

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

SILVER KING DISTRICT.

The Wheatly Bros. Mines.

From Mr. George Wheatly, who has been in town this week we obtain the following information:

Silver King District is situated about sixteen miles northerly from Bristol, or about forty miles northwesterly from Pioche, and is reached by a good wagon road.

The formation is lime and porphyry, the principal deposits being at contacts. The leads named below run easterly and westerly—a little south of east and north of west,—and may be easily traced on the surface. They pitch south at angles varying from forty-five to eighty degrees.

About thirty thousand dollars has been realized from ore shipments to Ward, Bristol, Dry Valley and other points during past years, the shipments being made at great disadvantage, on account of excessive transportation charges, and (in those times) excessive charges for working.

The ore is a free carbonate of lead, with oxide of iron in a lime gangue. Sixty-nine assays, being all the tests made in prospecting by two men, from April to October of last year, averaged thirty-eight oz. silver per ton, and twenty-five per cent. lead. Of such ore about three hundred tons are now on the dumps and probably as much more in sight in the mines. Of the Wheatly Bros. claims to which the above refers, the Ida has been prospected to a depth of but seventy-five feet, the Highbridge seventy-five feet, the Schiller something over one hundred feet, the Cesar one hundred feet—practically in mining parlance, mere surface work. Yet their record and present showing is good, to say the least.

Other mines in the district which promise well are owned by Messrs. Geo. Jones of Bristol, C. J. Boskowitz of San Francisco, D. C. McCarter of Pioche and John F. Cupid of Ely, White Pine County.

The Domino party given by the young ladies at Brown's Hall last Monday evening was the party of the season. It was the first domino party that has been given here for years and the novelty of it alone would have made it a success. The Hall was crowded with maskers and spectators, and about fifty maskers took part in the grand march. The antics and didos of a good many of the maskers created a good deal of merriment and fun which was greatly enjoyed by the spectators. The maskers unmasked about half past eleven and "I knew you" everybody said. It was conceded that if the girls did "run the party" they did it in a most successful manner. The party broke up about five o'clock in the morning.

SUICIDE.—On Sunday evening, March 1st, at Tombstone, Arizona, Oliver Trevillian, City Treasurer of Tombstone, cut his throat with a razor, from the effects of which he died the next night. He had been ill for consumption for several years and of late had been unable to do work of any kind and was very despondent. He was aged 33 and leaves a wife and child in that city and several near relatives in England.—[Mr. Trevillian was a former resident of this place.

The United States Supreme Court has affirmed with costs and interest the cases of the county of Lincoln, Nevada, vs. Charles Sutor, same against Nicholas Luning and the same vs. C. D. Vincent. The cases involved certain coupons on county bonds, against which plaintiff in error set up the statute of limitation.

Lost—A week ago last Sunday evening on Cedar St. between the Episcopal Church and Main St. a pair of steel rimmed spectacles in a plain case. The finder will confer a great favor on the owner by leaving them at the Record office.

The Record received last week a sack of seeds from Senator John P. Jones. The distribution of them among the farmers will keep this office supplied with garden truck next Summer. May be so.

Supt. S. T. Godbe arrived Tuesday from Salt Lake. It is expected that operations will be materially increased soon.

A. H. Emanuel is City Clerk of Tombstone, Arizona, and Ben. James, Constable of the same place.

BENNIE WERTHEIMER.

The boy whose name heads this item was one of the brightest and most industrious of our Pioche boys. He had, during his three years residence among us, made himself an important factor in the life of the town.

The youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. L. Wertheimer, he was born in San Francisco seventeen years ago, and there lived most of his short life, attending, as he grew up, the John Swett Grammar School, many of whose pupils doubtless well remember him. He was devoted to his parents and loved his sisters and brothers to a remarkable degree and his death is a very severe blow to them, not to speak of his many friends.

He died on Sunday night at about 11 o'clock. Dr. Louder, the attending physician at the time of the death, stated the cause of dissolution to be blood poisoning induced by undischarged pus, the result of a cold in the head; while Dr. Nesbitt, who had previously attended the case, attributed the immediate cause of death to the breaking of an abscess on the liver, stating also that the boy had kidney troubles. He had been sick about two weeks.

The funeral, which took place on Tuesday was very largely attended. Appropriate ceremonies were observed at the grave.

ARBOR DAY PROCLAMATION.

For School Children Particularly, and for the Public Generally.

STATE OF NEVADA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.—CARSON CITY, NEV., March 5, 1890.

