The Condon mill shut down Saturday evening, on account of the heavy rains making the water in the ditch so muddy that it was impossible to run the mill. The flood carried away a small portion of the tailings.

A. S. Thompson has just received a carload of Salt Lake Beer, also assorted Soda and Sarsaparilla, which he is offering at reasonable figures and delivered free to any part of town.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lloyd died yesterday afternoon at 3:30. The child was buried this morning at 9:30 and Mr. Lloyd left immediately after for Milford to meet his wife whom he had telegraphed for at Salt Lake.

It looks very much like there will be four State tickets in the field this year. Republicans, Silver Party, Populists and Democrats, the latter party having issued a call for a State Convention to be held at Carson on Tuesday, Sept. 18, 1894.

The telephone box at the Jim Crow office at De Lamar was burnt out by lightning on Friday. It was sent to Salt Lake for repair and the one in N. P. Dooley's store put in its place. The box at the Record office also suffered a slight damage from lightning.

J. Eisenmann wishes to call the attention of those desiring to build, to the fact that he has just received a carload of glazed window sash, all sizes; also panel, sash and screen doors, together with white lead, paints, oils and nails, which will be sold cheaper than ever, but only for cash.

S. T. Godbe with a party of capitalists from Los Angeles will be here by the middle of the month to meet a party of New York capitalists who are expected here about that time. The meeting is in the interest of the building of the railroad from Milford to Vanderbilt, California.

Lawrence, infant child of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Goodrich, died on Sunday afternoon about half past one from cholera infantum. The funeral took place Monday afternoon at four o'clock. This is the second child that they have lost within a year, a loss deeply felt.

Mrs. Geo. B. Warren sustained a severe sprain of the ankle last Saturday at Joseph Conaway's ranch in Meadow Valley Wash. She was coming down a flight of steps, the bottom one being broken, and in stepping off, her ankle turned under and she suffered a very severe sprain. Her husband brought her to town on Sunday.

Saturday afternoon this section was visited with a heavy rainstorm. For about one hour it came down in torrents, and the streets in a short time were little creeks. The heaviest part of the storm was to the north of us, and in the flat to the north, the water was three feet deep for about half a mile across the valley. In Rose Valley it washed out the bridge and cut all the ditches out, and washed out the cut trees that were on the Rose Valley ranch. In Condon Canyon it washed considerable of the railroad grade away and also some of the tailings of the Condon mill. Between Bullionville and Panaca the lane was covered to a depth of one foot with water, and old inhabitants say that the stream that came down was the biggest in their history of the place. Although the rain was very heavy and an immense body of water passed through Condon Canyon and M. V. Wash so serious damage has been reported.

The choicest trophy that the Yale athletes brought home from England is an attested copy of a warrant upon which they were arrested on the evening of July 4th in Oxford, which charges them with disturbing her Majesty's peace by lighting fireworks and otherwise breaching the quiet of Oxford town. The warrant is decorated with the seal of the petty court and the seal of the town of Oxford. The chances are that it will be hung on the outer walls of Yale on all patriotic anniversaries.—Boston Herald.

A ROAD TO SALT LAKE.

A Los Angeles dispatch of August 28th says: S. T. Godbe a large owner of the Nevada Southern railway and of lands in Utah, has just arrived from New York, and stated to a reporter this evening that the railway will be at once extended from the present terminus at Vanderbilt to Salt Lake City, giving Los Angeles one more transcontinental line. He said that he had just returned from New York, where he had met the officers of the road and that negotiations had been completed securing the funds necessary for building the line through to Salt Lake at once.

He denies that Colonel Fremont or General Clarkson, as has been heretofore reported, have anything to do with this project.

Work will be commenced at once and the road rushed through to the Good Spring mines first. The proposition is to effect a consolidation of several large interests in Southern Nevada and Utah with the object of completing the gap between Vanderbilt and Milford. A company called the Utah Nevada Company has been formed with a capital of $6,000,000, which will hold in trust the property of the Pioche Consolidated Mining Company, the Keystone Company, the Gladiator group of mines and a number of others. The company proposes to build out at once from Milford south, and has $2,000,000 on hand for a starter and the rest of the funds are provided for.

President Blake and other officers of the Nevada Southern, together with a number of New York capitalists, headed by H. R. Claffin, will be out here in a week or ten days to look over the property.

Mr. Godbe is now on his way to Milford to meet them, to which place they will go direct from Salt Lake. Besides J. R. DeLamar of Deuver, the millionaire, the project has back of it nearly all the mine owners of Southern Utah with their property as security.

DE LAMAR DOTS.

The DeLamar Company have completed the road to the upper workings.

The artisan well in down a little over 700 feet and the water in charge seem more hopeful of now striking water as the ground has changed to a moist clay.

John Vietti who has a lease on the April Fool mine has a force of fifteen men at work and the showing at present is fine.

Supt. H. A. Cohen, of the DeLamar's Nevada Gold Mining Company arrived from the east to-day.

The DeLamar's Nevada Gold Mining Company are now working a larger force than they have for some time past.

S. E. Wertheimer has fitted up the front of the store of D. L. Wertheimer & Co., for a post-office, and has made it look very inviting.

There are many unemployed men in town; many awaiting the construction of the mill by the company.

Taken From The Lode.

Several men went to work on the Magnolia yesterday morning.

