Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker has this shot at Cleveland. "I know of families who have starved because the fathers went fishing. Fishing is a terrible thing." It is. It conuces to lying, buying strings of fish and swearing you caught them; exaggeration in guessing at the weight of ones that "get away," an occasional story telling as to real purposes of the trip, etc. Fishing is certainly had-sometimes-then again. It is good.-Exchange.

Oregon as a tobacco field is to be exploited at the Lewis and Clark Exposition in the agricultural exhibit of Yamhill county. The very finest strands of tobacco and hundreds of cigars made from the Oregon product are to be included in the display. President Jefferson Myers, of the Oregon State commission, received a portion of the tobacco exhibit, and smokers pronounce the product of rare quality and of fine flavor. The samples received are from the farm of William Stancell, near Amity. Mr. Stancell has 10 acres of growing tobacco and has been so successful with his crops that he believes the tobacco industry in Oregon will prove to be one of the most remunerative before many years have elapsed.-Ex.

Of the Winnie.

H. G. King is home from the Winnie mine in the Gilmore district. He reports the property is looking very well. On the 200-foot level drifting has been extended 120 feet in all. The ore body continues unbroken to the face and averages three feet thick. It extended all the way down the 200-foot incline and has been stripped a considerable distance on the surface. Mr. King does not know how long this shoot may, but anticipates it will extend at least 300 feet. There are others on the property, as shown by the outcrop.

The ore in the property averages about $30 a ton, but in sorting, a shipping product is secured that averages from $50 to $70 a ton. One lot returned a value of $80 a ton. The ore carries a heavy percentage of lead and high values in silver, with some gold. It has to pay a wagon freight of $8 and a railway freight of $4, but gets a low treatment charge, and one lot netted $30 a ton.

Mr. King intends, after determining the length of the ore shoot, to sink another 100 feet. Deeper development will be by tunnel, but he wishes to determine definitely what the trend of the ore shoot is before starting the tunnel.

The Winnie group consists of four claims, but Mr. King has some 16 others. He has done some work on the surface of several of them and they have all proved good.

The vein has recently been found across the gulch in another group of claims.

Mr. King states the Gilmore is on the same ledge. The owners of that property have just made a contract for hauling 30 tons daily to the railway.-Boise Statesman.

Mining Man in Town.

O. E. Kirkpatrick was in town the first of the week on business relating to the patenting of his valuable mining properties in Leesburg district. Mr. Kirkpatrick says mining matters are rather quiet in the Leesburg country just at present. The period of inactivity will, however be short. The Gold Dust company expect a force of expert millmen from Salt Lake soon to install a cyanide plant, the machinery for the same is now on the road.

President Van Horne, of the Bitter Root Co., is visiting the camp on Arnett creek, where a number of tests will be made prior to building the cyanide plant and mill. The Leesburg basin has in the past produced many millions in gold. Mr. Kirkpatrick predicts that the output of the quartz mines in that district in the future will equal and perhaps exceed the enormous placer yield of the pioneer days.
