"MY OWN SELF AGAIN."

Mrs. Gates Writes to Mrs. Pinkham, Follows Her Advice and is Made Well.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For nearly two and one-half years I have been feeble health. At first my little child came it seemed I could not get my strength again. I have chills and the severest pains in my limbs and top of head and am almost insensible at times. I also have a pain just to the right of breast bone. It is so severe at times that I cannot lie on my right side. Please write me what you think of my case."—Mrs. CLARA GATES, Johns P. O., Miss., April 25, 1893.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as advised and now send you a letter for publication. For several years I was in such wretched health that life was almost a burden. I could hardly walk across the floor, was so feeble. Several of our best physicians attended me, but failed to help. I concluded to write to you for advice. In a few days I received such kind, motherly letter. I followed your instructions and am my 'old self' again. Was greatly benefited before I had used one bottle. May God bless you for what you are doing for suffering women."—Mrs. CLARA GATES, Johns P. O., Miss., Oct. 6, 1893.

AS THE WORLD MOVES
The new queen of Italy, formerly Princess Helena of Montenegro, is considered one of the most beautiful women of Europe. She is in great contrast with her husband, being nearly six feet tall. She is healthy and robust, and partly for that reason was selected for the king. They were married Oct. 24, 1898.

Tod Sloan Hart.
Tod Sloan, the American jockey, had a frightful fall while riding Lilly Langtry's horse Malama in the race for the Liverpool cup. The horse, a strong favorite, was in front at the time of the accident. He went down with a crash, with Sloan under him. His rolled over the jockey-kicking furiously. The crowd in Tattersall's stand, in the paddock and in the paddock were on their feet screaming in an excitement of horror. Women fainted at the spectacle. Those nearest the point of the accident rushed to Sloan's assistance as quickly as possible. The horse was kicking furiously. Sloan lay prostrate in a big pool of blood. When rescued from under the struggling animal he presented an awful sight. Blood was streaming from his head, nose and mouth. One ear was nearly severed from his head. One side of his head was battered in. Every one thought he was dead. He still breathed, however, and was carried to Lord Derby's carriage, which was driven hurriedly to the Adelphi hotel and half a dozen doctors were immediately summoned to the jockey's side. They pronounced his injuries serious, but not necessarily fatal. All who saw the accident and the furious struggle of the horse as it lay on Sloan's body marveled at his escape from instant death.

J. H. STORTS.
Revelations of the Apostle John, and says that we are very close to the "last days."

Origin of "Lobster."
Boston is now engaged in the attempt to determine when the word lobster was first applied to a man as a term of opprobrium. New York has been satisfied for two years with the explanation that the phrase was first heard on the Guttenberg track, where it was used to describe the quality of the horseflesh that took part in the races there. It was the particularly bad performance of one horse on which a crowd of small bettors had staked all their earnings that led to the first use of the name by a disgusted sport. This explanation of the word's use has generally been accepted by everybody, although more erudite theories, suited better to Boston's particular case, have recently been forthcoming. John Adams, in his argument in defense of the British soldiers on trial for murder because of complicity in the "Boston Massacre," mentions the word "lobster" as one of the epithets applied by the citizens to the soldiers. The use of the word "lobster" as applied to a soldier has also been shown by a Bostonian interested in the subject to have been found as far back as 1642, if not before that time. In the face of such learned investigation, the Guttenberg race track hypothesis seems to have small chance of acceptance.

From Riches to Nasty.
From the glare of the ballroom's candelabra to the twinkling of stars upon the deck of a man of war, from the purring adulation of society to the bellowing of big-mouthed cannon, from the luxuries of a millionaire father's home to hardback and black coffee, from a practically unlimited income to pay of 15 per month—such was the transition begun last week in Chicago by Samuel Fritz Nave, the seventeen-year-old son of S. M. Nave, one of the wealthiest bankers and merchants in St. Joseph, Mo., when he took the oath required of those who enlist in the United States navy. The recruit, then a guest at the Great Northern hotel, where he had a suite, was attired in the most fashionable tuxedo, wore a big diamond shirt stud and diamond rings. His manners were faultless, and to assure his success in being accepted he told the recruiting officer that he was 19 years old. He gave his right name, but told no one that he had left a mansion in Missouri.

