

THERE ARE WORSE THINGS.

The New York Mail and Express, which is extremely "Good" in the church-going sense, is in what it thinks a righteous wrath against prize fighting.

It may be admitted that there are, in what we are pleased to call modern civilization, elements which tend less than prize-fighting towards taking men back to the monkey condition.

Some Superstitions

It is lucky to enter a house with the left foot forward.

It is unlucky to ride behind a bob-tailed horse to a funeral.

It is unlucky to own a crowing hen, a white horse, a white cow, a white cat, or a white umbrella.

It is unlucky to sneeze before breakfast or when you see the new moon.

It is unlucky to whistle before breakfast. It is unlucky to tell your dreams before breakfast.

If your right ear burns friends are talking about you. If your left ear burns enemies are scandalizing you.

If the palm of your right hand itches you will receive money or shake hands. If your left hand itches you will pay your debts.

If you sneeze on Monday you sneeze for danger.

Sneeze on Tuesday, kiss a stranger.

Sneeze on Wednesday, sneeze for a letter.

Sneeze on Thursday, something better.

Sneeze on Friday, sneeze for sorrow.

Sneeze on Saturday, see your sweet heart to-morrow.

Sneeze on Sunday, and the devil will have dominion over you all week.

See a pin and pick it up.

All the day you'll have good luck.

See a pin and let it lay.

Bad luck you'll have all the day.

Boy—Is it proper to say "blown up" or "blown down"?

Teacher—Either. If it is the result of an explosion, it is blown up; if the result of a cyclone, blown down.

Boy—An' couldn't the result of an explosion be "blown down"?

Teacher—No.

Boy—What's the matter with a sneeze?
