HOG PRICES TAKE AN UPWARD TURN

Opening Saturday Morning at Thirty Cents per Hundred Above the Friday Close

Chicago, Dec. 10—The hog market at the Union Stock yards jumped almost out of sight today and it is declared that pork will go to a higher figure. The market opened up 39 cents higher than it closed Friday, and the big packers were buying frantically.

The jump today means that hogs were two weeks ago and that unless more hogs begin coming into the big packing centers of the country in a short time the market will go much higher. Wise buyers at the yards declared today that hogs might go to $9.

It is said that the packers and buyers have just awakened to the fact that the country is not full of hogs, as has been confidently supposed, and that there is nowhere near the supply that there should be.

Armour and Swift were the heavy buyers today and they did not seem to care how much they had to pay for hogs just so they got hold of enough of them to keep their killing departments busy. Most of them they bought in the cars and rushed to the killing pens as fast as possible. Meanwhile pork on the butchers' block was moving up right along with the hog market, and butchers were predicting that pork would be as expensive as beefsteak, unless something happened to change the high prices.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Ireland of Pocatello have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ethelinda Ireland, to Dr. Frank Marion Sprague of Seattle. The wedding will occur shortly after Christmas. Miss Ireland is one of the most deservedly popular young women in Pocatello. She is the youngest daughter of one of Pocatello's earliest pioneer families. Dr. Sprague, following his graduation from Jefferson Medical college at Philadelphia, practiced his profession successfully for nearly two years in Pocatello, removing this summer to Seattle into a broader field. He has uncountable friends who join the Tribune in congratulating him in winning so charming a young woman as Miss Ireland.
