The I. O. O. F. Ball.

The Ball given by the Odd Fellows last night was the best in attendance, sociability and grandeur that we have had here for many years. The Hall was tastefully decorated with the regalia and ensigns of the order, and at nine o'clock the members in their full regalia marched from their Hall to Thompson's Hall, the Grand March commencing a few minutes after nine o'clock. The Hall was crowded, and most pleasantly; everyone there seemed to be in good humor and if any one failed to enjoy themselves, it certainly was not the fault of any of the members of the order, for they were ever alert to see that everyone there received all the dancing they wished. The music was good and a fine supper was served at Tower's. Dancing was kept up until about 4 o'clock. It will be long remembered but those attending with pleasant thoughts of the good time had.

JUSTICE'S COURT.

The Justice's Court was taken up Tuesday with the case of Sherwood arrested for Vagrancy, and the defendant demanded a jury trial. T. J. Osborne appeared for the defendant and District Attorney Horsey for the State. The case lasted all day and well into the night, when it went to the Jury and in a few minutes a verdict of not guilty was returned. The Defendant after the verdict was rendered, concluded to hunt other climes and left ere the morning sun arose.

STATE NEWS.

Items Gathered From Our Exchanges.

The miners of Fairview have organized a union. The wages will be $4.50 per day.

The State authorities at Carson have moved the armory into the old Pavilion building.

The Silver State is making many improvements to its plant, and is now a neat and newsy little daily.

It is stated that Berieau, the slayer of Sheriff Logan, of Nye county, is showing signs of insanity.

Mrs. M. Jones, an inmate of the Insane Asylum, at Reno, for the past eight years, died there last week Saturday.

The Transvaal Miner is the name of a new paper published at Beatty, Nye county. It is neatly printed and full of news of that section.

The Herald says that the monthly payroll of Palmetto districts, Esmeralda county, already aggregates $5,000. Miners' wages there are $4.50 per day.

The Miners' Union has completed its hospital building at Tonopah. The structure is considered the finest of its kind in the west and its cost was $11,000

The Bullfrog Miner, now published at Rhyolite, comes out with its issue of April 13th printed on wrapping paper and colored poster paper owing to the failure of its news paper to arrive.

It is asserted on good authority that Winnemucca will be the headquarters in Nevada for the construction department of the Western Pacific. That place may also be the division point.

The Santa Fe Company has decided to build a branch line from Manvel to Searchlight, in Lincoln county. Contractors are already on the ground and it is expected the road will be completed the present year.

It is reported from Ely that ground is being broken for the large concentrating and smelting works of the Nevada Consolidated Company. A great deal of grading will be necessary, and it is the purpose of the management to have the work well advanced by the time the railroad is completed and the structural material and machinery begins to arrive. The plant will handle 1,250 tons of ore daily.

A heavy windstorm visited us the early part of the week.

THE NEW STRIKE.

A Correspondent of the RECORD Visits the New Camp and Grows Nervous Because the Public do Not Realize its Great Resources.

A representative of the RECORD visited the new camp near Bailey Springs yesterday where considerably activity prevails of late. Particularly speaking this is the district in which the rich strike heretofore mentioned in this paper was made by J. L. Whipple some months ago.

There are five men working upon the group of five claims performing location work preparatory to establishing a permanent camp, and the encouragement recently met with is far in excess of expectations. At the point of original discovery on the Silver King claim especially is this true. The shaft has reached a depth of perhaps seven feet and the values in that distance is believed by those familiar with the character of the ore to have increased fully fifty per cent, while the pay streak four feet wide has every appearance of widening.

On the surface no mineral other than chloride of silver could be detected in the rock, but in the bottom of the shaft now sulphide of silver is appearing in a very fine grain grena specimens of which will run up into the thousands of ounces.

South of the original discovery another strike has been made which shows greater values than found on the surface in the former place, the ore being of the same character.

North of and on the belt some 900 feet distance still another strike has been made, which in appearance seems just as important as any of the others.

