

To the Women of This Community.

We are living in a day of growing influence and recognition for women and the world is better for it.

This store congratulates itself upon the increasing number of women who come here to shop for men and with men. We find their keen judgment of great benefit in selecting just the right style, the right fit, the right pattern, for the man in question.

We believe that there isn't a woman in all this community who wouldn't feel proud of any masculine member of the family who comes home, fresh as a young daisy, in one of our new suits, just arrived from the tailoring shops of A. B. Kirschbaum Co.

Remember that this is a Pony store.

James Mahaffey and daughter Marie motored to the Mahaffey ranch near Salmon Sunday.

Dick Spensley and Frank McMahon were Leadore visitors Sunday.

C. L. Allhands and Lee Wentworth made a business trip to Lemhi and vicinity last week, traveling via Overland.

Miss Barsness and Miss St. Albin of St. Paul, Minn. are in Gilmore looking for homestead locations. The weather has been rather discouraging but when we take into consideration that the whole country is experiencing a very cold spring we should make the best of it and trust that it will not drive the young ladies away.

L. F. Wentworth and family are moving into one of the new four room houses which the Townsite Co. has just remodelled.

A. L. Shears, Jimmie Shears and H. W. Parker have sold their ranches, but they advise that they are not going to leave Lemhi county, which speaks well for the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Allhands and little daughter Virginia, motored to Leadore and surrounding country Sunday, visiting several ranches. W. H. Crehan and little daughter, "Billie" came back as far as Leadore with them to spend a few days with her mother.

SHOOTS LAST ARROW AND TAKES UP PLOW HANDLE

To confer citizenship on 186 Sioux Indians, Secretary Lane recently used a new ceremonial in which the Indian applicant shot his last arrow and took up the handle of the plow.

Representing the Great White Father, Secretary Lane told the Indians the president had sent him to speak a serious and solemn word. Each chosen Indian was called from the crowd by his "white" name, handed him a bow and arrow and directed to shoot.

"You have shot your last arrow. That means that you are no longer to live the life of an Indian. You are from this day forward to live the life of a white man. But you may keep that arrow. It will be to you a symbol of your noble race and of the pride you feel that you come from the first of all Americans."

Calling the Indian again by his white name, the secretary had him take his stand by the plow and declare the necessity of labor. A purse was given in order that the wise man can save his money so that when the sun does not smile and "when the grass does not grow he will not starve." A badge of American citizenship and a flag also were given. Women were given a work bag and a purse.

Indians chosen for citizenship are given ownership to their share of their tribe's allotted lands—a step in Lane's policy of giving competent Indians full control of their affairs.

The ceremony was held at Yangton, S. D.

FORMER LEADORE WOMAN DECAPITATES HUSBAND

Robert Moore was instantly killed early Wednesday of last week at Bannack, a small town 25 miles west of Dillon, by his wife, who almost severed her husband's head from his body with an axe. Several hours later Mrs. Moore, unable to stand the nervous strain, notified neighbors of her deed and surrendered to the authorities.

The Moore's formerly lived at Leadore.

The tragedy is believed to have been the outcome of domestic quarrels, which began about a week ago, following the arrival of the Moores with a little child at Bannack. According to the woman's story, her husband was unable to find work and took to drink.

Mrs. Moore was brought to Dillon Wednesday.

SALMON LOCALS

W. H. Shoup spent the week-end mountain climbing around Ulysses.

From four to six inches of snow covered the hills and even the lower valley at North Fork Wednesday morning. There was none in Salmon.

Miss Rachel Perry, popular teacher at Ulysses, stopped at Salmon and at Leadore on her way to visit her mother, Mrs. Perry, at Pocatello this week.

W. A. True, Salmon liveryman who is at Hot Lakes, Oregon, is reported to be improving in health. His son here, who was operated on for appendicitis, is now up and around again.

N. I. Andrews returned to California on Thursday. His home for most of the year is at Los Angeles. He will revisit from time to time his old home in Salmon; in fact he has never altogether abandoned his residence here.

A traveler by automobile up Gibbonsville way on Tuesday last reports the best roads in all Lemhi county in the locality of North Fork and beyond, where they are blessing the supervisors who have the roads in charge.

Two more business changes are those of F. M. Tingley, who is moving his store to his own property at the west side of the bridge and the bottling works, which goes into the Al Smith place on Main street from the Tingley place.

The Redwine store room has been improved with new paint and fresco, new counters and tables and altogether made an attractive place for the new business of R. H. Burke, who will open up a dry goods and notions store early in June.

Mrs. Greene, who is a patient at a Portland sanitarium, is reported to have stood the journey thither very well and her condition is satisfactory. Arthur Greene, her husband, and Mrs. Ketchum, are with her in Portland.

Mrs. Kellogg, who recently sold her property on Boyle creek, has left Salmon for Moscow, where she expects to take a special post graduate course in school work. She was accompanied by her sons. Her daughter, Miss Frances Kellogg, will attend summer school at Pocatello.

When a Hereford breeder of national reputation can sell seventy-five head of cattle for $96,525, an average of $1,287 per head as was done at the McCray sale at Kentland, Indiana, Wednesday it is a pretty good indication that there is a revival of interest in cattle breeding. Incidentally it was a Montana stockman, E. L. Dana of Parkman, who paid an even $10,000 for the choice bull of the offering which is a sure sign that the best cattle are none too good for the great Northwest.

Miss Olive Taylor has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Nellie Gautier, on Fourth of July creek.
