

A THIRTY TRAMP.

[From the Albany Argus.] Several of our lawyers were visited yesterday by a young, effeminate looking fellow, who presented that he was on his way from Omaha and wanted $2.70 to help him toward Portland, Me. At one office he asked very respectfully for copying to do, and the good-hearted lawyer having no work for him, gave him a half a dollar to buy his dinner. Another lawyer gave him twenty-five cents, which at first he was inclined to refuse, but finally accepted, asking for his benefactor's business card, that he might return the money. At other places he got orders for dinners at different restaurants. Finally he called on District Attorney Bailey and repeated his request for $2.70. Mr. Bailey was at first inclined to give it, although he remarked that $2.70 would not pay fare to Maine. The boy, who is perhaps seventeen, but quite small of his age, said he could go for half fare. The more the District Attorney thought of it the less he felt like granting the request, and finally handing him twenty-five cents told him that would get him a dinner, and that was all he could do. This sum the boy handed back, as he had done at one or two other places about town, and in going out slipped under the door and returned the money in the same way. Mr. Bailey was convinced that the fellow was an impostor, reported him at Headquarters and accompanied Detective Dwyer to the Whiting landing, where the boy was arrested. Under the door he had a copy of the Albany Argus, which he had been reading. Chief Malloy searched him carefully, and on his person discovered two diaries, in which were entered the places which he had "worked," the names of several of his victims, the amounts received each day, and various other data of curious interest. "What's this?" said the Chief as he pulled out two cigars. "Cigars," replied the prisoner; "take one? They are not very good; ten cents; I generally smoke twenty-five cent ones." "You are a first class fraud," replied the Chief, and the boy was not in a position to deny the charge. He said, however, that he only "beat" those who can stand it. He said he was born in St. James parish, La., of creole parentage. The name he goes by is Frank Taylor, although in his diary, he calls himself "Frank La Belle," which may be a pet name of his own, derived from his girlish appearance. In fact, he says he has been three times arrested on suspicion of being a girl in male attire—the last time in Newark N. J.—but never for any other offence. He says, further, that he has traveled with Mrs. Howers, playing in "Lady Audley's Secret."

PATENT SLATE PAINT,

MIXED READY FOR USE. Fire-proof, Water-proof, Durable, Economical and Ornamental.

A roof may be covered with a very cheap shingle, and by application of this slate paint made to last from 20 to 25 years. Old roofs may be patched and coated, looking much better, and lasting longer than the new shingles without the slate, for

One-third the Cost of Reshingling. The expense of slating new shingles is only about the cost of simply laying them. The paint is fire-proof against sparks or flying embers, as may easily be tested by any one.

IT STOPS EVERY LEAK. And for tin or iron has no equal, as it expands by heat, contracts by cold, and NEVER cracks nor scales. Roofs covered with Tar Sheeting Felt can be made water-tight at a small expense, and preserved for many years.

This Slate Paint is EXTREMELY CHEAP. Two gallons will cover a hundred square feet of shingle roof, while on tin, iron, felt, matched boards, or any smooth surface, from two quarts to one gallon are required to 100 square feet of surface, and although the Paint has a heavy body it is easily applied with a brush.

No Tar is used in this Composition. Therefore it neither cracks in Winter, nor runs in Summer.

On decayed shingles it fills up the holes and pores, and gives a new substantial roof that will last for years. CRACKS or leaks them there. It fills up all holes in Felt roofs, stops the leaks—and although a slow dryer, rain does not affect it a few hours after applying. As nearly all paints that are black contain TAR, be sure you obtain our GENUINE article, which (for shingle roofs) is

CHOCOLATE COLOR. When first applied, changing in about a month to a uniform slate color, and is to all intents and purposes SLATE. On

TIN ROOFS. Our red color is usually preferred, as one coat is equal to five of any ordinary paint. For BRICK WALLS. Our BRIGHT RED is the only reliable Slate Paint ever introduced that will effectually prevent dampness from penetrating and discoloring the plaster.

These paints are also largely used on out-houses and fences, or as a priming coat on fine buildings.

Our only colors are CHOCOLATE, RED, BRIGHT RED, and ORANGE.

Send for sample card of colors. All orders must be accompanied with the money, or satisfactory city references. No goods shipped C. O. D., unless express charges are guaranteed.
