LOCAL AND OTHERWISE.

T. J. Osborne leaves for Salt Lake in the morning to be absent about ten days.

M. Griffith bought from William Clark, the old Emanuel house on Main St.

Fresh pork at eight cents was being peddled from produce wagons on Monday.

Lloyd and Cook have another car of ore ready for shipment from the Poorman mine.

Don't forget to attend the dog and pony show at Thompson's Hall this evening.

Henry Eilers leaves for Salt Lake tomorrow to spend the holiday season with his family.

Jim Frisch has gone to Round Valley to finish the carpenter work and painting on Joe DeLamar's new house.

Charlie Millett reports that the thermometer registered 22 degrees below zero at Spring Valley this morning.

Assessment work is being done on the Currency and Greenback claims lying between the Yuba and the old Mazepa.

Last week's issue of the Lode must have been sidetracked in the mails as not a copy was received in town here.

Miss Grace Harville arrived on Sunday evening and will visit with her sister, Mrs. H. E. Freudenthal for the winter.

Chas. Crow left last week for Minersville, with his household and other goods and will make that his home in the future.

Geo. Nesbitt and Benj. Saneers came in from DeLamar on Friday, presumably on law business, and returned on Sunday.

Mrs. J. D. Campbell offers her Piano for Raffle, 150 tickets at $2.00, a ticket. It is a square piano, Wm. McComan make, and is in good condition.

J. Eisenmann went up to Salt Lake on Monday, to arrange for the shipment and winter feeding of his cattle. The band numbers several hundred head.

The Treasurer's Office met with a rush at the closing day of taxpaying and is now busy with the delinquent list. Taxes came in fairly well this year.

Prospectors have found good copper croppings in the range of mountains immediately west of Bristol and are waiting a fall of snow in order to do prospecting there as there is no water in the vicinity.

Episcopal Church services were held last evening at the District Court room; Rev. Benjamin Darnell, of DeLamar officiating. The snow and cold weather made the attendance smaller than it otherwise would have been.

With but a few hours warning, the sky clouded over on Tuesday morning and between five and six inches of light snow fell during the afternoon and evening. Wednesday opened up with a clear sky but cold. The fall was most extensive to the east and north as no fall occurred at DeLamar, 50 miles south of this place. The cattle men are happy over the present fall, as it will enable them to locate their stock at points where feed is fairly good, but which without snow, affords no water.

Passengers to and from DeLamar can secure a daylight ride by taking the stage on what is called the "off" or non-mail day. The stage is obliged to make seven trips a week in order to carry the six mails. The stage going north on Saturday and south on Monday, carries no mail and will be run through by daylight whenever passenger comfort requires it. The regular mails must connect closely with the train at Nevada, this makes a night ride from DeLamar unavoidable on mail days.

Death of Mrs. Rice.

The sad news was brought to town on Monday that Mrs. Henry Rice, of Spring Valley had died there suddenly the previous evening.

The cause of death is believed to have been heart disease, as she was around and in usual health until Saturday evening. She complained then of not feeling as well as usual, but on Sunday morning was around attending to light work. She complained of cold and chilliness and suddenly sunk into a chair and asked to be assisted to bed. The only complaint she made was that she was unwell and she steadily sunk, until at four o'clock in the afternoon the spark of life went out.

Mr. Rice was absent from home and arrived only a few minutes before death.

Deceased leaves a family of six children, three of whom are grown. She was a woman highly esteemed by all who knew her as a good wife and mother, and the sympathies of the community generally go out to the bereaved husband and family.

Bristol Work.

The Newhouse operations at Bristol District will very shortly determine much of the immediate future of that mineral section. The gasoline hoist of twelve horse power, which is being erected over the Gypsy shaft will be in operation this week. Though the Gypsy is in the very heart of the best mineral outcrop there, and though much work on the National, Mayflower, Cave and other claims thereabouts has been done in years past, this will be the first application of power or steam hoist.

The Gypsy operations are for the purpose of exploiting a body of ore which was encountered in the shaft years ago but which, through litigation, and the subsequent death of one of the claimants, was never developed to any great extent.

Unless all signs fail a mine of great value will speedily be opened up there, for in addition to copper, the silver and lead values were in the past sufficiently high to justify work, and while now the price of silver is lower, yet general working expenses are proportionately reduced, so that the mine possesses a great prospective value now as it ever did in the past.

Whether present operations result in permanent or extensive work or not, the developments of that section will not be delayed beyond the building of the railroad, for claims which can now, with conditions as to transportation etc. generally against them, almost pay expenses, will become steady producers and dividend payers as soon as facilities for shipment and cheap reduction are afforded.

There are a number of claims already in that section in just this condition. They exist in both Bristol and the Jack Rabbit Districts, for the mineral zone there extends to both sides of the range and is several miles in extent.

Thompson's stock is constantly receiving additions. You can get almost anything you want there in the way of general merchandise. The total gold production of the Cripple Creek district, Colorado, in November was $2,515,500, an increase of more than 25 per cent over the largest previous monthly record.

Capt. F. M. Linscott of the U. S. Army has been appointed military instructor at the Reno State University. Since the breaking out of the Spanish-American war last year, all Universities have been without regular army instructors.

Miss Alice Culverwell, daughter of Wm. Culverwell lately deceased and who has been here and at Meadow Valley Wash for two months past, looking into her father's estate, returned to her home in Los Angeles, last Friday. The same business is expected to call her here again next spring.

