BLACKFOOT WINS 3RD GAME SUNDAY

Idaho Falls and Blackfoot Play Game of Eleven Innings Before Deciding Score is Made

Last Sunday's base ball game between Idaho Falls and Blackfoot on the Blackfoot diamond added one more count for Blackfoot, toward the winning of the championship of the Yellowstone Base Ball league for the present season. In this game it was necessary to play eleven innings to make a decision, and the final score stood four to five in favor of the home team.

In the first inning Idaho Falls made three scores and Blackfoot two and it looked at this time like the game was going to be nothing but strike and run home. But in the next inning both sides tightened up, and no more scores were made except the one by Howard of Blackfoot, which tied the game. During the third and fourth innings no scores were made, fifth, the visitors scored again, and the home team again tied the game in the sixth. Then during the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth innings neither team scored, but in the eleventh Thompson gave the home team the score which won the game.

According to the gate receipts the attendance was 605, which shows that local people are behind their ball team. Now that Blackfoot has an excellent chance to win the championship, the interest will no doubt be greater than ever.

RABGAIN DAY A SUCCESS.

Bargain Day, Saturday, proved a wonderful success, both for the merchants of Blackfoot and the buying public. The farmers and townspeople were enabled to make some wonderful purchases of articles which are necessities of life, and it enabled the merchants to get acquainted with many people with whom they had not been doing much business.

Crowds of people thronged the stores all day, and it is believed that a frequent repetition of this event will lead to a better understanding between the farmers and business men.

HONOR HEROES MAY 30.

On May 30, uniting in a splendid spirit of brotherhood, the allied nations will pay reverence to the heroes of the world's war. America's Decoration Day has been chosen by the Interallied Veterans as the day to pay homage to the dead. The cemeteries in France will be thronged by a reverend multitude of men, women and children, these little French children who remember our boys.

There will be a national demonstration on that day in honor of the men to whom we all owe so much. Mrs. Alfred Budge, Idaho Chairman, for the day's observance, requests that on May 30 everyone wear the poppy which the American Legion adopted at its last national convention as its memorial flower, "the poppy of Flanders fields—the little red poppy of France—that grows wild everywhere in France."

"Through the cooperation of the American Legion, replicas of the real poppies will be offered for sale to be worn on Memorial and Poppy Day," says Mrs. Budge. "The real poppies are too fragile to be transported, but the American and French Children's League has arranged the best substitute for the real flower, which is the poppy made by the women of France who knew our boys, by the people who loved them, by the people who now live in the very places where Americans best fought and won and where so many sleep. The profits from the sale of the poppies will go to the relief of children in devastated France. Memorial Day poppies will be offered at 10 cent each, or more as one feels generously inclined."

The State Chairman's appeal for the day's observance continues: "We cannot go to Flanders fields, but we can all wear an outward sign in memory of our men so that the citizens of our state will take full part in the national demonstration of reverence and admiration for the men who served in 1917-18, bringing glory to the flag and honor to the country."

"Every true American, man, woman and child, should consider it a sacred obligation to wear the bright red poppy on that day. The American Legion in choosing the poppy of Flanders fields as the memorial flower to be worn on May 30, has requested that the emblem be not

"Be strong and of good courage, fear not, neither be dismayed."

Idaho has completed her stay in the wilderness, the desert, and like the Children of Israel is stepping into the promised land. Yet the people who have brought it so far in development and progress, will, like Moses, step aside and others will, must, carry on the work. At present there are about 1600 graduates each year in the state. These graduates must become the leaders of the coming generation. Recently, attention has been called to the work of acknowledged experts. In the American army in the recent war, examination was made and found that 15 per cent of the soldiers ranked in the A and B rank of natural intelligence. The same examination was made of college freshmen, and 75 per cent of the intelligents ranked in A and B. About 139 of every 1000 children get through high school. One person in six has the quality of leadership. High schools and colleges hold the potential leadership of the nation. It is our duty to see that these potential leaders get all the training possible. The plane of intelligence is far higher today than it used to be. All honor to the self-made man; but in the coming generations a man will need a great deal of making.

One must consecrate one's self and get a realization of the task that lies before him. Today it is not the fashion to consecrate anything, to reverence anything. The tendency is to affect and sort of scorn the labor and work, to belittle studying, digging and plodding. The essential point is to get "the vision." Many often are blind to the "vision of a business." To prepare for any business is desperately hard. The will to do; how little it takes to keep some busy. The necessity is to throw one's self into the work, any work. The leaders in the social and political turmoil of today, and of tomorrow, in our nation, must put one's self in one's work.