This is about all the prospecting which has been done in the entire district and the extent of high values consequently can only be contemplated.

The district, which at present has no name, appears to be about two miles in width and six miles in length in a series of rolling hills and is crossed in a north and south and east and west direction by large and in some instances enormously large quartz ledges cropping boldly above the surrounding.

These ledges, excepting the one mentioned above seems never to have been prospected and possibly no part of them ever assayed. The rock is exceedingly hard and of a peculiar dark or black and unattractive color, which perhaps accounts for the district having been overlooked up to this date.

The formation is bedded Cambrian quartzite slightly tilted to the south and west by an enormous granite belt on the north for a distance of six miles thus marking distinctly the mineral district. In the opinion of the writer every indication is favorable to a permanent camp and the values being uncovered almost at a stroke are sensational in the extreme. Little attention has been given the new camp by the local public until recently and only a few prospecting outfits are as yet there.

Should these discoveries have occurred anywhere else on the globe except in the vicinity of Pioche resident inhabitants would be breaking their necks to get a foothold there. It is a pity some of them are not doing this.

Public Holiday of One Week in Nevada.

Whereas, a great calamity has befallen our sister state of California, causing desolation, suffering, distress and death, and resulting in the paralysis of business throughout that state; And, whereas, by proclamation of the governor of said state of California, public holidays have been declared all over said state;

And, whereas, the business and social interests of the state of California and the state of Nevada have been so intermingled for the past fifty years that the material interests of the two states are practically identical;

And, whereas, the citizens of Nevada have relatives and friends dead and missing, in the distressed districts;

Now, therefore, in order to give our citizens an opportunity to seek their missing and bury their dead, and in order to give an opportunity to make provision for the destitute, and out of respect for the proclamation of the governor of the state of California, and believing that a temporary suspension of business for the period of six days in this state will tend to alleviate and aid the business interests of the state of California, pending the re-establishment of new business and financial headquarters, particularly in and for the stricken city of San Francisco, which is the distributing center of the Pacific Coast;

Now, therefore, I, Lemuel Allen, Lieutenant and Acting Governor of the State of Nevada do hereby officially proclaim and appoint April 23 to April 28 inclusive, A. D. 1906, as public holidays and I heartily recommend that all business be laid aside, that the financial institutions be closed, and that all citizens of this state devote the time to relieving and ameliorating the conditions of our neighbors in distress. In witness whereof, I have this day set my hand and affixed the great seal of the state of Nevada, the 23d day of April, A. D. 1906.

Lemuel Allen, Lieutenant and Acting Governor. Attest: W. G. Douglass, Secretary of State. By John W. Legate, Deputy.

Caliente Croppings.

Mrs Hans Oleson, who has been quite ill, is much improved Ernest Keat with several others are quite busy gathering horses to be sold.

Hy Rice one of our popular business men, has been in Salt Lake City the past week.

John Frei who has been in Los Angeles the past winter, was seen on our streets during the week.

The farmers around are quite busy getting ready to farm what land they have left since the flood.

Pat Ryan left for Los Angeles recently, where he goes to receive medical aid.

F. R. McNamee went to Salt Lake City Thursday, on business connected with the bank to be started here shortly.

The stores here are receiving new supplies daily and any one wishing to buy can make a very good selection.

All the bridges on the wagon roads, which were washed away during the recent floods, have been replaced, making it much easier to get in and out of town.

Quite an enjoyable affair took place in Warrens Hall, Saturday evening, being a surprise party on Mr. & Mrs Lee Bailey who leaves soon for San Francisco.

There must be a great attraction at Las Vegas for our popular Post Master, as it generally takes him about two weeks, to make a trip there and back.

Mrs Lewis Wertheimer of De-Lamer, passed through our burg during the week for San Francisco, where she has relatives who she fears have suffered in the recent disaster there.

From all appearances one of our bachelor Doctors, is thinking quite seriously, of changing his position of single blessedness.

