Captain Maxwell, ex-United States Marshal of Utah, is in town, looking into some mining interests in which he is interested. He likes Wood River, and may settle here.
Mr. E. Cramer, of Hailey, is the agent for J. Eberhardt, proprietor of the Santa Clara (California) Tannery—the largest on the Pacific Coast—and pays the highest prices for hides, pelts, and furs.

The TIMES map of the Wood River and Sawtooth Districts shows the distance from Hailey of every town, gulch, ravine, creek, and mountain range. The price is ridiculously low. Only 25 cents.
Major Downie, the founder of Downieville, California, will leave for that place to-morrow morning, to close up some business there, and will return here within 30 days. He says that he wishes that he had a lot or two in Hailey.

Colonel Broadhead, Superintendent of the Nellie Group, Lion, Bidwell and Beaver Extension, and other claims in the Sawtooth range, came in with his family, to-day, and went on up to Sawtooth. As soon as his family is comfortably fixed there, he will come down to Hailey, to renew acquaintance.

THE TIMES MAP.

How Localities Can be Stated by Its Aid.
We are under obligations to T. E. Picotte, of the Wood River TIMES, for a copy of his "TIMES Map" of the Wood River mining region. It is of large size and seems to cover the whole ground. Instead of having lines of latitude and longitude, it has concentric rings—like the growths one sees in trees—Hailey, the home of the TIMES, being the heart or hub. Thus it would seem that in stating the advantages of a location in that country, one would say: It has but two rings from Hailey, or three rings from Hailey; or, with a sigh, it is nine rings from Hailey, which would carry us beyond Sawtooth into the region of Lake Tahoma. The rings are each five miles in width. The map is really a very good and useful one, and the concentric plan is very good, too, though the stationary leg of the compasses was stuck into the spot which represents Hailey.—Virginia (Nev.) Enterprise.

A Lively Camp-Meeting.
J. H. Trotter, of Ogden, went up to Smith & Hale's grading camp, on the Oregon Short Line, and set up his tent with a stock of wines, liquors and cigars. Everything was lovely until Sunday, when a gang came down and tried to run the machine. Mr. Trotter very naturally objected to any such proceedings, and put the party out. In a short time they returned with reinforcements, armed with guns, knives and clubs, and began smashing things generally. They got Trotter down, but he managed to reach a spade and went for them with that. Then they began firing, one ball going over Trotter's head and another into his trunk, whereupon brother Trotter returned the fire. He had thirty minutes given him to leave the camp, and he left for American Falls, where he got the United States Marshal and returned to Smith and Hale's camp. Mr. Trotter writes that he does not expect to recover a cent's worth of property and don't know what they will do in the matter. One man was killed in the row.—Ogden Pilot.

A Mammoth Stock.
Cliff & McKay have on hand and on the way a really mammoth stock of stoves, mining supplies, and hardware of all kinds—all of which is for sale cheap.

UNITED STATES.

Discussing the Internal Revenue.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The House, in committee of the whole, devoted the entire day to a general debate on the bill to reduce internal revenue taxation. More than a dozen speeches were made, but there was little general interest manifested, as most of the members had already made up their minds how they would vote upon it.
Page, of California, Chairman of the Commerce Committee, made a speech against any reduction whatever of internal revenue taxation. Page believes in a full national course, and declares that in resisting a reduction of taxes he represents the sentiment of the people whom he represents. This brought Kelly to his feet, and he read a resolution adopted by the Forty-first Congress, upon which there were only six negative votes, the House declaring that internal revenue taxes were levied solely as a measure of war, and that when the expenses growing out of the war should have been so far reduced as to justify it, internal revenue taxes should be abolished. The Forty-second Congress, Kelly said, has passed a similar resolution, with only 25 negative votes.
Page declared that all this made no difference, and that when those resolutions were adopted Congressmen had no idea how great would be the burden imposed.