The ability to get along with people is very necessary. What we need is the old fashioned loyalty, the reverence, the willingness, to play the game of life on highest ideals.

Probably the schools and colleges hold the key to this loyalty. Loyal to traditions, to school, to team, to all that cooperates and develops human nature and destroys selfishness.

A generation is to be made, a promised land is to be won. It is up to the older generation to see them properly trained, equipped for the battle of life. It is up to them to give themselves, furnish the willingness to do, to work, to give the stuff, the brain, the vision, the willingness, be loyal. We realize that a new generation lies before us to carry us into the promised land.

commercialized—therefore the flowers were made in the very places where the boys fought.

"Let the school children hear of the deeds of heroism of our soldiers and ask them, as future citizens, to pay homage to the gold star heroes. They crossed the seas, they went to France, to fight, to die, so that we of America would never know the horrors of war at home. Untainted by love of gain, solely for the love of liberty and humanity, they kept up the noblest traditions of American history."

"Let us all therefore, on May 30 pay our tribute of respect and admiration for America's soldiers who served in the late war, not forgetting of course our heroes of former conflicts. And let the emblem of that respect be a replica of the real poppy that was made in France."

Memorial Day

*I have a lover in the fields of France,
Where larks still sing and scarlet poppies wave.
There let him lie---I ask not his return
That my poor grief may tend a lonely grave.*

*There let him lie, among his comrades all,
In the world's common sepulchre and shrine;
The trysting-place of every nation's heart;
And let the common sorrow hallow mine.*

*But let me plant beside his resting-place,
Where fleur-de-lis and scarlet poppies nod,
A bit of beauty from his native land—
The yellow glory of our golden-rod.*

There Belgium's bloom and Italy's fragrance blend

There shamrock buds and purple heather grows;

*There the fair lilies of the fields of France
Grow side by side with England's beautiful rose.*

*There with the whispering fragrances and the pines,
With cypress black and fragrant laurel bloom,
The evening winds with gentle rapture blend
The breath of wattle and the southern broom.*

*O ask me not to take my love away---
We should be lonely for the fields of France.*

STOCK RANGES IN ARCTIC REGIONS

Noted Explorer Says Northland Could Solve Meat Problem of World—Reindeer and Caribou Abound.

The so-called frozen Northland, according to Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the noted explorer who is to lecture here on the second evening of the Chautauqua, is in reality a boundless stock range capable of raising herds that will feed the world. The barren tundras, according to Mr. Stefansson, reach out in limitless direction and may be had for the taking. The stock that graze on them, the reindeer and the caribou, need no barns nor haystacks. The reindeer provides for itself. Protected from the northern wolf, it could be raised in unlimited hundreds of thousands, sufficient to feed the meat-eating world.

This was one of the theories of the Northland which was upset by Mr. Stefansson during his five great years spent in the Arctic. Instead of finding a bleak, barren country, he discovered a land with plenty of food for the traveler, provided the traveler learns how to obtain it. He found a land of first class ranges, rather than an eternal desolation of snow and ice. He found a land rich in possibilities for future development along food-producing lines. In his great illustrated lecture, "My Five Years in the Arctic," Mr. Stefansson explodes many of the old theories of life and vegetation in the polar circles.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Court opened Monday morning, May 23rd. Of the seven criminal cases on the calendar, it was only necessary to try one case, that is the case of the state vs. Louie Sayko, in which the defendant is charged with marrying another man's wife. This case was opened yesterday, and at the time of going to press had not progressed far enough to be reported.

T. Morikawa, who was charged with unlawful possession of liquor, was bound over to the district court some time ago, under bail of $500. When court opened and his case was called the defendant failed to appear and his bail was declared forfeited by the court. The $500 will go into the county treasury.

Wm. John and Wm. Hutchinson, charged with unlawful possession of liquor, both pleaded guilty and will receive their sentences in a few days.

Frank Harris, charged with grand larceny, being accused of stealing a saddle, horse, etc., pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the state penitentiary for a term of from one to fourteen years. He is a young man who apparently had started out in life to make his living in this way.

