

LYNCHERS OUT ON BAIL

Roy, Mullihan, Elliot and Harris Given Liberty.

OASE WILL COME TO TRIAL FEB. 1.

They Returned to Their Homes—Residence Car Burns—One Indictment Stands Against Dorsey—Cotner Students Acquitted—Mrs. Anderson's Injuries Proven Fatal—Pardon Granted to M. Tennehom.

O'NEILL, Neb., Feb. 3.—County Judge McCutchen decided that he would admit Mullihan, Elliott and Harris to bail in the sum of $3,000 each, and Mert Roy in the sum of $1,000, to appear at the court room on Feb. 7 to stand trial for the murder of Barrett Scott. The action of the judge in admitting three of the defendants to bail after they had been positively identified by three witnesses as being in the assault on Scott and his family is criticised by many who are of the opinion that the evidence was sufficient to hold them without bail. The following parties signed the bonds for defendants: W. D. Bradstreet, D. J. Cronin, J. H. Hopkins, August Obert, John Davidson, John Boshart, James Gregg, B. W. Postewart and Peter Kelly. After procuring bonds the defendants left for home.

Both Legs Frozen.

Pardon Granted to M. Tennehom.

DES MOINES, Feb. 3.—Governor Jackson granted an unconditional pardon to M. Tennehom, who was sent to the penitentiary for four years from Johnson county for arson, it being claimed that he set fire to a grocery store in Iowa City, and was convicted Dec. 14 last. Since then evidence has come to the governor that convinced him that Tennehom was innocent.

Democrats in Iowa Meet.

DES MOINES, Feb. 3.—The Democratic state central committee held a called meeting here. Beyond a general consultation no business was transacted except the selection of W. ### AN EXCELLENT STORY.

But For Obvious Reasons Bangs Couldn't Think of It.

Every member of the Bangs family always tries to help every other member of the family. When one member of the family tries to tell a story, all the other 12 immediately take hold and tell him how to tell it. This mutual helpfulness is very beautiful.

"Did you hear that story about my dog Towser?" said Bangs to me one day.

"No, I never did," said I. "Let's hear it."

"Well, about the middle of last July," said Bangs—

"The 1st of July," interrupted Mrs. Bangs.

"The last of June," said Archibald Theodore Bangs, the eldest boy but four.

"Nearer the 1st of August," said Lucretia Penthesilea Bangs, the eldest girl but five.

"Well, call it some time between 1812 and the present time," said I. "I am awfully anxious to hear the story."

"Well, we were just coming home from church," continued Mrs. Bangs.

"From the circus," interrupted Thaddeus Washington Bangs, the youngest boy but three.

"From the camp meetin'," said Rosie Toddles, next to the baby. "I remember it coz I tored my dress."

"Warn't comin' home at all," said Tom Aristotle Bangs. "We were just startin' out for the beach."

"Well, let us decide," said I. "that we were all somewhere, we can't tell just where exactly, but somewhere between the cradle and the grave. You've no idea how anxious I am to hear the story. Go on, Mr. Bangs."

"Well," said Mr. Bangs, "it rained."

"Snowed," said Mrs. Bangs.

"Hailed," said Archibald Theodore.

"Drizzled," said the twins in concert.

"Well, I am willing to admit," said I, "that it rained, snowed, hailed, drizzled, and that we had an earthquake, an avalanche, a tornado and a landslide at the same time. I will admit any weather from freezing to the boiling point if I can only hear that story. I am eaten up with curiosity. Please go on."

"All right," said Mr. Bangs. "What was I talking about?"

"Dunno," said Thaddeus Washington.

"Dog," said Rosie Toddles.

"Calf," said Tom Aristotle.

"Elafunt," said Bobbie Bangs.

"Whale," said the twins.

"Hadh't begun to talk at all," said Lucretia Penthesilea.

"Only just begun to 'spute," said Bobbie.

"It's an excellent story," said Bangs.

"You'd split yourself with laughing, but I can't think of it just now."—New York World.

That Was Another Story.

"I never kissed a girl before I met you."

"Why, you've never kissed me!"

"No, but I've kissed lots of other girls since."—Life.

According to Orders.

The flames shot upward the leaden sky.

"Fire!" yelled a policeman.

Thus far the regular routine of conflagrations was observed.

Within the burning structure the hired girl yet lingered.

"Jump!" roared the crowd.

"In a moment," she rejoined firmly.

"I was instructed in case of fire to drop everything and run for my life. I have dropped everything but the after dinner coffee set and a chafing dish. I will be with you presently."—Detroit Tribune.

A Disappointed Mother.

Anxious Mother—Did I hear Mr. Waterson kiss you in the conservatory to-night, Jeannette? I am sure I heard a very suspicious sound.

Jeannette (almost 30)—No, mother. That sound came from the dining room. You remember the door was open.

Anxious Mother—Oh, my child, what a night of disappointment this has been for me!—Springfield Graphic.

He Knew.

"Father," said little Danny Grogan, "why dooze they have the electric light wires covered wit' rubber?"

"O! am surprised at your ignorance," said Mr. Grogan in answer. "They do be covered so that the light cannot lake out av um."—Indianapolis Journal.

It is figured that every man, woman and child in the United States eats an average of 4½ bushels of wheat a year in the form of bread or breakfast cereals.
