WORK AT THE MINT.
Important Improvements in the Coinage Department.

The increased demand for subsidiary coin caused by the partial resumption of specie payments, and the heavy coinage of trade dollars, have necessitated the employment of all the resources of the San Francisco Mint, and would have demanded additional machinery and probably additional accommodation—something not likely to be obtained under the reduced appropriation—had not Coiner Frank X. Cicott adopted certain improvements of his own contrivance.
The results are highly satisfactory. Under the old process the ingots passed through the rolling mills from nine to thirteen times before being reduced to the proper thickness for the die punch.
The heavy pressure to which these strips were subjected made it incumbent upon the Coiner to have them annealed twice to soften the metal before the proper thickness was attained, and they had again to be annealed when they were finished. Under Mr. Cicott's process the ingots are passed through the rolling mill at a lessened pressure from fourteen to eighteen times, according to the quality of the metal. By this manner the necessity of annealing is obviated, and the strips come out in better shape. The advantage in the annealing room is now apparent. Formerly two canisters were used for each "melt," and the strips of silver were allowed to remain in the annealing room for thirty minutes each time. The new canisters are enlarged to hold an entire melt, and are subjected to the heat of a slow fire for about three-quarters of an hour. By this process the annealing is more thorough and equal than by the old one. The canisters can also be worked to better advantage, and the number of condemned planchets is much less. In the whitening room, where the strips are taken after being annealed, the improvement is also felt.
The "blanks" thus prepared whiten very rapidly, and with little loss, not being subject to warping. The saving in fuel and in the wear and tear on the furnaces are important items. By the adoption of Mr. Cicott's improvements the work of building additional furnaces has been obviated, and it will save the expense that would otherwise have been incurred in remodeling the interior of the building.
The work of the Mint has been increased from thirty to fifty per cent by the new process. Under the old regime the capacity of the Mint was only $500,- 000 a month, but since the 1st of January, when the new process went into operation, Mr. Cicott has been enabled to turn out from $850,000 to $1,000,000 a month, which result has been reached without increasing the working force.
Mr. Cicott has been aided by General L. Grange, the Superintendent. Dr.
Linderman, the Mint Director, has ordered the Cicott improvement to be introduced in the Mints at Philadelphia, Carson and other places.—[San Francisco Call.]

The Virginia Chronicle says: The members of the Virginia section of the Legislature make anything but complimentary allusions to the Carson landlords. A Storey county Senator was holding forth the other day, and spoke in about the following terms: "They just made a careful inventory of a man's salary and gauged their bills accordingly.
Whenever a cocktail was sent up to a room they charged the whole floor with a gallon of whiskey to each room. Why they had one lady—a strict temperance woman—charged with twelve gallons of old Bourbon. Every time I looked at a plate of cole-slaw they charged me $30 a month for fires, and there wasn't a stove or fireplaces in the room. A man who slept on the floor was charged the same as a man with a bedstead and spring mattress. Next time the Legislature meets I expect to run a hotel of my own down there, after which I reckon I'll buy Leland Stanford's house in San Francisco and pass the balance of my days in elegant leisure."

Sacramento Bee: A Lusus naturae, in the shape of a combination of pig and other animals has been discovered by Hamilton & Powell. By parentage the thing should be pig, but it has an elephant's trunk, the feet of a dromedary, elephant's ears, skin without hair, except a little goat's under the chin, and where the eyes should be and in the space between protrude a substance that looks like the nut of a buckeye. Such a combination of vegetable and different animals was too much for one creature, and the creature only lives or is preserved in alcohol.

SAFETY ENVELOPES.—Much has recently been said about tampering with letters.
To avoid this calamity a safety envelope has been invented. On the flap of the envelope the words "Attempt to open" are printed with a double set of chemicals, the first impression containing nut-galls and the second green vitriol. If the flap be steamed or moistened in any way the magic printing will appear, to betray the attempt to open.

A FIGURATIVE TRICK.

The Magus who performs this trick selects a suitable melancholy victim, and proposes to give the added total of five rows of figures of any size possible, after but one of those rows are placed on paper. The victim puts down such a row, and the Magus immediately writes the total, leaving an intervening space for the other four rows, which are put down alternately by the other two persons, apparently at hap-hazard, yet the total is always absolutely correct. I will illustrate the modus operandi as follows: A exhibits the trick, and B is the unfortunate victim. B writes down, say, 3,277. A immediately states the added total of this, with the four yet unknown rows, as 23,275. B then exerts his massive intellect, and evolves from its depths the figures 1,365, and places them beneath his first row. A then adds, as row No. 3, 8,634. B again writes down 5,849, and A finishes the agony by putting down as the last row 4,510—and the answer is correct. The rows may contain any number of figures, provided each row has an equal number with its predecessor.

