VOL. XLVII.

PIOCHE, NEVADA, THURSDAY, MAY 27, 1897

NO. 33.

STATE LINE BOOMING.

Property Being Sold, Bonded and Leased—A Mill to be Erected—The Killing of Billy Morgan to be Probed.

STATE LINE, May 22, 1897.
Editor Record:

State Line will soon present a scene of general activity all along the line. Two-thirds of the Creole mine changed hands to-day for a consideration of $14,000 dollars, and work starts on Monday that will furnish employment to a number of the idle men now in camp. The purchasers are Jesse Knight & Bros., of Provo, Utah, practical mining men, whose energy and push will soon bring the property to the front.

Denver parties have secured a bond and lease on the Complication mine owned by Kelly and others, and have uncovered a body of gold bearing quartz that they think justifies the erection of a five-stamp mill, which they have purchased and are now bringing in.

Judge Kellogg who has bonded the Utah Spur mine, put a crew to work yesterday on the property. The Utah Spur is a silver-bearing property situated on what is known as the Silver belt, and has the largest body of quartz of any property in camp, and carries some very high values. There is every promise of a big mine in it.

Wm. Jewell, while doing the assessment work on the American Eagle, struck a six-inch streak of ore that assays 200 ounces silver and $8 in gold. The American Eagle joins the Barro mine and is owned by Jewell and Taylor.

There is a promise of some excitement for the coming week, as the prosecuting attorney and a justice of the peace are to arrive from Cedar city to enquire into the killing of Billy Morgan. They intend to run down those rumors and mysterious allusions made to the affair.

Justice McDonald has requested an investigation in his own and Constable Lund's behalf, and those who have circulated the rumors will have an opportunity to tell their story under oath.

School Closes.

On Friday last our school closed for the present term. A number of visitors were present in the afternoon to listen to the closing exercises, which consisted of singing, recitations, essays, etc. The children acquitted themselves creditably, the singing of the school was exceptionally good, which has only been taught during the present term, it being introduced by Miss Evans, who was assistant to W. D. Prewitt, but who has of late taken charge of the entire school. The vacation will continue during the hot months, resuming about the first of September.

The Episcopal services at the Court House Tuesday evening were well attended, everything considered. Bishop Leonard held forth in his usual impressive style, though feeling rather tired, having just arrived from DeLamar an hour previous to the one for holding service. The dates had been changed so often and so many disappointments occurring that many did not attend, fearing that it would be as several times before, "no meeting on account of the Bishop's non-arrival." The Court Room was handsomely decorated with plants and flowers. The choir gotten together for the occasion did exceptionally well. The Bishop is a fluent and interesting instructor, and it was a religious feast for those who attended. Communion service was held at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. The Bishop departed for his home in Salt Lake last evening.

Now that the DeLamar boys have opened up a new road across the country to Carson, we presume mileage to legislators and others will hereafter be allowed by the new schedule instead of via Salt Lake as heretofore. It will make a difference of about 75 per cent. As this would be a material saving Lincoln might be permitted to have two Assemblymen instead of one hereafter.

The mining fever has reached the ministry in British Columbia. Rev. G. R. Maxwell, Presbyterian, is president of a mining company; Rev. F. Yolland, Revelstoke, is a mineral assayer; Rev. Father Eumel is shareholder in a score of mines, and Rev. R. R. Matland, the most prominent Methodist minister in the province, is to abandon the pulpit altogether and embark in mining.

St Louis Globe-Democrat: The fact that Andrew Jackson spelled "Whig" three ways in one letter is no sign that he was not up in the classics. All the atlases have an impediment in their orthography in giving the different names in which every Greek town rejoices.

A full court calendar and no calling of juries makes this a light session of court to both lawyers and townspeople.

TO BUILD FROM MILFORD.

Oregon Short Line Contemplates Laying Rails to Summit on the Nevada Side.

A nearer railroad connection than Milford, is among the possibilities for Pioche and surrounding country before snow flies again.

R. C. Eccles, and R. C. Lund were in town on Tuesday on their way back to Milford from a trip to points south of here which would be tributary to the Oregon Short Line, if extended south of Milford. The object of Mr. Eccles' tour was to report on the present condition of the grade and the country, as compared with what it was when the grade, built in 1890 was constructed.

Together with Mr. Lund he has just finished a careful inspection of the grade from Milford here. He stated that the grade is in almost perfect condition from Milford to the Summit, just over the State Line in this county, but that in the Clover Wash, both the grade and tunnels have suffered from washouts and cavings to such an extent that it will cost a material part of the original expense to put them in any shape, and for the present he doubted if it would be done.

