

SHIPPING VS. REDUCING.

If our mine managers will estimate accurately the advantages for and against shipping ore from this section to markets a thousand miles away, it will be difficult for them to see any advantages in shipping.

There are a few mines in the Wood River districts yielding such a character of ore as to require a larger expense for treating here than is required to pay freight out and reduction at Omaha or other points where good works are established upon an extensive basis. Yet in the same mines, and all others beside, the product is chiefly free and not rebellious ores, that could be cheaply worked here if suitable mills and furnaces were constructed to reduce them successfully to bullion.

As long as the shipment of the better class of our ores continues there is little encouragement for capital being invested in such works as are required to obtain the highest percentage of the precious metals; consequently low grade ores will remain upon the dumps, or else the mines will be merely represented from year to year.

What is needed to improve matters on the river is a concurrence on the part of all mine managers and prospectors, in offering every assurance of liberal shipments to any responsible company that will erect suitable custom mills and smelters, and prove by their purchases that they will return the same price for ores here at home as are obtained for them in Omaha, Salt Lake, or San Francisco.

By the operation of such works on Wood River, hundreds of men would be employed, and their wages distributed here instead of abroad; while many mines now necessarily idle would be worked at a profit. In the absence of such works, the next best thing to do is to erect concentrating jigs upon every mine that is worked.

Butte City, Montana, prior to 1877, suffered severely from dull times, even while large shipments of the richest ores were being made to Salt Lake.

In 1877 the Walker Brothers, of Salt Lake, erected a large stamp mill for treating the silver ores at home. The Silver Bow and other mills were soon built, and two smelting works were also soon run successfully. Shipments stopped, hundreds of more men were employed at high wages, and the camp took a new start. It boomed and has been good up to the present.

A FIRE AT KETCHUM.

It is started by some Cigarette - 'moking Leads—Captain Baxter's Efficient Service with His Little Squirt Gun.

About noon yesterday the haystack in Newman's corral, in rear of Charley Adams's saloon, in Ketchum, was seen on fire. A large crowd immediately proceeded to the scene and managed to smother and confine the flames in one end of the stack until a hay knife was procured and that part of the hay that was burning could be cut from the stack, when the fire was extinguished by trampling upon it.

The corral being situated in a closely built neighborhood, there was considerable danger, for awhile, to the town of Ketchum, and nothing but the prompt action of the citizens prevented a destructive fire. Captain Paul Baxter especially, and properly, claims a great deal of credit for this lucky escape. As soon as the alarm was given, he rushed to the fire with his bucket spray-pump, and some one else coming with a pail of water, Captain Baxter turned his pump on the fire, and thus did good service. He was afterward heard to remark that if that dodgasted hay-knife hadn't been brought there he would soon have put the fire out with his squirt-gun.

The fire was started by a lighted cigarette dropped in the hay by a number of boys who were playing tag on the haystack. From this time on, it is needless to add, cigarette-smoking boys will not be allowed to play in Ketchum haystacks.

Was it Hank Vaughn?

The stage employes state that the leader of the highwaymen who, on two occasions, stopped the Kelton stage and robbed it, recently, was no other than the famed Hank Vaughn, a desperate character well known in northern Idaho and Washington Territory.

EGYPTIAN AFFAIRS.

The Porte's Distrust of Christians—Trouble Expected in Syria—How Arabi Pasha Stands With the Mussulmen.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 15.—As an indication of the spirit which animates the Porte in sending troops to Egypt, it is stated that twenty Christian medical men appointed to accompany the Egyptian expedition, who had received pay and made every preparation for departure, were stopped at the last moment and their places supplied by Mussulmen. The resolution to proclaim Arabi Pasha a rebel was reached only after a protracted discussion between the Palace clique and the Ministerial party. The Grand Vizier and the Minister of Foreign Affairs insisted upon the necessity for the proclamation and declared that war with England would be a terrible calamity for Turkey, because Russia was ready to march into Asia Minor and Austria to march on Salonica. Arabi Pasha has been invited to lay down his arms, and until a reply is received from him the proclamation will not become official.

SUEZ, Aug. 14.—The rebels in great force have taken a position immediately threatening the canal. The English Admiral has occupied the front works. He will not allow any interference whatever from De Lesseps.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 15.—Stringent orders have been sent to the Governors of Beyrout and Damascus to take exceptional care to secure public order and prevent an outbreak of the natives. Events in Egypt have greatly influenced the Syrian Mussulmen. The situation is such that a trifling incident would suffice to set the whole province ablaze.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 15.—Fires of considerable magnitude are visible today in the rear of the enemy's position.

The Mussulmen jurists, whom the Sultan frequently consults, explain that Arabi Pasha, in so far as he has disobeyed the Caliph, is a rebel, and may be unceremoniously treated as such; but in so far as he has been a defender of a Mohammedan country against the aggressive designs of Christians he has merely fulfilled the duty of a good Mussulman, and consequently the Caliph cannot make common cause with England. The Sultan may punish Arabi Pasha if some act of rebellion is proved against him, but he must not associate himself with those who wish to crush Arabi Pasha as a defender of Islam. A correspondent says this will greatly influence Turkish military action.

Glad to Meet a Gentleman.

"May I open the window for you, miss?" politely inquired a gentleman of a young lady on the Northern Pacific Road, as he saw her tugging at a sash that had not yet recovered from the preceding winter. She glared at him a moment, and gave a reluctant consent. "Folks can't be too careful who they speak to or except favors from," she remarked, after a long pause. "That is very true," replied the gentleman, quietly. "Are you a Boston drummer?" she inquired. "No, I am not," he answered. "A hotel clerk?" "No, not a hotel clerk." "I am glad of that," said she; "I never let a drummer or a hotel clerk speak to me. Maybe you're an actor?" "No, nor an actor." "That's first class!" she exclaimed, showing her dimples and becoming more and more confidential. "If an actor should speak to me I'd die. What is your business?" "I'm a barkeeper, and I'm traveling West to get a Territorial divorce from my wife," explained the gentleman. "Oh, I'm so glad!" giggled the girl. "Reach down my satchel; there's a bottle of whisky and a pack of cards in it. I'll play you an odd game of California Jack for $5 a corner! I like to meet a gentleman, and I know 'em when I see 'em. Ask that bald-headed duffer across there if he's got a corkscrew, will you."—[Drake's Travelers' Magazine.]

Murder at San Gabriel.

LOS ANGELES, August 15.—Two Spaniards named Jose Melendez and Rivas, while eating supper in a restaurant at the Mission San Gabriel, last evening, got into a dispute, when Melendez drew a revolver and fired three shots at Rivas. One ball entered his eye, another his forehead, and the third his breast, killing him instantly. The murderer is in jail.

A Lawyer Turns Murderer.

PORTLAND, Or., August 14.—At Roseburg, yesterday afternoon, T. S. Roadman, a young lawyer, shot A. J. Downer. The last shot struck him in the chin and lodged in the neck, making a probably mortal wound. The quarrel was over a game of cards.

A Whole School of Children Killed.

LONDON, August 16.—By the accidental explosion of a barrel of gunpowder in a tradesman's shop near a school house in Gordins, Russia, almost all the children, who were Jews, were killed. A large number of bodies have been taken from the ruins. The windows and doors of the church and other buildings in the neighborhood were shattered.