D. L. Wertheimer has his assay furnace up and is boiling rock to perfection.

A social dance was had Thursday evening in Cooper's new building, and although only a small crowd was in attendance, a thorough good time was enjoyed by all until an early hour Friday morning.

Jake and Louis, two Celestials, arrived this week with a full restaurant outfit from Silver Reef, Utah, and will open in the building directly below Cooper's saloon. They will be ready for business in about a week.

At the DeLamar's Co's wells in Cedar Wash a much greater supply of water has been developed since our last report. They still have a force of men at work and will supply will undoubtedly be doubled before a great while.

A WEDDING AT BEAVER.

Miss Metta Thompson Married To William B. Stanley.

(Salt Lake Tribune)

Editor Tribune:—There was a social event in Beaver to-day at the residence of Mr. Edward W. Thompson, which was the marriage of his daughter, Miss Metta Thompson, to Mr. William B. Stanley.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Cliff at noon to-day. The affair was quiet, there being no one present but the members of the bride's family and a few of her nearest relatives. After the ceremony there was an elegant lunch served. Later in the day the happy couple, amid a shower of rice and a fusillade of old shoes, started on their way to California, and after a short sojourn on the coast will proceed to their new home in Vanderbilt, Cal.

The bride is an attractive young woman of good accomplishments, of such taste that can embellish the new home with grace and refinement, and of such kindly impulses as will furnish its enjoyments. Mr. Stanley, the lucky man, is a nephew of the Hon. A. G. Campbell, and is now, and has been for many years, engaged in managing his uncle's business affairs. He is well known through Utah and Southern Nevada as a young man of splendid qualities. The numerous friends of these two happy hearts join in wishing them a prosperous future.

Beaver, Utah, Sept. 2, 1894.

The groom is well-known here and is recording with his numerous friends in extending to him and his bride a future of unalloyed prosperity and happiness.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Correspondence of THE RECORD.

WASHINGTON, August 30, 1894.

Mr. Cleveland's widely advertised back bone has apparently turned to jelly. The tariff bill which he so bitterly abused to be the law of the land at mid-night, because he lacked the nerve to veto it. If instead of affecting the interest of thousands, say, millions of people, it had merely affected the interest of some poor devil who had sought relief from Congress he would have sprung a veto on it quick enough. Bah! Let the country hear no more of this man's courage. He has the courage of the lolly and the brag only. He is always ready to jump on some little thing but when it comes to something big he ignores it.

No wonder that Mr. Cleveland has not acted upon the report of the civil service commission, recommending the dismissal of the blatant negro demagogue, C. H. J. Taylor, whom he made recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia, for having violated the law against soliciting campaign contributions from Government employees. That report gives him the alternative of ennobling the civil service commission and winking at a violation of the civil service law, for which he always professed to have such great respect—he has always carried an overstock of professions,—or of dismissing his special protégé from an office to which he should never have been appointed and probably never would have been had not the Senate refused to confirm his nomination to a diplomatic position. Taylor says he has no fear of dismissal. He has made Mr. Cleveland believe that as the head of the negro Democratic league, an organization composed of negroes who have been given office by this administration, he controls a large number of votes; hence his certainty of being protected. As a matter of fact those who should know do not believe that there are one thousand negro Democrats in the United States.

Representative Payne, of New York, one of the prominent Republican members of the House committee on Ways and Means, closes a brief and interesting resume of this session of Congress with this pen picture that is bound to be recognized by all who have intelligently watched the doings of the Democrats in Congress: "The leaders have been afraid to trust their followers. Never have rulers become more arrogant than the members of the Committee on Finance. So far as the leaders have followed the Reed rules, the House has been able to do business. But where the leaders have followed their own devices, and have sought to bind the minority, not only but the majority, hand and foot, stifling all debate, they have absolutely prevented the House from passing just and wise laws, even if the House had the wisdom to do so. One word—inefficient—fitsly characterizes this Congress. This feeling is wide spread. It is well-voiced in the letter of President Cleveland to Mr. Wilson. There is no excuse for mistaking or misrepresenting the feeling and temper of the rank and file of the Democracy. They are downcast under the assertion that their party fails in ability to manage the government. The President in the sentence quoted correctly sized up the situation."

Senator Hill contributes this statement to Democratic harmony in New York: "Of the Presidential nominations (for New York) since March 4, 1893, ninety per cent have been taken from 'hat portion of the party known as 'anti-snappers,' against the protest of prominent Democrats and against the recommendation of the regular organization of the party in the several localities; while ninety-five per cent of the fourth class postmasters appointed have been taken from the same faction, the regular organizations being substantially unrecognized. There are many counties in the state where men who officially and successfully conducted the campaign in 1892 have been wholly ignored, neither themselves nor their organizations securing a single first class postmaster appointment in their respective counties. These facts and figures speak for themselves and do not require any comment."

Congress will adjourn to-morrow, and its Democratic members will have an opportunity to learn just what their constituents think of the blundering incapacity which has marked everything they have undertaken.

Mrs. Mary Mitchell, wife of Thomas Mitchell, died at Jackson, Cal., Aug. 18th, after a short illness. Mrs. Mitchell will be remembered by all old-time Piochers, having resided here a number of years. She leaves a husband and two grown daughters, Miss May and Grace, who were present at the time of her death.
