Tiger Talk.

Tiger, Wash., Nov. 25, 1907.

H. W. Meggit moved onto his ranch which he bought recently of F. Norman. George Tiger left this morning for Newport on the overland route with his team.

Arthur Norman and W. L. Morris left by boat this morning for Newport and Spokane.

The patrons of THE NEWPORT MINER are more than pleased the change made in the date of publication of THE MINER. We now receive the paper on Friday, three days sooner than they arrived formerly. Thanks.

Byron Rouse was transacting business at Tiger yesterday.

Mrs. W. Saltz is seriously ill with but little hope of recovery.

R. Greenamyer has returned to Metaline after a short visit with his family. Mr. G. is doing contract work on the public highway for the county between Box Canyon and Metaline.

The fall term of the Hawthorn school closed Nov. 22. The teacher, J. B. Miner, is to be congratulated on the rapid advancement of the school under his management.

Chas. Titcomb, of Nome, Alaska, is a guest at the home of James Lucas for a few days.

James Lucas and family have moved into their new house on the Euclid ranch.

Win. Strickland, of the Wildwood ranch, is delivering freight to settlers up on the divide.

The family of R. Greenamyer expect to move to Metaline in the near future.

The woods are full of hunters, but thus far but very little game has been bagged. Newton Lucas is the only successful one of our local sportsmen. Mr. Lucas got a fine buck recently.

A recent visit to the Mountain View ranch, the pleasant home of J. B. Renshaw, fully demonstrated the fact that Mr. Renshaw is taking solid comfort in his environment. With the substantial improvement of his farm, the erection of a long hay and grain barn is adding to his wealth convenience and comfort.

Taxpayers who have not yet made an accounting with the county auditor for the last half of the fiscal year must get a "move on" before November 30 to avoid being enrolled in the delinquent class. The law provides that if taxes for the first half of the year are paid before June 1 the payment of taxes for the second half may be deferred until November 30 of the same year. If, however, taxes for the second half are not paid on or before November 30 they become delinquent and thereafter draw interest at the rate of fifteen per cent.—Spokesman-Review.

The Further Adventures of Mrs. Plumfit Perkins on Her Trip to Newport.

(By One of the Other Darned Phules.)

Mr. Editor—The nayburs are jest biggled to kno whether Miss Plumfit Perkins got tew Nuport or not. I spose I shell hev to hurry up and git the stori told, tho my plug of terbacker haint moren half gin out yit.

Arter Miss Perkins got back from putting up the condem sine she thought to herself that there ought to be one put up on every tree on the Kalispell rode and then not moren half express her feelins. With which refectionshs she got a quick lunch and gave a lunch to ole Howitzer, and once more started toward her gole. The rode got sum better from this place, tho there wuz terrible steep hills, and az the kownti ophishul had gone on ahead, all trees had been chopped out and other obstruckshns removed, so that but fer the fact that the waggun wuz loded terribu heavy-with tules to klear the rode and the hind end of the waggun was travelling on poals instid of on whealz, she wood hev maid purti good time, but az it wuz, az she started to go down the hill intew Nuport she overtake the kownti ophishull's team. They wuz hung up beside the rode, 'cauz they had run against a loded log team and busted both whealz on one side of their waggun. The ophishull stepped out in the middul of the rode and stopped Miss Perkins and sed: "Maddum, yew will reckon that when yeww waggun busted back yarnder a peace we help yew, and az yew see we hev met with a like Miss Fortewn. So I hope yew will now help us."

So Miss Perkins, bein naturally obligin and not feelin any ill will toward the yung drunk who drove the other team, as he had done all the helping, got out of her waggun, and after consulting they take the two sound whealz off the ophishul waggun and put them on Miss Perkins', took the poals off, and then the yung man take his hosses and the ophishull got on the seat beside Miss Perkins, and leevin the ophishull waggun beside the rode Miss Perkins and the yung drunk and Howitzer and the kownti ophishull came intew town without further mishap.

And, Mr. Editor, if yew want to heer about it I will tell yew in my neckst where she did her traidin in town and how she got hoam agin.

News From Sullivan.

We are having a little snow to break the monotony.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Porky have gone to Spokane to spend the winter.

"Doc" McAbee and family have moved to the river and now occupy the Eldred home.

Mrs. I. M. Maitland and children have returned home after a pleasant visit with friends in Spokane.

While "Doc" McAbee and John Davidson were hunting in the mountains near Sullivan lake last week. They routed a large bear from his winter lair and soon dispatched him with a well-directed shot. Mr. McAbee also killed a large lynx last week.

George Maitland was down from the Kroll mine a few days last week attending to business.

Cole Maitland, of near Portland, Ore., who has been visiting near here, has returned home.

Wesley Wakeley and family have moved in to the Wakeley mines and expect to stay up there all winter. They took in six months' supplies. They will run a large tunnel this winter. They have bright prospects.

Conrad Sager, who came from Pennsylvania here for his health, is not improving and will go to Southern Mexico.

Special Notice.

