REPORT OF PROF. ISRAEL C. RUSSELL ON ARTESIAN WELLS

Speaks of the Tammany Hollow Wells and Tells of the Artesian Possibilities that Abound in This District

Much interest is displayed in the efforts to be made by Dowd Bros. in their work of artesian well boring, and their operations will be watched by the people of Lewiston valley.

Irrigation by artesian sources, if successful, would settle once and for all the question of placing under cultivation a large amount of what is termed as dry land, in the Tammany Hollow section.

The Teller herewith presents a report of Prof. Israel C. Russell of the United States Geological survey, which was made on the "Wells in Tammany Hollow."

"In Tammany Hollow, about eight miles southeast of Lewiston and, according to aneroid measurements made by Mr. John Adams, 500 feet higher than Main street in that city, or about 1,200 feet above the sea, six drilled wells have been put down, four of which furnish flowing water and are true artesian wells. The records of these wells are somewhat indefinite, but the following data concerning them seem to be authentic.

"On the farm belonging to Charles Dowd four drill holes have been made.

The first of these was begun in 1896, and the others between that year and the summer of 1900. Well No. 1, at Mr. Dowd's house, has a diameter of 8 inches, and, as reported by Mr. Dowd, passes through the following material:

Section at Well No. 1, on Farm of Charles Dowd	Feet.
Yellowish soil, clay-like in consistency	40
Basalt, hard, mostly black, but with scoriaceous portions	170

Total depth 210

"Since this record was obtained, the writer has been informed by Mr. E. H. Libby that this well has been deepened forty feet and now has a total depth of 250 feet. There is, then, a discrepancy of thirty feet in the records obtained. At the time of the writer's visit (June 28, 1900) this well was cased, but some water rose outside the casing; within the casing water rose to a height of about twenty feet above the ground, but the full height to which it would rise in an open tube was not measured. At an elevation of about four feet

Substitutes for Lewiston: Smith, Buckingham, Holdal.

Lewiston Colors—Purple and white.

Cheney Colors—Red and white.

The greatest football game of the year will be played tomorrow at Athletic park. The above line-up shows the positions of the players. The Cheney boys were a husky looking set as they alighted from the Spokane train this afternoon, and look as if they will give the Lewiston Normal's a lively tussle. All of them are handsome specimens of manhood, which show that they have had splendid physical training.

The entire membership of the normal school were at the train to bid the Cheney boys welcome and the noise and commotion was the greatest demonstration of its kind, heard here in many a day.

The Lewiston boys under Coach Hibbard had their last practice game last night and realize that they have a hard battle before them. The weights given below show the weights of the players in the respective teams, and the Lewiston boys concede that they are outclassed as to weight, but hope to win by their swiftness but if Cheney's line proves too heavy for them they will adopt the plan of an open game and will kick their way into fame and championship.

The practice during the past week has been on these lines and the fact has been developed that we have some good kickers in the Lewiston team. L. Bashor can punt seventy yards, Davis, Noble and Russell have shown by their practice that they can easily drop kick goal from the thirty-yard line. Noble will do the kicking off.

Professor Hibbard who is coaching the team states that the game will undoubtedly be won by the team having the best technical knowledge of the game. All of the Lewiston boys are in good form and each one is confident of his ability to hold down his position in a creditable manner.

The Lewiston Normal goal has not been crossed by an inter-scholastic team this season.

The following is a record of inter-scholastic games played this season by Lewiston Normal.

October 2—Lewiston Normal, 11; Spokane High school, 0.

October 23—Lewiston Normal, 11; Spokane High school, 0.

November 7—Lewiston Normal, 15; Genesee High school, 0.

November 14—Lewiston Normal, 10; Pullman High school, 0.

The game tomorrow will decide the inter-scholastic championship for high schools and normals, and the Lewiston Normals hope to carry off the banner.

CARNACK OPENS THE DEBATE ON CUBAN BILL IN THE SENATE

Calls It a Miserable Bargain With the Protected Interests, and the Dying Groan of Republican Reciprocity

(Special Telegram to Evening Teller.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The senate was presided over today by Keene of New Jersey, in Frye's absence. Bates was relieved from committee on public health and quarantine and Morgan selected to fill the vacancy.

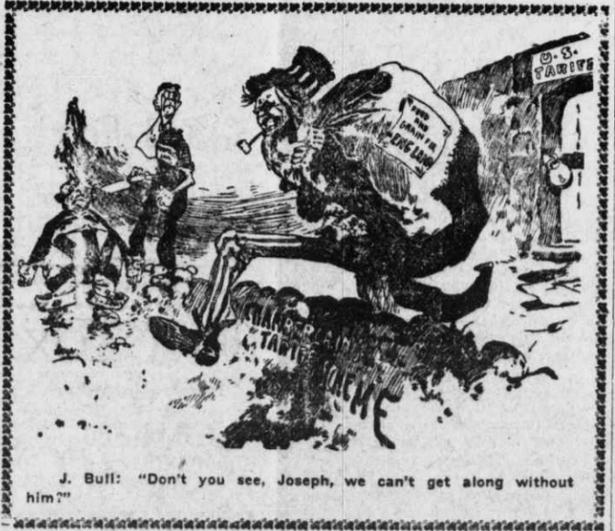

Newland's resolution inviting Cuba to join the United States was brought up and tabled. The Cuban bill came up for the regular order of business and Carnack's speech was full of sarcasm.

He declared that the Cuban bill was a miserable bargain with protected interests and a violation of solemn obligations, conceived in a spirit of hostility to true reciprocity. It was the last gasp and dying groan and death rattle of republican reciprocity and declared it the cause of exercising Christian duty without exercise of any Christian virtue.

Speaker Cannon today said that the first and second sections of the fifty eighth congress would be merged into one, as he believes the called session will last over.