The Railroad War in Court.
DENVER, Col., June 22.—In the United States Circuit Court, to-day, Judge Hallett rendered a decision overruling the demurrer which the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company filed in answer to the bill of the Denver & New Orleans Railroad Company, and praying the Court to compel the Santa Fe Railroad to connect and pro rate with them on the Denver business, both freight and passenger, under the laws of the State, which compels all railroads to connect one with another.

The Denver & New Orleans road claims that the Santa Fe was in favor of the Denver & Rio Grande. The case will hereafter be called for hearing.

The Loss of the Escambia.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—The consular court of inquiry on the loss of the steamer Escambia, convened at the British Consul's office this morning.
Captain Purvis, of the Escambia, testified that the vessel's speed slowed without orders from him. She fell off, and she foundered in a few minutes. He knew no cause for stopping the engine. Considered the vessel in perfectly seaworthy condition, not overloaded, the ballast tanks were empty, and there were only about 40 tons of coal on deck. There was somewhat of a panic in getting out the boats. The rest of the testimony was in accordance with a previous dispatch.

The Crop Outlook in Kentucky.
LOUISVILLE, June 22.—The State Bureau of Agriculture says of the wheat crop that 11,000,000 bushels is the largest estimated crop that Kentucky has ever raised. With not less than 10 per cent more in acreage in wheat than in previous years and an assurance of an extra yield in every section of the State, it is estimated that the largest previous yield will be surpassed. This estimate cannot be far wrong. Oats are larger than last year, and the crop promises to be unusually fine. The corn crop is larger than usual, and stands better than for years.

Hearst Ahead.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—In the Democratic Convention, before the seventh ballot, a motion was made to adjourn. The Chair declared it lost. For 10 minutes the utmost confusion prevailed in an endeavor to overrule this decision. Quiet was finally restored. The ballot resulted as follows: Hearst 150, Stoneman 136, Johnson 52, Taylor 92, Berry 70. Adjourned until 9 a. m. to-morrow.

A United States Marshal Sued.
CHICAGO, June 22.—The hearing of the suit of ex-Deputy United States Marshal John Stillwell against United States Marshal Hildrap began to-day. The claim is for extra compensation, which Stillwell claims was promised him. The hearing was continued until Tuesday.

$25,000 for the Iowa Sufferers.
CHICAGO, June 22.—The committee appointed to-day by the Board of Trade to solicit subscriptions for the sufferers by the Iowa cyclone, commenced soliciting this afternoon, and have already raised above $25,000.

Another Effort to Save Guiteau.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Guiteau will be hung one week from to-morrow, and he is keenly alive to the horror of the fate that is in store for him. This morning Rev. Dr. Hicks, Mr. Reed, Dr. G. Beard, of New York, and Miss Chevalier, of Boston, Secretary of the National Society for the protection of the Insane, called upon him. Guiteau said that this lady was to present to the President a petition of many medical men, asking that sentence be suspended until an examination of his mental condition could be made. The prisoner was glad to see her.
Dr. Gooding, of the Government Insane Asylum, joined the party when at the jail, and proceeded to the White House. The party was presented to the President and Dr. Gooding, and in addition to the petition letters were filed from Dr. Gooding, Dr. Thomas Fisher, Dr. D. McAlaud, Dr. Wm. J. Morton, Dr. Hammond, and Dr. Clark Bell, of New York. The latter argued that from a legal standpoint there was no defense of the assassin on the ground of insanity.
The President listened to all that was said, but gave no ground for encouragement, and said the matter would be referred to the Attorney General.

The Bill to Stop "Jumping" by Irresponsible Parties.
WASHINGTON, June 22.—Senator Miller, to-day, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported back favorably the bill introduced by Chittcott. It provides that section 2,225 of the Revised Statutes be amended so that when a protest shall be made to any proceeding in the chapter in the General Land Office the party objecting, in case they fail to sustain the protest or objection, shall be liable to the applicant for patent, or his grantees, for all costs incurred because of such protest or objection.