Col. Lee Retires.
Colonel James G. C. Lee, assistant quartermaster general of the United States army and chief quartermaster of the department of the lakes for the past two years, will be retired from active service this week on account of having reached the age limit, and his friends assert that in injustice has been done him in not granting him a brigadier general's commission before his retirement. They declare that this injustice was marked thirty years ago when Colonel Lee was advanced over him, regardless of his seniority. Colonel Lee will celebrate his sixty-fourth birthday on the day he is retired and is adverse to publishing his claim for a general's commission. He has a brilliant record in the army, having entered the volunteer service in 1862.

Compromising Endowments.
Whatever one's position on the merits of the question, there is something morally reassuring in the fact that the acceptance of Mr. Rockefeller's $100,000 gift to Wellesley college, at its recent commencement, was challenged by a portion of the faculty. Of course, no such issue would be expected, for example, at Chicago university, since questions of that sort were settled in respect to that institution at the start. Wellesley, however, especially in view of its pronounced moral tone, is a college where a question as to the origin of endowments would seem quite natural, and the fact that it was raised—though apparently without hindering the final acceptance of the gift—is a wholesome reminder that the relation between endowments on the one hand and moral standards and intellectual liberty on the other is by no means ignored at that center.

A Success in Prospect.
Neither the penniless Duke of Manchester nor the rich and beautiful Miss Helena Zimmerman of Cincinnati will discuss the reported engagement of marriage between them. Their silence is generally taken to give assent to the story. A formal announcement of the engagement is expected in a short time. Miss Zimmerman, who is the daughter of Eugene Zimmerman of Cincinnati, is worth $1,000,000, and it is expected that she will eventually inherit eight of ten millions more from the estate of her father. Mr. Zimmerman replied the only terms he would accept were unconditional surrender, and until those were complied with, hostilities could not cease. He expressed my approval and told Hunter or on no account to enter into negotiations. As I am writing a telegram has come from Hunter saying that Prinsloo had written a second letter expressing willingness to hand over himself with his men, rifles, ammunition and other firearms upon condition that the horses, saddles, bridles and other possessions of the burghers be guaranteed them and they be free to return to their homes.

Favors American Girl.
Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, has taken a great fancy for her new American niece, that Miss Lawrence of New York who, a few months ago, married young Hoag's Campbell, only son of Lord Walter Campbell, brother of the present Duke of Argyll. The duchess has just given expression to her affection for the fair American by placing at the disposal of the young couple Hilkatrine, an exceedingly pretty place in Argyllshire.

Causes Sensation.
Mlle. Dosne, sister-in-law of Thiers, has presented his manuscripts to the national library in Paris, a condition being that they shall not be utilized till after her death. It is believed that they will throw much light on French political and literary history. Some persons are still old-fashioned enough to pay their debts even though not compelled by law to do so. Purvis & Co., bankers of Baltimore, failed in 1868, and their creditors got but little. Purvis & Co., bankers of Williamsport, Pa., advertise their desire to pay all claims against the long defunct firm, saying, "these are debts of honor and will be paid regardless of bankrupt laws or statutes of limitations." Purvis & Co. of 1868 were grandson and father of the Williamsport man.

Defends Microbes.
Dr. Charles E. Page created quite a sensation at the Washington convention of doctors by coming to the defense of the microbe. He held that a healthy body generates its own germicides and that the microbe in such a body stands about as good a chance of doing mischief "as a mouse in a tight room surrounded by a dozen hungry cats."

She is healthy and robust, and partly for that reason was selected for the king. They were married Oct. 24, 1898. No children have been born to them. The prince married reluctantly, as he feared he might become the father of an imbecile, which, by some fatality, is born every century to the house of Savoy. The princess is a lover of outdoor sports, and excels in shooting, hunting and riding. For an amateur she is an excellent musician, playing the mandolin and piano exceptionally well. She speaks English, French, German and Italian and is a clever artist. She is also a great lover of literature.

