Warden Perrin Out.

Supreme Court Sustains Bagley and Gibson in their Contentions.

The supreme court has decided against Warden Perrin of the penitentiary, and he has surrendered the office to his successor, D. W. Ackley. The contention of Perrin was that two members of the state prison board had no authority to remove him and appoint his successor. Justice Stockslager dissented from the opinion of a majority of the court.

The decision did not reach the merits of the contentions of either Perrin or Kelly, regarding the alleged short comings of either.

Justice Ailshie in announcing the opinion of the court, said in part:

"In this case the only question presented by the pleadings for our consideration is, whether or not the secretary of state and attorney general, acting at the time and place as shown by the pleadings as a board of prison commissioners, were acting legally as such board. As to the question of notice Mr. Ailshie said, neither the framers of the constitution nor the members of the legislature have seen fit to make any provision for the time of holding these meetings nor the method or manner of calling them. They have required no notice, and the question arises as to whether or not the court can, by a kind of judicial legislation, require the giving of a notice, and if so, what kind of notice shall be given; what shall be the manner of service, and the time intervening between the service and the meeting, and a host of other such questions that would necessarily arise.

As to the propriety and wisdom of all the members of the board being notified of meetings, and having an opportunity to attend, there is no question—but as to the right of the court to interfere with the exercise of the judgment of the board or attempt to control their meeting, there is most serious doubt." The court under most favorable conditions, could not compel service of notice on a member absent from the state, hence for the purposes of this case no notice to the chairman of the board was necessary.

The new warden, Dan Ackley, accompanied by the court crier, George F. Kimery, the latter armed with the mandate of the supreme court, arrived at the penitentiary before 4 o'clock. The writ seemed unnecessary, as possession was immediately given, and Mr. Ackley assumed the duties of the office at once.

One of his first acts was the appointment of officers to fill the places of those discharged or resigned as follows:

Deputy warden—P. C. Bingham.
Chief clerk—Q. B. Kelly.
Guards—J. M. Smith, Frank Brassfield, D. Williams, S. Hodgkin and William Abrams.

Sunday the Idaho Falls sugar factory closed its doors after a successful run from October 3rd, to December 6th. The factory lacked 46 sacks of having 76,000 tons. There were employed inside and outside 220 men not counting the beet haulers. At the closest figure that can be obtained the factory reports that they paid out during their run a little over $301,580. This does not include the pay of the beet haulers. The sugar factory reports this has been a very prosperous year and hope to do as good or better next year.

Sam Davis of Parker was in town yesterday. He was sending teams to the Horse Shoe coal mines for his winter's coal. Like all good republicans, Mr. Davis believes in patronizing home industry.

WILL WRITE HISTORY OF IDAHO.

State Historical Society Organized at Boise for That Purpose.

A historical society has been organized at Boise and it is announced that the members are arranging to write and publish the history of Idaho. The project is a timely and necessary addition to the institutions of Idaho. All the history we now have is fragmentary, superficial and inexact. It is inadequate in that the records are made up of the scandals, failures and turbulence of the early public officials and of the outlaws and violence of a primitive country. These must necessarily have a place in authentic annals, but there must also be another side to it. Who were heroes of those days who, besides subduing the savage passions of men also brought order out of social chaos and dug and planted and built whereby the splendid civilization of today was made possible? It should be a high purpose and a patriotic duty to rescue the early name of Idaho from obscurity and ignominy and in such a memorial confer honor where honor is due.

We know that Lewis and Clark were the first white discoverers of our state and that our history begins with them. The first known settlement was by Missionary Spalding at Lapwai, who came with Whitman in 1836, accompanied only by their wives. A son was born to Spalding at Lapwai, in 1836, and in 1840, Wm Craig, the interpreter, joined the mission.

The date of the settlement of the Jesuits and French Canadians in the Coeur d'Alenes is not known and may have even anti-dated the Spalding colony. The Mormons came in 1854, settling on the Salmon river and erecting a fort called Lemhi, where they were visited by Brigham Young in 1857. They were driven out by the Indians. There are some references to Fort Hall and Fort Boise as early as 1855, but no narrative of their establishment or the events connected with them. So it all is—a virgin field, rich in material and productiveness but without a single hand as yet to bring forth its treasures. Then comes the golden era, with its wealth of fable and of fact, the state capital contest between Lewiston and Boise, the civil war, the vigilantes and the establishment of order and permanency. But it is all a white page now, upon which someone must write the story and dissipate the myths. It should be a special study to clarify and classify the gold production of the bonanza days, not only in the interest of verity but to prevent the ridiculous claims frequently made and sometimes soberly, by which Idaho has been made to produce, according to these figures, probably more gold than all the world contains.