The explanation of this is simple as rolling off a four-story log. To get the total, simply deduct 2 from the last figure in the line, and place it (the figure 2) before the first; and, to fill up the intervening four lines, put down figures large enough to make each of your opponent's preceding figures in rows 2 and 2. Put down the figures given as an illustration, and a little study will make it very easy for the reader to understand, not only "how to do it," but "the reason why" as well.

OIL CITY, Pa., March 6.—William Harper, of Forest City, has just returned from California with $36,000, being the principal and interest of a sum that was stolen from him—11 and two others twelve years ago. About the first of February last the friends of Harper in Philadelphia forwarded him a letter addressed to an old firm and post marked San Francisco.
This letter was from their absconding agent, E. C. Martin. He was in San Francisco and wrote that he desired to refund the money he had taken, and he would do so if he was given immunity from prosecution. Harper started for California as soon as possible, and met Martin. He had elegant apartments at an aristocratic boarding-house, and his mistress, Mrs. Warren, was still with him, and met Harper resplendent in jewels. Martin said he had at once sailed for Peru when he abandoned, and had engaged in opening silver mines for a share in them. The product he claimed to be worth $2,000,000. He was in California on business and intended to return to Peru. He paid over to Harper the amount stated above, and said he provided for the family he left in Baltimore. They had gone to England, where his wife's parents live.

Officer Mooney arrived in at one o'clock, the other morning, with a young man in irons, and a female, whom he introduced to the City Prison. He had been called in at the residence of H.
Pryor, No. 1554 Post street, to take charge of a stranger. The inmates had heard unusual noises and sounds of revelry in the kitchen, and on making a sortie, discovered the servant girl and a male visitor holding high jinks low down in the basement. The party was a convivial one. The officer did not know but he had a first class burglar. He certainly had a second-class drunk, and this charge was put against both the young man and woman. She declared he was her cousin, at which he laughed, and asked her to watch her cousin get locked up.—[San Francisco Alta.]

At the old fort at St. Augustine, Florida, there are confined some sixty or seventy hostile Indians of various tribes.
Instead of the conventional striped convict suits, however, they are clad in United States uniforms, and for handcuffs carry muskets with bayonets attached. In short, they garrison the fort in which they are confined. Imagine an aboriginal corporal giving the countersign, or a soldier on guard given strict instructions to fire on himself in case he should attempt to escape.

Father Henson, said to be the Uncle Tom of Mrs. Stowe's story, made a profitable venture in his trip to England.
It was announced at his last meeting previously to returning to America that the English subscriptions to provide for his old age amounted to $6,500. Father Henson is eighty-eight years old.

"Did I not give you a flogging the other day?" said a schoolmaster to a trembling boy. "Yes, sir," answered the boy. "Well, what do the Scriptures say upon the subject?" "I don't know," said the boy, "except it is in that passage which says 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"

He had been in the habit of making very frequent calls on a very agreeable young lady of his acquaintance, and, on entering her parlor one evening, he said, "Well, Miss Sims, here I am again, you see, as regularly as the fever and ague."
"Oh, no," said she, very demurely, "that comes only every other day."

"The smallest hair," says an exchange, "casts a shadow." So it does, and especially over a boarding-house breakfast table, when one is found in a butter dish.

On a woman with red hair, who wrote poetry:
"Unfortunate woman! How sad is your lot!
Your ringlets are red—your poems are not."

THE ROSICRUCIAN WERE A SECT OF Philosophers who flourished in Germany during the seventeenth century, and prosecuted profound researches into Natural Science and Occult Philosophy, and sought to discover the ELIXIR OF LIFE.
Although some superstition may have been developed among them and other Alchemists in search for the Elixir of Life, yet there is scientific truth at the bottom of all Alchemy and Astrology.
They were impressed with the aptitudes of HERBAL PREPARAT JNS, And found dynamic and psychologic force in the extract of certain plants.
Is due to the researches of a learned scholar of Europe among the archives of the Rosicrucians.
It is made of TWENTY DIFFERENT HERBS, Gathered at such seasons of the year when their juices are strongest and virtues unimpaired, forming a combination unrivaled in the mater medical.
Is an enemy to all corruption; it assists and fortifies Nature. Its manner of operation is to Drive to the Extreme Parts And through the pores of the skin and all emanations of the body, the bad humors which moist it, giving relief even in diseases the most refractory and difficult to cure, such as Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Sick Headache, Nervous Weakness and Biliousness. It is pleasant to the taste, mild in its action, marvelous in its effects and unsurpassed as a tonic.
Used as a beverage in malarious districts it neutralizes miasms and prevents fever and ague.
Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and Liquor dealers. Depot 408 Front street, San Francisco