WHEREAS, By an Act of the Legislature of the State of Nevada, approved February 10, 1887, "Arbor Day" is established and made "a holiday for the public schools;" and whereas, by the terms of said Act the Chief Executive is requested to make proclamation of said day thirty days prior to its observance; therefore, I, C. C. Stevenson, Governor of the State of Nevada, do hereby proclaim and set apart Friday, the 4th day of April, A. D. 1890, as Arbor Day, and earnestly request its observance throughout the State, especially by all the teachers and pupils of the public schools, and that said Act be read by teachers to pupils, and its wise and salutary provisions explained. It is recommended that Arbor Day, so established, be observed by the people of the State in the planting of trees, shrubs and vines; in the promotion of forest growth and culture; in the advancement of public and private grounds, places and ways, and in such other efforts and undertakings as shall be in harmony with the character of the day.

[Seal] In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed. Done at Carson City, Nevada, this 5th day of March, in the year of our Lord, 1890. C. C. STEVENSON, Governor. JOHN M. DORMER, Secretary of State.

A man was killed while working in one of the tunnels four miles below Clover Valley on the railroad extension. A rock fell from the roof and striking him on the head killed him instantly. He was buried inside of an hour and a half. A good many quit work immediately on account of danger and fear.

The last few days of sunshine and fair weather has dried up the mud in our streets, so as to make them comparatively passable, with the exception of one or two bog holes on our side streets, caused by defective water mains which ought to be repaired as soon as possible.

J. A. Logan arrived Thursday morning. Mr. Logan is blind, caused by a premature explosion of a blast while working in the mines in White Pine. He is well known by all old-timers.

The Justice's Court was occupied Tuesday afternoon with the case of W. T. Rich, for disturbing the peace. The defendant claimed a jury trial and a verdict of not guilty was returned.

Notices of interest to Michael Labrosse, Thomas McDonald and John Ward Christian appears in this issue under New To-day.

As a rule, trim your trees into a pyramidal shape. It is the graceful and strong one.

Mr. Frank Godbe departed Wednesday for Salt Lake. He will return in about ten days.

Anthony Godbe came in on the Milford stage Thursday morning.

So far March has given us fairly good weather.

ARBOR DAY.

Arbor Day is not yet appreciated at its full value. The beginning is so small and results come so slowly that the importance to the future of the State of an adequate observance of the day designated by the Governor for the planting of trees has not yet made that impression upon public spirit that arouses enthusiasm. A little tree seems so trifling, and its individual effect is so slight that a realization of the bounty that it and its fellows will in time provide is not experienced without reflection. The mines of wealth that continuous systematic tree culture create do not yield with the alluring suddenness that lends excitement to the labor. They do not pour out all the treasure in a burst of opulence, but their generous contributions to mankind once begun, if properly assisted are endless.

Forest culture is closely akin to irrigation, and everything that tends in any degree to awaken an interest in the subject is of value that is impossible to measure by any [merely practical standard]. The life of a dead land may be renewed by an alliance between forestry and irrigation, and the observance of Arbor Day should be placed before the young people as a gift to the future more meritorious than simply sentimental celebration of events in the past.—[Enterprise.

PANACA ITEMS.

Our weather is as changeable as it could possibly be.

Gus Blad intends running a peddling wagon this coming summer along the R. R. workings.

Chas Ipson who for three years has been making his home in Salt Lake is with us again.

Henry Wedge who has been attending school for the past winter at Provo arrived home during the past week.

W. Keele familiarly known as Bill has gone out on the R. R. He says he will push things right through.

The La grippe has for some time been raging and still seems to be using some of our people pretty roughly.

Virgil Kelley, a former resident of Panaca has a contract for grading three miles on the R. R. near Sheep Spring.

Tramps are very plentiful these days and can be seen at all hours in the day in vast droves traveling to and fro in search of nothing to do and plenty to eat.

Geo. Whitney who has been employed in the Primary Dept of our school during the winter, has rented Mrs. Marantha Wadsworth's field and town lots, for the summer. Guess he intends to raise thunder and a lot of other stuff.

Thos Terry's family after spending the winter with us moved back to Hebron last Wednesday, and ever since one of our lassies has had swollen eyes, the cause of which is supposed to be Frank's return home with the other members of the family.

J. Q. Barlow Division Engineer, and W. H. Wood Asst. Eng. of the R.R. route were in town during the week in the interest of the Co. Chas E. Pearson Right of Way agent for the same company was here also and secured the right of way for the railroad through from Culverwell's Ranch to Pioche with but little difficulty.

