PRUDISHNESS AT COURT.
(N. Y. Graphic.)

Princess Anne, whose separation from her husband, Prince Frederick Charles of Germany, has been quietly arranged by Kaiser William, has very queer ideas of court life. She had proof positive that the Prince was unduly familiar with a lady of the Court of Empress Augusta, and accordingly she left him in a state of extreme indignation and declared that she would never live with him again. We suspect she is a woman of rather tender experience, whatever may be the number of her years.

No married woman who loves her husband has any business to join the kind of life that exists even at this period in the foreign establishments called "courts." Even the Court of Victoria, which is the purest and best that Europe knows, the low-necked dress prevails to as great an extent as in our own fashionable assemblages, though the Prince of Wales may his royal self be unavoidably absent.
The Queen's daughter at Berlin, the Crown Princess, is said to have had frequent occasions for jealousy in the inadvertent lapses of her Fritz, and her royal mother-in-law the Empress has had very often to pat her soothingly on her flushed and swollen cheeks and tell her it was nothing—she must get used to it. The Czar who was blown up had several wives. His life with his Empress was one of continuous sorrow, the lady finally dying of a broken heart; and to-day the woman Dolgorouki is known as his late Majesty's widow, and with her children is amply provided for by the money his Majesty left her. The present Czar has been warmly attached to a circus girl, much to the distress of the little woman from Denmark who shares his crown; and if there is no poison in this case, as there was in several serious ones long before the period of the later Alexanders, it is because of a better patience and a great advance in Russian civilization.

The court life at Madrid has driven a pure woman, Queen Christina, back to her mother for protection and consolation, for the blood of Isabella runs full and swift in the veins of Alfonso. The patience and goodness of Alexandrowna, sister of the Czarina, have repressed the evil tendencies of the Prince of Wales to some extent, but there are new scandals in which he is too intimately connected from time to time. The late Victor Emmanuel left two separate and distinct families, each as good as the other; and his death produced a soreness of heart not very much greater than that which attended his existence to the end. The late Louis Napoleon was watched by a sharp and handsome pair of eyes to some purpose; but he was far from being proof against the looseness which seems to belong to life at Court, as was the gentleman of St. Helena, who put aside love and duty whenever that sacrifice became necessary to the gratification of his ambition.

What is this German Princess thinking of? Would she have court life with the court left out? Would she have her husband assume a virtue which does not belong to his position and which his superiors laugh at? Would she make that poor man ridiculous? Is not lasciviousness a necessary and unavoidable part of foreign hereditary responsibility? Would she change the blood which has generously taken her into its rapid and swollen current and is carrying her on to glory?
Let this curious lady go! She is meddling too much with hereditary and time-honored privilege and immunity.

At a recent temperance meeting a thirty old lady observed that she knew something of the evils of rum. "I have buried three husbands and all were hard drinkers. But I am glad to say," she continued, "that I didn't fight with them." As soon as I found they would drink I got them to insure their lives heavily and let them go ahead. Ah, me! each one of them died from the effects of liquor, but, thanks to kind Providence, each death netted me a clear $10,000."

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

Some of the doctors think they will soon be able to open a patient's head to examine his brain.

It has been estimated that the force which the human heart expends in twenty-four hours is about equal to lifting 217 tons one-foot.

The London Health Society hold that the best way to dispose of refuse vegetable matter is to dry it and use it for kindling.

The latest scientific explorations of the Yellowstone Park, made during the last summer by members of the United States Geological Survey, shows that it contains 500 geysers and 5,000 hot springs.
These numbers are somewhat larger than those obtained in earlier surveys.

Her Poeschl has invented a method for sinking shafts in watery running ground by first freezing the water and then working the frozen mass by hand. The wet ground is frozen by placing pipes in hole holes, and then passing through them a solution of the chlorides of magnesium and calcium, which reduces the temperature to about -35° C.

