

COARSE WORK ALLEGED AT ELY.

Eureka Sentinel: About the middle of last month at Ely, White Pine county, Nevada, Louis Janin, Jr., the well-known mining expert, invited A. D. Campton, the bookkeeper of the Chairman Mining Co. to his room. After locking the door it is alleged, he accused Campton of tampering with his mail matter, and then gave him such a beating the bookkeeper was confined to his room for a week.

Mr. Janin had been employed by some of the principals shareholders of the Chairman Company in the east to visit Ely and ascertain, by thorough tests, the values contained in the ores in the mines of the company and also to report whether the mill then being constructed would successfully treat the ores. In fact, Mr. Janin was employed to make an exhaustive report on the entire property of the Chairman Company.

Louis Janin, Jr., bears the reputation of being an honorable and thoroughly competent mining expert. It is stated that he was receiving a salary of $2,500 a month for his services while in the employ of the Chairman Company. He had been at work in Ely for about two months when the reported trouble between Campton and himself occurred.

The story of the difficulty, and the issues that lead up to it, have been quite freely talked over both in Eureka and Hamilton during the past week, and the remarks made regarding the management of the company's affairs during the past year are said not to have been very flattering.

As near as the Sentinel has been able to learn, the causes leading up to the present trouble were bought about by some one tampering with Mr. Janin's mail at Ely. It is said that soon after he began forwarding his reports to the Eastern shareholders Janin was unable to receive prompt replies to his letters. Later, it is reported he received advices from the East to the effect that he must have been mistaken in his statement of facts made in his report as Mr. Campton, the company's bookkeeper, had written them (the shareholders) that his (Janin's) reports were untruthful and misleading as to the existing conditions of the company's affairs at Ely. It is further alleged that Mr. Janin abided his time until he had secured satisfactory evidence of the interference of Mr. Campton in his business matters before he proceeded to read the riot act to him.

As the story goes he invited Campton to call at his rooms in Ely. When the bookkeeper was safely inside the room Janin locked the door and immediately accused Campton of meddling with his affairs and showed him his evidence. Mr. Campton, it is said, denied all the allegations adduced by Janin, but the mining expert believed his proofs against the bookkeeper so conclusive that he considered his denial only an additional falsehood.

Before Janin began his pugilistic work on Campton, it is stated, he informed that gentlemen that he (Janin) had no other stock in trade than his reputation as a thoroughly honorable and competent mining expert; that he intended upholding that reputation at all hazards; and that when such people as the Rothschilds employed him and accepted his reports on mining properties he did not believe Campton's statements of his unreliability would count for much.

After concluding this prelude, it is reported that the fur began to fly immediately. Janin is a powerfully built man and an athlete, and nearly killed Campton before he finished with him. After the set-to it was found that one of Campton's cheeks was laid open, and service of a physician were necessary to close the wound—no less than five stitches being required to sew it up. Janin came out of the melee with only a badly skinned nose.

The six-ounce bottle of Trib at 50c is the popular size of the best liniment. No remedy is more often needed.

"We caught a burglar in our room last night," writes a North Idaho editor, "and we are now in possession of $5 and a new hat. All things come to him who wait."

There is said to be $300,000 worth of ore in sight in the Wedekind mine, with only a beginning of development work.

For burns and bruises Trib is chief; From every sprain it takes the pain To muscles sore it brings relief; And for the "hoss" it is the boss.

The postal authorities at Washington, recognizing the liabilities of postmasters to make mistakes in getting letters in wrong boxes, have fixed a penalty of $200 on persons taking mail out of the office other than their own and not returning it. The law is to have people look at their mail before taking it out of the office and if they should have mail other than their own they must return it at once. It also includes newspapers. The excuse that it is the postmaster's fault "cuts no ice." If you have been getting other people's mail you had better take warning or you may get yourself in trouble.

A Carson Lady's Request.

Mrs. Ann Riekey, a highly respected lady of Carson, has written the following which explains itself:

To the Trib Company:

Gentlemen—I sprained my foot and ankle very severely, turning the foot clear over, I tried a number of applications which usually relieve sprains but without effect. At the end of three days the swelling was greater than ever the pain interable, and I could not walk. The whole foot was double its natural size and black in color. I then tried Trib. In a few days I was entirely well, and to-day that ankle is better and stronger than the other. The Trib seems to have renewed the life of the whole limb. Use my name in recommending Trib. Keep on advertising until all the world has knowledge of the great value, and great blessing—of this new remedy.

ANN RIEKEY.

Mrs. Riekey's testimony is confirmed by that of a hundred others in and about this city.—Carson News.

The Rev. Mr. Riekey's Almanac.

This splendid book of 200 pages is not only a work of art of the highest order, but it is the most complete and valuable book on Astronomy and Meteorology for 1902 to be found in the world. No wonder the first edition of one hundred thousand was about exhausted by the end of January. The bible excepted, no other book can be found in so many American homes. The millions have proven its value and will not be without. The publishers will supply this book for a month or two for the regular price, with the increased postage added. Send 30 cents to World and Works Publishing Company, 2201 Locust Street, St. Louis, Mo., and this splendid book will be mailed to you prepaid. Do not pass the year without it in your office or home.