TRIB.

An Honest Advertisement.

No reader ever before saw the word "Trib." Yet it is a very good word indeed, and that which it represents is a good enough thing. It was born in our midst, and goes forth among our fellow citizens on a good mission. Its end is to cure some, not all of the ills of life and the reason for its existence and advertisement is the desire to make a success by exchanging full value for value. It only claims to be one thing, a liniment,—not a cure for everything from la grippe to a broken neck,—but as that one thing it claims to be supreme. It is a home product in Pioche, and its proprietors are responsible men. So much confidence have they in Trib that they invite every one to tell the results of its use as directed, good or bad—to his neighbor.

THE ANIMAL KINGDOM.

During a summer tour in the Austrian Alps an American gentleman bought a young shepherd dog and brought him to a suburb of Cincinnati, where sheep are seen only in the form of mutton; but every little while the young herder would try to earn his board by collecting a troop of stray geese, and, in spite of their hissing protest, drive them along the street like a flock of restless sheep.

COMMUNICATION.

PARRANAGAT VALLEY, March 16, 1890. Mr Editor: I wish we could have had a photograph man round the house the last two or three nights to take flash light pictures of our crowd. I tell you they would have been not only amusing but interesting, showing half a dozen people, with joined hands and a table a waltzing round the room together.

The fact is my gal's aunt Tabitha from Salt Lake 'sa spending a week with us and has introduced table turning which seems to have turned everybody's head on the ranch, even to the milch cows and milking stool for they'll upset brother Jim and leave him to play wallflower whilst they sashay around to their hearts content. Jim says there's one benefit about the racket as the milk gets so well shaken up the butter is already made by the next morning and is stamped with the words "Smithers' best." I suppose we have to thank the spirits for doing it. Furthermore Mr. Editor, you can believe I'm telling you the honest truth, so help me Brigham, and though we've broken a few panes of glass and table legs, we've had lots of fun.

The first time we sat round the table, the folks made a bargain with the spirits that when a question was asked, they—the spirits—should rap once for yes and twice for no. Amongst a number of questions given one was about the twins getting married. After an hour's work the news came that a Mormon elder was going to corral the pair of em, and they'd have full possession of the remnants of his damaged heart to the sorrow of four unfortunate women he'd leave out in the cold.

Dad said he'd be G. d-d if he believed in any spirits, except them as is in black bottles, and if a man came after one of his daughters, he'd know there'd be no one turned out of house and home for her, and as for the fellow getting the second one, it would have to be a pretty dark night for him to do so without losing the number of his mess.

Jim tried his luck and I guess he wishes he hadn't, for he got given away about a mormon girl he was making up to tother side of the line. But never fear I'm going to attend to his biz from this time out, as it would be a pretty how-do-ye-do if this family should get contaminated after mother's been so keeferful not to have any tow heads in it.

I'm in hopes this rapping epidemic won't last long or it's going to be pretty binding on some of us. Even Mary had to tell me she hates to sleep alone as she hears a continual rapping under her bed of nights, and is afraid to light a candle for fear some one might see her in her curl papers, etc. May be that remark of hers was to convey a gentle hint for me to come and claim her, but I had to ignore the matter as I'm far from well fixed with the collateral to hitch on to a young woman like her, and keep her as she ought to be kept, so she'll have to wait quite a while I'm a thinking before she gets a bedfellow out of this house.

Sending them rock specimens of dad's to Colorado got me into trouble, for a Geowodetic tenderfoot is around wanting to know all about rock in our district. He kept the hull of us a listening by the hour about the different periods of the formation of the stratification of the earth's crust, and why mega-thingamies, masterdons and other such cattle was bred, until some of us had our hair standing on end. Finally dad wanted to show them blamed specimens and finding out what I'd done with 'em he said, I'd always be a fool to the end of my existence, and how did I know but what we'd lost another opportunity of making a raise, so he made arrangements to take the man around to-morrow to get some more out of our hole. Holy mother of Moses, won't we have a nice time a tramping over Irish mountain this kind of weather. As my candle is going out, I must do the same and sign myself, Yours truly, BILL SMITHERS.

The Latest Catch.

"I will bet you a new hat," said a gentleman, "that you will come out of that chair before I ask you twice."

"Done!" replied the friend.

"Come down!" cried the other.

"I will not," said his friend with much obstinacy.

"Then stop till I ask you a second time," said his friend.

Perceiving that he would never be asked a second time, the gentleman in the chair came down in a double sense.—[Ex.