Cattle thieves appear to be numerous in the northern part of the State. Several convictions were recently had at Carson. Complaints come from other sections and now two men, David and Henry Miller have been arrested in Reno for stealing beef cattle from the ranch of Congressman Newlands in Lyon county.

Hon. J. A. Denton having again assumed control of the mail routes between here and the railroad and to DeLamar also, proposes to run them as much as possible for the convenience of the public. Instead of being a side line from Panaca Pioche will hereafter be on the main route and the driver leaving here will go through to Nevada. Wm. Perry is reported to be about to move his family here from Panaca and to assume charge of this end of the line.

UVADA NOTES.

Senator Denton has struck water in a well near his place so that hereafter we shall not be dependent entirely on the railroad company for that very necessary article. The R. R. Company supplies it at ten dollars a tank.

Freight shipments in and out continue good.

The dust is churned up hereabouts and seems to be a foot deep. We are all praying for rain.

A BRAVE PIOCHER.

The atmosphere was made very sulphuric in and about Nevada on Thursday last by the Dago jargon and deputized authority(?) of Albert Peccinnino, Peter Bartelloni and the official staff of the Sheriff's office which is located somewhere in the State of Nevada, which met apparently for blood.

The occasion for this was: It appears Albert Peccinnino, a boy about 19 years of age who had been working in a mine in DeLamar had decided to leave the wilds of Nevada taking with him an "I O U $65" of Peter Bartelloni, and seek a "Haven of Rest" where Miners consumption and Delamar dust was unknown. To this however Peter objected, but not before the industrious Albert had struck out for the Utah line and reached here, with Peter Bart, Eli Edwards and Al hot on his trail, striking our fair and growing City like a thunderbolt from a fair sky. They overtook the fugitive from Nevada justice here and all parties interested except your correspondent, drew shooting irons and it looked for a short time as "tho' that would be blind shed."

Your correspondent crawled under the table, for he had just read about a man shuffling off who tried to stop bullets. At this time Ed W. Clark and Geo. Harris, both peaceable and lawabiding citizens of this great commonwealth, arrived on the scene armed with all kinds of guns; even the Capt. De Lamar, "Kill a robber at 3 mile" gun was trained on the Beanyer Beater who held in his right hand a small pop gun about 3 inches long and said "Don't come any nearer" stood all of them off. After some talk by all concerned it was decided that all parties put up their guns and wait the arrival of an officer of Iron Co. Utah, acquiesced in by deputy Edwards, who fears nothing unless it is an Italian with a pop gun.

All hands covered their "weepings" and adjourned to the Hotel Denton where they did justice to a square meal. It was after supper that Ed W. Clark, formerly of DeLamar, made the gallant play of the evening and for his indomitable(?) pluck and courage(?) the Nevada officers should be thankful; for Mr. Clark thought up the plan and put it into execution assisted by Eli Edwards, viz: Clark grabbed one of Alberts wrists, when off his guard, and Edwards the other, tied them up with rope and loaded him in the vehicle for DeLamar. The prisoner offered no resistance. Eli Edwards the "Sleuth of the Panacas" and Peter Bartelloni, "who wishes he was an office," accompanied Young Peccinnino who was well tied, so it was not necessary for Clark or Harris to go for protection to any one.

The movements of the posse were directed by Major A. Keefe, who occupied a prominent position on top of the Utah & Pacific Railroad Office, with a spy glass in one hand and a fog-horn in the other.

John Vieta was out at Deer Lodge last week looking into the place for possible business purposes. He returned through here to DeLamar on Friday.

On Monday morning the horse attached to the Geyser mail wagon, bolted and ran away. After circling around on the upper part of Main St. and breaking the wagon in two, he charged down street with the shafts and front wheels and kept up his run until he landed in Joe Coumerrill's pasture in Spring Valley 25 miles distant, with the shafts and wheels still intact. Joe Hollinger reported the runaway when he came to town on Tuesday.

The Dexter mine at Tuscarora is involved in debt. It is said to be the result of extravagant management. Of it the Times-Review says: The Dexter has produced in the past year something over $150,000, in bullion at an expense, we are credibly informed, of approximately $100,000, which includes all improvements from which the company derived any real benefit. From these figures it will be seen that the trouble is not at the mine, and the curious share holder can compute for himself how near at hand are the long promised dividends under present conditions. Just what form the next extravagance will take is a matter of conjecture, and the guesses hazarded range from a windmill to the establishment of a liquid air plant.

All classes of job work turned out at the Roonan office, at reasonable prices.

Free suffrage exists in Utah, and John Y. Smith, the man who, several months ago sent infernal machines by express to Judge Powers and Warden Dow, of the Penitentiary, last week wanted women impanelled as a jury to try him. His motion was denied however.

The high price of copper is stimulating its production from every quarter of the country. According to the figures compiled by the New York Metal Exchange, the production of copper for October was almost 24,000 tons, an amount very much in excess of any previous month in the history of the exchange and it promises to increase still further.

Stockmen and agriculturalists generally hereabouts are ready to pray for rain. This marks the beginning of the fourth dry season which has occurred hereabouts and in consequence the ranges are bare or feed, and water courses generally are dry. Several thousand head of cattle have been shipped to points in the northern country and while this has thinned out the ranges to a great extent, those who are unable to ship or transfer their stock to other parts look for heavy losses this winter, as the stock are in no condition to face severe weather.
