MOST BEAUTIFUL

Was the Wedding of Mr. Yoder and Miss Samsell.

Last evening in the First Presbyterian church one of the very prettiest weddings ever witnessed in Fairmont occurred, when Miss Anna Lynn Samsell became the bride of Mr. Lynn Emerson Yoder. The altar was completely incased in white cloth which formed an attractive background for Florist Ed. Hall's decorative efforts. A profusion of ferns and palms was massed on every available space, a large number of vases held myriads of pink and white carnations. From invisible wires pink and white satin ribbons were festooned and caught gracefully with small bunches of carnations. A number of white candles were prettily shaded in pink, while ribbons of pink tulle were everywhere draped, and from the chandelier immediately over the altar were suspended lovely bride's roses. The effect here was specially charming, but the entire decorative scheme won many words of admiration.

Long before the time for the commencement of the ceremony the church was packed to the doors with a throng of fashionably dressed people. The bridal party entered promptly at 8:30 and proceeded up the aisle to the soft strains of Lohengrin wedding march, as rendered by Professor MacArthur on the harp, with clarinet and violin accompaniment.

Messrs. John Hughes and R. C. Miller, Harry Engle and E. C. Stemple, W. N. Engle and James Shina came in pairs down the cloth covered and ribbon enclosed aisle, and were followed in turn by the bridesmaids, Misses Ethel Fleming and Louise Potter, and Nell Cochran and Clara Boydston; the maid of honor, Miss Edna Trickett came next alone, and was followed by Master George Irwin, little nephew of the bride, who acted as ring bearer. He was followed in turn by the bride on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. J. W. Irwin, who gave her away. They were met at the chancel by the groom and his best man, Mr. Howard Thayer, of Grafton, Rev. Stoetzer, pastor of the church, was awaiting them, and using the impressive and beautiful ring ceremony, he pronounced the words that made them man and wife. The bride, leaning on the arm of her husband, was followed by the rest of the party in the same order as before, and entered carriages awaiting at the rear door, and were driven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin where the mother and sister of the bride reside, and an informal reception was held for the wedding party and immediate friends and relatives.

The bride was dressed in white crepe de chene over silk, made en traine and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses tied with streamers of white tulle. A tulle veil completed a lovely costume and her appearance called forth many compliments. The maid of honor was gowned in pink crepe de chene with white hat and carried white roses, while the maids wore Dolly Varden gowns of pink and white flowered mull with large white picture hats with ties of white tulle and wreaths of pink roses, and carried pink carnations. These costumes, made exactly alike and in contrast to the maid of honor's pink gown and the bride's gown of white, were surpassingly pretty. The little ring bearer was in white and carried a silver tray on which reposed the emblematic ring.

The groom, best man and ushers wore the conventional evening dress with a white rose pinned on the lapel of each coat.

No detail had been overlooked in the entire arrangement, and certainly no prettier wedding has ever taken place in the city. Mr. and Mrs. Yoder are extremely popular young people, and have scores of friends who wish them every joy that life possesses. After the reception last night they went to the home on Walnut avenue, which had been arranged for them and where they will make their future home.

Mrs. Yoder has resided in Fairmont all her life, and is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Samsell. She is a very attractive and amiable young lady who numbers her friends by the score.

Mr. Yoder is an employe of the Fairmont Coal Company, and has resided in Fairmont about two years. He has made many warm friends since coming here and is well and favorably known to the greater number of our people.

Witnessed the Beautiful Wedding of Mr. Roberts and Miss Watherwax.

Last evening at 7:30 o'clock at Christ P. E. church, in the presence of a large number of friends, the wedding of Arthur Thomas Roberts, of Cape Charles, Va., to Miss Georgia LaMar Watherwax took place. Bishop C. C. Penick, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. The decorations were green and white, and a large wedding bell and a true lover's knot of white tulle were suspended above the altar. The latter was illuminated with rows of brass candelabra. The vested choir came in to the bridal hymn, after which the wedding party entered to the wedding chorus from "Lohengrin." Miss Margaret Gordon acted as maid of honor and G. T. Roberts, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The bridesmaids were Misses Pansy McCleary, of Wellsburg; Mabel Williams, of Pittsburg; Florence Brobst and Madge Sample, cousins of the bride. The ushers were S. B. Holbert, A. G. Martin, Will P. Nuzum and Paul McCoy, while F. K. Lowe was in charge at the door. The bride was given away by her uncle, Sam R. Nuzum.

The bride wore a white satin gown trimmed with real lace. The veil was of white tulle caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book from which the ceremony was read. The ring was used. The bridesmaids wore white net over forget-me-not blue taffeta and carried shower bouquets of lilies of the valley and forget-me-nots. The maid of honor wore a blue gown trimmed with forget-me-nots.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts left on train No. 4 for a trip in the East and South and will make their home at Cape Charles. Mr. Roberts is an energetic young business man and is well known in his native city. The bride is one of our best known and most popular young ladies.

Lewis-Booher Nuptials.

This evening at seven o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Gaston avenue, Miss Margery Gilgoly Booher will become the bride of Dr. Thomas Smith Lewis. Rev. H. G. Stoetzer will perform the ceremony, assisted by Bishop C. C. Penick. It will be a home wedding and only the closest friends will be present. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will leave for Pittsburg after the ceremony.

WAS TWO WEEKS LATE—GIRL TRIED TO DROWN HERSELF BUT WOULDN'T SINK.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 9.—The strident tone of an alarm clock which so often had aroused her from dreams of happiness in the early morning, gave the signal last evening for Nora Calloway, a Waukegan girl, to jump into the Lake in an effort to end a life of misery.

The girl had set the alarm for 8 o'clock, for at that hour she thought Allen Jackson, whom she loved, was to marry another. She wished to die at the exact moment when he was clasping the hand of his bride. Taking the clock she walked out to the pier and waited. She had written a farewell note to her sister and was prepared to die. Slowly the little clock ticked off when she should finish the last seconds of her life. The alarm sounded, and before it had ceased its clamor, the young woman leaped into the water. But try as she would, she could not sink. Her skirts buoyed her up, and her attempts to get her head under the water were in vain.

Captain Wangers, light house tender, heard her splashing and hurried to the rescue. After the woman was taken from the water she learned that her alarm clock was two weeks behind time, for her sweetheart was married a fortnight ago.