He expressed the belief however that the grade would be utilized for eighty miles, or to the Summit, where grades for switches etc. exist, and that the work might be commenced this season.

This would bring Pioche to within about 25 miles of the terminus travelling by way of Dry Valley. It would bring the State Line county on the Nevada side within a much nearer distance and would materially assist the development and opening of that section. The railroad company is looking for tonnage and the Nevada end of State Line, District contains the silver properties which promise an enormous output and which need railroad facilities to enable them to make it.

It would stimulate further prospecting in the Bull Valley country southeast of Summit, also, where numerous mineral veins exist, besides cheapening all supplies for the DeLamar country.

An Unique Ordinance.

The city council of Pomona, Cal., has passed a most unique law governing the sale of intoxicants. It provides in substance that only two saloons will be permitted in the city, each to pay annually $1000 license, and the proprietors to furnish a bond of $5000 each, and they must be bona fide residents of the city. The saloons must be opened from 6 o'clock a. m. to 10 p. m., six days in the week. They shall have no frosted windows or screens of any description and the interior view must be totally unobstructed. Only one chair will be allowed in each place, and that for the use of the bartender. The law also provides that if the wife, mother, sister or daughter warns the saloon keeper not to sell to a husband, brother, son or father any liquor, and he continues to do so, his license shall be revoked. There is also a provision that if any party dependent on a male person makes affidavit to that effect and that the said person is spending money for intoxicants, his name must be posted up behind the bar. Notwithstanding these strict provisions several men have already applied for a license to conduct a saloon.

National Educational Association Meeting.

For the meeting of the National Educational Association at Buffalo in 1896 the excellent service given by the Union Pacific was commented on by all those who had the pleasure of using that line. This year our educational friends meet in Milwaukee, Wis., July 6th to 9th, and members of the association and others from points west of the Missouri River, should by all means take the Union Pacific.

The service of the UNION PACIFIC via Omaha or Kansas City is the very best. The equipment consists of handsome day coaches, Chair Cars Pullman Buffet and Drawing Room Sleepers, Dining Cars and Buffet Smoking and Library Cars. Fewer changes than via any other line. One fare, plus $2.50 for the round trip will be the rate from all points west of the Missouri River for this meeting.

For illustrated matter, folders, etc., call on your nearest agent, or address:

Estray Notice.

Strayed from Comet district two weeks ago, two bay horses branded J. D. supposed to have gone towards Elko. Both shod and the lighter bay wore a bell. Please send any information of their whereabouts to the undersigned, and be rewarded.

HENRY T. FREUDENTHAL,
May 11th, 1897. Pioche.

It is said that Mr. Frank A. Vanderlip of Chicago, who went to Washington as Secretary Gage's private secretary, is to be made Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Vanderlip is a newspaper man and was assistant editor of a financial paper in Chicago when Mr. Gage appointed him private secretary. He has proved so useful and developed so much executive ability that it has been decided to promote him to a higher position.—Indianapolis Journal.

It is a peculiar assertion made by the Brooklyn Eagle that in every accident on the sea or in the river the percentage lost of those who can swim exceeds that of those who cannot swim. It is found that the swimmers have too much confidence and take too many risks. This is not an argument against learning to swim as a recreation it can nearly always be safely enjoyed.

San Francisco Chronicle: It seems like a rival of another generation to read the report of the death of Horatio King, who was postmaster-general during Buchanan's administration and who dropped completely out of all public life and recollection more than 20 years ago. Of the men who were his contemporaries, very few are now alive and fewer still are active in public affairs.

California's new law prohibiting divorced people to marry in that State under a year, is sending many people into Nevada to have the knot tied. County Clerk Porter receives letters by nearly every mail on the subject. There have been no less than six marriages since the adjournment of the California Legislature, to divorced people from that State.—Gazette.

The other day a gentleman accosted a young man sitting next to him in a New York street car, and asked the loan of a nickel to pay his fare. The young man scanned the stranger and then handed him the money. Then the recipient handed the young man his card. It bore the name and address of John D. Rockefeller.—Boston Herald.

LIVING MUMMY IN PARIS.

French Physicians Examine an Extraordinary Creature.

The Academy of Medicine in Paris is just now studying one of the most extraordinary human beings who have ever been born into this world, says the New York Herald. He is known as the mummy man, and one glance at his ghastly face and body shows that he deserves the title.

This phenomenal being is named Castagnas, and according to the civil register of Paris, he is now 28 years old. He is about four feet high and he weighs only 43 pounds. Even with his clothes on he is a most singular looking object—a veritable lusus nature. His forehead is large, and over it is stretched a thick covering of parchment-like skin. His eyes, the muscles of which are atrophied, are quite round and are wide open, like the eyes of night birds. His nose, too, reminds one of such birds, for not only is it entirely without flesh, but it is also curved in the form of a beak, drooping in this fashion over a mouth in which the teeth can always be seen, set together as though in a grimace. Altogether the head and face are so uncanny and so horrible that it is impossible to set down anything like a vivid description of them on paper.

