

CAPTURED NEAR ENNIS

CAMERON A BOZEMAN FUGITIVE

Who Escaped From The Gallatin County Jail One Day Last Week—Some Other Matter.

Alex Cameron, a jail bird, who, with several others, effected his escape from the Gallatin county jail recently, was captured at Ennis, Tuesday morning by Undersheriff Brooks of Gallatin county. Brooks followed the warm trail of Cameron to Norris, but from that place had to grope in the dark. He went to Ennis, Monday, and early Tuesday morning, as he was standing at the window of the hotel, he saw a man ride by. He hurriedly procured a horse and started in pursuit; he soon came up close to Cameron and when the fugitive saw him he put spurs to his horse, the minion of the law following suit. Cameron's horse put considerable daylight between him and the deputy sheriff, and when he arrived at Jeffers' sheep corral, the deputy was not in sight. The prisoner's horse was exhausted, so he tied him in the sheep shed and hid in a ravine near by, thinking the deputy might not notice the horse. In the meantime Brooks had sent back to Ennis for help, and Sheriff Haines, who was in Ennis at the time, and Will Ennis responded. Before they arrived at the sheep shed, however, Brooks had found and captured his man.

Cameron was first jailed for robbing a Gallatin farmer, named Lovett, of $200. He stated that when he escaped he went to Lovett's ranch, which is only a few miles out of Bozeman, and stole a horse, saddle and bridle, which helped him to make his escape. He told Sheriff Haines that he spent the 5th in Virginia, and picketed his horse back of the cemetery as he guessed the sheriff would have a description of the animal and be on the lookout for him. He tried to get work at the Easton, and failing intended to try the Madison valley. Undersheriff Brooks left for Bozeman with his prisoner Tuesday afternoon.

DEATH OF NED WILLIAMS.

He Was A Native Of Wales And Had Resided In Madison County For 25 Years.

"Uncle" Ned Williams, who came in from Cherry creek about three weeks ago for medical treatment, died at the Madison house Tuesday morning. A residence of 26 years in Madison county had made him many friends who were in evidence during his last hours. For a number of years this city was his home and at various times had lived in nearly every mining camp in the county. A few years ago he located a ranch on Cherry creek and went into the horse business on a limited scale. Old age, a life of hardship and some lung trouble began to tell upon him and a few weeks ago he decided to come to the city for medical treatment.

He was born in Wales in 1826, and came to Virginia in 1870. A week or more ago he realized that his end was near and was very anxious that all his little bills should be settled. He offered to turn his estate over to Sheriff Haines if he would attend to this matter, and Mr. Haines finally agreed to pay his debts and await reimbursement when the estate was settled. After this agreement was made the old fellow was satisfied and cheerful.

The funeral occurred Tuesday evening.

POLLARD-WILSON.

Nuptials of T. F. Pollard and Miss Barbara Wilson.

Miss Barbara Wilson and Mr. T. F. Pollard were united in marriage Wednesday morning at 6:45, and immediately after the ceremony took a private conveyance for Dillon, from which place they will go to Salt Lake, and possibly east. The wedding occurred at the residence of the bride's parents, the Rev. J. J. Bowker officiating. Miss Lottie Elling was bridesmaid, and Mr. Ed Pollard, best man.

While a few of their friends were in the secret, the number was limited to half a dozen, and the surprise was quite general, although rumor had connected the names of the contracting parties for several days past.

The bride is a native of Ruby valley and one of its fairest products. Virginia has been her home since she was a little girl, and here her friends abound.

Mr. Pollard is not an old timer. He pinned his faith to Virginia a little more than two years ago, when he took charge of the Madison house. Everyone in Madison county knows of his success in conducting this hostelry. And Mr. Pollard's numerous friends in Madison county will read of his latest achievement with pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollard will return to Virginia in about two weeks. From Salt Lake, where they will spend a few days at Salt Lake Beach, they will wander where fancy dictates. The MADISONIAN joins their numerous friends in extending congratulations.

Graveyard Humor.

"Yes," remarked Bill Stevenson. "I am going to build a residence on the other side of the cemetery."

"Why are you going to build away out there?" Asked Jimmie Powell, who has taken considerable interest in residences lately.

"So I will have a home beyond the grave," replied water Bill with sepulchral intonation.

Will Simon of Ennis, was arrested Monday evening on a charge of fast driving. It seems that when Simons left the city Sunday evening he thought he would round up his observance of the Fourth with a little canter on the sidewalk, and he did. He came very near running down two little girls. Marshal Stark saw him and attempted to arrest him, but as he was mounted he escaped easily, going to Ennis. He returned Monday night, however, and as soon as the marshal learned of his arrival, he arrested him.

"OWED" TO A GOLD BUG

You kin talk about finances, And relate Wall street romances 'Bout gold bein' the only money there really orter be;

But yet it stands to reason, That it now is out of season To oppose good, honest silver, don't you see?

Oh! you kin blow and bellow That our money must be yellow; And declare with all your might that one metal is enough; Yet to help along the gold And knock "coupon-clippers" cold, The light-completed metal is the stuff.

Though you still repeat that fable Called "Gold currency is staple," And croak about "cheap money" as solemnly as you please; Free silver is bound to come, And 'twill make all business hum, And the people throughout the land will be at ease.

While for hour after hour, You talk of "purchasin' power," And many other subjects you don't understand;

The people are awaking From the nap they have been taking, And are making haste to join the silver band.
