JAKE HAIN CAPTURED CAUGHT IN THE ST. ANTHONY COUNTRY.

Intelligence Conveyed to Sheriff Haines by the Sheriff of Fremont County, Idaho—Sheriff Haines Will Return With His Prisoner Saturday or Sunday.

Jacob Hain, the Washington Bar rancher, who is wanted by the authorities for the alleged rape of his 14 year old daughter, Nellie, has been captured in the St. Anthony, Idaho, country. The intelligence was conveyed to Sheriff Haines by a telegram from Sheriff Warner of Fremont county, Idaho, Monday. The telegram reads as follows:

"Dubois, Idaho, Mar. 29. Sheriff Haines, Virginia City, Montana. I have you man Hain here at Dubois in jail. Please wire me when you can get here. Cannot hold him long. Warner, Sheriff."

Sheriff Haines was in Ennis when the telegram was received. Under Sheriff Summers notified County Attorney Callaway, who immediately began work on a formal application to Governor Rickards for extradition papers. Under the new law this procedure involves considerable work. With the application must be forwarded two certified copies of the complaint, two warrants of arrest with returns thereof endorsed by the sheriff to the effect that the fugitive is out of the state, two affidavits of flight. These voluminous papers were prepared by the county attorney, Monday, and forwarded to Governor Rickards Tuesday morning. On receipt thereof the Governor will make out some more papers, and forward them to the Governor of Idaho who will conclude matters by forwarding to Sheriff Haines at Dubois, Idaho, the paper which authorizes him to take Hain from Idaho to Montana.

While this red tape is being wound and unwound, Sheriff Haines is en route to Dubois. He left Virginia City Tuesday morning. He should have arrived at Market Lake, Idaho, St. Anthony's nearest railroad point, late Tuesday evening. The trip to and from St. Anthony, overland will consume two days. If there is no delay in the matter of the extradition papers, the sheriff ought to be back in Virginia with his man tomorrow or next day.

The sheriff was of the opinion that Hain had fled into the St. Anthony country. His father lives some where in that country. Immediately on his return from Washington Bar, he advised the sheriff of Fremont county of Hain's flight, sent him a description of the fugitive, together with a request to hold him if he found him. Thus did Sheriff Haines press the button in Idaho, and the vigilant sheriff of Fremont county did the rest.

The arrest is a surprise to all concerned—and probably to the fugitive most of all.

BACK WITH THE FUGITIVE.

Sheriff Haines Returns From Idaho With Hain in Custody.

Sheriff Haines returned from Dubois Idaho, last evening. He had Jacob Hain in custody. Hain was locked up in the county bastille and his preliminary examination will probably be held early next week.

Dubois, the place where Hain was held is the new name for Dry Creek, an U. & N. station, 14 miles north of Camas. From Dillon the trip was made by rail and the sheriff would have returned a day earlier, but for a belated train.

Hain is crestfallen. He states that the whole matter is a put up job, instigated by his enemies to defraud him of his property. He says he would rather die than go to the penitentiary for a crime of which he is innocent.

Sheriff Haines effected the capture of Hain in the following manner. He correctly surmised that Hain had gone to his father's home in Idaho. He did not know the address of the elder Hain, but secured it from the divorced wife of Hain, through the authorities at Billings. He ascertained that the old man lived near Rexburg, Idaho, and wrote the sheriff of Fremont county accordingly. Sheriff Warner went to Rexburg, locating the fugitive without trouble. He then took him to Dubois and wired Sheriff Haines of the capture. The whole affair from Virginia to Rexburg was conducted with neatness and expedition.

He Pleads Not Guilty.

Hain was arraigned before Justice McGown this morning, and through his attorney, W. A. Clark, entered a plea of not guilty. His preliminary hearing was set for next Thursday.

ROBBED THE MADISON HOUSE.

Burglars Break Into the Bar Room and Help Themselves.

