

INCREASING BUSINESS

Established in 1883 By Frank E. Nichols—Now Known As the Globe Rubber Stamp Works.

In commodious offices at 322 Main street, above the Marion Hardware Company, the Globe Rubber Stamp Works are daily increasing their business and manufacturing and putting in the market an article worthy of their name and equal to the same product of the larger cities.

This business was established in 1883 by Frank E. Nichols, who conducted it for a good many years, when he sold it to T. W. Boydston, who after several years disposed of it to Clarence L. Musgrave. Mr. Musgrave, like his predecessors, could not devote his whole time to it because of other interests demanding attention, and he accordingly transferred it to the present owners, and A. Clifford Kinkead is now managing the business.

Since the present management took charge of the business they have changed quarters three times and each time the new rooms are more commodious than the ones they left. They manufacture all their own rubber stamps, and carry a large line of supplies, such as ink, daters, pads, numbering machines, stamp racks, letter trays, check protectors, notarial and corporation seals, and many other things necessary in an up-to-date office.

Mr. Kinkead has not only increased the stock, but has more than doubled the sales, each day adding to their already large list of customers, shipping orders to many of the States of the Union, and otherwise placing the business in a position it has never before occupied, only recently having furnished numbers and doorplates for the Kenyon Hotel, Jacobs, Cunningham and People's Bank buildings, Cook's Hospital and baggage and satchel checks to the Watson hotel. These are only a few of the firm's many customers. "Uncle Sam" is its only traveling salesman. He will bring you its prices on all goods handled by firms doing a like business, immediately upon your making your wants known.

It is one of the many interests of Fairmont which has bright prospects of being large some day, and if the progressive movement established by the new management continues, they will have to again enlarge their quarters. See their advertisement on another page.

JAPANESE PROVERBS

They Are More Picturesque In Language Than Ours.

"Roses have thorns" and "walls have ears" are as common in the Japanese speech as in our own. We say, "More haste, less speed," but the Japanese phrase is "If in a hurry go round." In this country we very often remark that "accidents will happen in the best regulated families." The Japs on the other hand, with an eye to the picturesque, vitalize it, so to speak, in their "Even a monkey sometimes falls from a tree." One of our useful English sayings is "Those who play with edged tools must expect to cut their fingers." In expressing a similar thought the Jap goes one better so far as the picturesque quality is concerned. He says, "If you keep tigers you are likely to have trouble." One of our standard maxims is to the effect that "oil and water won't mix." The Japs have not improved on this. "You can't rivet a nail in a cistard" is their way of putting it. "The lotus springs from the mud" is their poetical expression of the common thought that "out of evil good may come."

What could be more suggestive and at the same time so poetic as their "Scattering a fog with a fan?" When a Jap undertakes the impossible his neighbors do not scoff at him or mock him. They simply say that he is "building bridges to the clouds" or that he is "dipping up the ocean with a shell." Failure in such a country must be as delightful as success in our more material land. "Thine own heart makes the world" is worthy of Emerson or Browning.—Rochester Post-Express.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will take place at Willard Hall at 7:30 to-morrow evening. The subject for discussion is, "The Attitude of the Press Growing More Friendly Toward the Temperance Reform Movement."

Will Leave Wednesday.
R. H. Kinkead will leave for Parkersburg Wednesday to begin work for the Government on a Geological Survey. "Bob" is pretty handy with the compass and of course he will get along all right. He has been in the Government service before.

STAINED GLASS WORK.

The Art in Which Methods Have Not Changed Much in Centuries.

The twentieth century American stained glass maker follows without important variation the simple methods of the French monk of eight centuries ago. The first requisite is the design. The artist makes a small water color sketch to show the general design and color scheme, accompanying it with detailed studies. From this two large drawings or cartoons are made, the exact size of the desired window. One cartoon shows where the leads will be placed—the thin strips of lead, hollowed on both sides and looking in a transverse section like the letter H, which form the framework to bind the pieces of glass together. Another drawing gives the size and shape of each piece of glass. This cartoon is cut into its component pieces by a pair (or triplet) of three-bladed scissors, which leave between their parallel blades a space sufficient for the leads. These cut out patterns are put together again on a large glass easel, to which they are attached by wax, and the spaces between are blacked in to give the effect of the leads.

