GENERAL-PURPOSE SHORTHORN HERD

Recently received a very interesting letter from Dwight A. Smith, of Pocatello, Idaho, from which we learn that:

He bought a car load of the dual purpose Shorthorns from Andover, a year ago last November. There are a beautiful lot of genuine dual purpose Shorthorns. We have selected and subject to register high grades. Our herd bull is the Glenside herd, Clay Imperial 262362. Clay Imperial grandson on his dam's side of Clay 255920, and Bessie Butt, the daughter of Rose of Glen. The grandsire and dam on his side are Bell Bay 2nd and Clay. Our young herd bull is Boy 389787. He is from a long line of Tuberoses, tracing to Importer 2nd. Our registered sire of Glenside, Edgewood and on stock, coming from some of the best famous of the dual purpose breed. Our grade cattle are also of the dual purpose and have been owned by one family for three generations and have always been bred with the dual purpose in view. We have known him from childhood up. Mr. Rinehart, of the U. of I., who was the cattle at the Lemhi county fair last year, said that the imperial was the best bull of the breed he had ever seen. Of the herd he said it was the best he had ever seen. Mr. Rinehart also said we always count on what the bull would be because of the uniformity of the herd and our experience. The cows are milkers and their daughters promise of exceeding their parents.

Smith recently sold a young bull to Barringer Bros. of Creswell, while they are located on the railroad, he is good with the herd, and we are able to give our readers an idea of his excellent blood. Gem State Rural.

Prevent Forest Fires.

Obtain the cooperation of the neighbors in preventing forest fires. The department has prepared a list of rules to be observed in the woods. These rules may have a beneficial effect during the fire season.

Don't throw your match away. Be sure it is out.

Don't drop cigarette or cigar. Wait until the glow is extinguished.

Don't knock your pipe ashes out or where they will fall in leaves or other inflammable material.

Don't build a camp fire any place that is absolutely necessary.

Don't build a fire against a log, or a stump, or anywhere where soil.

Don't leave a fire until you are sure it is out; if necessary smother it with water.

Don't burn brush or refuse in the woods if there is any danger that the fire may spread beyond your control, or that the wind may carry sparks where they would start a fire.

Don't be any more careless in the woods than you are in your own home.

Don't be idle when you discover a fire in the woods; if you can't put it out yourself, get help. Where a guard, ranger, or state fire warden can be reached, call him up at the nearest telephone you can find.

Don't forget that human carelessness and negligence are the cause of more than half of the fires in this country, and that a single spark may start a conflagration that will result in loss of life and property, and the destruction of timber and other valuable property.

Don't be careless in the woods; prevent forest fires.

Salt-peter For Cabbage.

An excellent remedy for the troublesome cabbage worm, unremembered says an exchange, which usually makes the cabbage patch look quite ragged and unsightly, is an application of a liquid preparation easily made.

Take a teaspoon of salt-peter and dissolve in about six quarts of warm water, and allow to cool enough to prevent the heat from injuring the plant. Apply with a fine sprinkler or spray. It is surprising how hot water can be applied to cabbage without injury. Persons have been known to apply water that was hot enough to kill all worms, and still the plant recovered and grew into a splendid head.

The salt-peter application is not only good to kill worms, but has a stimulating effect on the plant, inducing it to a more vigorous growth than those not so treated. It seems to reach the roots and give them new life, and the plants take on a new color and soon seem to assume another appearance. It is thus doubly useful and is quite cheap. It is perfectly safe as far as there being any danger of poisoning the persons eating the cabbage.—Gem State Rural.

DECLARES LIQUOR IS NOT MEDICINE

W. K. White, pure food and drug commissioner, is in receipt of a statement forwarded to him by one of the leading drug magazines declaring the National Pharmacopoeia committee has declared that liquor is not medicine. The article is of particular interest to druggists over the state. It is also interesting in face of the test case on the mechanical and medicinal features of the stringent local option amendatory act passed by the last legislature. The statement is as follows:

"The drug store 'blind pig' in the United States is practically doomed by action taken by the National Pharmacopoeia committee. This committee, composed of 51 of the foremost physicians of the country, has decided that whiskey and brandy will not be named as drugs or medicine in the new edition of the United States Pharmacopoeia.

"This means that after January 1, 1916, when the new edition will be issued, brandy and whiskey can not legally be sold by druggists as medicine.

"After that time it will be necessary for the druggist to banish whiskey and brandy from his store or take out a retail liquor dealer's license and be classed as a saloon keeper. Instead of paying $25 federal liquor permit fee as at present, he will be compelled, if he continues to sell whiskey and brandy, to pay the much higher local rates and comply with state and municipal liquor regulations.