To Whom Relief Subscriptions May be Sent.
WASHINGTON, June 22.—The announcement is made here that subscriptions in aid of the sufferers in Iowa will be distributed if sent to Walter Phillips, General Secretary of the American Association of the Red Cross, care of Morton Bliss, New York, or Secretary Folger, or Secretary Lyon, or Commissioner Loring, composing the Red Cross Board of Trustees.

Youthful Suicides.
CHICAGO, June 22.—An Evening Journal, Danville, Illinois, special says: "Allie Mills, aged 14; Mary Oglie, aged 17, and Mary Jones, aged 12, committed suicide this morning by taking arsenic. Allie Mills gave as a reason that her father lived with a shameless woman. Miss Oglie's reason was that she was an orphan and Mary Jones took the drug because the others did."

Congressional Nominations.
DAYTON, Ohio, June 22.—Hon. Emanuel Shoeltz, present member of Congress from the Third District, was renominated here to-day.

Council Bluffs, June 22.—Major A. R. Anderson has been nominated for Congress on the first ballot.

Marion, June 22.—Major George W. Steele has been nominated for Congress from the Eleventh District.

Destructive Wind-Storm.
INDEPENDENCE, Iowa, June 22.—A destructive wind storm visited this place to-day. The railroad depot buildings were destroyed, and in the city a large number of residences and business houses were unroofed, and some of them demolished. It was not a whirlwind, but a sweeping cyclone. The damage cannot be given.

Homeless and Destitute.
MALCOM, Iowa, June 22.—I have just returned from Northwestern Iowa and find this town in ruins, with one-fourth of the population entirely homeless and destitute. Every business man has suffered severe losses and many business houses are destroyed. None here are able to assist. Every church and public hall was destroyed. We were obliged to hold funerals in the streets. Aid will be thankfully received. Send contributions to W. E. Gould, Cashier of the Malcom Bank.
J. H. DUFFUS, Mayor.

Spliced.
GALVESTON, June 22.—The final splice in the Mexican cable has been made off Brazos Santiago, placing Galveston in direct communication with Vera Cruz, and telegraphic communication with the whole of South America.

EUROPE.

ENGLAND.

Concerning Egypt.
LONDON, June 22.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, Dilke, Under Foreign Secretary, confirmed the statement that Sir Edward Malet and M. Sienkiewicz in Egypt had been instructed to do nothing implying a recognition of the new Egyptian Ministry.
It is ascertained from official sources that there is no truth in the rumors with reference to trouble in the Cabinet in consequence of objections to intervention in Egypt. The rumors are attributed to the devices of operators in Egyptian securities on the Stock Exchange.

Searching for Lost Explorers.
LONDON, June 22.—Captain Sir George Nares, T. V. Smith, and W. Leigh Smith went to Gravesend yesterday, to bid farewell to the officers and crew of the steamer Hope, which sails to-day to assist in the search for Leigh Smith and the crew of the Exira. The Hope will first go to Hammerfest. She takes five officers and 32 men. Four of her officers belong to the Royal Navy. The Hope will take a year's provisions; also a year's provisions for the crew of the Exira.

Well Punished.
LONDON, June 22.—Advices from Sherbro Island, near Sierra Leone, dated May 21, state that the natives of Martio, having plundered a boat belonging to Bunthe Island, where the British officers are stationed, and having fired on the police who went to arrest them, the Governor of Sierra Leone proceeded to Martio with a force of 200 Blue Jackets, and inflicted a loss of 200 killed on the inhabitants.

RUSSIA.
Nihilists Arrested.
ST. PETERSBURG, June 22.—An important discovery of a Nihilists' lodging has been made on Vasila Island. Forty-nine persons were arrested, including military men and others of position. A large quantity of dynamite was seized; also, a mass of correspondence and plans of the Kremlin of Moscow.

ELECTRIC SPARKS.
The Commissioner of the General Land Office has issued a patent to C. S. Dernal, et al., for 56-100 acres of land in the Mission Dolores, Cal. Senator George will move an amendment to the River and Harbor bill, directing the Secretary of War to extend the money appropriated by the act of March 3, 1879, for the construction of the harbor of Oxford, so as to appropriate the further sum of $100,000 for the same purpose.