John Lyon, charged with burglarizing the hardware store of the Boise Payette lumber company at Shelley, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the state penitentiary for a term of from one to fourteen years.

A. L. Olt, charged with lewd cohabitation, pleaded guilty and was fined by the court.

TABERNACLE IS DEDICATED SUNDAY

Thousands Gather at Blackfoot to Attend Conference and Witness Dedication of New Tabernacle.

The regular quarterly conference of the Blackfoot stake was held in the new tabernacle May 21 and 22, 1921. The attendance far exceeded that of any conference in the history of the stake, notwithstanding the fact that the stake has been divided twice and the present Blackfoot stake represents only a portion of the original Blackfoot stake. There were 2343 present at the Sunday afternoon session and most all of them were seated.

President Heber J. Grant, who presides over the church in all the world, and President Charles H. Hart, of the first council of Seventy, were in attendance and were the principal speakers. Presidents Mark Austin and Nathan Heber of the Fremont stake, and Reber C. Austin and Charles W. Hansen of the Bingham stake were also in attendance and addressed the conference. The Lost River stake was represented by Elder Parley P. Black.

President James Backworth presided over the conference under the direction of President Grant and was assisted by Counsellors Heber C. C. Rich and Nefear Davis.

Every ward and branch of the stake was well represented and the message of the conference will be carried home to those who could not attend. We were also glad to note the presence of many of our friends who are not of our faith and we hope they will come again.

During the Sunday afternoon session President Grant dedicated the beautiful tabernacle to the Lord and this together with the visit to our stake by the President of the church will be an interesting bit of stake history which will long be remembered.

Much timely counsel and encouragement was given by the various speakers, considerable credit was given the people for the manner in which they had builded the tabernacle and paid for it in so short a time, even while prices and labor have been so high. Appreciation was also expressed for the manner in which the contractor, Mr. E. M. Anderson had given attention to every detail.

The Saints were urged to learn and live the gospel of Jesus Christ, as taught by the written and spoken word of God, and thereby be leaders unto salvation.

The stake choir furnished the singing, H. Andrew Benson, conducting.

Luncheon was served in the social hall during the noon hour of both days, so that people from a distance would not have to drive away to dinner. This gave opportunity for a get-acquainted hand shake.

Saturday night a pageant, representing early incidents in church history, was given under the direction of the Y. M. & Y. L. M. I. A. officers. It proved to be quite interesting as well as educational, and much credit is due those directing and also those who took part.

GEO. H. CLARK,
Stake Clerk.

DONATE STOCK IN FAIR ASSOCIATION TO COUNTY

A good number of stock holders in the Bingham County Fair association having already donated their stock to Bingham county, the county agreeing to take care of and improve the grounds, and a good number more having signified their willingness to do the same, Mr. H. A. Benson, secretary of the association, is this week mailing to each of the stock holders a copy of the letter which is printed below:

To Subscribers for Stock in the Bingham County Fair.
Dear Sir: As you are no doubt aware, during the year 1920 a contract was entered into with the Commissioners of Bingham county whereby the fair grounds and buildings became the property of Bingham County, the commissioners agreeing in the contract to pay to the Bingham Co. Fair in two annual installments the amount of the stock subscriptions which approximates a little over $10,000. Said payments to be made December 31st, 1921 and December 31st, 1922.

The proposition has been made and approved by numerous subscribers for stock in the Fair association that all subscribers be asked to donate their stock and not ask for repayment of same in the two annual installments mentioned above. This would place at the disposal of the fair grounds committee now in charge, about five thousand dollars this year and the same amount for 1922 to make much needed improvements on the grounds.

This will be used in improving the fair grounds, particularly the southwest corner which will be leveled and seeded to grass, and also building a new iron fence between the city park and the fair grounds such as we have on the east side of the fair grounds.

Thanking you in anticipation of a favorable reply in the matter, we are
Yours very truly,
Southeastern Idaho Fair Board.

WILL PUBLISH MAGAZINE.

Pierce Egan, of this city, has announced that the first number of his monthly magazine, the "Iconoclast," will appear about June first, or soon thereafter. His announcement says that some people will not like it and that all the people will read it. Mr. Egan has published several newspapers, including one daily, and we know that he can put "punch" into his writings. All things considered, we are of the opinion that the Iconoclast will be an interesting publication, and wish for it a host of friends and supporters from the very start.