"The action of the Pharmacopoeia committee is recognized as a severe blow to the liquor traffic in 'dry' districts.—Capital News.

NORTHFORK NEWS.

T. H. BURBRIDGE.

David Davies came down from his mine on Sage creek last Thursday, taking stage for Salmon Friday morning.

William Lang was engaged in packing supplies up to his mine last week. He has a very promising property about 5 miles south of North Fork and on the west side of the river. Mr. Lang has been engaged in driving a tunnel to crosscut a large vein upon which he has done development work for a number of years and which show very good values. He expects to cut the vein within a few feet should the dip remain the same as in the upper tunnels. Mr. Lang is a prospector and miner of long experience in camps of California and Alaska, as well as in Idaho mines at Wood River and Gibbonsville and has a great deal of faith in the merits of the property upon which he has been engaged for so long and we wish him success.

Earl Gilbreath and party finished their surveys on the Northfork and went down the river last Wednesday to survey the claims of Henry Downing and Lucian Eby at Deadwater.

At the district school meeting held July 31 at the school house on 4th of July creek, the people of that end of the school district voted the North Fork people on the proposition of dividing the school term between the two school houses of the district,

PIONEERS ENJOY A FEAST AND RECALL THEIR YOUTH

On Friday of last week the pioneers of Lemhi county again gathered around the banquet table to enjoy the good things of life. This occasion was planned and carried out by M. M. McPherson, who invited eight of his friends and companions to come and partake of a banquet prepared and served by Mrs. Frank Kirtley. At three o'clock Messrs. E. S. Edwards, N. I. Andrews, Eli Minert, James Hockensmith, James T. Horton, James Kirtley, James Beattie and Thomas Pope followed their host into the dining room where a table fairly groaning under the good things was waiting for them. The representatives of the two local papers had the honor of being counted worthy of a part in this pleasant affair.

The dinner was served in a very informal manner and everyone felt the friendly spirit which prevailed. The menu consisted of all that heart could wish for and was well prepared and served. All the delicacies of the season were there in abundance, and more than satisfied the appetites of the jolly company. An hour of unusual pleasure was spent at this festive board; many scenes of early days were recounted, of the crossing of the plains, the discovery of gold, the Indian scares and such a fund of stories as were told.

These men, who have labored side by side for nearly fifty years, are bound together by the ties of friendships which naught but death can sever. They have each had a part in the growth and development of this county and to their courage and enterprise we can attribute many of the comforts and privileges which we enjoy today. They have earned and enjoy the respect of their fellow citizens and are still interested and working for the interests of the county which they love so well.

From memory's golden casket were brought forth pictures of events which transpired many years ago and many of the absent friends were remembered with kindly thought. Many who had a part in those stirring times have crossed the divide, while others are scattered over many states. What a contrast between the conditions as they found them in this part of Idaho and as we enjoy them today! We often wonder if it can be possible that the advancement during the next fifty years will be as great as has been since these gentlemen first cast their lot here. Though they toiled hard and endured many hardships, or what would seem hardships to us, yet we believe they realized more real enjoyment of life than we do today. They were then more on an equality so far as worldly possessions were concerned and ever ready to divide the last crust with the needy.

The genial host had spared no trouble or expense to make this occasion one long to be remembered. Editor Abbott took several pictures of the group which will be highly prized by each one as well as the absent friends. With kindly good wishes for their host and hearty appreciation of his thoughtfulness the company dispersed to their several homes wishing that there might be many more such gatherings.

The Recorder would like very much to see one day of our county fair given over to the pioneers of this county, with a good old-fashioned picnic and talks on early days. One day of every year should be set apart as Pioneer Day, and observed in a fitting manner.

"We like new friends, but we love the old. These are silver, those are gold. New made friendships, like new wine, Age will mellow and refine."

and accordingly the eight months term of school for the coming year will be held at the 4th of July school house and the North Fork children will be obliged to get along the best way they can for schooling until such time as the district can be divided and North Fork resume the original district lines that were held for years before the lapsed 4th of July district was attained. As practically two thirds of the property taxes are paid in the territory embraced by the lines of the original North Fork district the injustice of the present situation is keenly felt.

Mrs. C. B. Hovey visited Salmon Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Jack Donnelly and daughter have been visiting at the Hovey ranch the past two weeks.

H. D. Carl, of Gibbonsville, visited North Fork last Saturday.

A couple of mountain lions have been killing lambs for Hans Pederson near the head of Hughes creek lately, so the foreman, J. H. Kilbourne reports.

Haying is practically completed in this section and grain harvesting has been commenced by a number of ranchmen.