Beers Near the End.
The hardest blow struck the Boer cause in South Africa came last week when Gen. Prinsloo surrendered 5,000 men into the hands of the British. The following report of the affair, just made to the British war office by Lord Roberts, tells the pathetic story in detail: "On July 23 Macdonald fought a rear guard action with the enemy from early morning until dark nine miles outside of Naauport, in the Bethchem hills, resulting in his effectually blocking Naauport neck to the Boer wagons. Hunter reports that the enemy twice checked his advance by holding strong positions on two necks, one of which was taken before dark by the Scots, the Royal Irish, the Wiltshire and the Leinster regiments. Our casualties were only five or six. The second neck was taken during the fight by the Scots and Guards, without opposition, the enemy retiring closely to Naauport. The prisoners taken stated that 1,200 burghers would surrender if guaranteed that they would be treated as prisoners of war and not as rebels. To this I had assented. As a result of these operations Prinsloo, commanding the Boers, asked under a flag of truce a four days' armistice for peace negotiations. Hunter replied the only terms he would accept were unconditional surrender, and until those were complied with, hostilities could not cease. He expressed my approval and told Hunter or on no account to enter into negotiations. As I am writing a telegram has come from Hunter saying that Prinsloo had written a second letter expressing willingness to hand over himself with his men, rifles, ammunition and other firearms upon condition that the horses, saddles, bridles and other possessions of the burghers be guaranteed them and they be free to return to their homes."

Crumbs.
The waste of the world would erase the need of the world. An excuse can be found for the use of silks and broadcloth, rich food and expensive furniture. These things are beautiful; but there is a far higher beauty—a life lived plainly for the sake of charity. "My gift," we say, "would be only a crumb to feed a hungry world." Then God will hold you responsible only for that crumb. It was only five loaves and two small fishes; but they were given willingly, and Christ fed five thousand with them.

Passing of the Horse.
So soon as nature sees an improvement there is a change. The candle gave way to electricity and the horse to the automobile. The fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been sold for over a half a century, proves its value. There is nothing to equal it for stomach or liver trouble. Be sure to give it a trial.

When a preparation has an advertised reputation that is world-wide, it means that preparation is meritorious. If you go into a store to buy an article that has achieved universal popularity like Cascarets Candy Cathartic for example, you feel it has the endorsement of the world. The judgment of the people is infallible because it is impersonal. The retailer who wants to sell you "something else" in place of the article you ask for, has an axe to grind. Don't it stand to reason? He's trying to sell something that is not what he represents it to be. Why? Because he expects to derive an extra profit out of your credulity. Are you any? Don't you see through his little game? The man who will try and sell you a substitute for CASCARETS is a fraud. Beware of him! He is trying to steal the honestly earned benefits of a reputation which another business man has paid for, and if his conscience will allow him to go so far, he will go farther. If he cheats his customer in one way, he will in another and it is not safe to do business with him. Beware of the CASCARETS substitute. Remember CASCARETS are never sold in bulk but in metal boxes with the long tailed "C" on every box and each tablet stamped C. C. C.

A Vicarious Atonement.
That our Lord's death upon the cross was a vicarious "atonement" for the sins of the whole world, and was accepted by God as such, is evidenced by His resurrection from the dead on Easter day, and also by its redeeming efficacy upon the human race, as witnessed by facts which no unprejudiced mind can deny. That His sacrifice upon the cross was more than an example of obedience unto death, for us to follow, is attested by St. Paul—Rev. A. G. Bakewell, Episcopalian, New Orleans, La.

Bicycle Costumes Kept Out.
The Chapter of Rouen Cathedral have decided not to admit the fair sex to the sacred building in "unwomanly" clothes, and the rest of the French clergy will probably follow suit. This is a protest against the modern innovation known as the bicycle costume, and includes both bloomers and short skirts. The vergar of the cathedral, with an eye to money-making, has laid in a stock of long skirts which he proposes to let out at 20 cents per garment to women with inadmissible costumes.