The easel is then placed against a window where the light can stream through it. The artist or his substitute replaces each paper pattern on the easel by a piece of glass of exactly the same size, cut from a sheet of glass of the color called for by the color sketch. The sketch is not followed exactly; experiment with the actual glass will suggest improvements. To a greater or less extent this stained glass is supplemented by painted glass, on which the colors are fired as in china painting. When all the pieces have been cut they are transferred to the "leading" drawing, the flexible leads are twisted into shape and soldered at the joints and a special cement applied to make the whole water tight. The window is now complete, ready to be put in position, where it is made secure by copper wires fastened to the transverse bars of iron.—Booklovers' Magazine.

Mark Antony's Mistake.

At a performance of "Julius Caesar" at Hurst college, England, some time ago, Mark Antony made a mistake when the dead body of Caesar was brought in. He apostrophized the fallen hero with impassioned eloquence, and the audience felt acutely for the poor citizens, who were all presumably horror struck and overcome with grief, when Antony gently but firmly grasped, as he thought, the face cloth and slowly, very slowly, began to draw it back. Just then an excited whisper came from the other end of the corpse, "This end, you fool!" But Antony was inexorably wrapped in grief. He persevered and disclosed to the intently gazing audience Julius Caesar's boots.

Clever Smuggling Trick.

Smuggling from Geneva into France used to be carried on at a great rate. Alexandre Dumas tells how Beaute, a famous watchmaker of that city renowned for his skill in smuggling, got the better of the Count de Saint Croix, King Louis Philippe's director of customs, who was traveling as a detective. The count bought 30,000 francs' worth of jewelry on condition that it should be delivered free of duty in Paris. When he went up to his bedroom on arriving at the French capital he found his purchases on the dressing table. Beaute had bribed the count's valet to stow them away among his luggage.

Hard on the Doctor.

Well, Tam, are ye gauv hame w' your work?" was the invariable greeting of a doctor to a tailor of his acquaintance when he met him carrying a bundle. Once the tailor saw the doctor walking in a funeral procession, "Well, doctor, are ye gauv hame w' your work?" he asked.—From Reminiscences, by Sir Archibald Geikie.

HEARST SAYS HE ISN'T A BOLTER

EXPECTS TO SUPPORT NOMINEE OF ST. LOUIS CONVENTION, WHOEVER HE MAY BE.

WOULD LIKE TO BE NOMINEE HIMSELF—NO TIME TO DENY ALL "FOOL STORIES."

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 16.—William Randolph Hearst will support the nominee of the St. Louis Democratic convention whoever he may be. He authorized the Washington Post to make this statement unequivocally. He ridiculed a story sent from Albany that he and Mr. Bryan, Arthur Brisbane Weaver, of Iowa, and others were planning a huge bolt and the formation of a new party. He said he had been making his fight for the nomination in the name of progressive Democracy but his fight had been within party lines and would continue to be so. Whatever the result, he intended personally and through his newspapers to support the regular ticket.

"I am for the St. Louis nominee," said Mr. Hearst to the Post. Having uttered that plain positive sentence, he added with a smile:

"I should of course, like any other man, be honored and gratified should the Democrats see fit to nominate me, but I do not have to be bribed by office to be a Democrat. I have supported the times and Mr. Bryan twice. I intend to support the nominee of the party at St. Louis, whoever he may be."

The interview was prompted by the Albany dispatch, which said that Mr. Hearst, Mr. Arthur Brisbane, Mr. Bryan and a few others were preparing to bolt.

"I have not been able," said he, "to deny all the foolish things that have been said about me. I have not even kept up with all that has been said. But of all the fool things, that is 'fooler' than all the rest," and Mr. Hearst indulged in a hearty laugh at the new adjective he has coined.