CON. RYAN'S DEATH.
Supposed to Have Been Murdered in Deadman's Flat.
Boise Statesman, 20th.]
For a week or ten days past dark rumors of a foul murder on the road have been afloat, and occasional doubtful hints dropped by persons in official position have kept the public on the tip-toe of expectancy ever since. Officials of Oregon, Nevada and Idaho were generally acquainted with the story of the affair in circulation, but managed to keep particulars from the general public. During the last three days a rather disconnected story of the supposed murder has reached this city through the medium of private correspondence and otherwise. The details of the affair as it is now understood make it the exact counterpart of the McDonald murder of last year on the Overland road. The supposed victim is none other than Con. Ryan, the well-known and universally respected teamster, who resided 10 miles this side of Camp McDermitt. The names of his murderers are not known, but it is thought accurate descriptions of them can readily be obtained, and that they will speedily be brought to justice. The story, as it reached the office of the Statesman, coming from different sources, is briefly as follows:

About two months ago, Con. Ryan started from Winnemucca with a splendid team of 14 animals and three wagon loads of freight for the Boise Barracks. On the way here he met with two men, whom he employed to assist him, and they accompanied him to this city. Here the freight was unloaded and the team in charge of the two men was sent ahead, for Wood River, Con. saying that he would follow on horseback and overtake the teamsters before they reached that region. In about a week Con. left this city. On arriving at Wood River he learned that his team had passed through that country, still in the hands of the two teamsters, who said they were bound for Montana. Con. hastened on their trail, overtook them in Deadman's flat, about 40 miles from Bellevue, turned them on the back track and commanded a halt for the night. That night, the story has it, was Con's last night on earth. Of course what happened—if a murder was actually committed—will never be known unless revealed by the fiends who did the work. The next day the two teamsters again turned the animals about and proceeded in the direction of Montana. But they could not keep their fearful secret, and to a party whom they met on the road they gave the first link in a strong chain of circumstantial evidence, which has been lengthening out against them. This party did not know Con.; still the teamsters, with minute exactness, told him that Con. had been suddenly attacked with a sudden illness, the nature of which they did not understand, and that he had died the evening he overtook them. The man who first heard of the death gave information of the supposed circumstances attending it to parties in Bellevue, who at once wrote to this city and to Winnemucca, and also to parties in southeastern Oregon. The whole territory through which Con. was acquainted is thoroughly aroused, and the greatest anxiety for his safety prevails. It is certain that those teamsters, if guilty of the murder of Ryan, would be given but a few moments for explanation, if caught in Nevada; and it is not probable that they will ever tell more than one story of the affair, if caught in Wood River or Montana.
Robbery could have been the only object of the murderers. Con. took a considerable sum of money with him from this city. His quiet, gentlemanly character precludes the possibility of his having quarreled with his men, and the story of the sudden death is not at all credible, for Con. was a stout, healthy man, in the prime of life and in the enjoyment of the best of rugged health. Ryan was an Odd Fellow, and a member of the Masonic order, in high standing. Not the least urgent and anxious inquiries for something certain as to the fate of the missing man come from these societies. Ryan was about 38 years of age, and a single man.
A story has since gained credence that a man named Mulverhill, who died recently in the canyon, has been confounded with Ryan. Up to this time, however, nothing has been heard of Ryan, and that he has been foully murdered seems to be the general belief.
Since the above was in type, we learn from James H. Bush, proprietor of the Central Hotel, that Con. Ryan's team was wintered on Bennett creek, 65 miles southeast of here, and was in charge of J. M. Justus, and came in here in April, and, after being shod, started for Kelton, and from there loaded for Wood River; and Ryan came up from his home near McDermitt and started for Wood River about the 20th of May to meet his team. It is possible that the first report is confounded with some other murder, and Ryan may be all right.