His arms and legs are inconceivably thin and slender. Bones and nerves are pressing close against each other, and the tight skin holds them together as though it were a sheath of India rubber. The whole body, in fact, is a miracle of frailness and meagerness, and the wonder is that a good puff of wind does not blow it away.

SHARK HOOKS.

Fitted with a Length of Stout Chain That the Shark Can't Bite Through.

Shark hooks are made in various sizes, ranging in length from five inches to 14 inches, and in width from 1 1/2 inches to 3 1/2 inches. They are provided with a chain and swivel, the chain of the various sized hooks ranging from 1 1/2 inches to 2 1/2 inches in length. Shark hooks with chains sell from 50 cents to two dollars, says the New York Sun.

Shark skin and shark oil are utilized for some purposes, and in Mediterranean countries young sharks are eaten; but the catching of sharks for profit is mostly confined to Europe. Here they are taken mainly for sport. Every coasting vessel is likely to carry a shark fishing outfit, and every fisherman is sure to, and shark tackle is often carried on yachts. Fishermen may catch sharks to get them out of the way so that they will no longer pursue and disturb the fish. On a coast-er if they run across sharks the men are likely to fish for them just for fun; and shark fishing from the yacht would also be a diversion. It may be that a shark fishing from a yacht the owner will try his skill on the shark with a rifle, killing it before it is hauled aboard.

Sharks are sometimes mounted by the taxidermist as show pieces for exhibition purposes, but they are never mounted whole as trophies. Occasionally a sportsman or a sailor brings in to be mounted a shark's jaws.

An Iconoclast's Story.

A British naval writer says that one Casabianca nor his father perished on a burning ship. They were drowned while swimming for the boats. Put as the iconoclast was not there, Mrs. Hemans will still be considered the best authority.

THE CHOICE OF PICTURES.

Cheap Imitations Are Unpleasant and in Poor Taste.

Nothing is so quickly noticed by an outsider as the pictures in your home, and nothing else so well repays the thought and time expended in selection. Above all, do not buy cheap pictures because they are cheap. Better that the wall should be entirely bare than that it should be covered with a miscellaneous lot of pictures which mean nothing to you and are worth nothing to themselves. The cheap picture, bought usually at a large dry goods store, is a pretense to be something better than it is, and a very bad counterfeited indeed, a lithograph in lieu of a water color or a cheap engraving in place of a good one. The frames on these pictures are never pretty, and show their inferior material and workmanship in the most glaring manner.

I have found that the most satisfactory way to procure a collection of pictures, especially if your purse is limited, is to select the pictures unframed and then have them framed to suit yourself. You can then have the pictures you think most of and get frames which harmonize with them. Unframed etchings can be bought at any art store, and those which are not "proof" etchings, though, of course, not the best, are very pretty and always reasonable. The printed name of the etching beneath it is a sign of cheapness, so in having one framed always cover up the title. Either have a narrow frame of oak or other dark wood set close around the picture or a mat with a wood frame. A mat in a soft shade of brown which harmonizes with the browns in the etching would be effective, and with it a rather wide frame of plain oak or a narrow one with open or beaded edge.

Photographs are always satisfactory, and one can get photographic reproductions of all the famous pictures of an ancient and modern times at almost any art store. It would pay one to spend a day or more in looking over the collections of unmounted photographs which every dealer in pictures is sure to have.—Washington Home Magazine.

An Unappreciated Partner.

Wilkins—How is business, Wilkins?
Wilkins—Can't make it go. At this rate I'll be bankrupt in another month. I don't seem to have any head for business.

Wilkins—No, you haven't; but you have a good stand, and if you'll promise to keep hands off and let me run things, I'll go in with you as a partner.

Wilkins—Done. A friend in need is a friend indeed.
Guest of Mr. Wilkins (ten years after)—What a magnificent place you have! Everything that wealth could buy or heart wish! You have been wonderfully prosperous, Mr. Wilkins.

Mr. Wilkins (sadly)—True, but after all I get only half the profits of my great establishment. I just tell you, my old friend, the mistake of my life was in taking a partner.—N. Y. Weekly.

Birth and Death Rates.

It is estimated that the death rate of the world is 27 a minute, and the birth rate 70 a minute, and this seemingly light percentage of gain is sufficient to give a net increase of population a year of almost 1,200,000 souls.