Sneak thieves broke into the bar room of the Madison house early yesterday morning and robbed the bar till of the contents—about $10 in silver which had been left in the drawer for change. The burglars effected an entrance by breaking in the door of the club room, which connects with the bar room. Then they forced the till with a hatchet or some instrument of a similar nature. The bar was badly damaged.

The discovery was made by John Monckton about 5 o'clock yesterday morning. He noticed the door was open and knew that it had been locked the evening previous. He secured reinforcements and a lantern and made an investigation. A bell boy was sent to notify Mr. Pollard and soon the hotel and guests were enjoying a sensation. The very atmosphere seemed pregnant with the romance and adventure of a quarter of a century ago.

Fred Allen stated to a MADISONIAN man that about $40 had been taken from the till some time during the evening and put in the safe.

The bar closed about one o'clock Thursday morning. The burglary was committed some time between 1:30 and 5 a. m.

ROCHESTER MINES.

Mr. Dickey Thinks Rochester is a Coming Butte.

J. E. Dickey, who was in town from Rochester a few days ago, says that unless he is very much mistaken, within a few years Butte will have a rival in Rochester.

Mr. Dickey is very sanguine. His faith has been pinned to Rochester for 30 years, and time has brought to him a bright enthusiasm. Mr. Dickey is interested in what is known as the "Blow out" group of copper claims, composed of the Beacon Light, Agnes, Deep and Rochester, now under bond to a Butte syndicate. The other owners are John Connors, Wm. Estes, Jasper Storey and James Mitchell. The lessees are working three eight hour shifts, have run a 70-foot cross cut at a depth of 132 feet and found ore all the way. They are now down 200 feet and still sinking. The showing is excellent.

Mr. Dickey says all the ground in the vicinity of Rochester is being located, and the rate at which notices of location are coming in at the court house substantiates his statement.

Among other promising properties in the Rochester district Mr. Dickey mentioned the Buffalo, a gold proposition owned by Edward Mueller, the Cooper Bros property, from which ore is being shipped regularly, the Thistle, owned by Messrs. Tuohy, Kenyon, Woods and Stark, which is working 10 or 12 men and shipping ore regularly, and the Longfellow owned by J. A. Murray, the Butte banker.

AT GAYLORD.

Mr. Davis Says a Large Force of Men Will Soon be Employed There.

John E. Davis, manager of the Jefferson Valley Trading Company, at Whitehall and Gaylord, visited Virginia yesterday. He was accompanied by Andrew Collins of the First National Bank of Butte.

Mr. Davis informed a MADISONIAN representative that very soon a large force of mechanics would be put at work on the Parrot plant and construction work pushed with vigor.

He left for Home Park last evening for the purpose, if possible, of securing a photograph of the postmaster of that interesting town.

TOM BUTLER IN TOWN.

A Vision Which the Rustling Circulator of The Standard is Alleged to Have Had.

Tom Butler, circulator of the Anaconda Standard, was in Virginia this week. And with him came that famous red neck-tie and those pointed red shoes, which created such a furore in Bozeman a few weeks ago, according to the Chronicle. Well, since Tom has become such a factor in Montana newspaperdom, we can see no reason why he should not set the pace for the Beau Brummels of Montana, as well as the newspaper rustlers.

They tell a story about Tom, which, while it might have come out of the ark archives, is fresh and apropos when applied to him. Tom had a vision, according to the bewhiskered narrative. He dreamed that he died and under the chaperonage of Michael, the arch-fiend, was making an inspection of the lower regions, which, he incidentally remarked to his host, reminded him strangely of the lower works of the Anaconda. Finally Michael missed him, finding him subsequently before the open grating of the door of a large department, on the interior of which were thousands of souls stuck head first into moulton iron. Tom seemed to enjoy the grunts ascending therefrom, immensely.

"Come Mr. Butler," said Michael, "Hades is no place for you. You must go above."

"No, thank you," replied Tom. "This is Heaven enough for me."

And the placard on the door of the department told the rest of the story. It was labeled "Delinquent Subscribers."

J. E. GAYLORD MARRIED.

The Parrot Manager Marries a Connecticut Lady.