Within Party Lines.

"I have been making my fight for the nomination in the name of progressive Democracy," he said. "I have been making my fight within party lines."

This Mr. Hearst emphasized in explanation of his standing as a loyal Democrat, "before loyal Democrats, not men who have been Democrats at pleasure, or for profit."

An inquiry was made about the significance of several contesting Hearst delegations over the country.

"Every State convention of both parties has contesting delegations," said Mr. Hearst. "Contests do not mean that bolting will follow. Some of my friends have instituted contests for delegates. In certain cases, contests have been instituted by my friends in entire sincerity on their part which I would not have sanctioned had the matter come to my knowledge in time. But these contests can be settled in the usual way as they are settled in every national convention. Please make it plain that I stand by the verdict of loyal Democrats, men who have been loyal to the party and have not been Democrats at pleasure. I am for men who have been Democrats consistently for twenty years."

"But suppose the class you suggest as disloyal should be in control at St. Louis?"

No Equivocation.

"I think there is no danger of that. It is safe to trust the Democratic masses," was the answer.

"But they would be the people who have sent the men to the convention in a majority," was suggested to Mr. Hearst, to which remark he assented. Nevertheless, he expressed his belief that loyal Democrats would be in control at St. Louis and reiterated his intention to support the nominee of that convention.

In fact, his utterances were so direct and emphatic on that point that no room was left to doubt Mr. Hearst's loyalty and his intention to prosecute his own campaign for the nomination within the party lines and not only to abide by the result, whatever it might be, but to work for the ticket nominated.

Japanese Idea of Good English.

The last mail from Yokohama, Japan, brought a revised price list of the Union Laundry of that place, and while it shows that the war between Russia and Japan has increased the cost of one's washing at Yokohama, it also shows "English as she is writ" in the beautiful Japanese city. Here is the notice served by the proprietor on his customers:

Dear Sir: Hitherto we have been forwarded by your kindness of the washing cloth but my we being compelled that the several articles are increasing day-by-day, the almost of the high prices are rice and the demanded articles of the our business are increased more than anything. Under these circumstances we are wished to you to increase our charges as appeared on the paper from Proximo, please acknowledge our proposal and oblige. We are, Dear Sir, Yours Truly.—New York Sun.

ASSAULTED WITH A BALL BAT

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., May 16.—Charles Fisher, an employe of the Valley Glass Company, is in a dying condition, the result of a blow on the head from a base ball bat in the hands of Everett DeBarr. It seems that DeBarr and Fisher have been having trouble for some time. DeBarr had charge of Pritchard's restaurant, where Fisher boards, and Fisher came in and began abusing and cursing DeBarr, who warned him that he had better desist, but Fisher continued to advance on DeBarr, who was retreating, but finally seized the ball bat and struck Fisher. DeBarr is now in custody and will probably be held to await the result of Fisher's injuries. The physicians say recovery is very doubtful. Fisher was removed in an unconscious condition to the City Hospital. There is considerable excitement among the glass workers over the affair.

NOW, DON'T YOU

When you feel the sun a-warmin'—
And a-comin' more this way,
And the skies a-gettin' softer—
Softer, bluer, every day,
Don't you hate to leave the sunshine,
Closing tight the office door?
Don't you find the office gloomy,
And your work a beastly bore?
Now don't you hate to do it?

When you hear the grafters spelling—
Spelling out their old harangue,
In a blaze of oratory
Interspersed with choicest slang,
Don't you sorter like to linger
Round the curbstone just to see
What it is they're gibbly saying—
Jokes and stories rather free?
Now don't you like to do it?

When you pass the cooling couples
On the settees in the park,
In the balmy moonlight evenings
Which is glorious for a lark,
Don't you hate to go it lonely
With no brown-eyed maiden near,
Nestling closely to your bosom,
Calling you her honey dear?
Now don't you hate to do it?