Mrs. Nellie Sullivan was visiting her mother, Mrs. Bartl, near North Fork last week.

LEADORE

Dr. Butner, of Boise, came in Friday, going to Gilmore Saturday. The doctor expects to return to Leadore in about ten days, when he will remain a few weeks with us.

The father of Mrs. James Hickman came in from Logan, Utah, Wednesday to remain with his daughter for a little while, at the ranch.

R. J. Nicholson has leased the ranch of Mrs. Jane Yearlan, where he and his sister, Miss Edna, are now living.

Miss Bertha Hoffman returned from Anacosta Friday where she had gone to be present at the wedding of a girl friend. She had an enjoyable visit, although it proved to be much too short.

K. H. Winslow and wife, and T. D. McMahan, making the territory through from Spokane, unfortunately broke two rear axles of their car, and were held in Leadore a couple of days for repairs. They will resume their journey Monday, which includes a motor trip through Yellowstone Park.

All those who fortunately have hay are haying, and all those who unfortunately have none, are fortunately able to assist those who have.

A Cadillac Eight, is snugly at home, temporarily, in Leadore. A beauty of a car it is, the owner being a Salt Lake man, who with his wife is enjoying a vacation, and is also interested in mining development work on Eight Mile.

H. A. Ericson, of Butte, came in Friday and went by team to Palsmar Saturday. Mr. Ericson is here to buy sheep to be used in his meat market in Butte, but the special bunch of wether lambs he had in view were but just sold, necessitating his looking elsewhere.

The mother of Mrs. Ralph Burr is expected in this next week from Kansas City, to spend the summer at the Burr home on Eight Mile.

The automobile travel through Leadore the last two weeks has been quite heavy, and the local shop has been swamped for repairs in consequence.

Like a hand, unexpected, unseen, stretched out from the dark to bring comfort and help, was the hand of brotherhood of the Masonic Lodge of Salmon, held out to Mrs. Hickman in her hour of bereavement. A stranger among us, with no tie of intimate relationship to turn to, the beautiful and impressive Masonic ceremony could not but bring to the grief-stricken family added comfort, helpfulness, peace.

Mrs. Edward Denny, who has been for long a patient sufferer from tubular paralysis, died at eleven o'clock Sunday morning at the home of her father, Rock Verina, east of town. The funeral will be held Monday, the services to be conducted at the home by Father Greal, of Blackfoot. Mrs. Denny has been a child, a girl, a wife and mother among us, her life being spent here, and her friends are legion. A husband and five children are bereaved by her death, and a large concourse of friends extend sympathy to those who mourn.

LEMHI LOCALS.

By Miss Georgia C. Hoigast.

Mrs. Murphree, of Salmon has charge of the store at Lemhi during the absence of her brother, L. T. Ramsey.

Solon Tobias was a Salmon business visitor for a few days last week.

Saturday afternoon this locality was visited by a heavy hail and rain storm. To what extent of damage done, it is not known.

Mrs. Jos. Grady was in Salmon several days last week, the guest of her mother, Mrs. Harry Kelly.

Mr. Downing is in this vicinity this week looking after his ranch interests here.

Mrs. Vose and Miss Ruby Wayant of Salmon are guests of Mrs. Murphree for a few days this week.

L. T. Ramsey was in Dillon and Arstread on business for a few days last week.

At this writing Thos. Fox has not improved any. His condition is very critical, and there does not seem to be any chances for recovery.

Mrs. Gaw, of Salt Lake City is a guest of Miss Edwina Yearlan for several days.

Russell Yearlan was a Salmon visitor the latter part of the week.

Dr. H. H. Scarborough, the reliable eyesight specialist, will be at the Shenon Hotel, Salmon, Tuesday and Wednesday, August 17 and 18. If your eyes or glasses need attention see him on this trip.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT AUGUST 18TH

The people of Salmon and vicinity are to have another musical treat in the near future. Mrs. Esther Allen Gaw, of Salt Lake, assisted by the Misses Edwina Yearlan and Gladys Whitwell, will give a violin recital at the Odd Fellow Temple Wednesday evening, August 18.

Mrs. Gaw is a violinist of note who has studied in Berlin at the conservatory with Gustav Hollender, and previous to that in Cleveland, Ohio with Charles Haydler and Wilson G. Smith. She has been director of the Salt Lake Woman's Orchestra of which Miss Edwina Yearlan was a member during the past winter.

During the summer Mrs. Gaw has been taking a course in the psychology of music at the University of Iowa, with Dr. Carl E. Seashore, the noted psychologist.