Mr. J. E. Gaylord, general manager of the Parrot Company, and after whom Madison county's new town has been christened, was united in marriage to Mrs. Emily Upson Beach, at Bridgeport, Connecticut, the home of the bride, a few days ago. The people of Madison county will take an interest in this happy event for the reason that Mr. Gaylord is now a Madison county man, being at the head of a gigantic enterprise which will give tone to the pulse of Madison county mining matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord will arrive in Butte about May 15.

METHODIST CHURCH MATTERS.

What Presiding Elder Bennet Has to Say Concerning His District.

Sub-Bishop J. W. Bennet, presiding elder of the Bozeman district of the Methodist Episcopal faith, was in the city this week. He held services here Tuesday evening, and will hold services at Sheridan Saturday evening, at Twin Bridges Sunday and at Dillon on the following Sunday.

Mr. Bennet is very much pleased with the work in his district during the past year. He informed a representative of the MADISONIAN that it had been one of the most successful years in the district's history. About 200 new members have been added, a church built at Dillon, and parsonages at Lima, Forsythe and West Gallatin. The Glendive church is shortly to be enlarged, as is also the church at Twin Bridges.

The last dollar of indebtedness on Madison county churches has been paid.

A revival service began at Twin Bridges Wednesday. A similar service, beginning next Sunday, will be held at Ennis by Rev. George King, assisted by Rev. Guiler.

The annual conference will be held in Dillon in July. Mr. Bennet stated that it would be the largest ecclesiastical gathering ever held in southern Montana.

While on this trip Mr. Bennet will make arrangements for the building of a parsonage in Sheridan.

MONTANA ABROAD.

State Senator Buford Visits San Francisco.

Senator S. R. Buford, of Virginia City, Montana, the famous mining camp on Alder gulch, where the notorious border outlaw Slade was hanged years ago, is at the Lick, says the San Francisco Call. Mark Twain, in "Roughing It," has told in characteristic way of the awful career and death of Slade, and how he first met him when coming to Carson on the overland stage. Virginia City (the one on Alder creek) was then a seething madstrom of life.

"In those days it had 20,000 people," said Senator Buford yesterday, "and today it has no more than 1,000. It is what you might call a decayed camp. Yet no district on earth, it is estimated has produced so much gold for its length. The length of Alder gulch is only 15 miles, yet it has produced, from the time it was discovered until now, $100,000,000 in gold. This is a fabulous product. The amount cannot be determined exactly, for records were not always kept of the shipments. But as near as can be estimated the product has reached that sum. This is a greater quantity than any other region of the globe has produced."

"I went to Virginia City in 1865. For a long time I freighted goods from Fort Benton, the head of navigation on the Missouri river, to various places in Montana, and afterward I freighted from Corrinne, Utah, to different places. I used oxen and mule teams and sometimes had as many as three or four wagons fastened together. It was a pretty stern life, and I was glad when the railroad got closer and I finally quit it."

"When Slade was hanged at Virginia City, 'Clubfoot' George and three or four others were hung with him. Shootings were frequent, and the camp was scarcely ever without its tragedy. It is entirely different now, being one of the most peaceable places in the country."

Virginia City is in Madison county, 60 miles from the junction of the Little Missouri, Madison and Jefferson rivers, and 50 miles from Dillon. Ex-Senator Buford is engaged extensively in merchandising there and elsewhere. He is also owner of extensive cattle interests, and is altogether one of the solid men of the new state. He was a member of the constitutional convention, and has been elected twice as senator. He is a very pleasant gentleman, and is an interesting talker. He says though little snow has fallen in Montana this winter, yet he thinks there will be an abundance of water and grass, and consequently plenty of beef.

"The March blizzard helped us out a great deal," he said. "If it hadn't been for that we would have been in rather bad shape. As it is, we will come out all right."

Senator Buford has been troubled with rheumatism, and has been trying to get rid of it at Paso Robles. He says he has been much benefited by the California climate and the springs combined.