A French meteorologist has, in the exposed court of his house, two bars of iron planted in the earth, to each of which is fixed a conductor of coated wire, terminating in a telephonic receiver.
His practice is to consult the apparatus every day, and it never fails, through its indications of earth currents, to give of the approach of a storm twelve to fifteen hours ahead.

Leibig, an authority in matters of health and things which are good to eat and drink, thus wrote: "Sherry and strong cider are more quickly intoxicating than the generality of wines, and they have a peculiar influence on the gastric juices of the stomach. The intoxication of beer is heavy and dull, but its use does not hinder the drinker from gaining flesh. The drinkers of whisky and brandy are going to certain death.
Red wine is the least hurtful, and in some cases really beneficial.

During the late excavations undertaken in the Roman Forum, there has been found a pot containing 800 old Anglo-Saxon coins of the time of Pope Marinus II (882-884). They are of English coinage and rare value, most of them showing heads of the English Kings of the period, and one having the head of an Archbishop of Canterbury.
The probabilities are that the money belonged to the Saxon school then in Rome, the existence of which renders it probable that there were many Englishmen in Rome in those days.

The Japanese waiter girl is said to be an interesting creature. She has a big tub of hot rice at her elbow and fills your bowl as often as you lower the contents sensibly. The present crop of rice is unprecedentedly large and this popular grain is wonderfully cheap now. She removes the shell from your boiled eggs, the while chatting briskly, just as though you could understand what she says.
She laughs pleasantly at your miserable failure with the chop-sticks, and taking them herself deftly bones your fish with them. She is inordinately curious and has no idea of propriety. I have had them "chuck" me under the chin or slap me familiarly on the shoulder. They will look right down your throat, so frankly inquisitive are they. It is evidently from their rigid and stately etiquette in other matters that they do not suspect that they are shocking you.— [Pittsburg Dispatch.]

Men who formerly looked forward to a return of millions, to-day are satisfied with thousands. Those who a few years ago expected to make thousands are now very well pleased with hundreds. And so time moves on; the grand bubble of inflation has burst, and in its place we have the single drop that wears the stone, and is ever constant and faithful in performing its daily work.

sloer—"And why do you think I ought to get married, Miss Mabel?" Miss Mabel (aged 12)—"Oh, you look as if you needed somebody to take care of you and —Oh, goodness, you didn't think I said that to lead you on, did you?"—[Life.]

A young lady, evidently impressed with the idea that she knows about it, says:

her, he is sure to gain his suit."

HEART DISEASE!

CURED BY

DR. RUSH'S REGULATOR,

FOR HEART TROUBLES.

Wm. G. Osgoodby, the well-known safe manufacturer of Buffalo, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Newark, and Atlanta, Ga., says:
OFFICE OF OSGOODBY'S IMPROVED SAFES, 17 S. Broad Street,
ATLANTA, GA., October 17th, 1881.

DR. RUSH'S MEDICAL ASSOCIATION:
Dear Doctors:—The three bottles of "Dr.
Rush's Regulator" I ordered were received by express last week. I have taken nearly one bottle and am thoroughly satisfied with the result.
For over two years I have been troubled with sharp pain in my heart. My physician, upon examination, pronounced it enlargement of the heart, and was unable to give me any relief.
The trouble grew worse until I had become convinced that I could not be cured. While in New York City, last week, I called upon one of the most prominent physicians there, who charged me $15 for an examination and then recommended your "Regulator." Knowing you to be a regular Medical Association, and NOT A PATENT MEDICINE SCHEM, I ordered the three bottles.
I have not been troubled since I commenced taking it, but shall continue and take the entire three bottles so as to obtain a permanent cure.
You have my sincere thanks.
I am, gentlemen,
Very respectfully,
Wm. G. OSGOODBY

has never failed to give relief. It has been used successfully for years in subduing the most stubborn cases of heart difficulties. A positive cure for Enlargement, Palpitation, Fluttering and Fatty Degeneration of the Heart. Price, $1.00 per bottle; six for $5.00. Sold by druggists, or sent direct by Dr. RUSH'S MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Nanda, N. Y., U. S. A.