Lemhi county people are all interested in Miss Yearlan and Miss Whitwell, and the fact that they are to assist this accomplished lady with her concert will add much to the interest in its success. These young ladies have both spent much time and labor in the study of music and Miss Yearlan has a rich contralto voice which will be sure to please everyone who hears her.

The concert will be given on Wednesday the 18th of this month and aside from the songs which she will give, Miss Yearlan will play a part of the Bech double concerto. There will be dancing after the entertainment for those who care to remain. The price of admission is within the reach of all, and no doubt a large audience hear this talented lady and her able assistants.

TENDRY.

H. BIRD.

A horseman came here from Big Hole recently to sell a Percheron stallion. He is a good animal with a very satisfactory pedigree and he wanted $2,300 for him. Our Lemhi county people like good stock, but not many of them are foolish enough to pay three or four times what it is worth to get it even if it is good. The day has gone by of such high prices even for imported stock, as most of us know that just as good horses can be bought in the east for less than one-third the price that this man asks for his horse. There are at least ten men who get their mail at Lockport, Illinois, that raise as good horses as are in the United States, and they sell for a reasonable price. Five hundred to one thousand dollars will buy the best of horses if you go after them. We can not get too many good horses, but we don't want to pay three prices for them.

Bees are flying thick in Tendry. Someone is letting his bees swarm and fly away, I think, as I have seen and heard of seven swarms going for a new home. One swarm took possession of Mr. Lou's store for two or three days and then left for what they thought a better place. Another is in the school house, and I boxed one swarm that is now working away for dear life, and I think that they

NO SUNDAY WORK AT LYNCH'S MINE

The six days clause and that part of the Ten Commandments that refers to the Seventh day are strictly observed by the operator of one of the most unique and best paying copper concentrators operated in this part of the country, and although eth plant does not rank in the neighborhood with the largest of its kind, according to the investment it is undoubtedly one of the best paying properties being operated. The plant is owned and conducted by T. E. G. Lynch and is known as the Copper Queen mine of Lemhi county, Idaho. The mill which was started late in June is now shipping very rich concentrates of copper and gold. The last car of concentrates carried 31.72 per cent copper, 6.1 oz. of silver and $48.00 in gold per ton.

The mill is running twelve hours a day and in that time produces concentrates of the foregoing grades valued at from $300 to $300, leaving a net value above running expenses of from $5150 to $300. Mr. Lynch is to be congratulated on the earning capacity of his plant especially inasmuch as he built it against the advice of one of Butte's prominent mining engineers.

Last year before the completion of the plant Mr. Lynch was compelled to cease operations because of the effect of the war on the copper market, which was completely paralyzed and his many Dillon friends will be pleased to learn that in spite of the seeming loss of last year he now has a lucrative mining business. The building of even a small concentrator eight miles from the railroad and right up close to the continental divide is no easy task.

The Copper Queen is unique both for its very high free gold values and the fact that not a wheel turns on Sunday.—Dillon Tribune.

Presbyterian Church.

"A fair question" will be the topic for the sermon next Sunday morning, and "The Peacemakers, will be the subject next Sunday evening.

"Nothing can bring you peace but yourself; nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principles."—Emerson.

W. E. Jenkins came in last Monday from his home at Salt Lake to visit with his son, D. H. Jenkins, and family of this city. Tuesday Mr. Jenkins took his father up to the Palsmar valley to look at that part of our county.

will have to if they get enough to carry them through our long winter. When I was a boy they used to say a swarm of bees in May was worth a load of hay, a swarm in June was worth a silver spoon, a swarm in July was not worth a fly. I don't know what a swarm in August is worth, but I am afraid that I have not drawn much of a prize, but they have a home. The black birds and crows are about as thick as the bees. There are enough here to carry off a small hint of oats. The crows take a hint and leave after a few have been shot but the black birds they are stayers and don't go after you kill hundreds.

Mr. A. Denny came to Tendry Friday on a business visit. He made the music for a dance at the school house Friday night. A good attendance and pleasant time reported.

There have been several mining experts looking over the Copper Queen lately. Some one seems to be thinking of purchasing or bonding and lease. We all like to see new comers in our town, but don't like to lose the old friends that are here so we don't look with much favor on a sale of that mine.

The Tendry Live Stock Co. shipped their first lot of lambs Tuesday morning. They are a good lot just what ought to get them the top of the market. They have about three thousand to ship. Not all in this lot, four or five to ship as some are yet too young to ship.

The specker was up to Leadore Sunday and came back with all the big salmon that they could conveniently carry, one man caught six of them in half an hour. They said that the river at Leadore was full of them. We at Tendry have caught none. The water has been so high and deep that but very few have been seen here.