Idaho should not be so poor in worthy deeds and mighty men that they are not worth preserving, nor so rich in them but every renowned service and great name should be fittingly honored. Being a republic, where titles and decorations are forbidden, there is no other way of handing down for the possession of other generations a great or commanding name and its works than through our written annals. Patriotic men, women and youth are entitled to some other source of pride and loyalty to the state and of veneration for the makers of its history and for the history they have made than a mere daily interest in bread-winning, in politics or in office.—Lewiston Tribune.

John Nicholson, recorder of the Temple, was served Monday evening by appointment, at 6 o'clock. His subpoena directs him to bring to Washington with him "all of the Temple records in his possession, or under his control, or of which he is custodian or over which he has any authority, pertaining to or in any manner relating to marriage ceremonies performed in the Endowment House and in the Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter day Saints in the city of Salt Lake City, Utah.—Deseret News.

Idaho Farms Beat the World.

The Idaho agricultural exhibit has been awarded the grand prize at the World's fair in St. Louis.

This means that in the estimation of an impartial jury the agricultural display from this state is the best in the universe. Idaho has thus obtained the highest award it was possible to secure for agricultural products. In making the award the jury considered the quality of the grain and grasses and the manner in which the exhibit was arranged. Thus Commissioner and Mrs. Wessels were plodding along, saving a dollar here and a dime there and eking out their little store of cash, making it go as far as they could. While other states employed expert decorators, Mrs. Wessels did her own work. With deft hand she wove the grasses into fanciful designs and fashioned beautiful creations out of the superb grains.

California and Colorado put forth their best efforts in the agricultural line but they had to fall in behind Idaho. It was hard for Minnesota and Dakotas, with their splendid reputations for wheat growing, to step aside in favor of Camas prairie and the Palouse country. New Zealand displayed some grand oats, but the Idaho product was not only heavier but of better general appearance. The Idaho alfalfa made other similar grasses look sickly by comparison.—Boise Statesman.

Burland's Cold Storage Plant.

George Whitmeyer, of Ogden, a cold storage expert, is in the city erecting a cold storage and ice house for W. H. Burland. The building is being erected near the depot, along the railroad right-of-way. The ice house will be 18x30 feet, and erected according to the most modern specifications. The cold storage will be 24x36 feet, with a capacity for two car loads of beer, and while cold in summer, will also prevent freezing in winter.

James H. Wallis and S. S. Newton of Sugar City, have been subpoenaed to appear before the Senate investigating committee at Washington. The Salt Lake Tribune alleges that Newton is living with his third wife, whom he married since the manifesto, and that he skipped to Canada to avoid appearing before the committee at its last session.

ST. ANTHONY HARNESS CO.

Will Sell for Cash Only After the First of January.

After January first, we will sell for cash only. There will be no exceptions to this rule. A cash business is more satisfactory in every way, leaves no misunderstandings, and enables us to sell cheaper than when credit is given. We manufacture our own harness, use the best material, and guarantee them to be of better quality than any sold elsewhere in the county, and we sell them for less money.

Poachers, Watch Out.

Hall Egbert, deputy game warden of Marysville, was in town Tuesday. Mr. Egbert has just returned from the Henry's Lake country where he has been investigating reports of unlawful hunting and fishing. He has some reports to make to the state game warden which he says will make interesting reading which will be published in these columns in the near future.

Singleton's Whistling Well.

E. A. Singleton of Wilford, has a whistling well that is quite wonderful. It is a bored well about 75 feet deep, from which air comes in such force as to resemble in sound, the exhaust of a locomotive under high pressure. Mr. Singleton had to bore a hole about two inches in diameter in the base of his pump to permit the air to escape. It is estimated that the pressure is about 40 pounds. The well was sunk last summer and air has unceasingly gushed forth ever since.

Mr. A. R. Kane, a prominent druggist of Baxter Springs, Kansas, says: "Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are, in my judgment, the most superior preparation of anything in use for constipation. They are sure in action and with no tendency to nauseate or gripe." For sale by all druggists.

HELP FOR FARMERS.

Secretary Wilson Issues Annual Report of Agricultural Department

In his annual report to the President, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson enumerates some of the more important features of the year's work. Among them are extensive co-operation with agricultural stations; the taking of preliminary steps to conduct feeding and breeding experiments; the war waged against the cotton boll weevil and against cattle mange; plans for education of engineers in road building; the production of a hardy orange, a hybrid of the Florida orange and the Japanese trifoliata; valuable research in successful shipping of fruit abroad; the value of nitrogen-fixing bacteria; successful introduction of plants suited to light rainfall areas; establishment of pure food standards; the extension of agricultural education in primary and secondary schools; the extension of instruction to our island possessions to enable them to supply the country with $200,000,000 worth of domestic products now imported from abroad.

