If the "versatile contributor" to the Peak should die what would become of the Peak family?

"Charity covers a multitude of sins," and likewise also does the hat upon a man who refuses aid to public benefits.

What would become of our town if energetic and liberal minded men were to lie down to mossbacks who see no philosophy in advancement.

Those who refuse to stand shoulder to shoulder with their fellowmen in inducing capital to come into our town, should not be "remembered", but "forgotten." Remember those who give of their earthly things.
