"HOME MADE" IS BEST IF WE BELIEVE IT.

Perhaps the most serious reflection on American intelligence is the fact that from the formation of our nation to the present day we have spent nine-tenths of our time in convincing our own people that imported goods are better than those of our own manufacture.

In Great Britain and in other countries the words Home Made stand as the guarantee of excellence. With us the mystic word imported is used by every merchandiser in the land to command the higher price, and no opportunity ever is lost to convince the customer that if real worth be desired the imported article must be bought.

Neither loyalty, tariff, common sense or anything else has served to stem this tide of boosting for the foreigner at the expense of the American.

Naturally the tendency has been to cause the American manufacturer to live up or rather down to his reputation and produce in many cases goods not quite up to the standard of those that come to us from foreign lands.

The American can manufacture the best quality goods in the world, no matter what the line, if he sets himself the task, but in chinaware he knows, we think, of Limoges or Dresden; in pottery we think of Lincolnshire; in cutlery we dream only of Sheffield; our linens remind us only of Nottingham and Belfast.

Always we are told the imported article ranks first. If we had been hired, each one of us, to strangle American production, we could not have made a better job of it. We have become obsessed with the thought of foreign superiority.

If the American people will respond to the battle cry of "Home Made," and the American manufacturer will answer the call, it will give us a more constructive loyalty than ten thousand Fourth of July orations, and do more to solve our economic problems than anything one can conceive.

"The real hope of the world lies in putting as painstaking thought into the business of making as we do into other big businesses, to convince young people of the necessity of permanent family relations."—Mrs. Margaret Sanger, birth-control advocate.

"Success is made up of four ingredients—inspiration, aspiration, desperation and perspiration, and the greatest of these is perspiration."—Samuel G. Blythe, writer.

GOODELL JUDGMENT IS CUT BY HIGHER COURT

Unless Albert R. Goodell of Lemhi county remits within 30 days to the Pope-Shenon Mining company $217.25 through the district court for Lemhi county that court was instructed Friday by the supreme court to grant the mining company a new trial.

Goodell obtained a judgment of $374.15 against the mining company when he filed suit to recover wages which he alleged were due him for services rendered. The company appealed to the supreme court, which found $156.90 was all Goodell had coming to him and ordered the remainder of the judgment returned.

Goodell was employed to break down, sack and ship eight tons of ore from the company's mine and endorsed checks showing that he received pay at the rate of $5 a day until about April 8, 1919, when he left the company.

Claims Law Penalty.
In addition to pay which he says the company owes him, Goodell is claiming $150 under the law as a penalty for the alleged refusal of the company to pay him. In all there were five causes of action and the supreme court held against Goodell in all except the fifth, which was for a balance due on the sale of some personal property.

The court held that he was paid too much for the work of breaking down, sacking and shipping the ore for in addition to his own pay he made claims on the company for pay for other workmen for 17 days' time. "The testimony shows," the court says, "that this work, which was all that he was instructed to do, and all of any consequence that he did do, would not ordinarily require an efficient man's time for more than five or six days."

CHAUTAQUA CONTRACT FOR 1923 NOT DELIVERED

The chautauqua committee comprising the undersigned desires to state to the general public and more especially to the underwriters of the 1923 contract, that this contract is still in the hands of the local committee and that they have refused to deliver it to Ellison-White.

The people of Salmon and Lemhi county may be assured that their local committee regrets very much to be forced to take this drastic stand when the 1923 contract has been so generously signed, and it is their desire to fully acquaint our people with facts and circumstances leading up to this situation.

Ever since chautauqua was established in Salmon in 1917 up to and including the year 1921 Ellison-White was compelled to bring their talent into Salmon and to double back out of Salmon over a very long and expensive route in order to reach the main line of railroad serving Salmon only in this isolated section. This entailed a very heavy expense upon the part of Ellison-White, and necessarily made the Salmon contract very expensive to the local people, which by the way, was borne ungrudgingly and willingly by our people, and especially by the underwriters who for the past two years have had to dig deep into their pockets to pay the deficiency.

For the year 1922 Ellison-White wrote contracts in Challis, Mackay and Arco, thus enabling them to bring their talent on to Challis, thence to Mackay and on to Arco, making four towns to be served in this remote section of Idaho before returning their talent to the main line of railroad. This naturally would very greatly increase the revenue accruing to Ellison White from this isolated section where they are forced to leave the main line of railroad, and would not in anything like the same proportion increase their expense by taking their talent around via Challis, Mackay and Arco, over what the expense has been in years past in taking the talent out via Leadore and Gilmore.

When it was learned by the local committee that contract had been written in Challis, Mackay, and Arco by Ellison-White, it was also learned that these contracts had been written for one-third to one-half what Salmon is being charged for exactly the same talent and identical program.

These facts came to the attention of the committee after our 1923 contract had been signed, and before delivering the contract for 1923, which had been written for a $1,500 guarantee, we took the matter up with Ellison-White and requested that some concession be given Salmon upon the new arrangement, calling attention to the fact that we had to dig up to pay a deficiency for the past two years under our very high guarantee of $1500, and they flatly refuse to give us any concession, and are now demanding that the 1923 contract be delivered to them for the reason that it has already been signed.

Ellison-White makes an attempt to justify their actions in writing contracts in Challis, Mackay and Arco for one-third to one-half what they are charging us upon the ground that when they entered the field comprising these towns that another chautauqua association was operating in these towns and that they made the low guarantee price to these towns in order to run the other association out. Ellison-White are now making threats against our local committee for refusing to deliver our 1923 contract, and claiming that we are exceeding our authority in holding it up after it has been duly signed. The committee feels that they are serving the interests of our community in refusing to deliver this contract in view of the gross injustice discovered in the Ellison-White contracts, and they shall continue to stand thus.

SANTA CLAUS ARRESTED
Down in N.Y. they arrested Santa Claus some days ago for obstructing traffic, the unpardonable sin in New York. Murderers, thugs, bootleggers too, go along on their way unmolested the greater part of the time, but if you obstruct traffic somebody's going to get pinched.

It seems Santa was entertaining a few thousand children—and didn't have a permit. A traffic cop, who seemed not have any peace on earth or good will toward men, or children, gathered old Santa in and took him to the police station. Hard on their heels to the police station there followed from five to ten thousand children, with tears streaming down their faces and several hundred telling the policeman just what they thought of him in that plain and simple manner characteristic to the New York youth. They crowded into the police station, forgetting all about school and other duties, and—the case was dismissed and Santa advised to "get a permit."

A Salvation Army girl was arrested on a similar charge some weeks ago, with a similar result. New York is getting up to date, indeed.
