Worry—A Moral.

There was a man who worried because he feared he would die before he could make adequate provision for the future of his wife, to whom he was passionately attached. He carried his worry with him night and day. It made him so melancholy and irritable that his wife, unable to bear his sad, dull company any longer, ran away with another man, and he never saw her again! Worry often does things like that!

Suspense.

The moving picture audience was watching a bathing beauty scene, and stood it pretty well. A five-year-old girl was also watching and stood it about as long as she could. "Say, mother," she piped in a voice heard all over the theater, "when are they going to put their nighties on?"—Film Fun.

Swiss Have Right Idea.

The indigent unemployed of Switzerland are dealt with as an economic question. The Swiss act on the theory that a man who is unemployed is, if left to himself, prone to become unemployable, and that for a community to permit any one of its members who is capable of work to remain unemployed is a public waste.

ONE OF 25 MOST BRILLIANT MINDS IN UNITED STATES

Once a lumberjack, a long-storeman and a jack-of-all-trades, Michael J. Nolan has been said by a college professor to have "one of the 25 most brilliant minds in the country." Today he is studying engineering at the University of Washington, having been sent as a wounded veteran by the federal board for vocational training. His previous schooling consisted of passing seven grades in Irish grammar schools. And here's what he's done: Qualified as an expert bacteriologist, six weeks after entering a hospital as a patient; scored 100 per cent in the U. S. navy intelligence test; scored 211 out of a possible 212 in the army Alpha intelligence test, requiring but 14 of the allotted 17 minutes and scoring to check his answers; answered all of Edison's questions but four.

If She Tries to.

Life is never monotonous to the woman who can afford to keep help. —Boston Transcript.

Explaining "White Light." "White light" has been a rather indefinite standard. The light of oil and gas flames and filament electric lamps is yellow, becoming paler with rise in temperature, and it is assumed that a certain high degree would yield white, passing to blue, with greater heat. United States bureau of standards experimenters conclude that the sensation of white would be produced by a light of 5,200 degrees C. absolute; also that the average noon sun at Washington is approximately white—neither yellow nor blue.
