy children in the orphanages as for the care of the unfortunate consumptives. At Erivan we formerly had twenty-six distinct orphanages, though they have now been reduced and consolidated to seven in number. There are something more than 8,000 orphans in the region of Harpout."

TIME NEEDED TO MANAGE PIGEONS

Good Blood First Requisite of Homing Bird That Wins Blue Ribbons.

PATIENCE QUITE NECESSARY

Distance From Home That Bird Is Taken Must Be Increased Very Gradually—Racing Is One of Most Fascinating Sports.

To Noah must be given the honor of owning the first homing pigeon of which there is written record. Although the olive tree from which Noah's dove or pigeon brought a sprig to him doubtless looked fair to the bird after the weeks of close confinement on the ark, yet that marvelous instinct for its home, which is one of the chief characteristics of the homing pigeon, brought it back once more to the boat afloat on the face of the waters. The Egyptians, Greeks and Romans all used the messenger pigeon in their days of power, and today pigeon breeding, rearing, and racing forms a pleasant and interesting recreation for many people in practically all civilized countries of the world.

Gallant War Services.

During the recent war, notwithstanding the use of telephones, wireless and all the methods of communication which modern genius has invented, pigeons played an invaluable and gallant part.

In the United States there is probably not a city which cannot boast of racing-pigeon fanciers, while clubs and associations for the advancement and enjoyment of the fascinating sport of racing the birds are being constantly formed in Eastern, Western, and to some extent in Southern cities. Lofts of homing pigeons are maintained by the United States Department of Agriculture at the government poultry farm at Beltsville, Md., and the department holds a membership in the Washington Racing Pigeon club, a branch of the American Racing Pigeon union. Many of the Washington club races flown during the past summer and fall have been won by Department of Agriculture birds, which number about 250.

Just what faculty enables the homing pigeon to return to its loft many miles away is a point of dispute among eminent homing-pigeon breeders. Some attribute it to remarkable instinct. Others maintain that this bird has sight so brilliant and powerful that it is able to see much farther than any other species, while there are some who claim that it is the extreme and strong attachment for home, coupled with a peculiar memory.

Training the Birds.

It is necessary to keep the birds in good condition with plenty of outdoor exercise, both in good and bad weather, if they are to have endurance for long flights. The young birds are usually hatched in February and March. During the time when the eggs are being incubated and the young cared for, only one of a pair is trained each day. On alternate days the other is shipped to the training station. In this way the breeding is not interfered with, and the eggs or young are never left without one or the other of the old birds.

In the beginning of the training the birds are conveyed in a basket not more than six or eight blocks from their lofts to an open spot away from buildings. The basket is faced toward the loft and the birds liberated at once. At this distance pigeon specialists advise practicing them from all points of the compass. The next step is to select the route over which it is intended to fly the birds. From half a mile the distance can be increased to 1 mile, then 5, 10, 50, 100, and 300, until the longest distance has been reached.

Fly in Clear Weather.

Clear weather should always be selected for the birds' flights, for many birds are lost during a stormy period. Then, too, good weather is especially necessary for rapid flying.

It is considered best not to be in too great haste in having the birds fly a long distance. The young birds need the time to develop their faculties, strengthen the muscles, educate the sight, and cultivate the memory and intelligence.

INVESTIGATOR INDORSES NEAR EAST RELIEF

During the Peace Conference in Paris the American Commission to Negotiate Peace, appreciating the importance of accurate, first hand information about the Armenian situation, sent Capt. Benjamin Burges Moore of the American Red Cross as head of a special mission to study and report on conditions. Captain Moore's findings as to the value of the work done by the Near East Relief form part of his official report.

"Armenians are sincerely grateful to us," Captain Moore states, "since it is no exaggeration to say that they would have disappeared as a nation had it not been for this splendid help given them by the Near East Relief and the American Food Administration. The best that sympathetic Americans can do is to continue and enlarge the present admirable work of the Near East Relief."

A Valuable Coin

One of Kendrick's citizen's is the proud owner of a Five Dollar Gold Piece, dated 1834. The coin is bright and shiny and does not show any signs of having been in circulation. It has been in the possession of the present owner for a good many years, and it is treasured because of its age. Yet, this coin will not buy one bit more than any other five dollars. If it had been placed in a bank to draw interest at four per cent, compounded semi-annually, it would be worth today $97.80.

This coin may be likened unto the parable of the talents. "To him that hath shall be given and to him that hath not shall be taken even that which he hath."