In regard to the sugar beet the chief effort of the department has been to effect improvement in the seed and to study the diseases with a view to the discovery of remedies.

Bar J J Ranch Sold.

Mr. C. Spradly, who has been making surveys for the extension of the Oregon Short Line to the Yellowstone Park, last week bought the ranches of James Jessen, Will Evans and Sam Jackson on Squirrel creek, comprising 400 acres in all. Mr. Spradly secured some stock with the land, and is now a full fledged Fremont county farmer. His property joins the Highland Ranch, and the price paid for it is said to be close to $5000. It will be known as the Bar J. J. Ranch.

Sugar Factory for Nampa.

A big Colorado syndicate now has its eye on Nampa as a location for a sugar factory and word has been received that it is perfectly willing to erect a plant here, provided the farmers can show that they can raise beets in commercial quantities. For some time James A. McGee has been negotiating with Morey and Boettcher of Denver, representatives of sugar companies that have built factories all over Colorado. These are the Eaton Sugar Co., Greeley Sugar Co., Windsor Sugar Co., Longmont Sugar Co., Great Western Sugar Co. and the Fort Collins Sugar Co.

The Colorado people now want the farmers here to plant 50 acres in beets next spring, in ten 5-acre tracts, located in ten different localities, in order to thoroughly test the possibilities here, and state that they will erect a sugar factory if it is shown that beets can be raised here in a commercial way.

Mr. McGee has taken the matter up and expects to have the acreage signed up within a very short time.

There is no question but the soil and climate here are especially adapted to beet culture, which will be shown by these experiments.

Official Vote of the State.

The official count of the vote of the state gives the highest electoral vote of the Republican, Democratic and Socialist electors in the state as follows: Republican, 47,783, plurality, 29,303; Democratic, 18,480; Socialist, 4,949. Gooding received 41,877 votes, and has a plurality over all of 17,685. Heitfeldt's vote was 24,192, or 5,712 more than the highest Democratic presidential elector. The Socialist vote in Fremont was 313 a slight gain over two years ago.

The National W. C. T. U., at Philadelphia last Tuesday decided to continue agitation to unseat Senator Smoot, and for an anti-polygamy amendment.

Dissolutoin Notice.

The co-partnership heretofore existing between A. Hamilton and S. W. Laythe of Market Lake, Fremont county, Idaho, in the ranching and stock raising business, is dissolved by mutual consent. A. Hamilton retiring from the business and S. W. Laythe continuing the business.

$4,000 NET FROM FORTY ACRES.

An Instance of How Farmers Prosper in Irrigated Valleys.

The result so frequently achieved by intelligent farmers in these valleys are calculated to excite amazement in the minds of eastern agriculturalists. This is illustrated by the operations of George Duval of Nampa. Mr. Duval this year planted forty acres of potatoes. The crop is now harvested and much of it is sold and Mr. Duval states that the average yield of forty acres was 270 bushels while much of the ground yielded as high as 400 bushels per acre. The net profit from his potatoes, above all expenses, will be $4,000, or $100 per acre.

Mr. Duval bought this land less than a year ago for $100 per acre. It has therefore paid for itself from one crop, and it is now considered to be worth $150 an acre. Mr. Duval also had 2 acres in onions, which netted him $175 per acre, and had he not sold so early in the season his profits could have been much larger.

Why eastern farmers should be content to raise wheat at a profit of $10 to $15 per acre is a puzzle.—Nampa Herald.

RECTOR OF ST. LUKE'S.

Ashburnham, Ont., Testifies to the Good Qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Ashburnham, Ont., April 18, 1903.—I think it is only right that I should tell you what a wonderful effect Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has produced. The day before Easter I was so distressed with cold and cough that I did not think to be able to take any duties the next day, as my voice was almost choked with a cough. The same day I received an order from you for a bottle of your Cough Remedy. I at once procured a sample bottle and took about three doses of the medicine. To my great relief the cough and cold had completely disappeared and I was able to preach three times on Easter Day. I know that this rapid and effective cure was due to your Cough Remedy. I make this testimonial without solicitation, being thankful to have found such a Godsent remedy.

Respectfully yours,
E. A. Langfelt, M. A.,
Rector of St. Luke's Church.