Mandy Heinegabubler, my wife, has left my bed and board and is stopping at the MISSOURI CHOP HOUSE located in Old Town, Newport, where she says she gets a good bed for 25c and a good square meal for the same amount. She says emphatically that she will not raise the MISSOURI CHOP HOUSE for no man's bed and board, consequently I will not be responsible for any debts she may incur.

SPECIAL AGAIN—I do not care so much about Mandy leaving my board, but I do hate like h—l to sleep alone these cool nights.

Suffered a Broken Leg.

Floyd More, who for some months past has been employed in the Kennedy mill at Dalkena, met with a serious accident Wednesday afternoon. While Mr. More was engaged in fixing some machinery in the mill he fell and broke his leg. The injured man was brought to Newport on the Metaline and removed to the Antler Hotel, where Dr. Phillips, who was summoned, set the limb and made the patient as comfortable as possible.

Notice.

To the Electors of the Town of Newport: Take notice that an election board consisting of Geo. Chipman and Carl Kirkpatrick as judges, and D. R. Lusher as inspector, has been appointed for the general municipal election to be held Dec. 3, 1907; that the polls of said election will be open at 9 a. m. and closed at 7 p. m., and that the front room or office of the city hall has been appointed and selected as the polling place for said election. By order of the council.

W. A. PRAULX, Clerk.

NEWS OF OLD TOWN

George Edge visited in Sandpoint Tuesday.

Jack Furness was a Sandpoint visitor Monday and Tuesday.

Neil Scott has gone down the river on a hunting trip of a week's duration.

A. J. Brazeau went to Bonners Ferry on Tuesday to inspect and see to yarding a bunch of poles for his company.

Things have been very quiet in the old town during this week. Not an arrest so far, although several parties have been under suspicion by the authorities.

Ed Sappington has gone to the Pine Creek district to do some assessment work on some mining property that he is interested in in that locality. He will probably be out of town for about three weeks.

Although more than a dozen deer hunters have been chasing over the mountains during the past week, none of them have reported killing any game, either from modesty or fear of the game warden.

The river has reached its lowest stage during the present year and is now rising slowly, having raised about three inches on Monday since the recent rains and snow began to fall. It is about four feet lower than it was at this season last year. The river and lumber men are glad to see the water raise, as it has been very difficult of late to operate the boats.

Curley Mace is in hard luck. The bottoms have fallen out of all the row boats, and, as the ferry cannot be operated within fifty feet of the shore of the river on account of low water, he has been compelled to do acrobatic work of a dangerous character. He says, however, that he is becoming proficient in walking the cable, and is looking for an engagement as a rope walker for next season.

Messrs. Leon Snow, Lloyd McMorran, Charles and Clayton Keyes and Robert Scheldrup will leave next week for the McMorran ranch, where they expect to remain for the winter season. The boys intend to put in their time hunting and trapping. The boys have laid in a supply of provisions, but refused to purchase any meats. They disclaimed being vegetarians, but stated that they had a mortgage on all the game within five miles of the McMorran ranch.

A well known young business man from the Washington side of town was apprehended by the old town officer on Friday night and kept in custody for a short time. The young business man was raising quite a disturbance, and besides that he was carrying a long sharp knife that exceeded the legal limit by several inches. He had threatened to carve a resident of Idaho and carve him him badly, so it was decided that he was not safe to be at large with the goods on him. After he had cooled down a little he was released at the request of the party to be carved and wandered over to Washington again.

A negro known by several names was arrested in old town Saturday by Constable Nuzum, tried before Judge McCurdy, fined 30 days' time and taken to Sandpoint to serve out his time in the evening. "Smoky," as he was known around town, is employed at the brick-yards just above Albeni Falls. He came down to Newport Friday night for a time and finally drifted over into old town. He became mixed up in a row with a bartender and finally pulled a gun on the dispenser of booze. Before he could use the gun the bartender grabbed it and wrenched it from him. He was put out of the saloon and told to skidoo after his gun had been returned to him. He failed to leave for home and was pinched by the Washington officers and turned over to the Idaho authorities and tried. This is not the first time that "Smoky" has tried to raise a rough house on the Idaho side, but it will probably be the last, at least for 30 days.

The following is from the Spokane Chronicle of Nov. 22: "Myron Spath, a wealthy rancher and stock raiser of Salkum, Lewis county, has obtained a license to marry Anna Peterson, of Dassel, Minn. Nine years ago the bride on the present occasion was maid of honor at the first marriage of the groom. It was planned to have the marriage here yesterday, but Mr. Spath failed to arrive and the bride-to-be went to Newport, where she is staying with friends awaiting the arrival of Mr. Spath. The marriage will take place as soon as the latter arrives. The parties have not met since the marriage scene of nearly ten years ago." Mr. and Mrs. Spath were united in marriage by Rev. Morton at the Methodist parsonage last Saturday noon.

Mrs. Spath is a sister of Mrs. Carl Brink, and the happy couple are spending their honeymoon with the Brinks in this city. After the ceremony the newly wedded couple and Mr. and Mrs. Brink departed for the Brink ranch down the river for a day's visit. When they had nearly reached their destination they were caught in the heavy storm and thoroughly drenched before they could reach a shelter. Mr. and Mrs. Spath will make their future home in Lewis county.