The trains are beginning to arrive more regularly, and before long will be running on schedule time.

During the week one of the men employed on a section gang, south of here, had the misfortune of falling, the hand car running over him and breaking one of his legs in four places.

John & Phil Smith accompanied by J. Frost, came in Monday, from there claims in South-eastern mining district. They will take new supplies and return in a few days.

Ben Banks one of the employees at the Company store house, had the misfortune of bruising his arm quite severely, which will cause him to be idle for some little time.

Word was received here Monday of the death of Jack McCartney at Ely. His brothers Huey and Tom accompanied by his nephew Geo. Comiely left immediately, to have his remains shipped home to his mother in Pennsylvania.

Sowing Dollars in Nevada.

While many fortunes are being made in Nevada, along the lines of the mining industry, by men who have but little to invest and who are possessed of but little capital outside of a goodly reserve of push, energy and good judgment, the fact still remains that the greatest measure of success is being meted out to those who are making heavy investment in mining in this state, and who are putting in many thousands with the expectation of eventually taking out an equal number of millions. In reality, it is the men who are "sowing dollars" who will soon take rank as mining kings in the "Battle Born" state.

There are those who are amazed at the seemingly reckless manner with which "big men" and noted financiers are spending money in the acquisition, development and equipment of Nevada mining properties but, this seeming lavish expenditure is backed by good judgement, a knowledge of actual conditions and an almost certainty of result. Therefore, when leading capitalists and noted mining men of means begin sowing dollars in Nevada or any other of the numerous mining camps of the west, people who are wise will get in and follow their lead.

There is hardly a mining man in Utah and Nevada who would not willingly follow the lead of Samuel Newhouse when he begins to sow his dollars, and his advent into the campus of Bullfrog and Ely, Nevada, means that his staff of experts and engineers, after a careful and exhaustive examination of these camps, have recommended them to their principal as sure fields for safe and profitable investment, and this is why Mr. Newhouse has acquired valuable and promising property in the Montgomery Mountain, at Bullfrog, and the Highland group at Ely.

Charles Schwab, another magnate who is "sowing dollars" in Nevada, took no chances when he purchased the Montgomery-Shoshone, at Bullfrog, for five millions, and the dollars he has been sowing in this camp he reckons as just so much seed sown in fertile ground, and he expects a harvest that will be at least ten-fold. No one considers that he is throwing his dollars away, and yet his millions are making things lively in southwestern Nevada.

Gates, the steel and iron magnate, who is now sowing his dollars in the camp of Good Springs, in Lincoln county, Nevada, expects that in the reaping, when the harvest time arrives, every dollar will come back to him accompanied by a dozen others, and that his mining investments and enterprises will double his millions, which, if confined in strong boxes and in iron safes, would bring him no increase.

It is the same way with Daniel Guggenheim, who is now so heavily interested in the Nevada Consolidated, at Ely, whose stock is so steadily increasing in value; whose shares a few weeks ago were quoted at $11 a share, and which are now near the $18 mark, while it is believed that in the near future they will be in ready demand at from $40 to $45

What has been done once in Nevada can be done again, and records can be duplicated. The new bonanza camps of Nevada are top-notch, but it must be remembered that the "sage brush state" has had its Comstock, its Eureka, and other wonder camps whose records it will be hard to eclipse; and yet, before the great mines of these camps were made so wonderfully productive, Mackay, Flood, O'Brien, De Lamoignon and other mine owners were content to sow their dollars because they could expect any year in the way of profits and dividends.

The Philadelphia people who bought the Tonopah mine in the early history of Jim Butler's camp, were "sowing dollars." Those who have made fortunes in Goldfield put in their money before they took any out. A fortune was expended in Searchlight before the camp settled down to a dividend-paying basis and this history is being repeated in every new and old camp in the state, and all who are engaged in mining realize the fact that before the harvest there must be a seed time; that if one hopes to harvest thousands he must "sow dollars."—Mining Review.
